Global Classrooms-Global Fun- The ACAT - I.S.T. experience

The fun of discovering the world in our school activities and classrooms has never been more evident than it has during this past year. Beyond the everyday scenes in the lower garden, where children from 22 different nationalities spontaneously share their recess time, the casual visitor to the school might notice an impressive variety of cultural exchanges. Mindful of this unique atmosphere in the school, we are especially conscious of the preparation it will give us to handle the job of being better citizens in the world beyond ACAT. We have hoped to catch some of this spirit in the 1997 edition of our yearbook. As you browse through the pages of this yearbook, we invite you to see for yourself the Global Fun that we experience.

Buba Milne

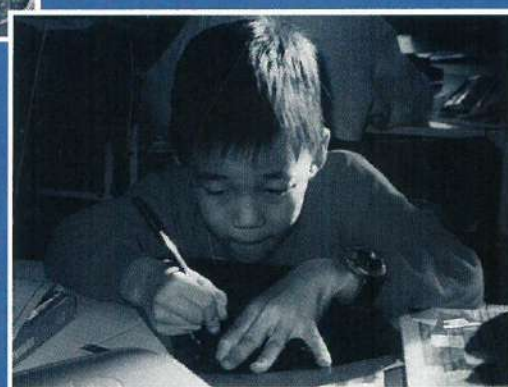

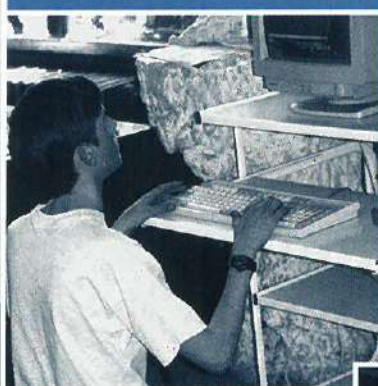

Buba Milne, Librarian

Dedication

The first word that comes to mind is patience, as Ms. Milne rarely loses her temper, despite the ever-present computer viruses and the photocopier that has a mind of its own. As the quiet authority in the library, her soft voice silences students of all ages. Our congenial, efficient librarian responds to even the strangest requests and most frustrating challenges like changing the library from a spook house to an internet center with efficiency and creativity. Thank you, Ms. Milne for all you do for the school and especially for creating the tranquil atmosphere we need to study.

Academics

Alessia Borge

Alessia Borge

Good hearted, sociable Alessia reflects her naive character in her day to day actions from walking like a hippie through downtown Torino to playing in the leaves at Villa Sacro Cuore. She may seem to many a cold, apathetic girl but under her shell, all she wants is affection. Though happy with her long stay at ACAT, when talking about her future, she says she will follow her heart whether it be to England or Ireland.

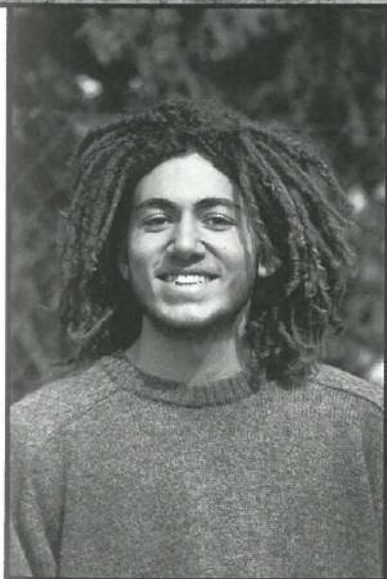

Matteo Borzone

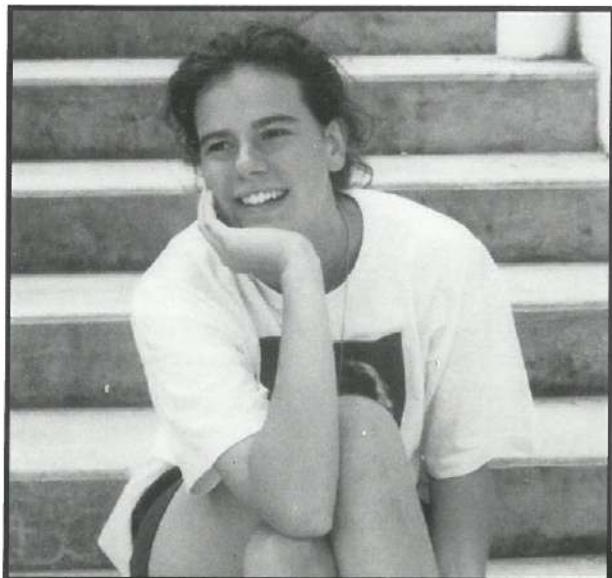

Matteo Borzone

Though Matt considers himself a little boy in the world of adults, he is the charismatic leader of the Student Council who guides us through uplifting spirit days and numerous performances in school plays. A 13 year ACAT veteran, Matteo has evolved from an active member of the mischievous middle school bunch of Paolo, Paf, Moh, and Carl to a sensitive big brother to all the high school girls. Matt is self-minded enough not to jump into his future but will hold back on his after-ACAT plans.

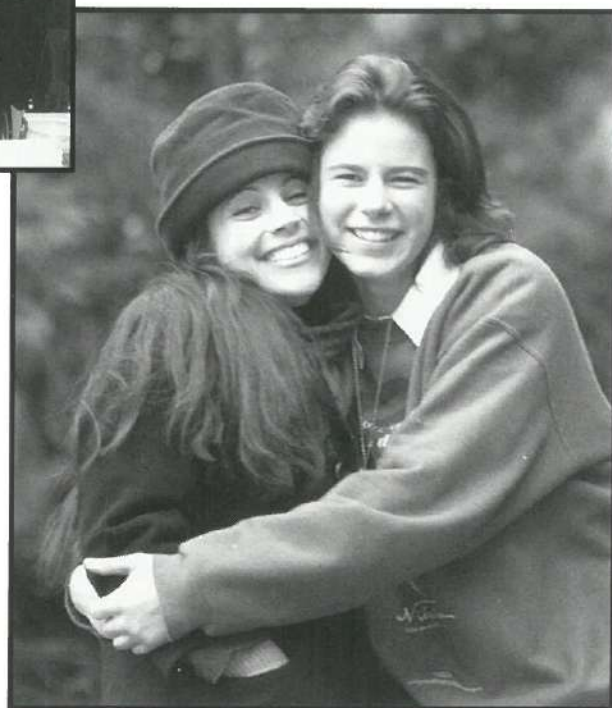

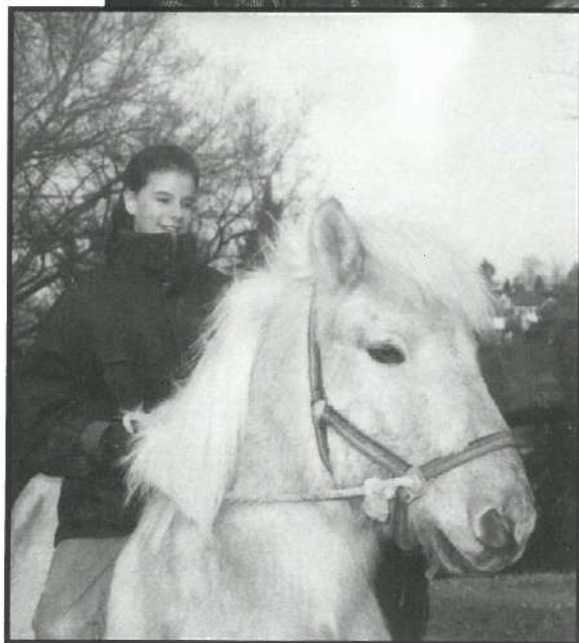

Elena Cavallo

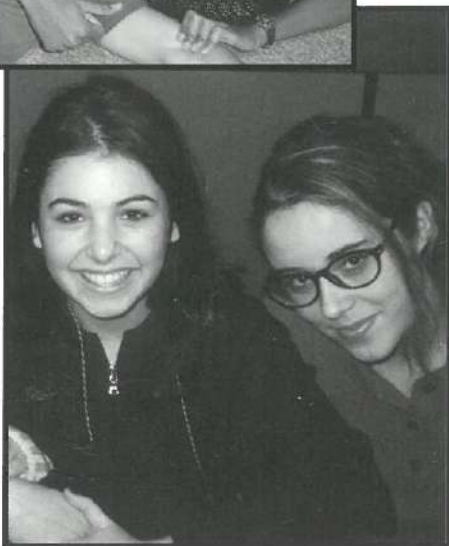

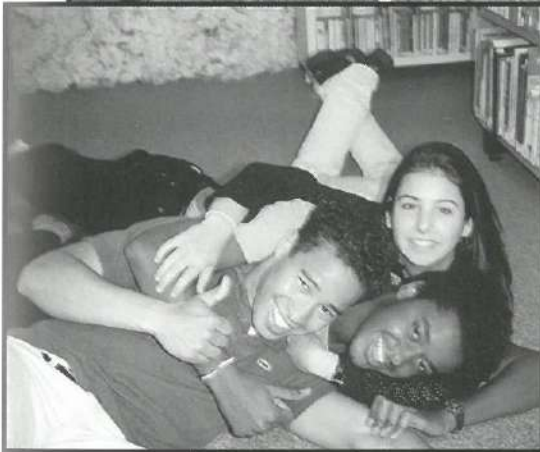

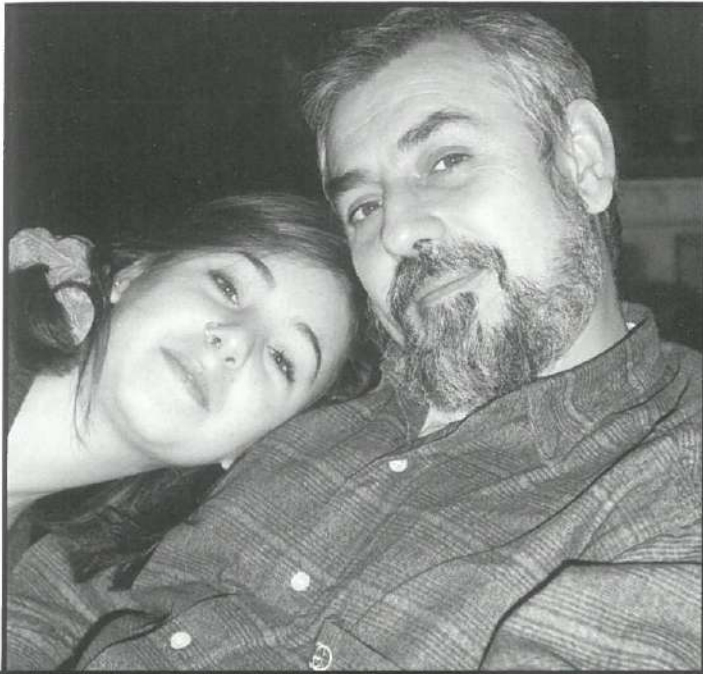

Elena Cavallo

Elena (Elemare) is a free spirit whose favorite distractions include running barefoot in the fields, writing, and philosophizing. Remembering her high school years, she will reflect upon all the "DMC's" she had with Rick, Tony, and Liz, the school plays, and the crazy weekends. Her special thanks goes to Mr. Boyle, in whose philosophy class she gained great insight, and through whose excursions her world now seems within reach.

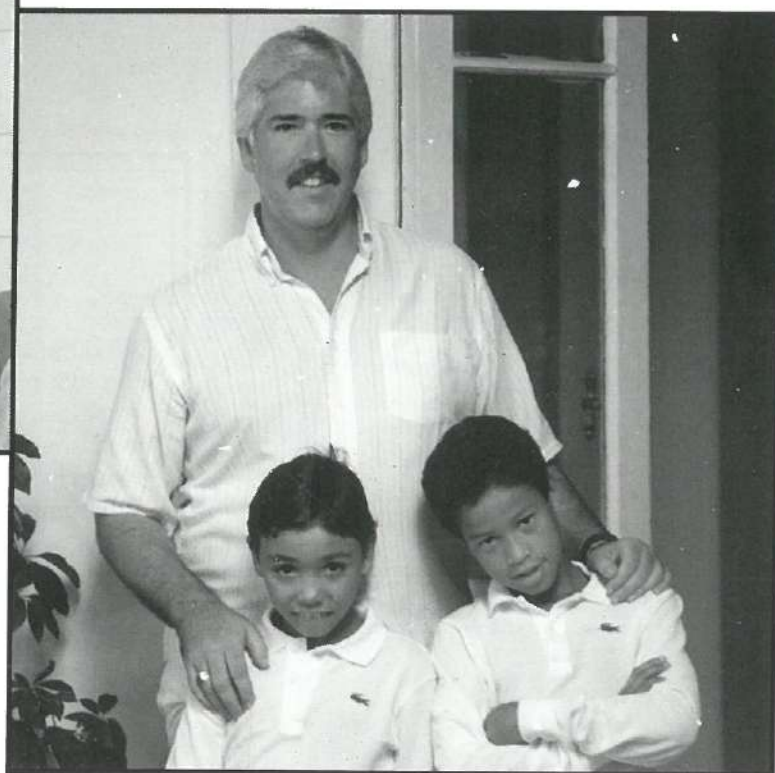

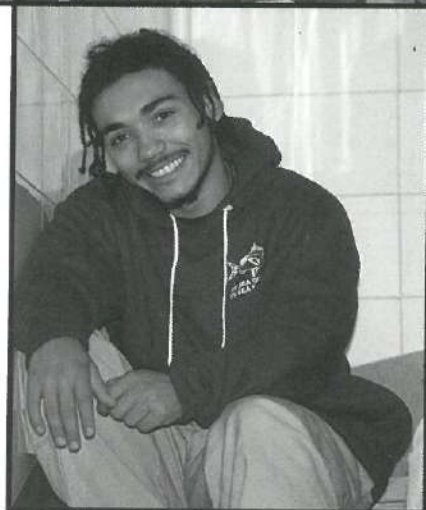

Ana Lu Domicent

Ana Luiza Domicent

Whether dancing to the melodic rhythm of samba or diving into a swimming pool on a cold sports day, Ana Lu radiates her Brazilian pluck. With her incredible imagination she captivates us through her adventure-filled stories. Her intriguing smile belies her sensitive nature and serious concerns about life. Spontaneous, fanciful, and creative, Ana Lu shows particular inspiration in bizarre works of art which will lead her to success in the fashion world.

Tony Elliott

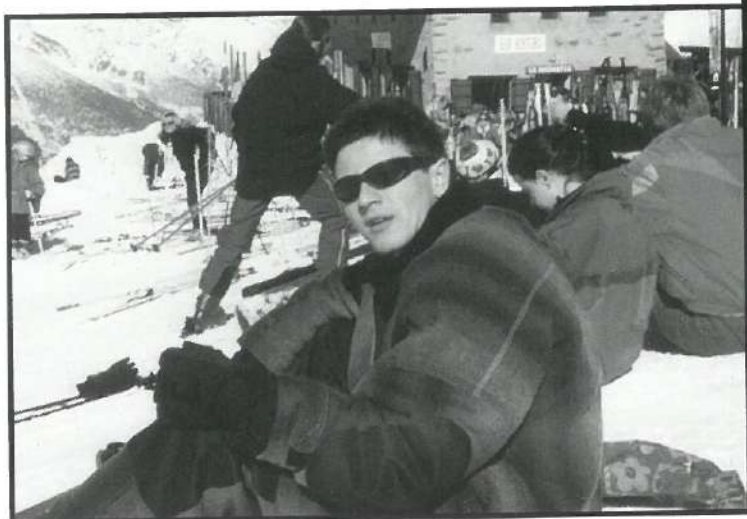

Adriano "Tony" Elliott

Wild-spirited Tony describes his stay at ACAT as a great, unpredictable path which he will never regret. Although he describes himself as a party animal, we know him to be a sensitive man who can cry with his heart and smile with his eyes. Whether rollerblading, kickboxing or snowboarding, ever-active Tony often displays his free spirit which will continue to direct him towards an adventurous future.

Sebastian Gaigg

Sebastian Gaigg

Sebastian was "born to be wild." His fondest memories at ACAT include the MUN trip to Boston, his trip to Sardegna with Matteo (where he learned those "special" ITALIAN words) and all the inspiring conversations he has had with those closest to him. His plans include a career in either Psychology or Mathematics, and his goals involve either a private practice or a position as a Math teacher. For fun, Sebastian plays his guitar and reads or hangs out with his friends. Sebastian said it best when he said, "For me ACAT was like Matteo's hair. Cool!"

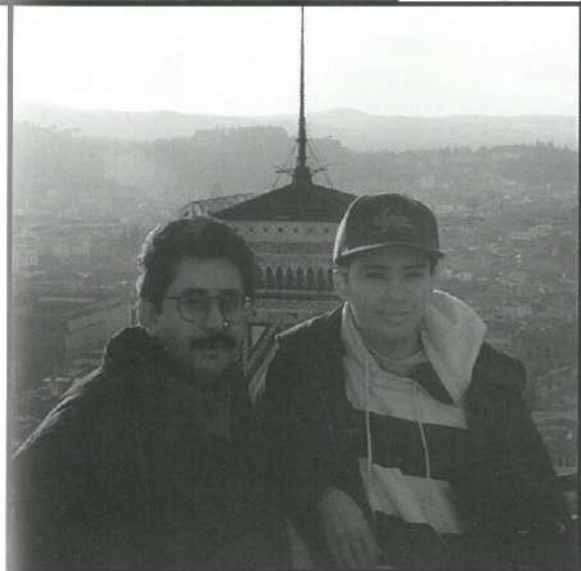

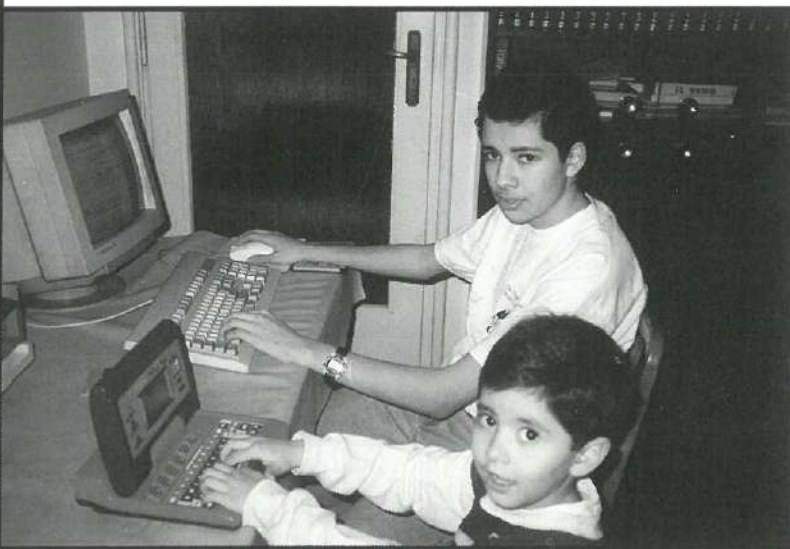

Shelley Marinelli

Marcella Marinelli

Shelley's fondest memories of her four years at A.C.A.T. include the play "As You Like It", going on the all girls "hell" trip to California with Mr. Boyle and spending lunch-time in the sun with friends. She has a deep passion for flying and plans to become a tourist pilot. Because she believes that instincts never lie, she always trusts her own. This is an example of her sensitive and caring nature. This sensitivity will intensify her experience in the air and on the ground and will take her far afield in life.

René Mendez

René Mendez

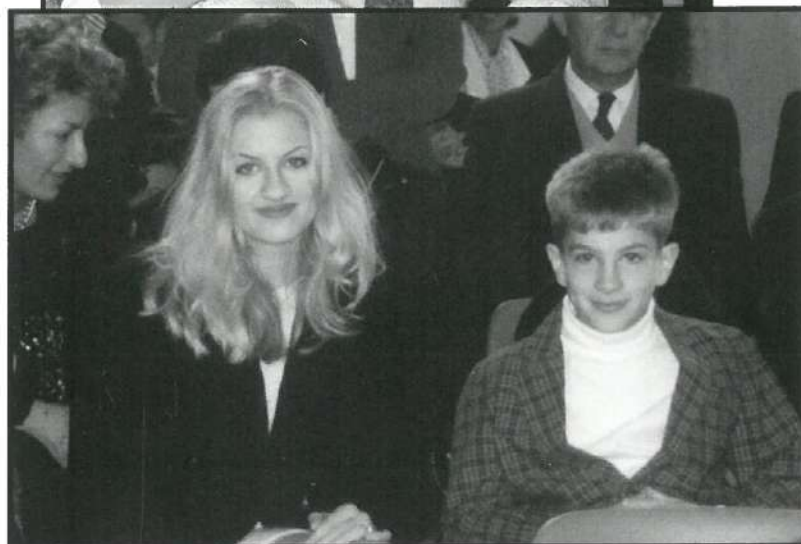

Even though he has spent only one year at A.C.A.T., sociable René managed to charm his way into the social scene in a short time. Often in the library, "Mr. Study Hall" made friends easily and had more good times in his senior year than in all three years he spent in California. A wizard in math, René enjoys playing basketball and collecting basketball cards. When this "non-junior" looks back, he will remember Mr. Abbott's 'theory of the Ruh', and the crazy weekend parties.

Itaca Passaggio

Itaca Passaggio

During Itaca's two successful years at ACAT, she had two unforgettable experiences-the trip to Holland for M.U.N. and her superb performance as Jacques, the melancholy cynic, in "As You Like It". A talented actress and writer, Itaca is also interested in helping animals, improving the environment, and helping children. But whatever path she chooses to pursue, Itaca will never forget the ACAT parties. With the thought in mind that "nothing's like it used to be, not even in the future", she looks into the face of her future with her head held high.

Elisa Patrinostro

Elisa Patrinostro

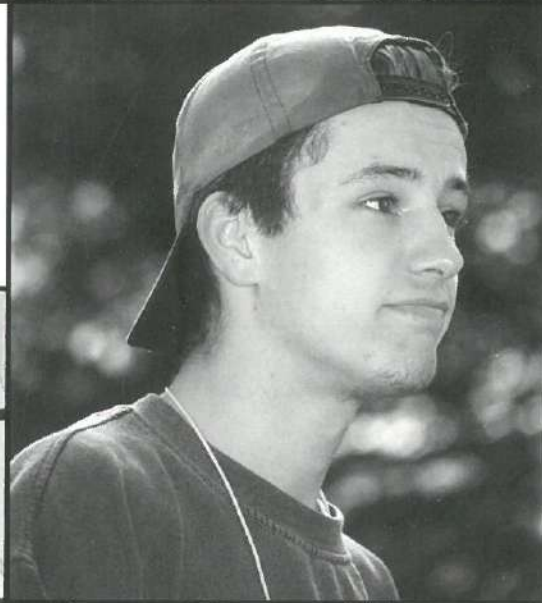

When Elisa is in England studying European Law next year, this easy-going student will think back to her four years at ACAT with fondness. Her MUN trips in both 10th and 11th grade, her talks with Elena, Liz, Alessia, Tony, Raya, Itaca and Francesco, and her lively performances in "Oliver" and "As You Like It" were all unforgettable. Always busy, she enjoys playing soccer, running, writing and being with her friends. As she moves onto the next stage of her life, Elisa gives a little advice to her peers: "Carpe Diem".

Rick. A. Takens

Roderick Takens

Honest Rick describes himself as feisty, moody, and loyal. He takes pleasure in the small things in life such as "pigouts" at lunch time, exploring everything and nothing, performing that "amazing" sport — snowboarding — and dreaming of snowboarding in the Himalayas. Although at ACAT his favorite subject was Philosophy and his favorite quotation was "How can all the drops of water know themselves to be a river, yet the river flows on", Rick plans to pursue a career in international business and will study hotel management and economics at a University in Holland.

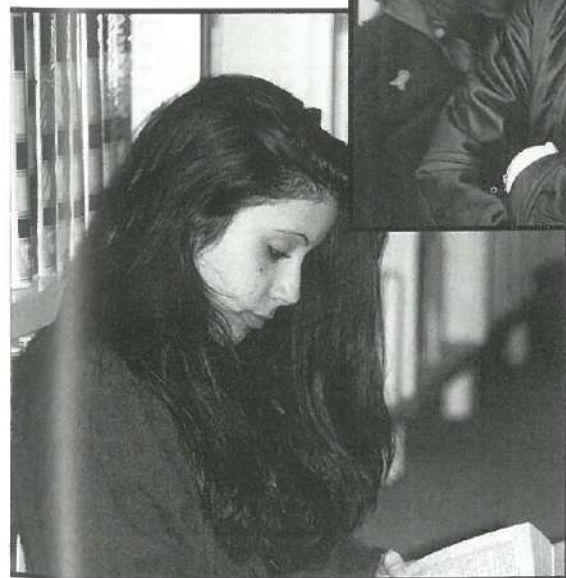

Elizabeth Teisan

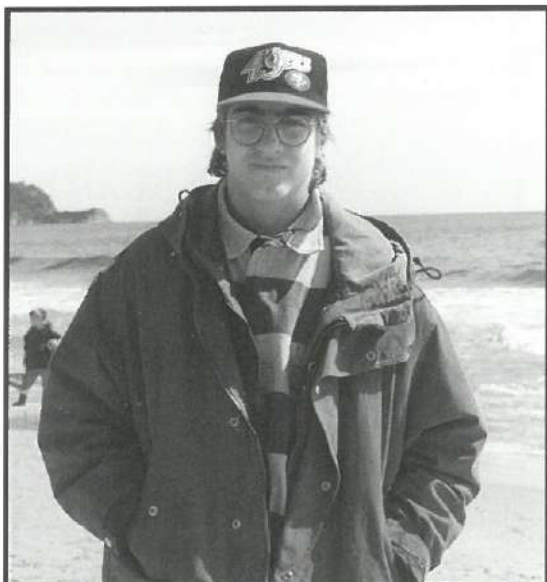

Elizabeth Marr Teisan

Obviously at home on-stage, Liz considers her vocal performance with a local rock band and her lead roles in "As You Like It" and "The King and I" to be among the highlights of her two years at ACAT. This friendly, smiling senior's most cherished recollection, however, is that of falling in love with co-star, Carl, her 'best friend with benefits', during the production of "As You Like It". Liz's passions include writing poetry, songs and letters, dancing ("Son of A Preacher Man"), singing and dreaming of a future in the limelight. "Every word is nonsense but I understand it all, and I'm not ready for this sort of thing".

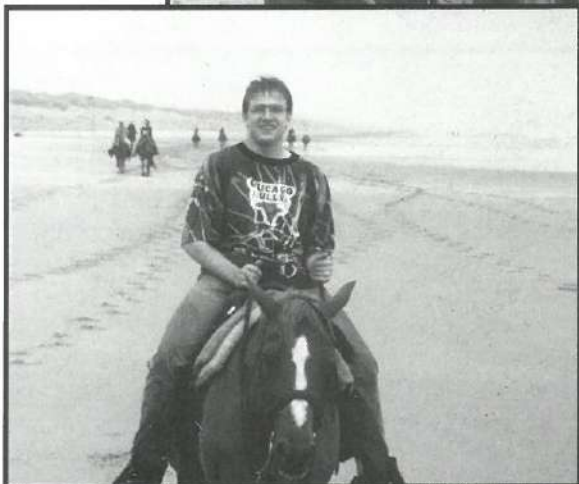

Diego TuttoLOmondo

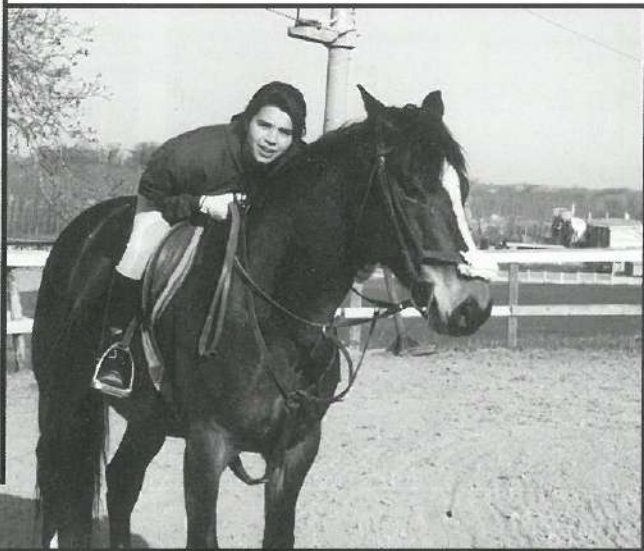

Diego Luigi Giuseppe TuttoLOmondo

Diego, having been at ACAT since preschool, is best described as sensitive, shy, and generous. His favorite memories are those of Teresa's scolding the students at lunch time, studying physics in Mr. Abbott's class and playing soccer with his schoolmates. Easily contented, Diego claims that his ideal vacation would be for him and all his friends to be in an empty house in which they can party every night. In University, he plans to study either Medicine, Economics or Communications. Diego insists that a special recognition goes out to his 'Nonna' for always providing for and supporting him. As Diego says, "La nonna è sempre la nonna".

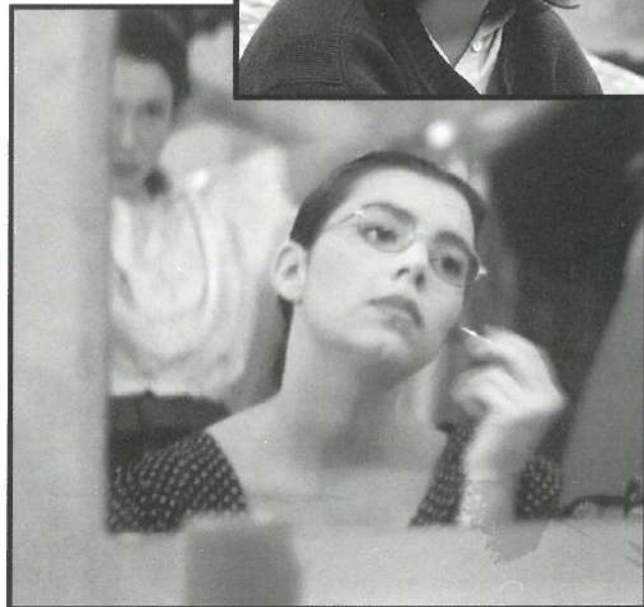

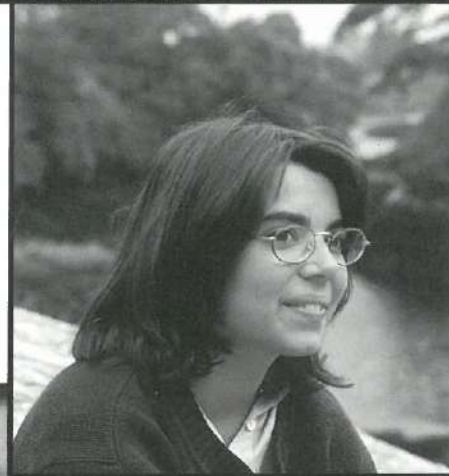

Valentina Vasino

Valentina Vasino

Although Valentina is somewhat uncertain of the big step after graduation, she knows she wants a future in fashion and textile design, and is determined to go to University to follow that dream. She has fond "Memories" of the MUN trip to the Hague with Itaca, History with Miss Wilkinson, Italian, Music, drawing, going out with friends, and having fun. She thanks Simo S. for having the patience to listen to her "casini", her parents for supporting and guiding her, and Andry for always standing by her.

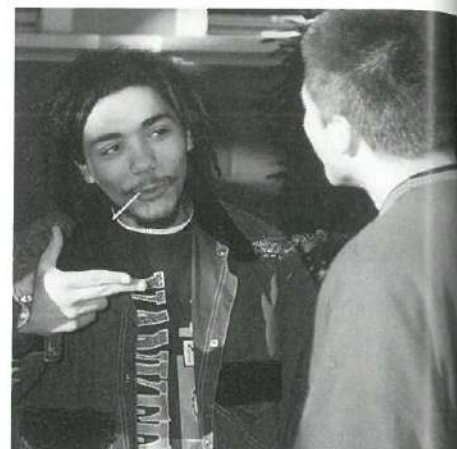

A last glimpse of the seniors.

With a friendly blow to the chin Shelley keeps Rick in line.

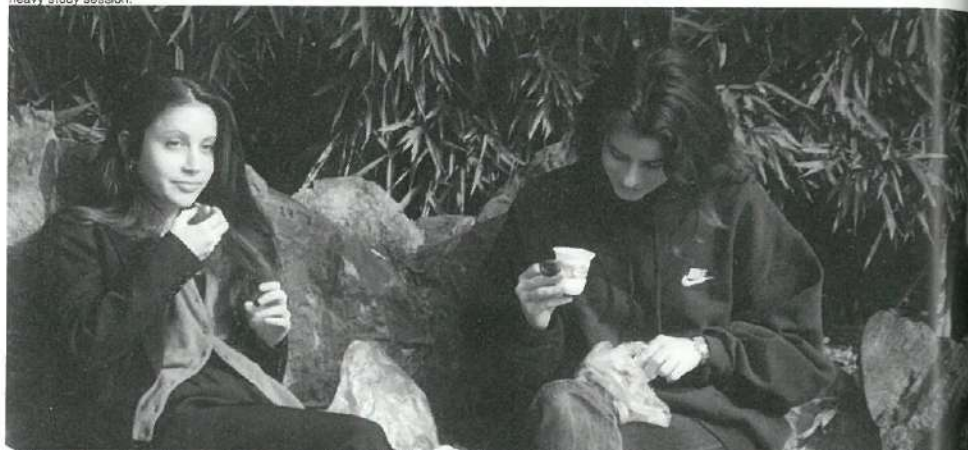

Piling up a few provisions for their snack, Sebastian and Matteo settle in for a heavy study session.

Savoring his chupa-chup, Tony comments on his day's progress.

Sharing the thrill of discovery, Vale and Analu collaborate on a history research project.

Poems, prayers, and promises are all integral to the IB program.

At Halloween, ACAT'S IB team gets in the mood for a creative change of pace.

Various phases of audience participation respond to the "better communication" assembly.

Activities

River running: ... and the river runs on!

Anticipating the rapids ahead, courageous Carlo gets ready to hit the water.

Attentively following the guide's instructions, our wary Middle Schoolers face the river.

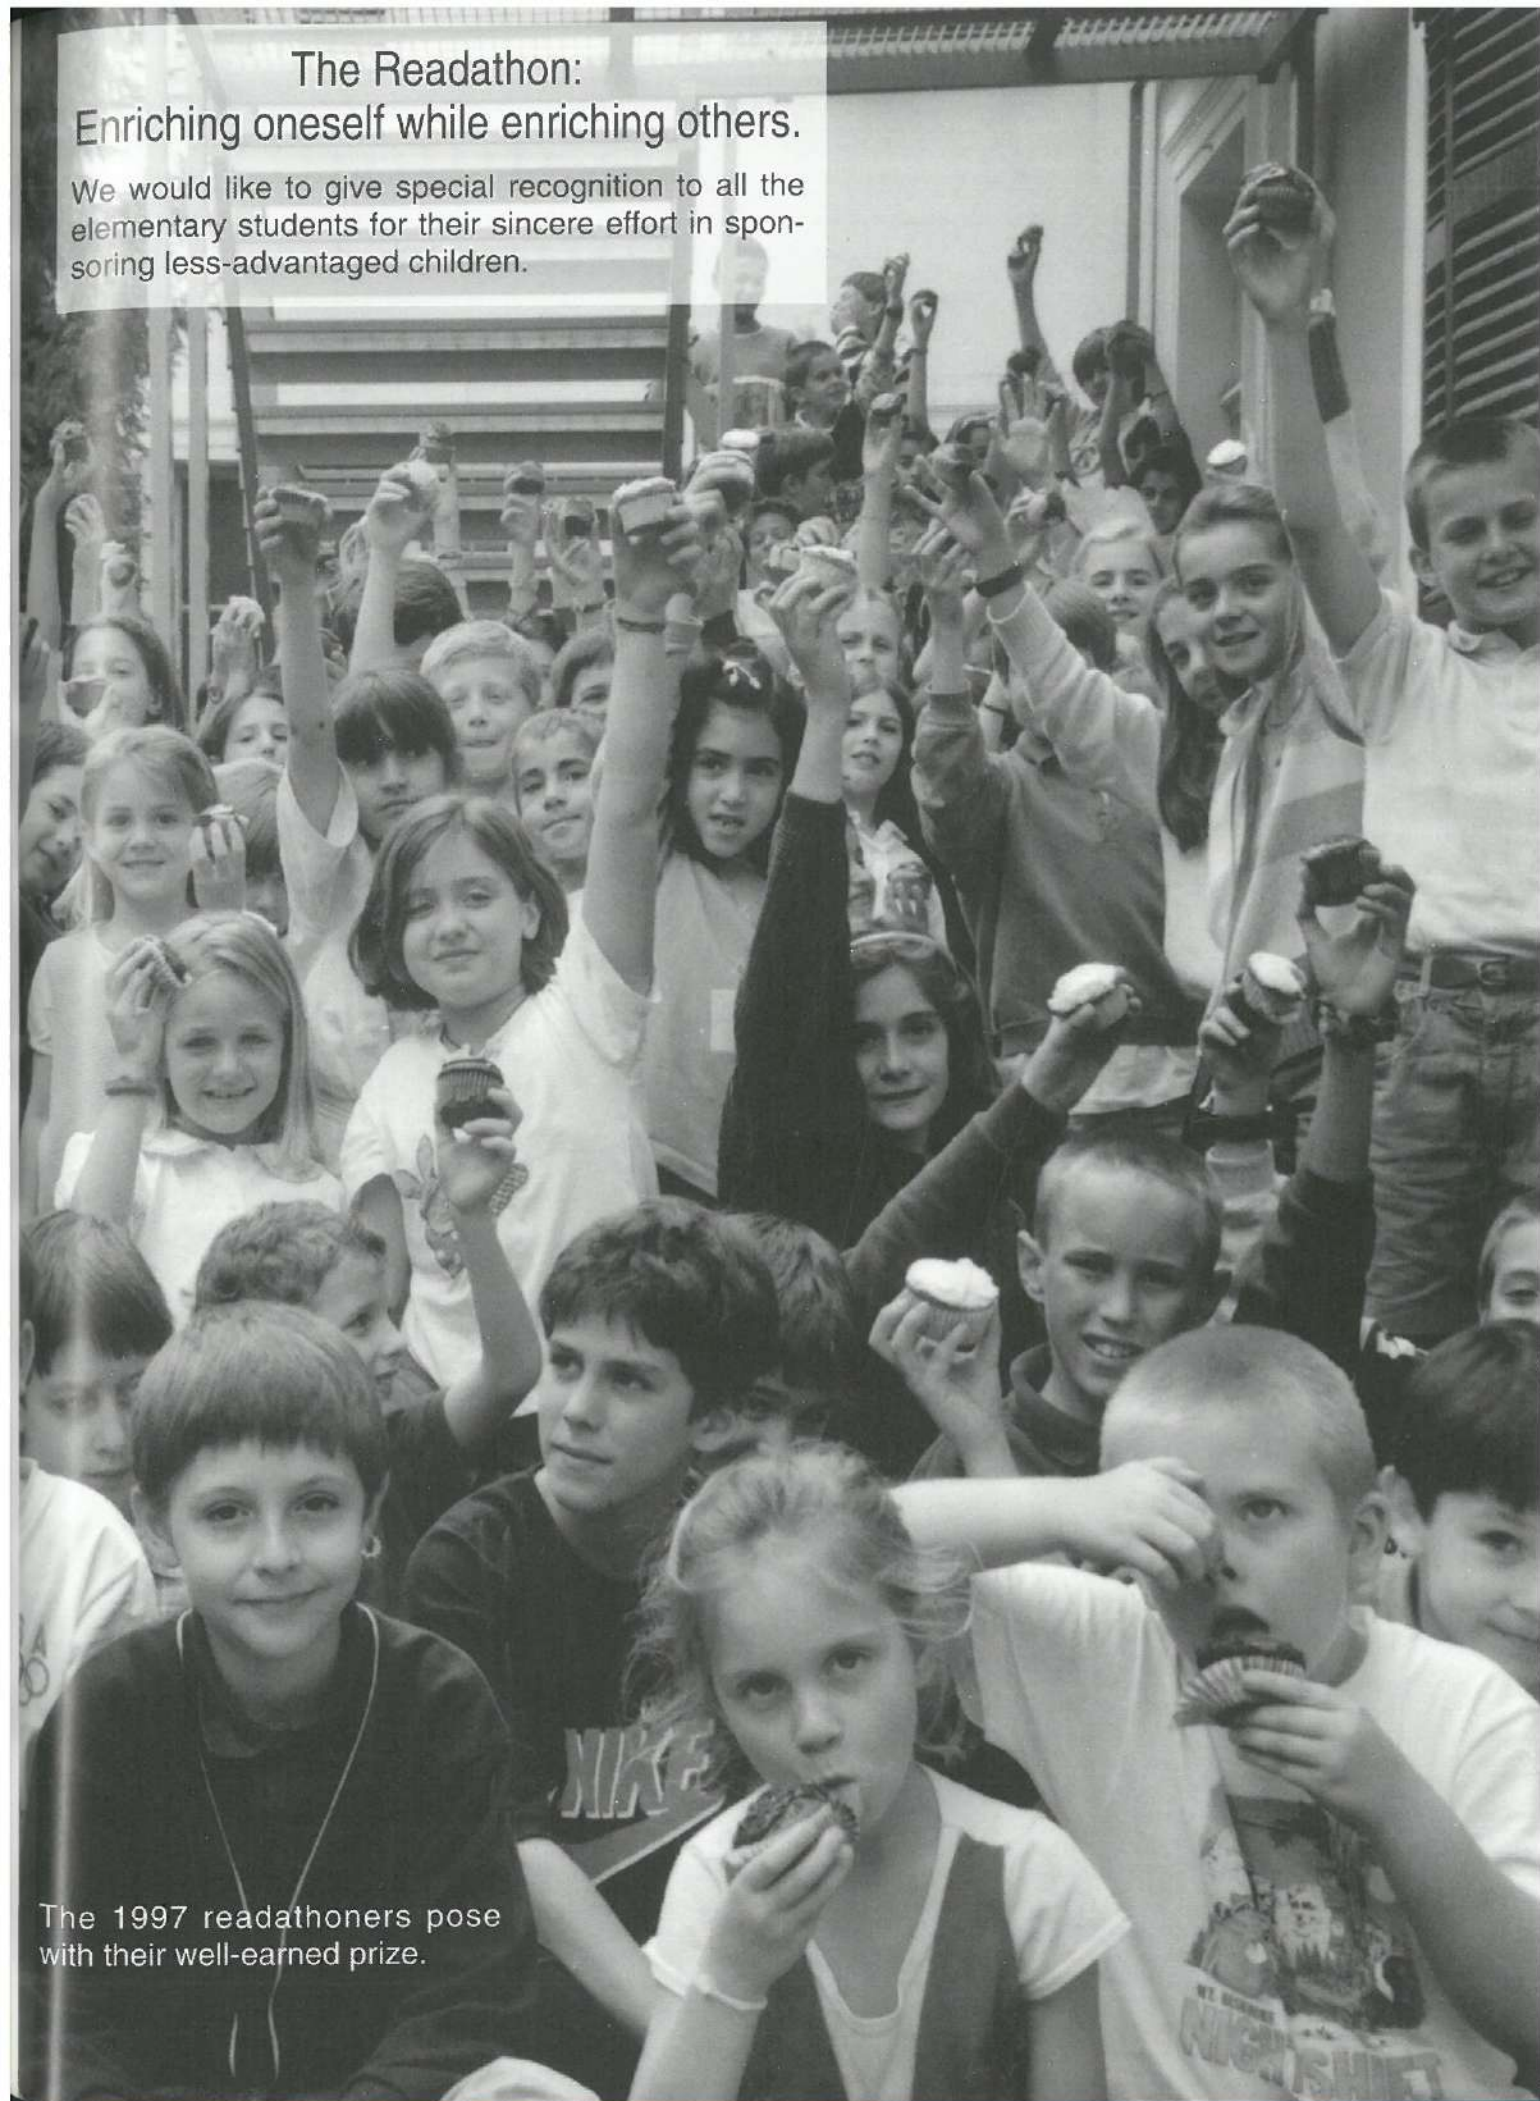

After running the river, the adventurers wearily discover that they still have to pack their rafts.

Even in the midst of a complex maneuver the ACAT crew maintains its cool.

The Readathon: Enriching oneself while enriching others.

We would like to give special recognition to all the elementary students for their sincere effort in sponsoring less-advantaged children.

The 1997 readathoners pose with their well-earned prize.

Halloween: A refreshing look at a longtime tradition.

Mother's sheets take on a new identity.

The ESL class discovers one of the hidden extras to studying a new language.

Many hands help a mini-devil keep his horns straight.

At the annual witches' gathering, the first grade won the broom.

Variety is the trademark of ACAT's Halloween creations.

Costumed third graders wait their turn to perform.

Story-time characters come alive in a second grade skit.

Mrs. Zabaldano leads her sorcerer's apprentices to visit the Ancients.

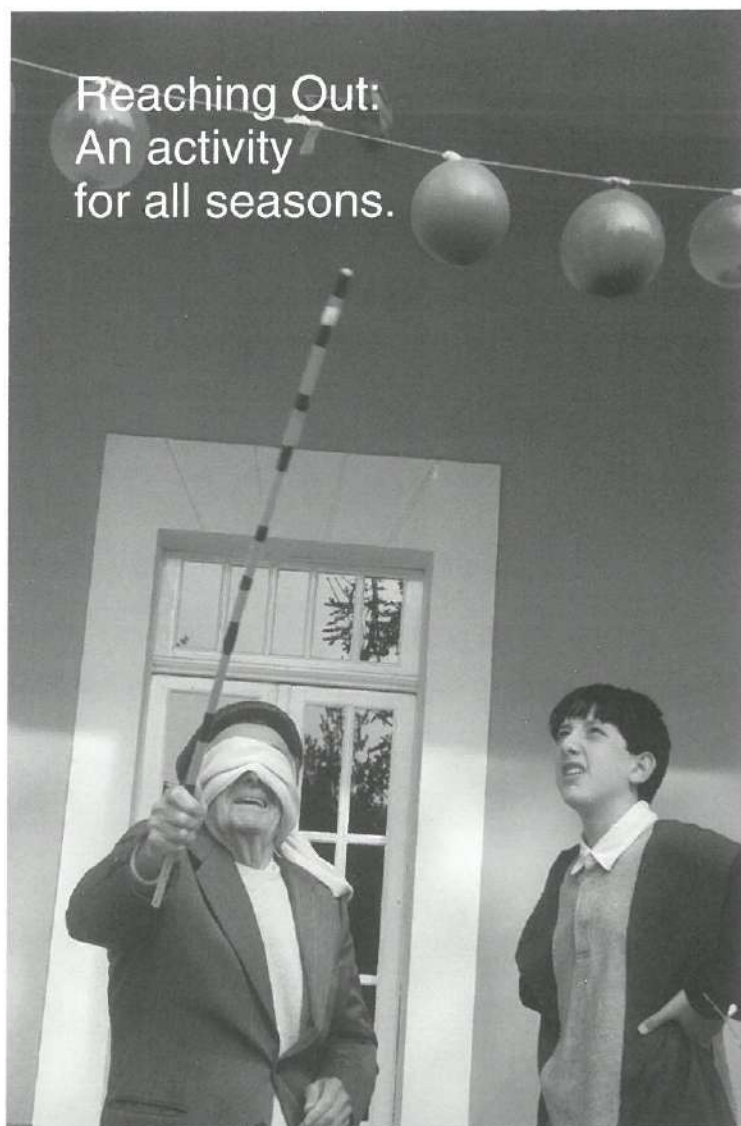

With kindred spirits in hand, Ms. Cuminskey leads the parade before the parents.

Her bewitching done for the day, Mrs. McKenzie retires from the scene.

Reaching Out:
An activity
for all seasons.

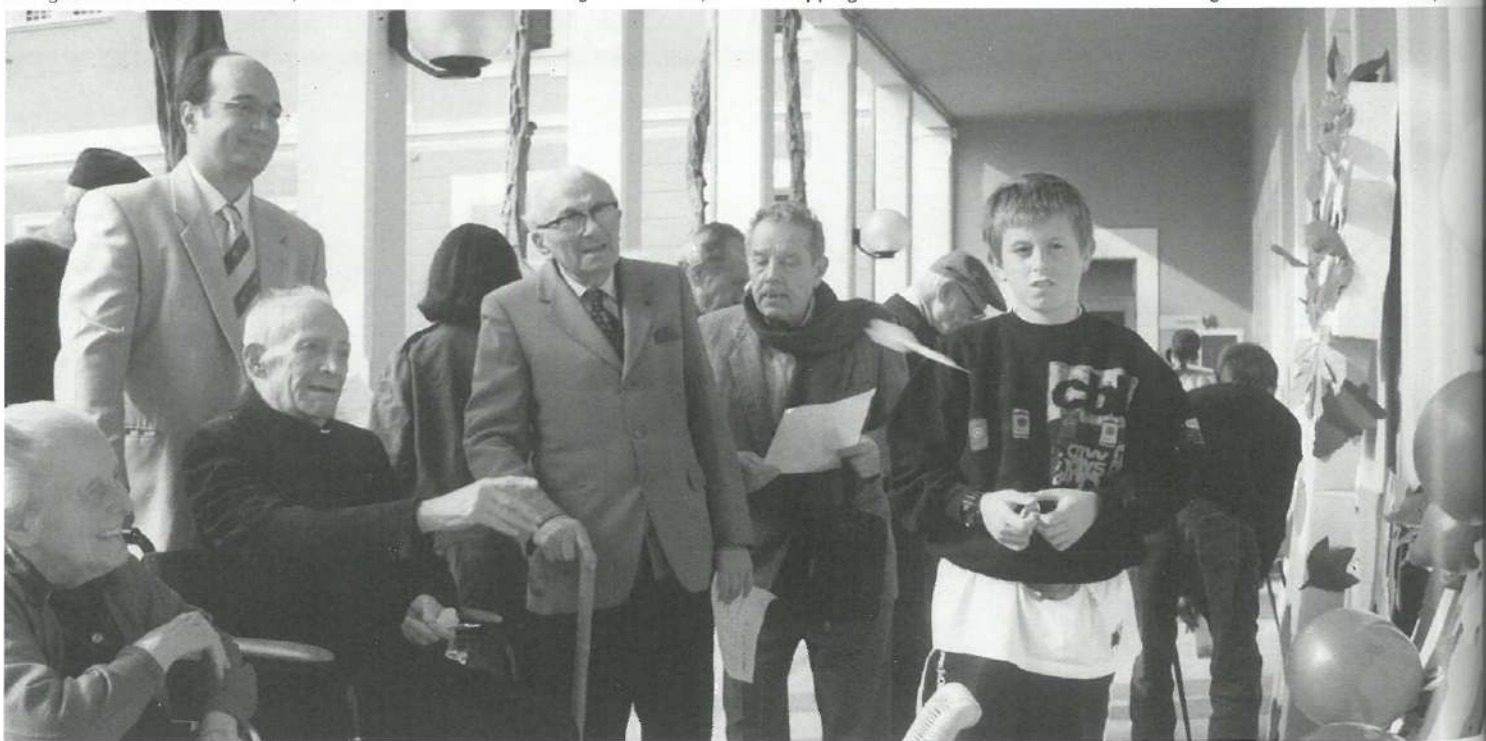

During the fall fest with the "Ancients", blindfolded Mr. Gotto follows Josh's guidance to the prize.

At Hiroko's stand, a keen-eyed player zeroes in on the bucket.

Tipping the witches hat was Cecilia's challenge to a determined competitor.

With a deft throw, Don Alciati takes command of Luca's game.

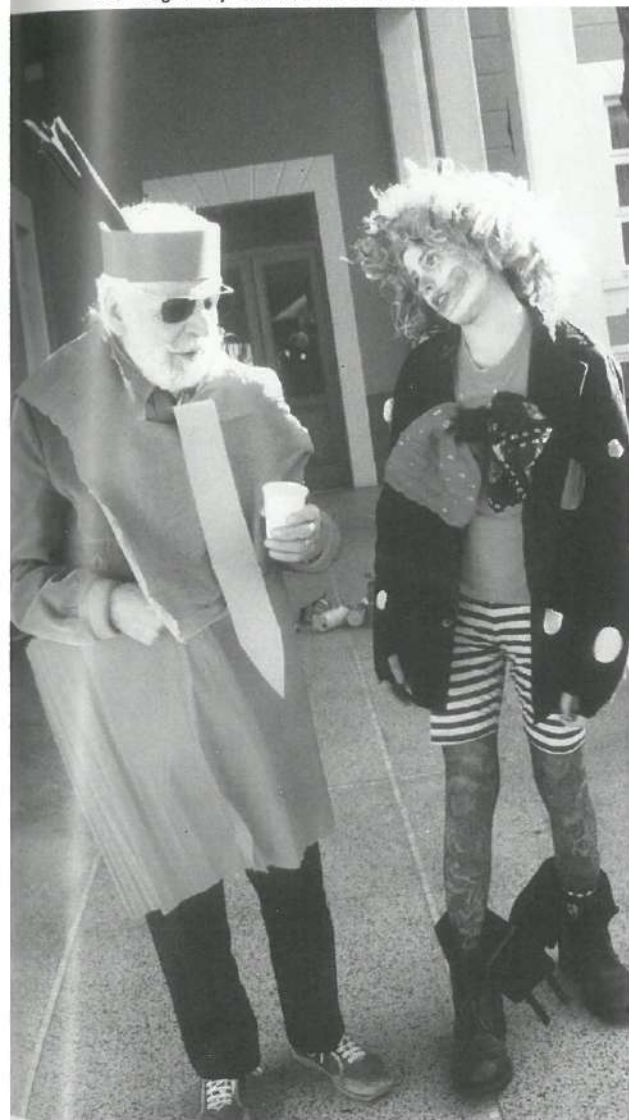

Our neighborly Santa, Dino reaches out with his annual visit to the little ones.

Contented Giorgio discovers Emi's Christmas charm.

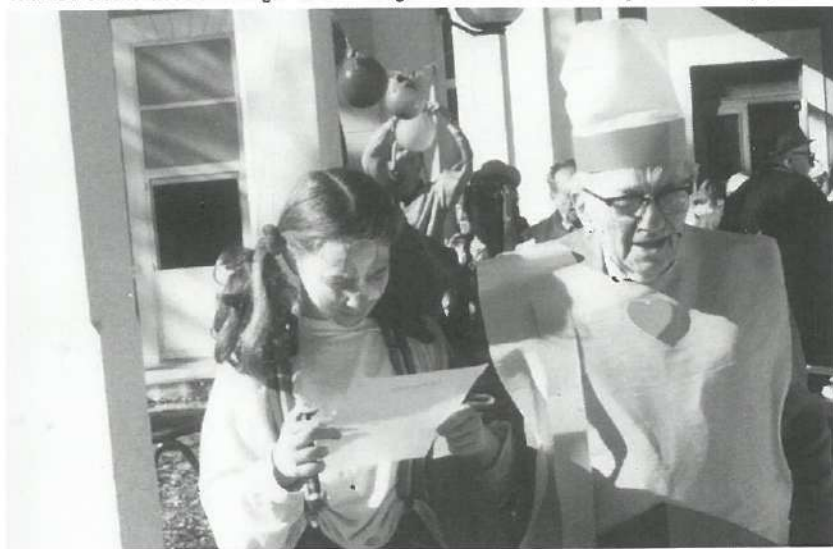

Whiskered and Tummied, Alica and her reliable red-nosed reindeer, Alberto, highlight the Christmas visit.

A Carnevale "fashion show" brings out the clown in all of us.

Painted clown faces and sugar-coated "bugie" are a sure-fire remedy for an elderly patient.

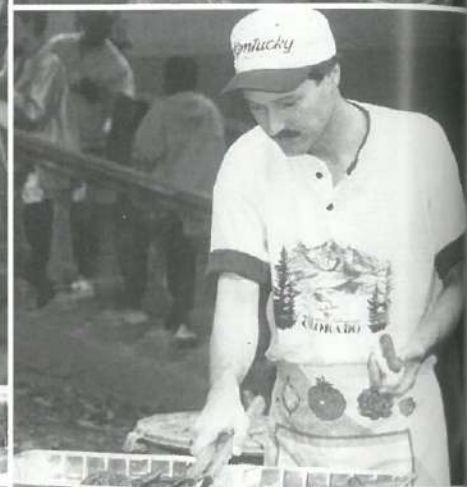

No clowning around but a friendly exchange between clowns concludes the Carneval visit.

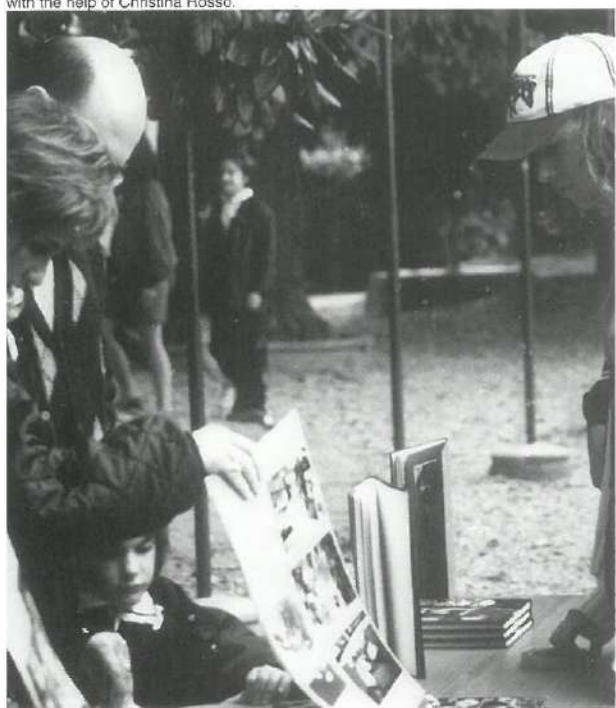

PTA Barbeque: Starting a year off with a warm wel- come.

Rick, the student council treasurer, announces the raffle winners with the help of Christina Rosso.

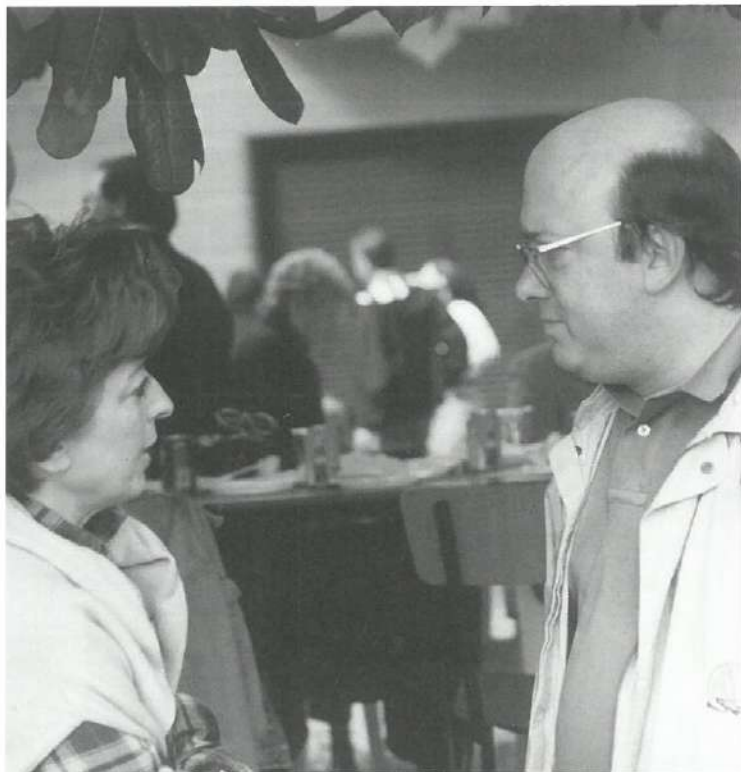

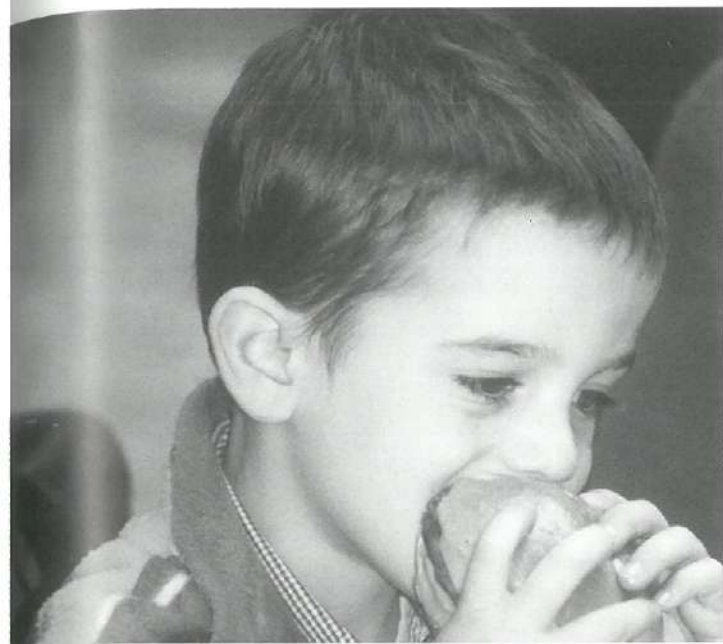

From distribution to collection, each one has his own bag.

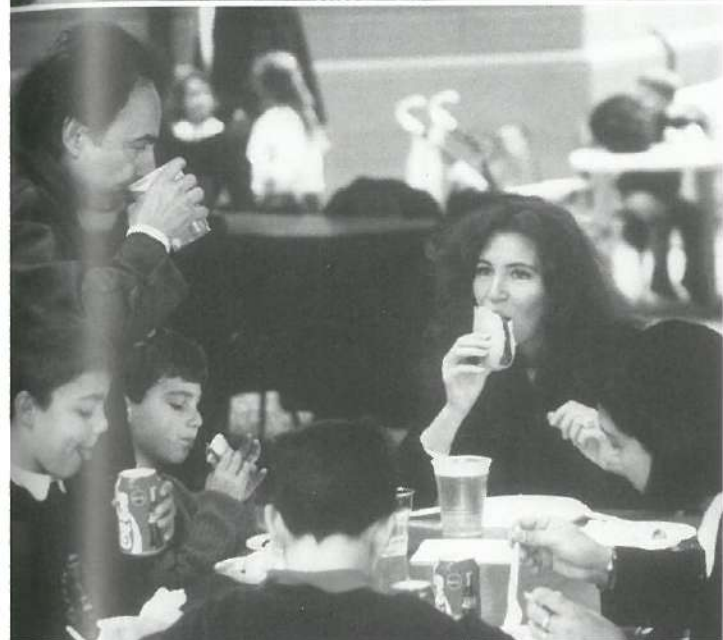

The Yearbook staff did a brisk business with unused photos.

Children and Adults line up for the mouth-watering menu.

The Palisca's find a quiet moment under the old magnolia tree.

It is amazing how a burger makes one's day.

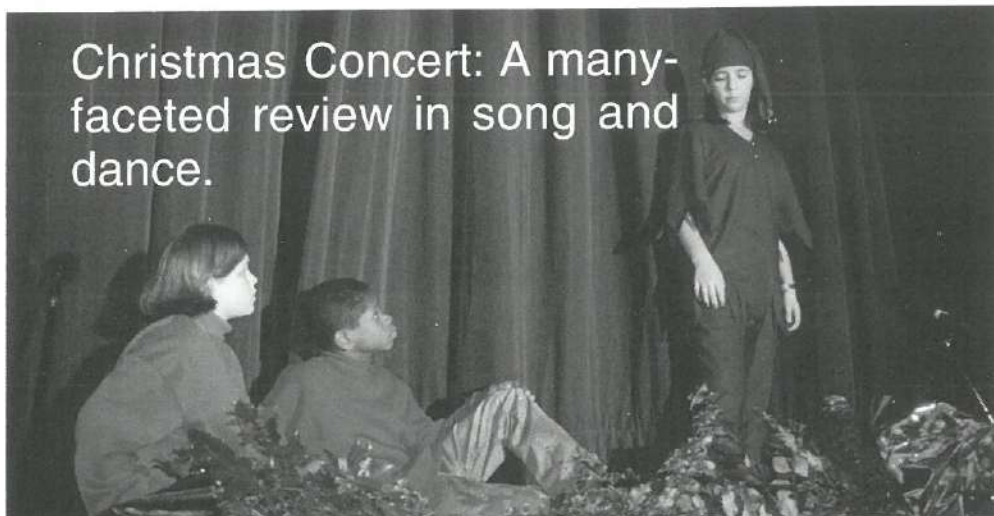

Winning a trip is the right dessert for a Barbeque.

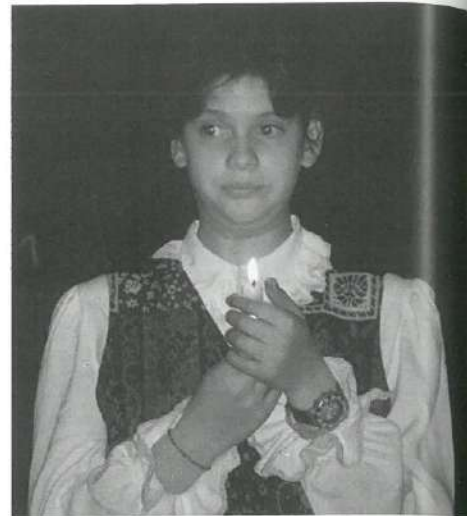

The chips of our friends always seem to be tastier.

Christmas Concert: A many-faceted review in song and dance.

Valentina, the "Spirit of Christmas" awakens Carlos and Laura to the many meanings of Christmas.

Alessandra lights the way to the Christmas "voyage".

An off-duty shepherd calls to check on his flock.

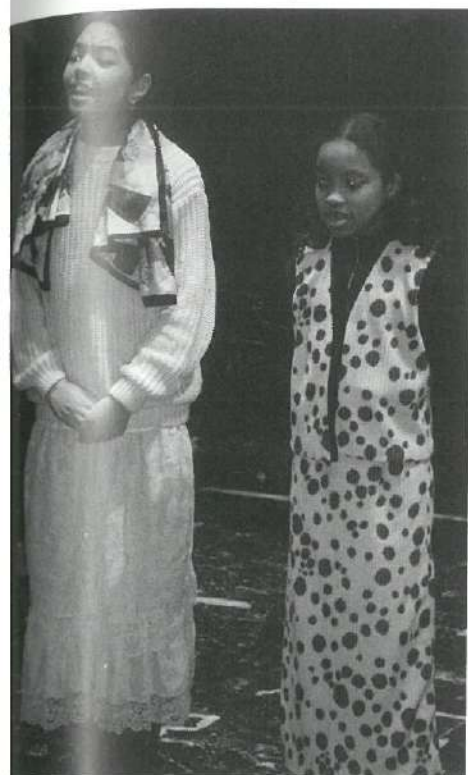

The "guided tour" of Christmas sets out from the Santa's elf dept.

Two eager shepherds plead angel Marta to invite them to the Christmas show.

A simple shepherd's chorus catches the traditional spirit of season.

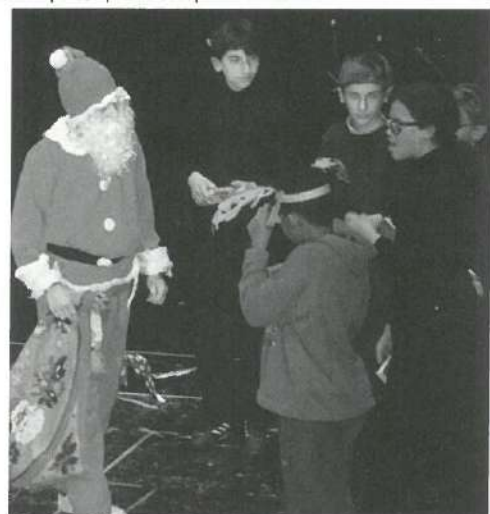

Alessandra and Amira add a stirring duet to the musical feast.

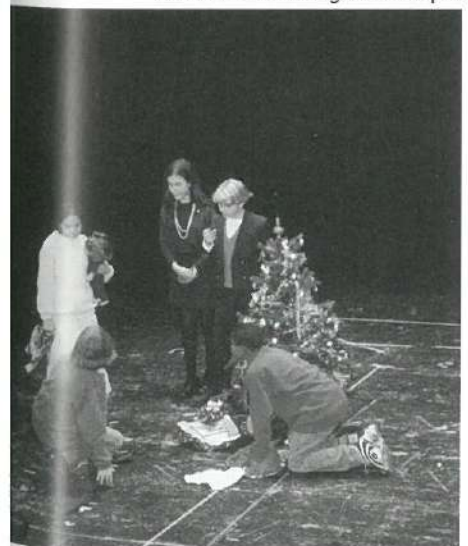

With a provincial dance, the 4th graders pick up the tempo of concert.

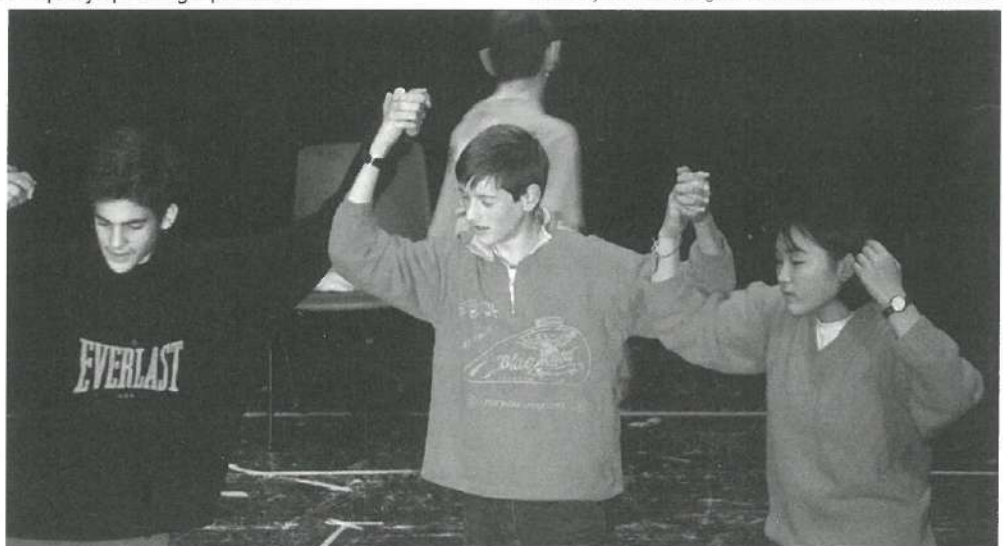

An animated third grade interprets an equally spirited gospel chorus.

Santa Andy and the seventh graders reveal another dimension of Christmas.

With a modern Christmas tree, the time travellers reach the end of their dream up.

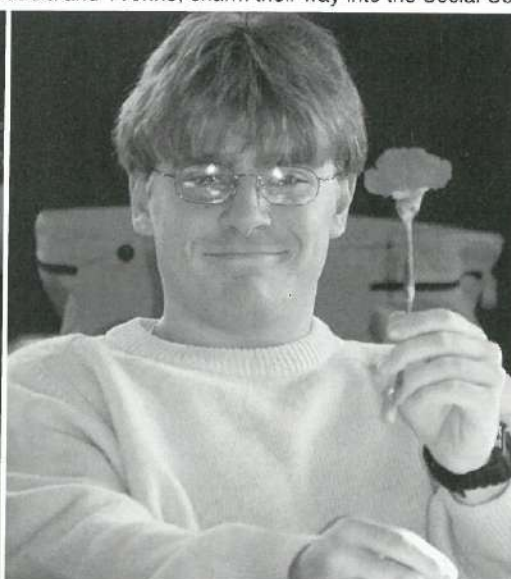

With a Beatle's wish for universal brotherhood, the eighth grade concludes the concert.

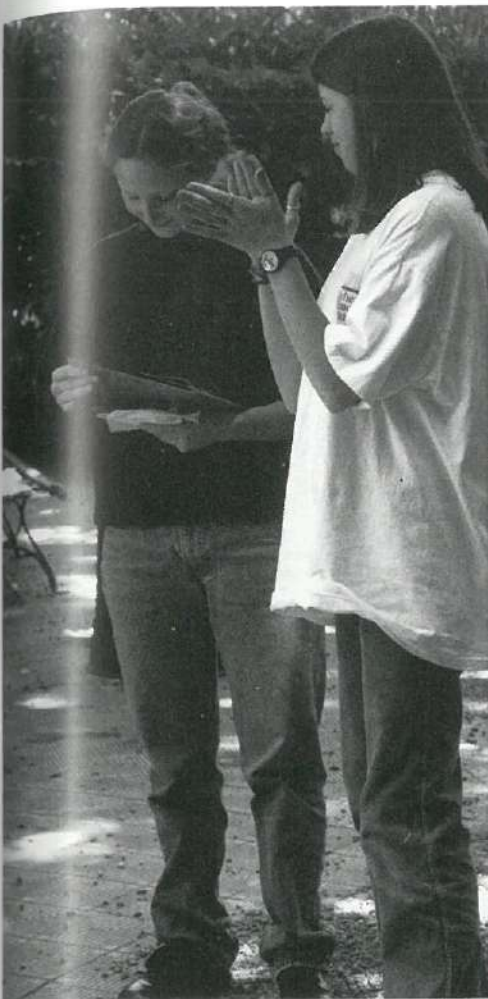

The Student Council: the very spirit of the place.

The Debutantes, Claudia and Yvonne, charm their way into the Social Co-ordinators' circle.

School spirit comes in many colors and flowers.

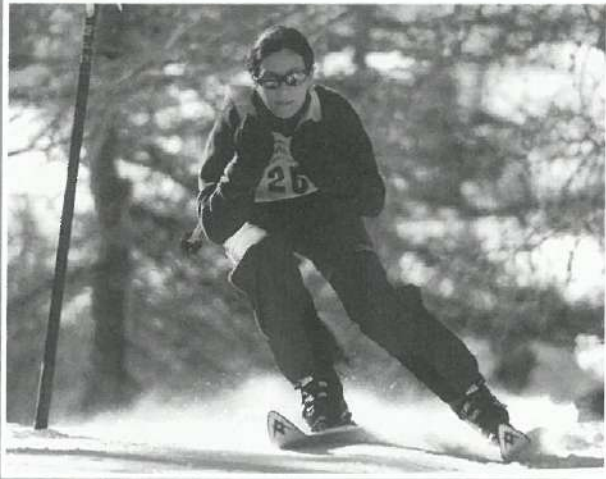

Despite ACAT's attempts at cloning, individuality reigns supreme.

Ski Day: A Student Council First

In organizing the Ski Day, the Student Council promised a fun and friendly day on the silvery slopes of Salice D'Culx. Sparkling sprays of snow shot in every direction as skiers, snowboarders and sledders tore (or rolled?) down the slopes.

After the bone-chilling competitions and the refreshing lunch of the morning, the snow busters were back in action, and the excitement continued until the refreshments at the end of the day, when the Student Council could congratulate themselves for a job well done.

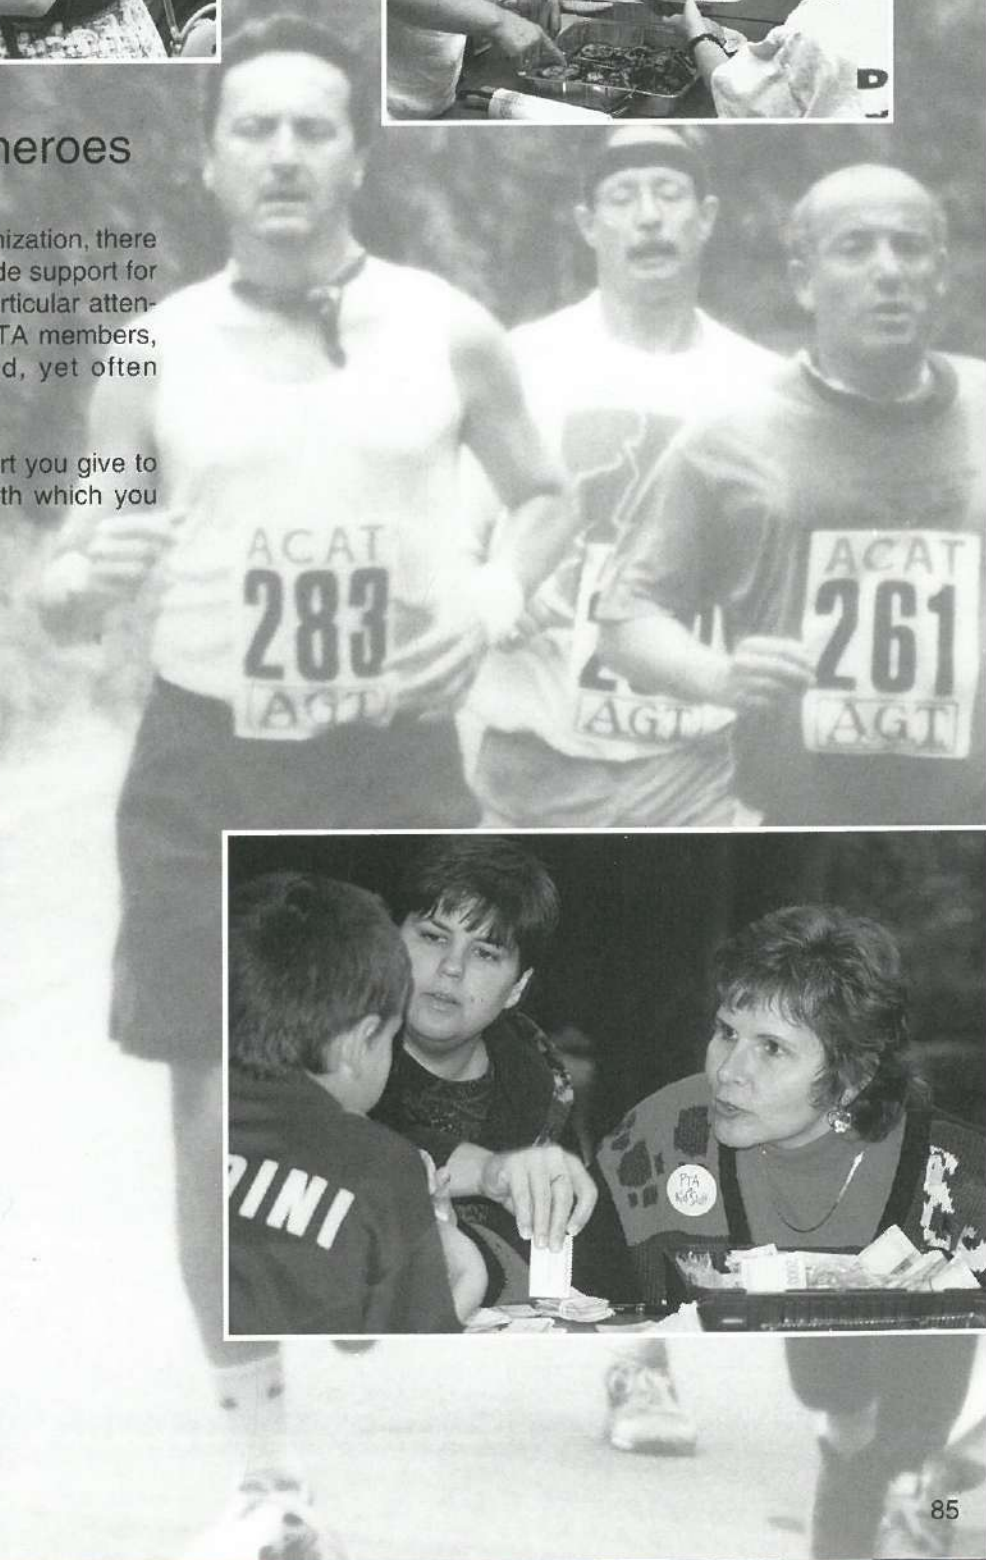

PTA: The background heroes of ACAT

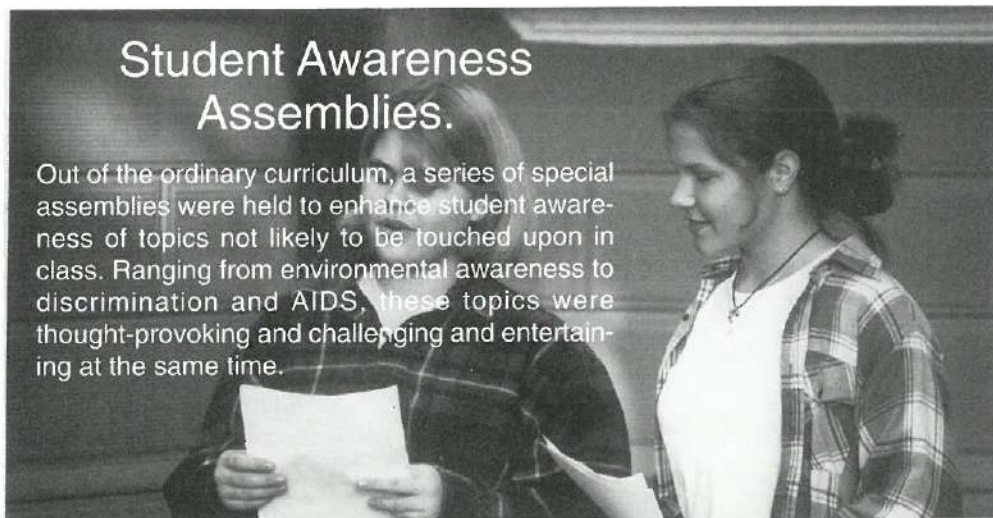

Behind the scenes of every successful organization, there are always those unsung heroes who provide support for every undertaking. We would like to call particular attention to our unsung heroes of ACAT: the PTA members, whose work is voluntary and dedicated, yet often unrecognized.

Thank you, Moms and Dads, for the support you give to the school and for the numerous ways with which you help keep ACAT's spirit alive.

Student Awareness Assemblies.

Out of the ordinary curriculum, a series of special assemblies were held to enhance student awareness of topics not likely to be touched upon in class. Ranging from environmental awareness to discrimination and AIDS, these topics were thought-provoking and challenging and entertaining at the same time.

Opening the Environmental Awareness Assembly Barb and Mary propose appropriate activities.

Politically aware, Amira leads the assembly.

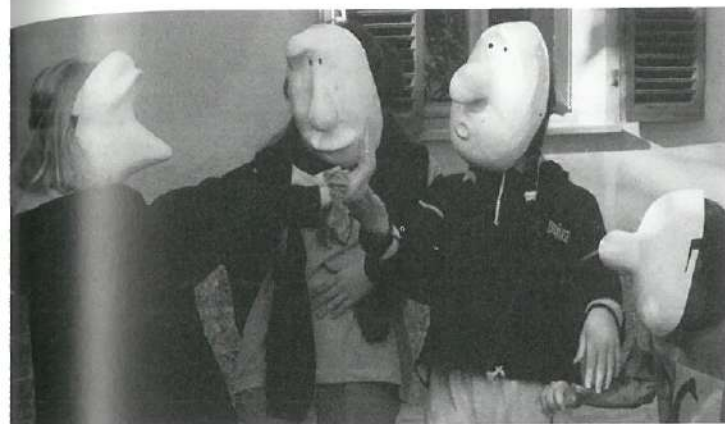

Actress Ulla Alas Jarvi leads Houman through a 'better communication' skit.

On stage or off, Carlos and Mari communicate naturally.

Guest speaker, Mrs. Ann Farneti leads a stirring discussion on drug awareness.

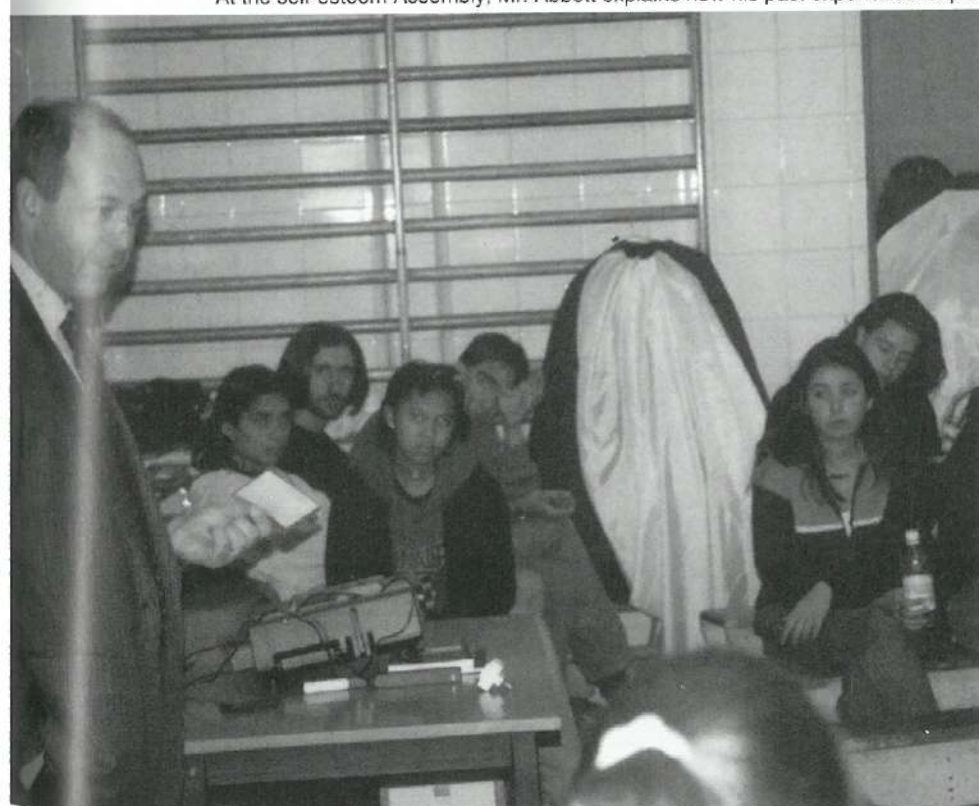

With the help of masks, the Self-esteem Team studies personality types to present at the assembly.

Enthusiastic with the end result, the mime team bows to a loud applause.

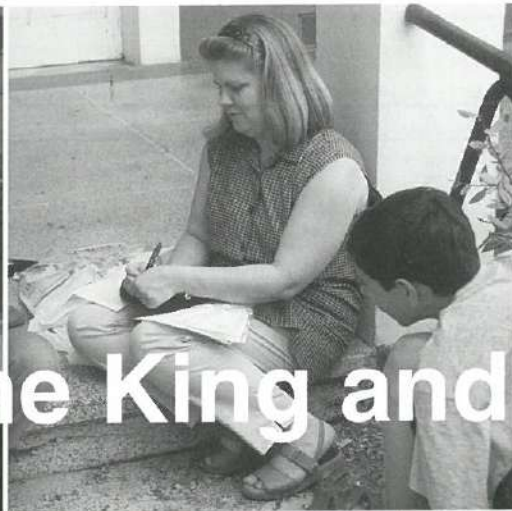

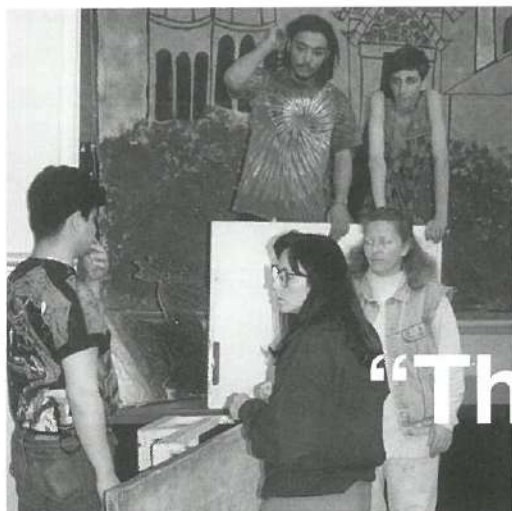

At the self-esteem Assembly, Mr. Abbott explains how his past experience helped him to be more self-confident.

Openly, Dr. Biglino answered a variety of questions about AIDS.

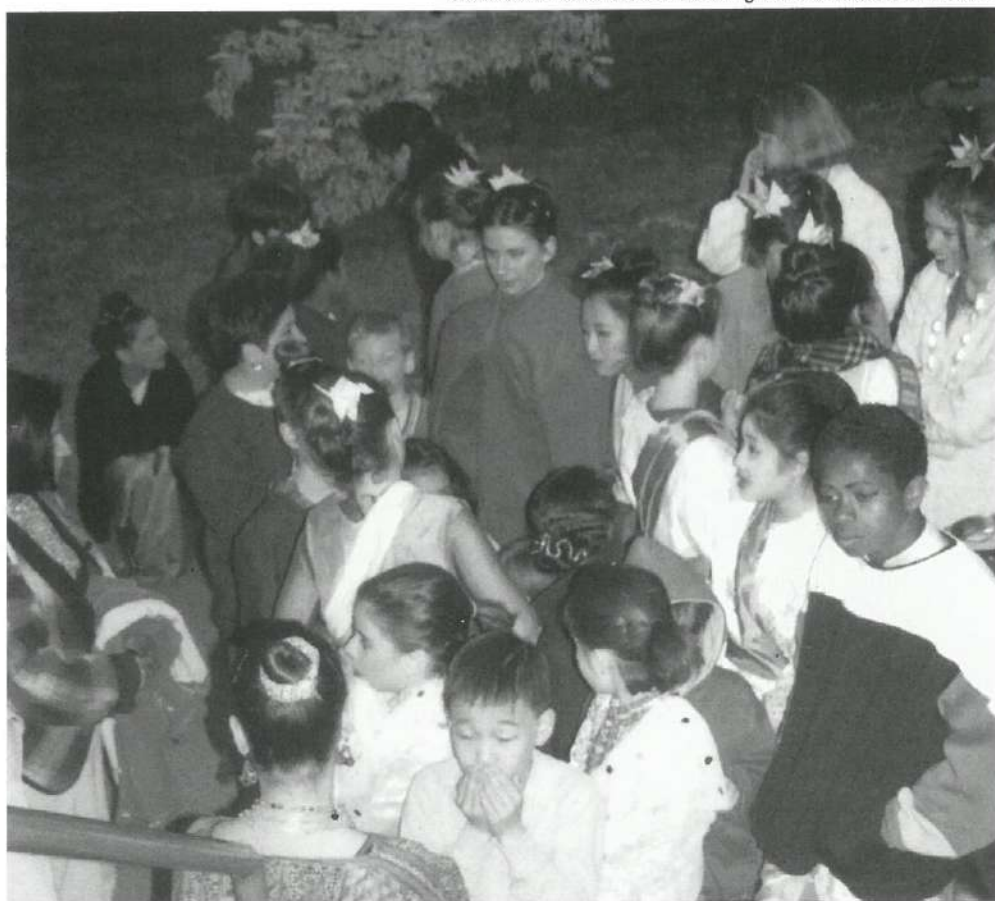

Andrea received recognition for being politically aware.

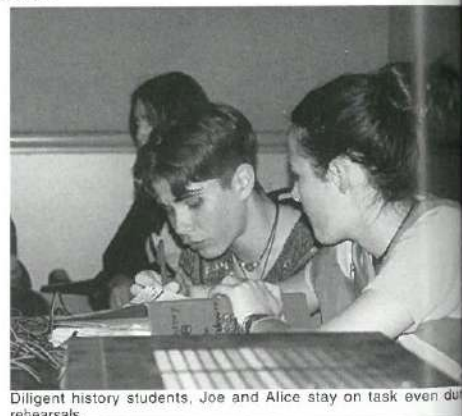

"The King and I"

It takes a mother's touch to bring out the best of an ACAT musical.

A brisk spring evening kept cast and crew awake as they waited outside for their entrance.

Diligent history students, Joe and Alice stay on task even during rehearsals.

Walkie-Talkie in hand, technical assistant Re gets his last minute instructions.

With all the right moves, Claudia's Siamese interlude sets the atmosphere for the show.

Mr. Haldeman and friends added a professional touch to the musical.

The imperial staff greets Anna on her arrival at Bangkok

A secret love thickens the plot.

The King's children are presented to their new teacher.

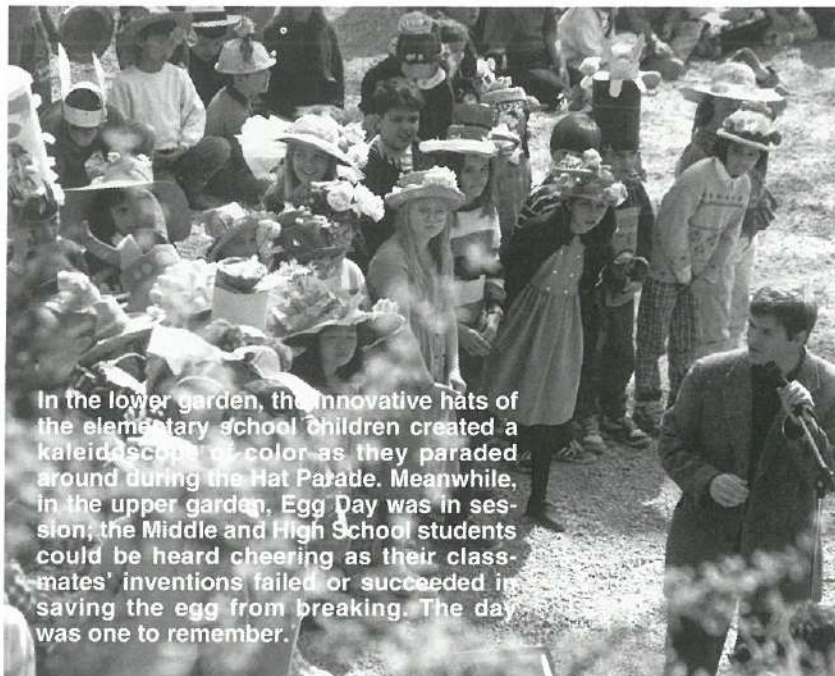

The King's kids' traditional view to the world vanishes with Anna's arrival.

'Prince' Carlos assumes control at the King's demise.

The Hat Parade: A Kaleidoscope of color.

In the lower garden, the innovative hats of the elementary school children created a kaleidoscope of color as they paraded around during the Hat Parade. Meanwhile, in the upper garden, Egg Day was in session; the Middle and High School students could be heard cheering as their classmates' inventions failed or succeeded in saving the egg from breaking. The day was one to remember.

During the hat parade, Mr. Haldeman announces upcoming musical attractions.

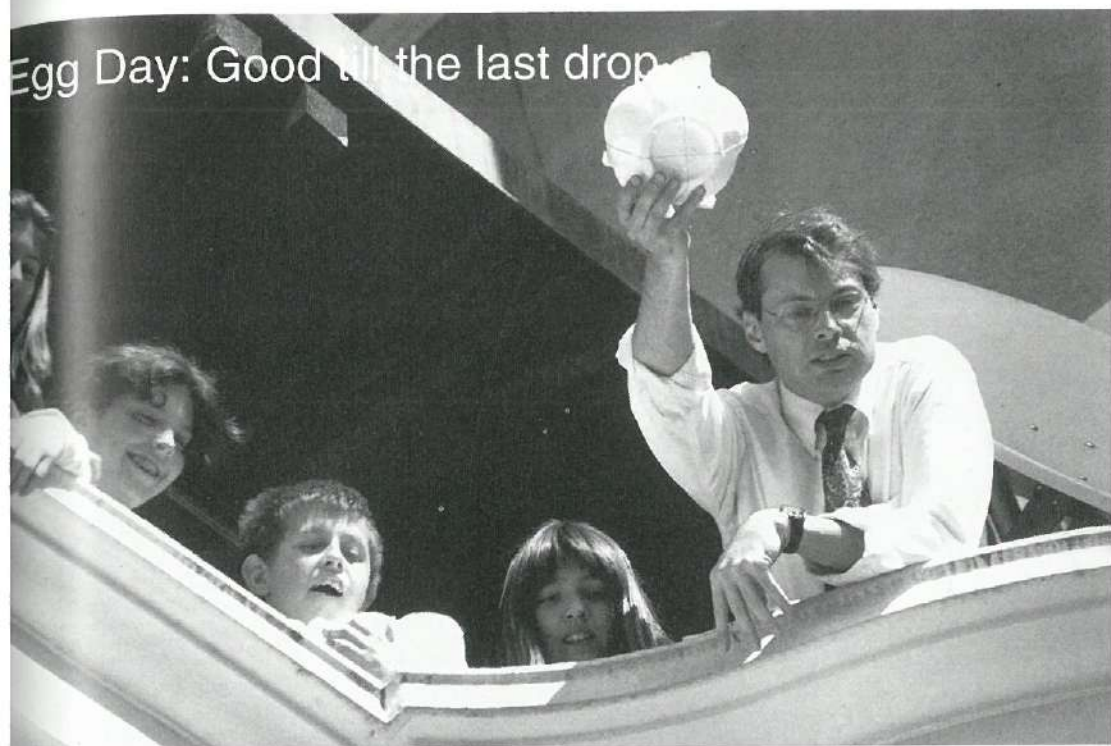

Hats off to Mrs. McKenzie's last ACAT creation.

The American spirit comes out even in the smallest kids.

Different hats, different faces but all united in spirit.

Egg Day: Good till the last drop

Tension rises among the Middle School contenders as Mr. Acunto makes the first drop.

It takes Egg Day to bring out tough Tony's bunny side.

Only the eggspert eye of Mr. Abbott can find the whole yolk in Peter's contraption.

Contemplating a future in Aeronautic engineering, Rafael anticipates the launch of his technological contraption.

The ACAT "inmates" observe Egg Day from a different perspective.

With all their party experience, cleaning up is certainly an activity the seniors are accustomed to.

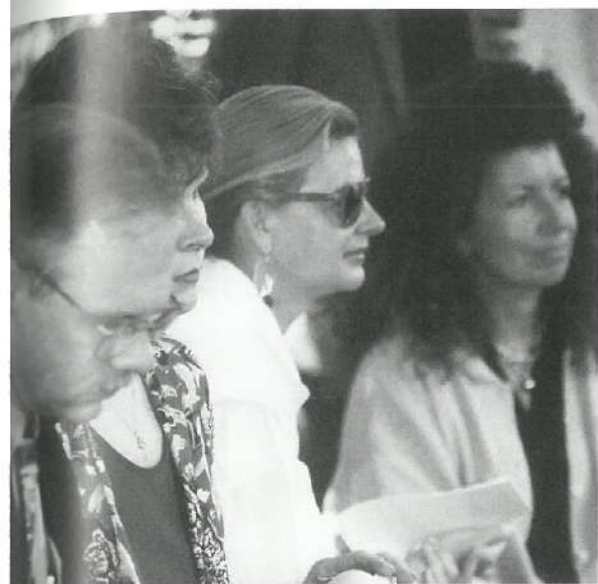

The Hague International Model United Nations

In the brisk, cold, windy mornings of the Hague, 9 students from ACAT participated in the annual Model United Nations. They represented IFAD, the International Fund for Agricultural Development, a small but important organization which in this year's main theme of world-wide poverty was particularly significant.

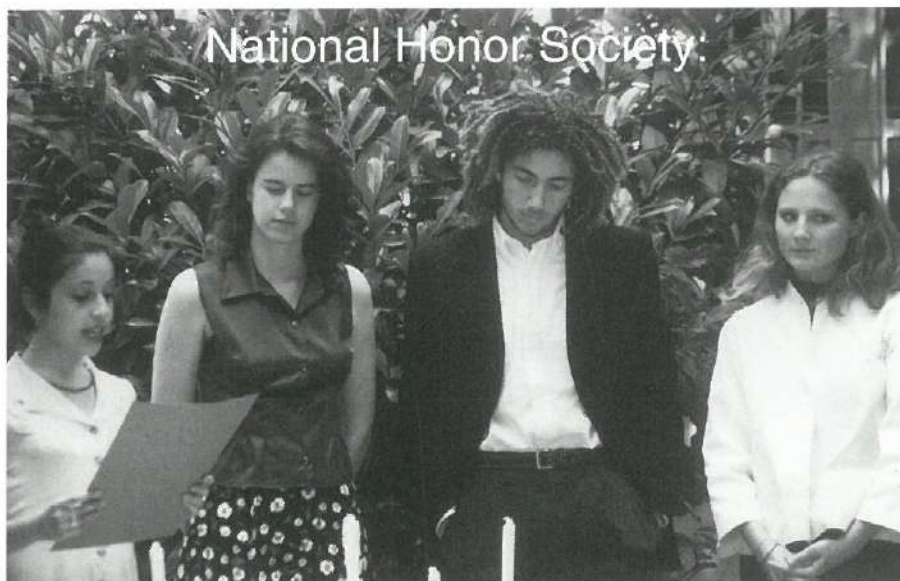

The delegates from the General Assembly, the Environment Commission, ECOSOC, and Security Council learned a lot from this experience, but they were especially rewarded by the interaction and communication with the other 300 students from countries around the world.

The 1997 ACAT MUN Delegates: Irene Biglino, Annalisa Palisca, Mariana Domicent, Ray Acunto and Kristy Wilkinson, advisors Piero Passatore, Mary Mihalic, Lorenzo Richetta, Valentina Malcotti, Rene Mendez and Valentina Gonçalves.

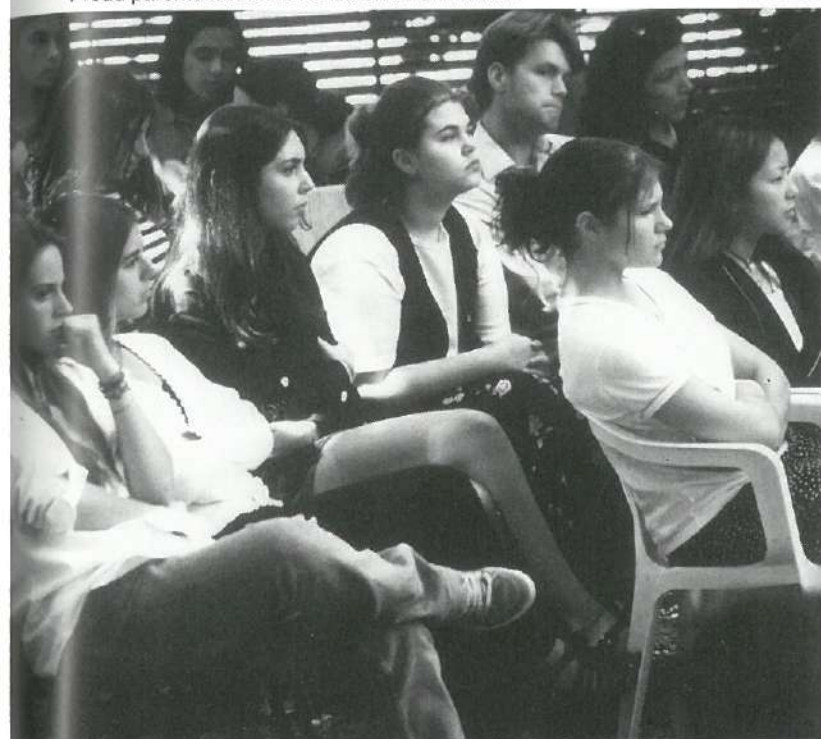

Proud parents await their children's nomination.

National Honor Society:

The veterans explain the characteristics needed to be part of the NHS.

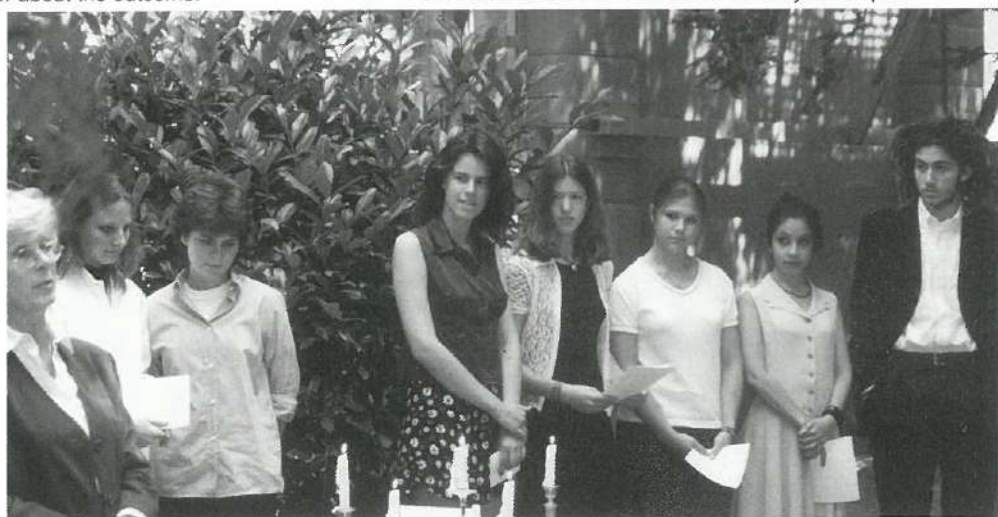

The audience is left in suspense and wonder about the outcome.

Dr. Elliott awards the members with a symbolic pin.

Proud of her classmates' achievements, Marie listens attentively.

While the new members of the NHS reflect on their nomination, Mrs. Sigliano comments on the achievements of other candidate-hopefuls for future membership.

STRACAT: the IST way to visit Moncalieri's hills.

Versatile Mrs. Vacca registers the runners.

"Sign-posters" Randy and Liz locate their positions.

New PTA president, Mrs. Passaggio manages her booth.

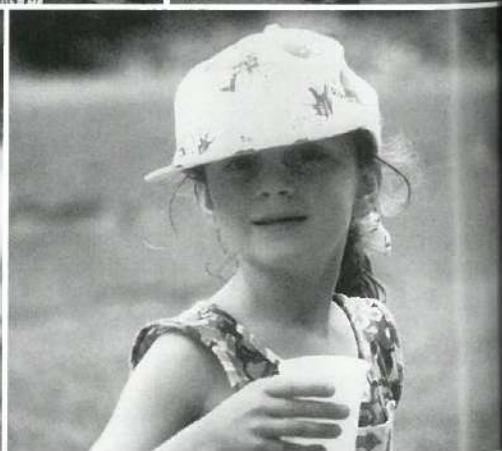

A hopeful competitor gets her pectoral and advice from mother.

Mrs. Palisca and Mrs. Canavesio make final security preparations for the run.

With an easy stride, Piero leads the race all the way.

The last lap is an easy down hill stroll to the food line.

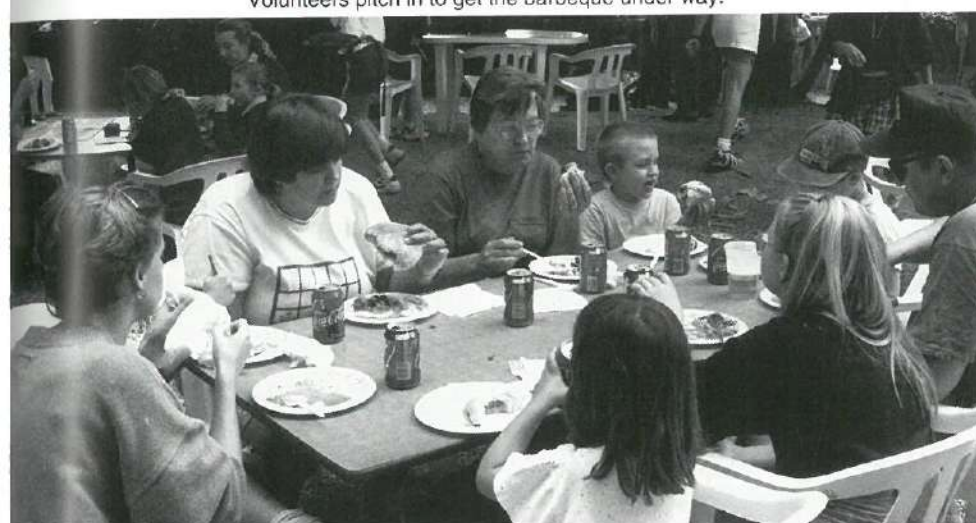

The Stracue: An Appetizing conclusion to a fun day

Volunteers pitch in to get the barbeque under way.

Veterans of many barbeques, the cooks have everything under control.

The race and strain behind them, hungry Acaters gather around their burgers.

Sweettoothed Emi rewards her efforts with a cupcake.

The second hand booksale offered food for thought.

Enticing raffle prizes find Francesca ready and waiting.

Sports Day: The challenge to good sportsmanship

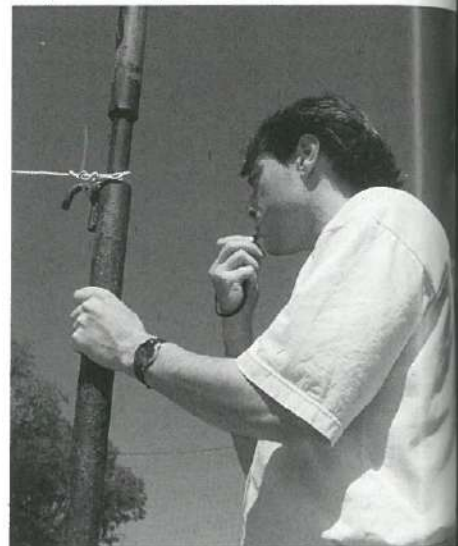

Referee Mr. Abbott sets down the rules at the beginning of the soccer game.

Ronchi Verdi Trainers give an insight on sportsmanship to ACAT athletes.

Keji seeks relief after a day of sports and sun.

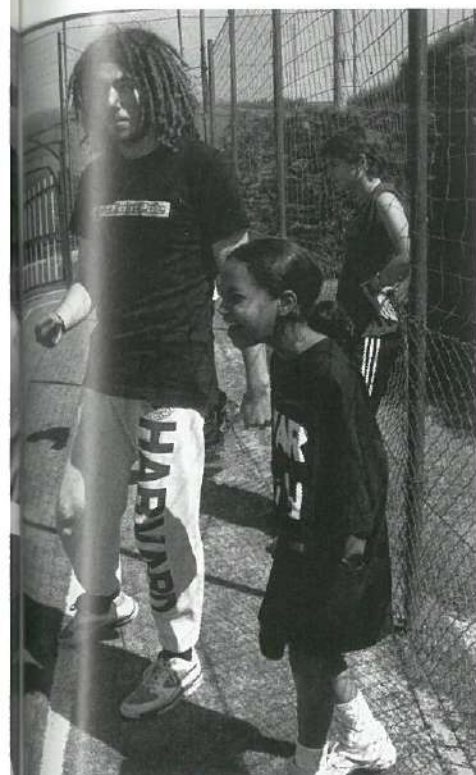

Whistle-ready, volleyball ref. Mr. Acunto has the final word when there is a dispute.

With a bit of effort and leadership, the ACAT sportsmen go a long way.

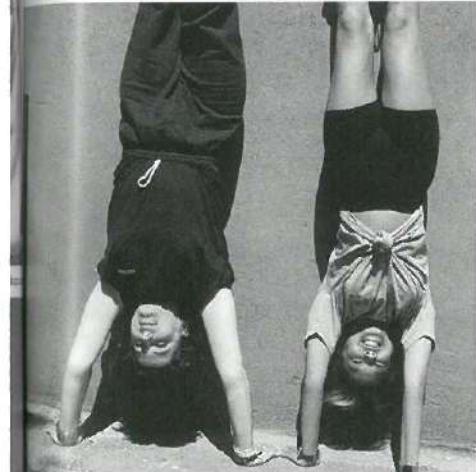

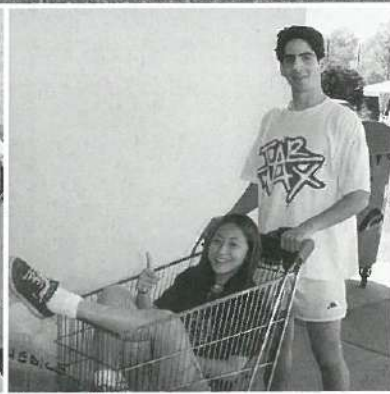

Filippo's slam can knock anyone down.

The German team cheerleaders find their teammates' tactics amusing.

The casualties find comfort from their teammates.

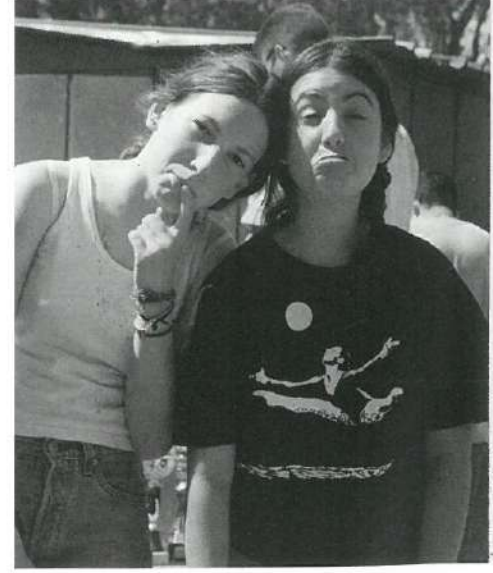

Being the world upside down is the best on sports day.

If you cannot get the ball over right, kick it over.

In every competition, there are the winners ...

... and the losers.

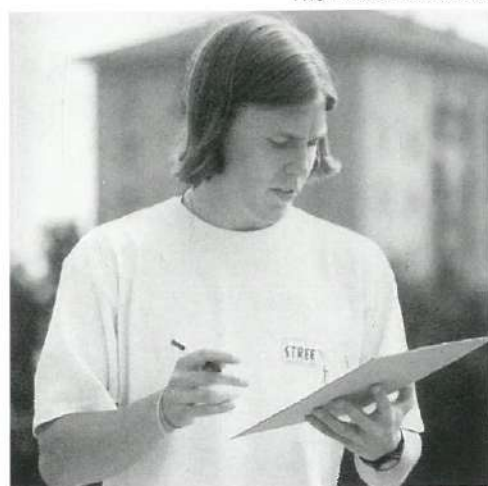

Elementary Sports Day

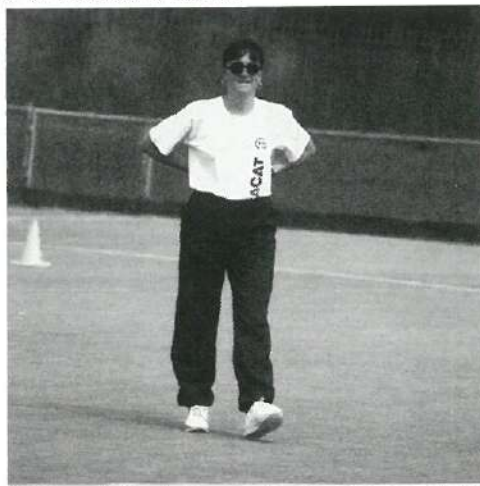

The Fifth Graders test their mettle on the Obstacle Course.

The Elliott Brothers confer on the order of events.

Visiting alumnus Carl gets drafted as guideline official.

P.E. coach Paola Ronzan keeps everyone on the run.

Nearly flying, Giulio takes the lead in the jump event.

Bolting away from the starting line, Andrea and Yuki tear up the 50 yard dash.

Casting a wary glance, Sofia checks out her competition.

With her sneakers flying, Eleonora charges toward the finish line.

Miho and Edoardo anxiously await Mrs. Houghton's signal for their dash.

Groundskeeper, Mrs. Bardelli shares her observations with Edoardo.

La Mandria: A splendor in the grass for kids of all ages.

Whether composing, recomposing, or decomposing, Mr. Haldeman enjoys the change of rhythm La Mandria offers.

A moment away from the crowd allows Charlotte a chance to commune with nature.

Meanwhile at the teachers' corner, lighthearted conversation sets the tone for this great escape day.

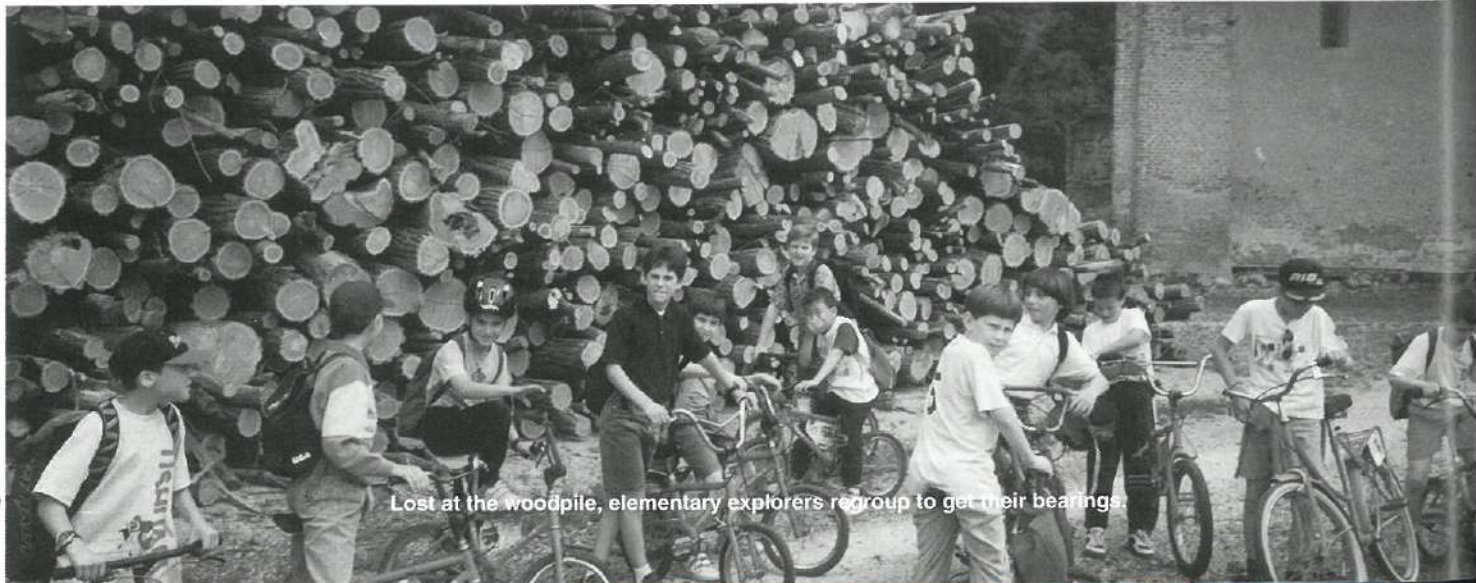

Quiet talks and first thoughts are the subtle benefits of La Mandria.

Easy-rider Pete breaks away for green fields and far-away trails.

"Los Tres Amigos" return to the base from another "mission impossible" venture.

Lost at the woodpile, elementary explorers regroup to get their bearings.

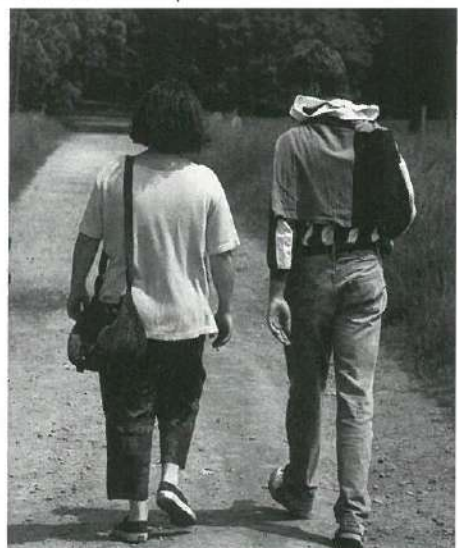

Whether on the wall or off the wall, the middle schoolers get an update on the who's who list.

What's a field day without America's favourite sport?

A hotly contested soccer match saw much steam let off at the other end of the field.

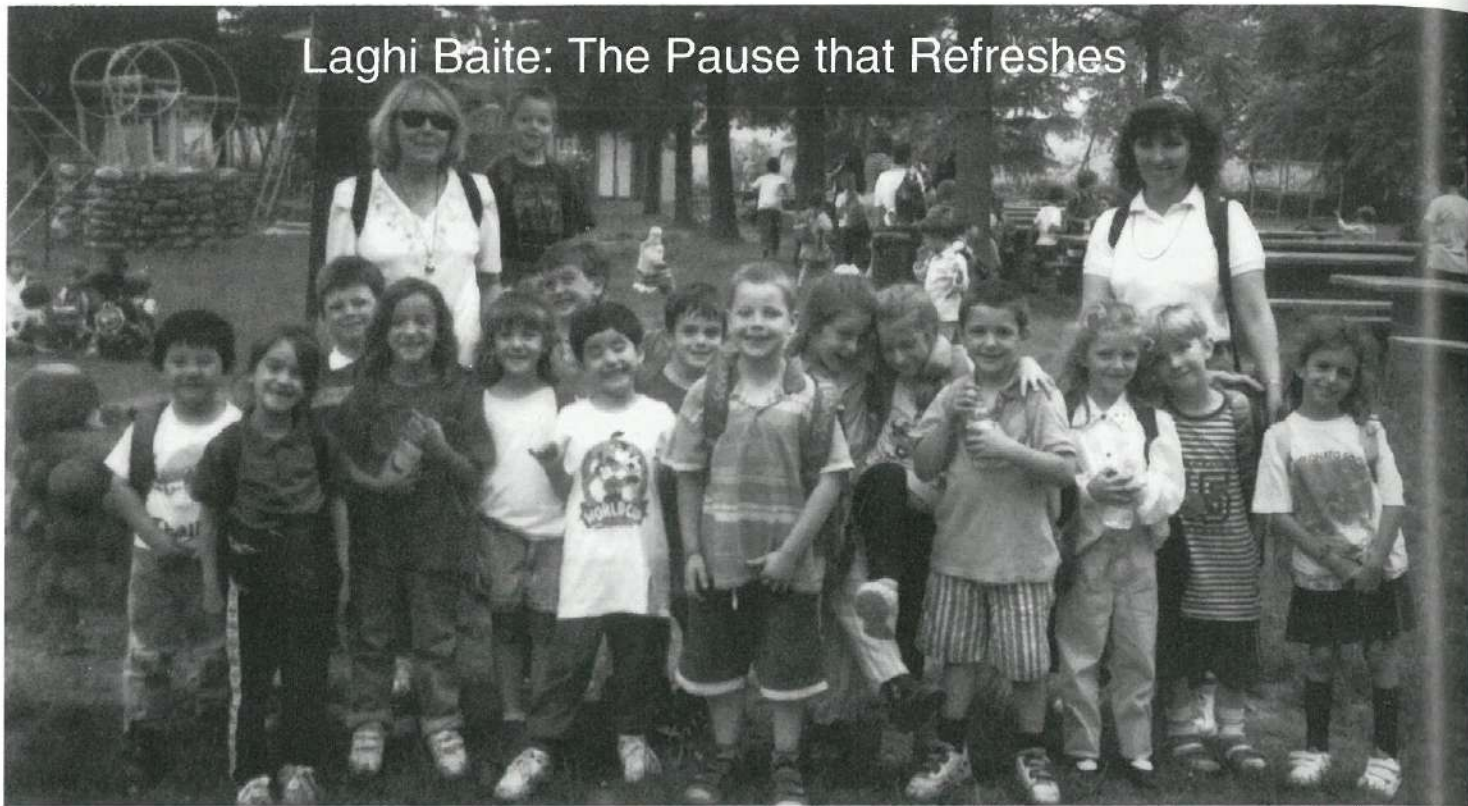

... And so, another excursion to La Mandria draws to a close as Sandra and Rich stroll off into the sunset.

An overwhelming mob of unruly students had a slight advantage over a smaller but spirited team of teachers in the tug of war.

Laghi Baite: The Pause that Refreshes

The group takes a break from the restless day's activities to enjoy a Kodak moment.

Umberto and Filippo are mesmerized by all the playground equipment that awaits them in the park.

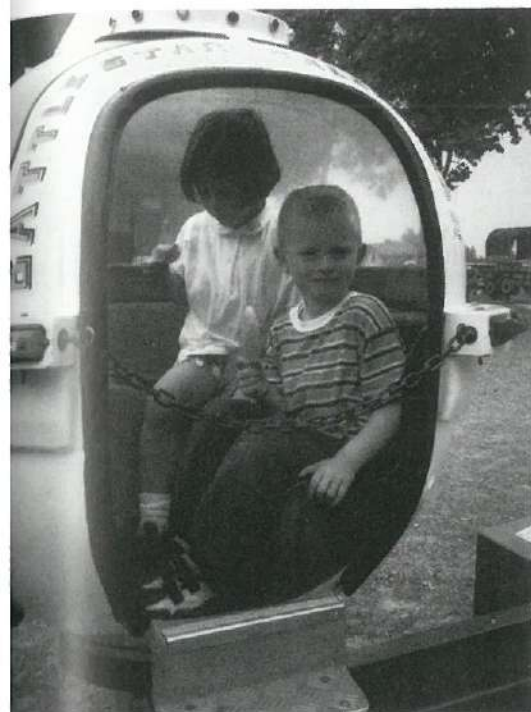

The ever-helpful parents support team cool down with ice cream after an exhausting day in the outdoors.

Up in the air, the boys learn another hard lesson in life.

Paige and Juanita swing out of their active mood and take a few minutes to relax.

Vincent and Anna brace themselves for an adventuresome ride on their private spaceship.

The restless bunch reluctantly sits down for a group shot before it sprints back into action.

After supervising dozens of little Acateers, patient Mrs. Korzonek pauses for a moment.

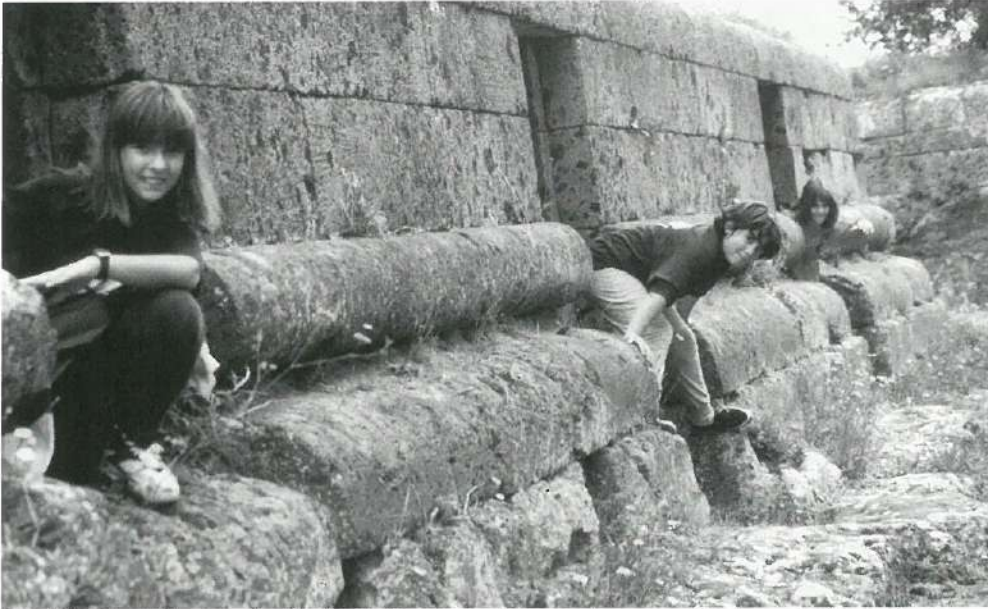

The Laghi Baite attractions have great success among the Elementary kids.

Upper School Field Trips: On the road to discovery.

Throughout the year, upper school students ventured beyond the walls of ACAT to explore those aspects of history that no classroom lecture or text book can reveal. Whether discovering how early man developed his technology or playing Renaissance guides to their classmates, they experienced a rich new dimension in learning.

On the run, sixth graders get the feel of the Circus Maximus.

Peering out from ancient tombs, sixth grade explorers get a sense of Etruscan burial practices.

At Montesataccio, a lesson on Roman Commerce makes sense of a pile of pots.

Experimental archaeology sheds light on primitive man's development of technology.

An exhibit of festive holiday settings at the Jewish Community Center emphasizes comparative cultures.

Seventh grade Renaissance buffs find reliefs in Pisa.

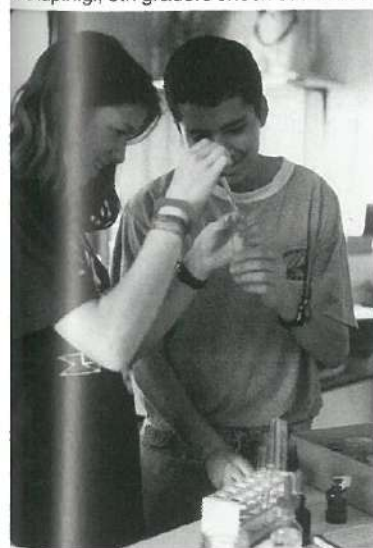

Guides for a day, 7th graders share their Renaissance research with their classmates.

At Stupinigi, 8th graders check out Juvarra's contribution to Baroque architecture.

A fine arts trip to Paris finds the 8th grade relaxing by the Seine.

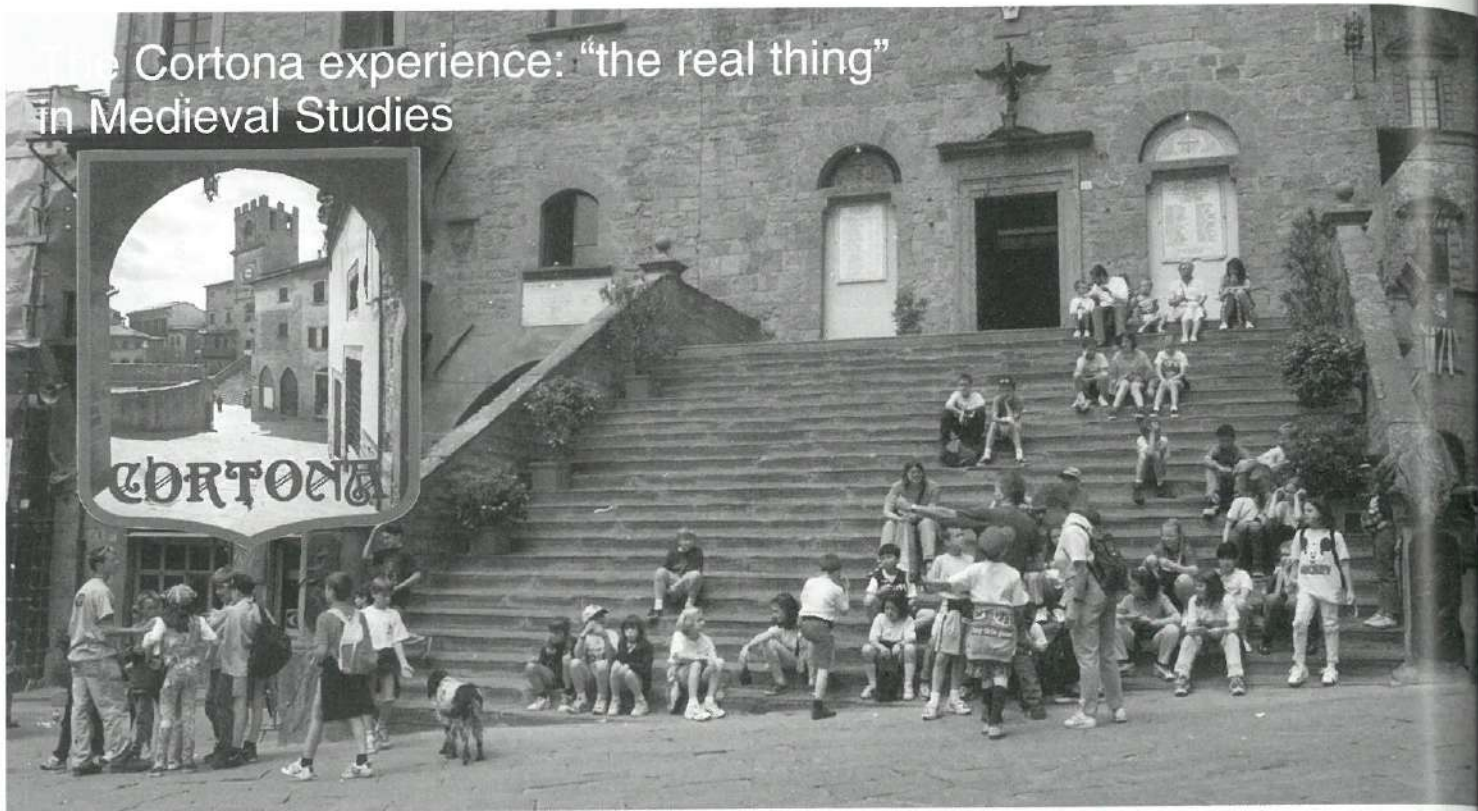

Ana and Rene examine their water specimens from the Po river.

An eleventh grade ecology project resulted in a pleasant walk-talk in the river.

The Cortona experience: "the real thing" in Medieval Studies

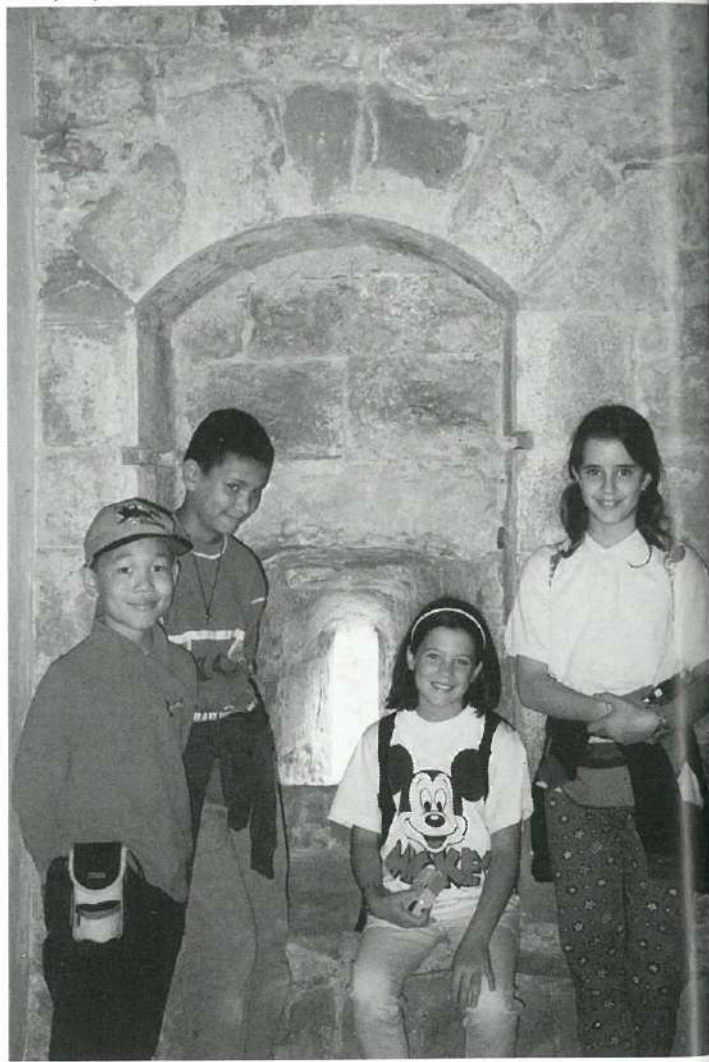

The traditional rest in the piazza is an ideal way to put Cortona into perspective.

Seeking out Medieval coats of arms, Julian and his team scrutinize the buildings.

Excited about the excursion awaiting them on the island, the treasure hunters enjoy the boat ride.

The fifth graders get into a Renaissance mood as they visit the Medici cas

A pit stop under an olive tree is a refreshing way to appreciate the Tuscan atmosphere.

Ice Cream is just what the exhausted bunch needed after an action-packed afternoon.

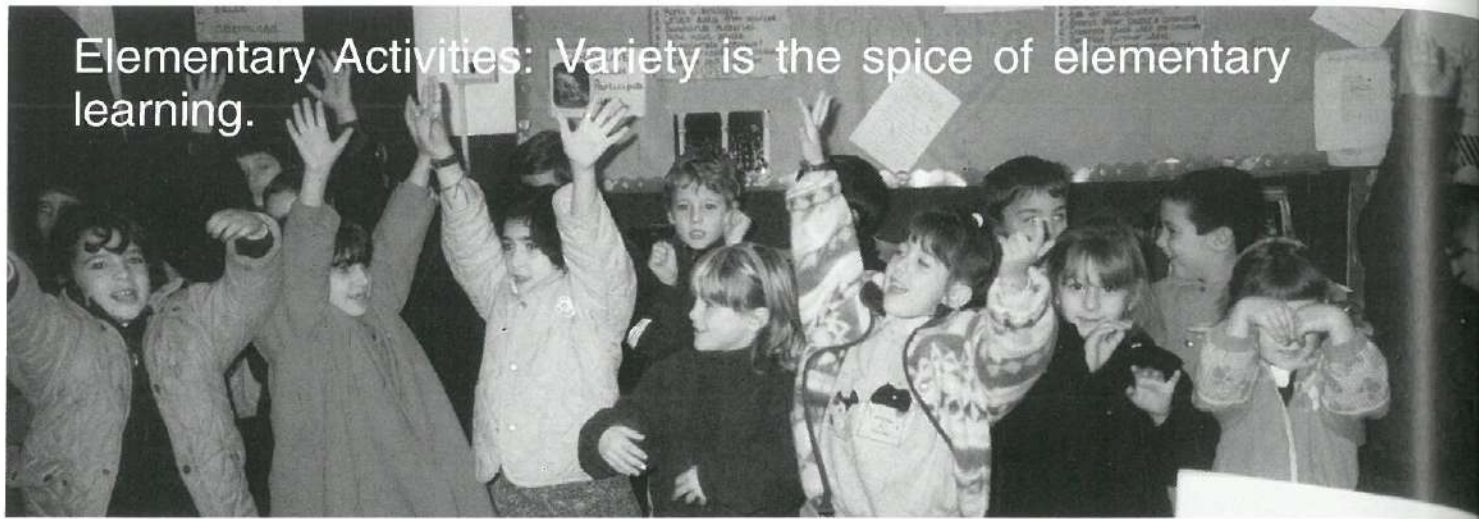

Observing the instructor's directions, the group anticipates the seal-making experience.

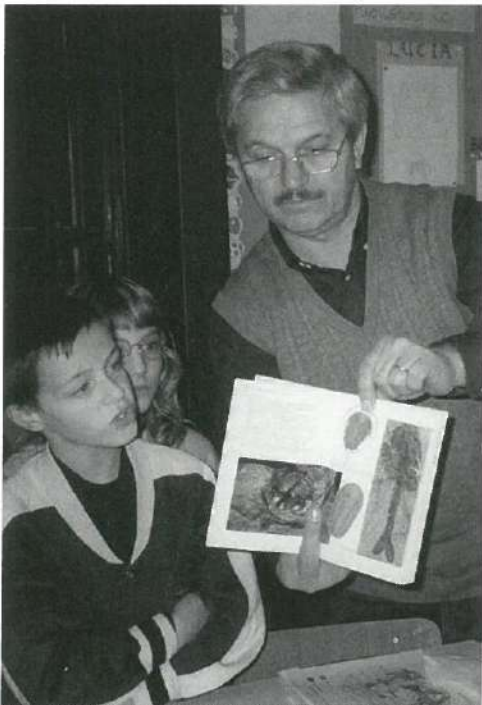

After an exhilarating treasure hunt, Mrs. McKenzie and the girls are ready to attack their sandwiches.

Elementary Activities: Variety is the spice of elementary learning.

"On tour" through the elementary school, the first graders charmed everyone with their effervescent "wake-up song".

Visiting geologist, Luigi Zabaldano amazed fourth grade science students with his talk on fossils.

Ever-creative 4th graders collaborate on their classroom's King Wenceslaus bulletin board.

At Christmas faire, Mrs. Garabello and Mrs. Sericano share their gift wrapping skills.

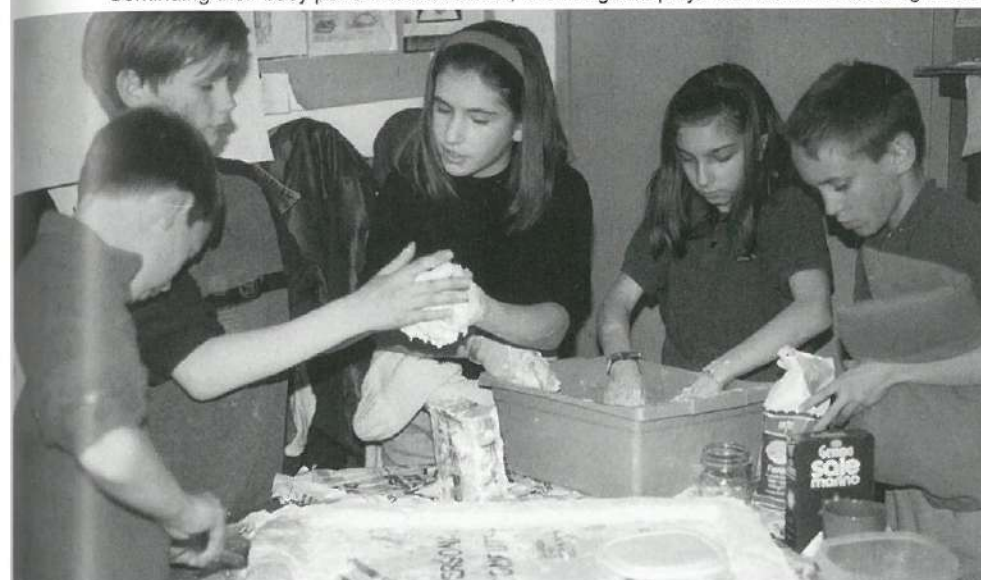

Guest speaker, Mr. Aden intrigues the 4th grade with a new insight on Islam.

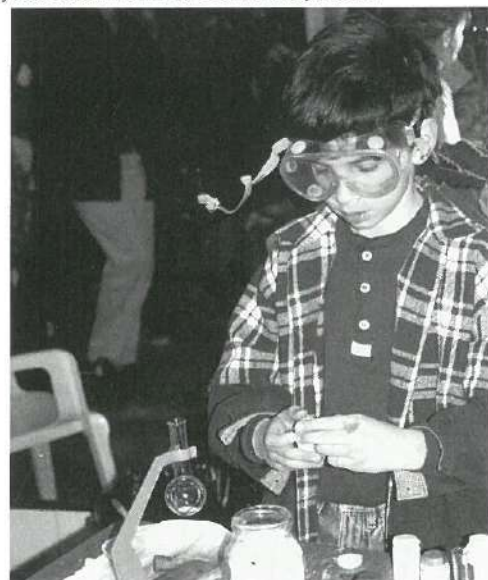

Mr. McKenzie practices his reading before a captiv audience.

Continuing their busy performance season, the first grade players entertain a standing room only audience with their Carnevale parade.

In an impressive hands-on research project, the 5th graders prepare for their Renaissance Fair.

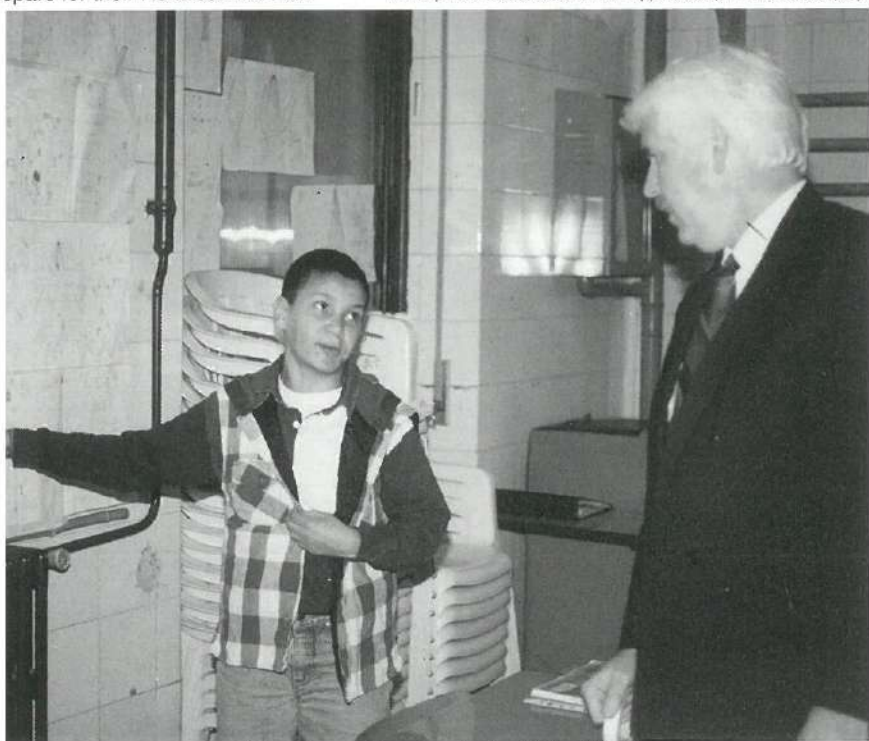

An aspirant Leonardo da Vinci, Filippo sets up his science display.

A fourth grade medieval project draws the attention of Mrs. Shin.

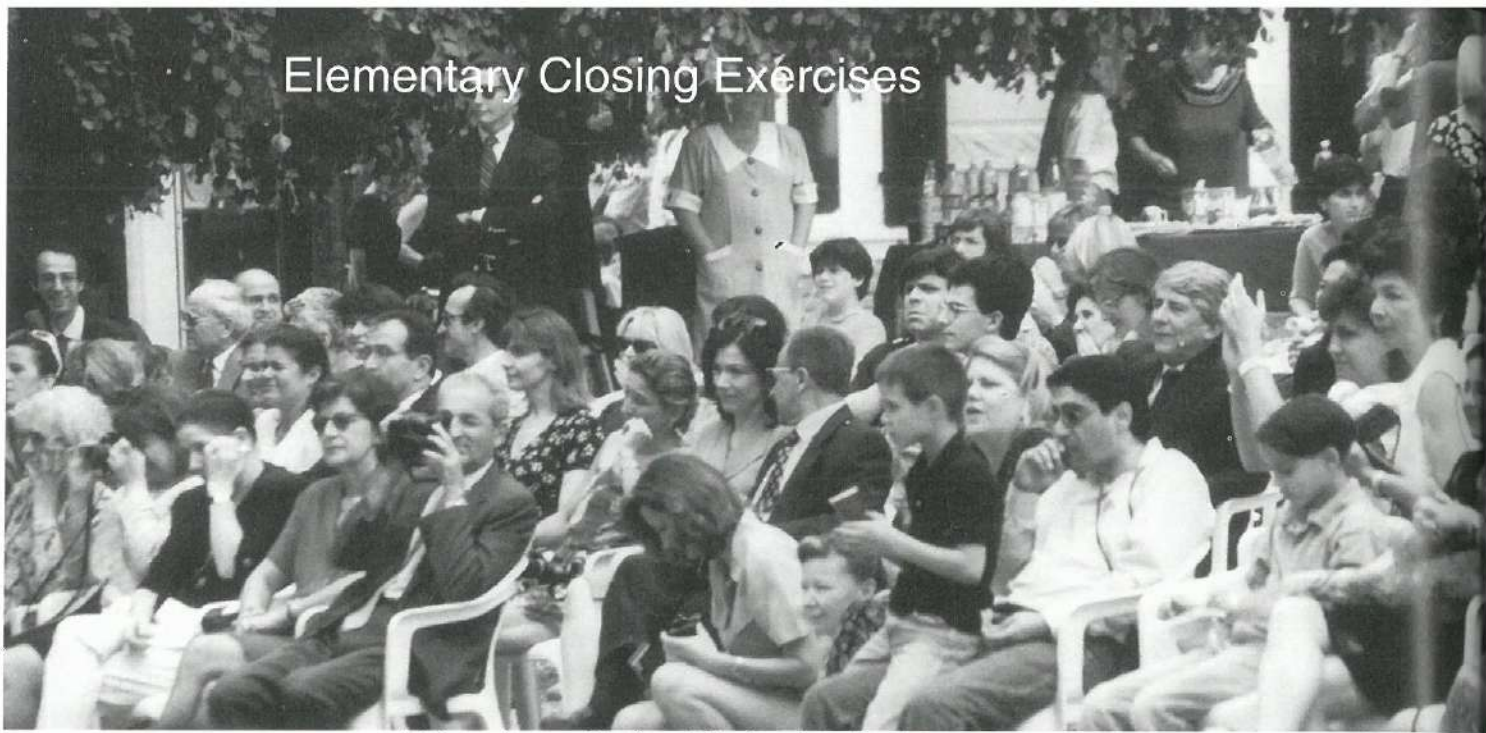

Nutritionist Mrs. Leveroni advises 4th grade medievalists on ancient dietary habits.

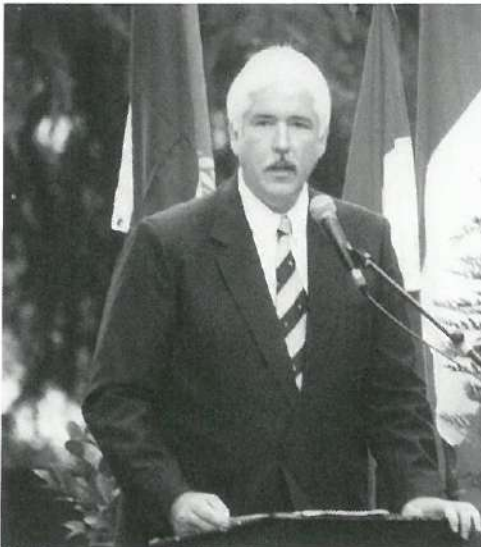

Julian shares his art project with Dr. Elliott.

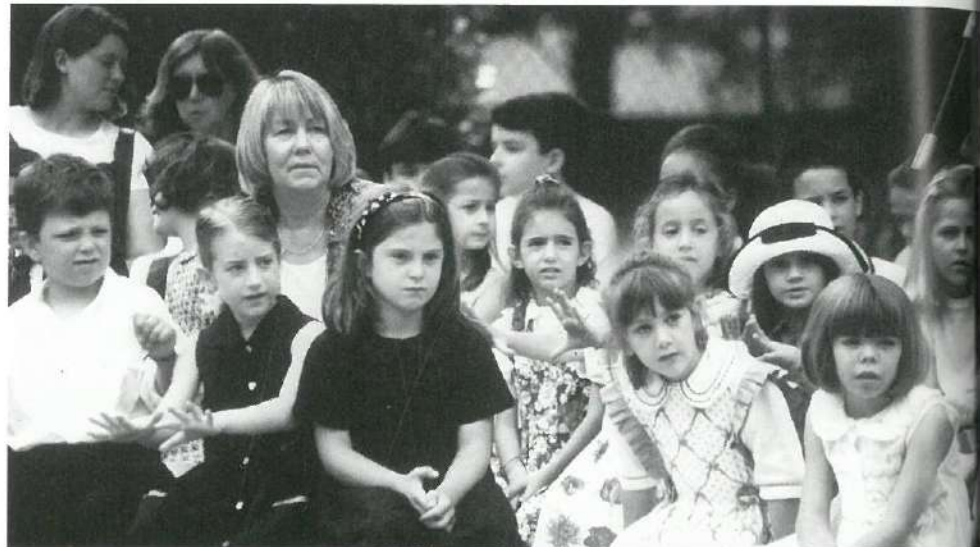

Elementary Closing Exercises

A full complement of family and friends gathered for the promotion exercise.

Headmaster Dr. Elliott opens the ceremony with warm words of praise.

Anticipating their performance, the Kindergarteners watch the program with interest.

Teacher assistant, Kris Baxter reacts as enthusiastically as her charges to the ceremony.

One of the highlights of the day's activity was Yuki song.

Distinguished ESL students, Luca and Jacob proudly stand with Ms. McKenzie.

Dispensing with formalities, Matteo grabs the certificate on the run.

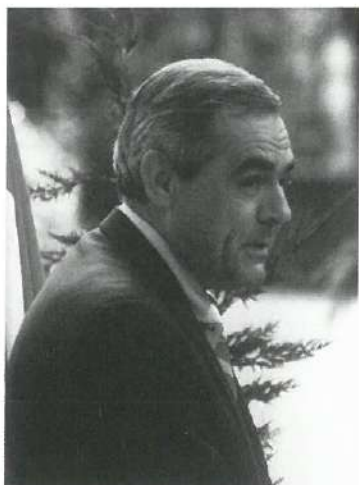

A choral interlude enriches the program.

There are some people whom we can never thank enough.

Proud 5th graders stand ready to go forth and multiply at a higher level.

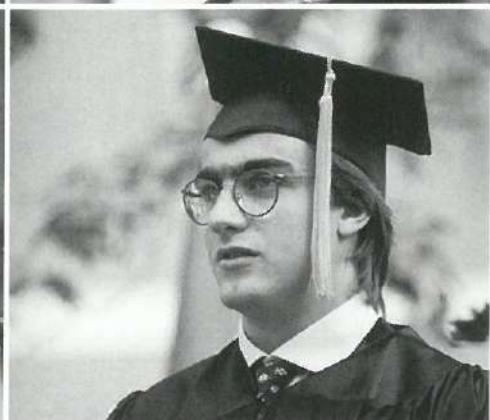

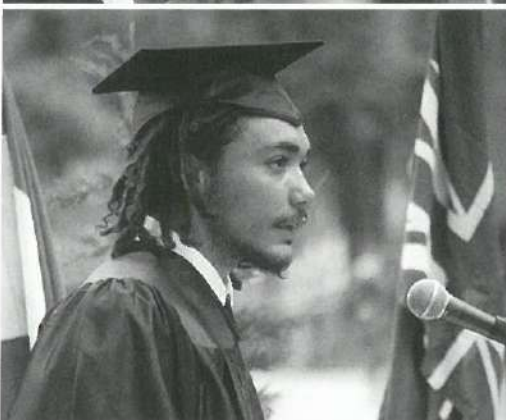

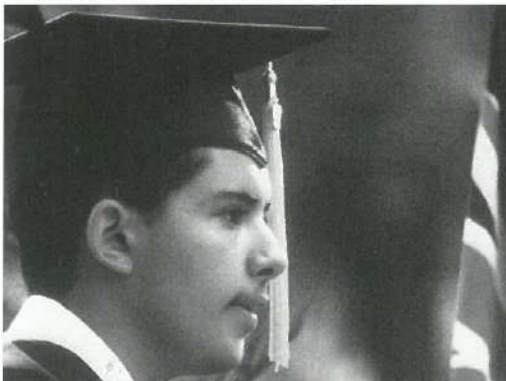

Board President Renato Vasino opens the closing ceremony.

Graduation Day: another milestone reached!

The 1997 Graduation Audience shares another emotion-packed graduation.

An on-going speech offered a medley of graduate view-points.

A nostalgic Mrs. McKenzie shares her poignant remarks and sincere wishes to the seniors.

The backbone of the school, student council members receive congratulations for a job well done.

"Concern for Others" is a special recognition award presented to Anna Palisca.

Off-duty graduate, Tony checks out the sound system with Raf.

Retiring I.B. Coordinator, Mrs. Lybery offers words of praise and encouragement to the seniors.

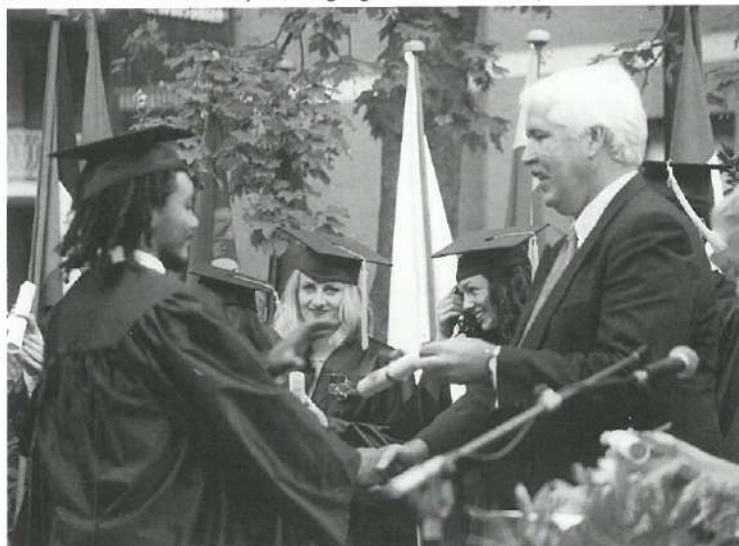

Glowing in her thoughts, Carola reflects on her reception of her ECIS award.

Special awards and welcome surprises highlighted the ceremony.

Middle-schoolers follow Mr. Haldeman's directions in a medley of songs.

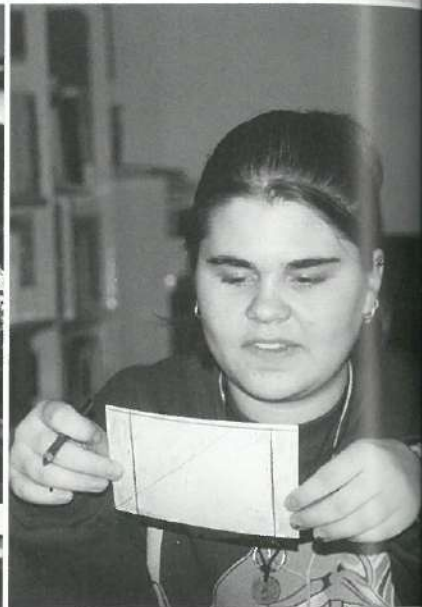

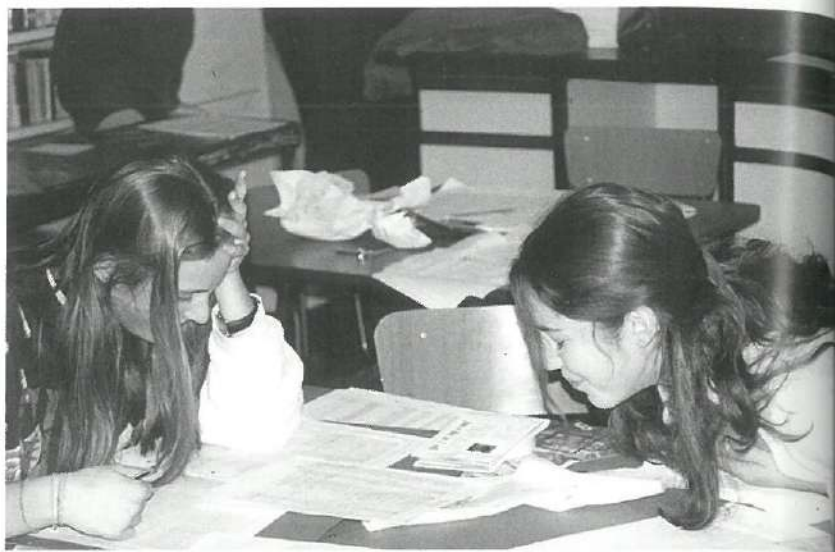

Dr. Elliott proudly hands Tony his diploma.

La politica della Monoservizio Bibo

Il nostro obiettivo è la leadership nel mercato della tavola monouso. Questo significa che il consumatore finale deve vedere in Bibo il miglior offerente di stoviglie e tovagliame monouso, e che il trade deve vedere la nostra azienda (con il marchio Bibo ed eventuali marchi privati) come il partner più dinamico ed esperto sia nel saper soddisfare i bisogni del consumatore finale, che quelli della distribuzione stessa.

Il consumatore finale nei nostri prodotti cerca soprattutto la praticità (un piatto pulito senza doverlo lavare), l'estetica e la possibilità di variare con fantasia l'ambiente tavola. Tutte le nostre azioni devono di conseguenza essere orientate a soddisfare questi bisogni.

La Monoservizio Bibo SpA, fondata nel 1928, è uno dei pionieri a livello mondiale del "monouso per la tavola" ed ha di conseguenza acquisito un importante know-how ed una profonda cultura nell'ambito di questo settore. L'azienda, che nel 1996 ha fatturato oltre 100 miliardi di Lire, occupa 250 dipendenti ed è leader in Italia sia nel mercato Consumer che Catering. Oltre il 95% degli articoli presentati nei cataloghi è di produzione interna. La sede e lo stabilimento della Monoservizio Bibo sono a Settimo Torinese (Torino). La superficie complessiva è di 55.000 m² di cui circa la metà è coperta. La Monoservizio Bibo possiede un'altra unità produttiva di recente costituzione, la MB Sud, ampiamente automatizzata e con alta efficienza, che ha sede a Buccino (Salerno). La Monoservizio Bibo è una società per azioni con un capitale sociale aumentato a Lit. 15 miliardi all'inizio del 1997.

The Monoservizio Bibo policy

Our objective is that of leadership within the disposable tableware market. This means that the end-consumer should regard Bibo as the number-one supplier of disposable and short-time products for the table, and that the trade should consider our company (with the Bibo trademark and eventual private labels) as the most dynamic and expert partner in knowing how to satisfy the needs both of the end-consumer and the ones of the trade itself.

Our end-consumer looks in the first place for convenience (a clean plate without having to wash it), a nice design and the possibility of changing the table environment in a pleasant manner. All our efforts must therefore be concentrated on satisfying these needs.

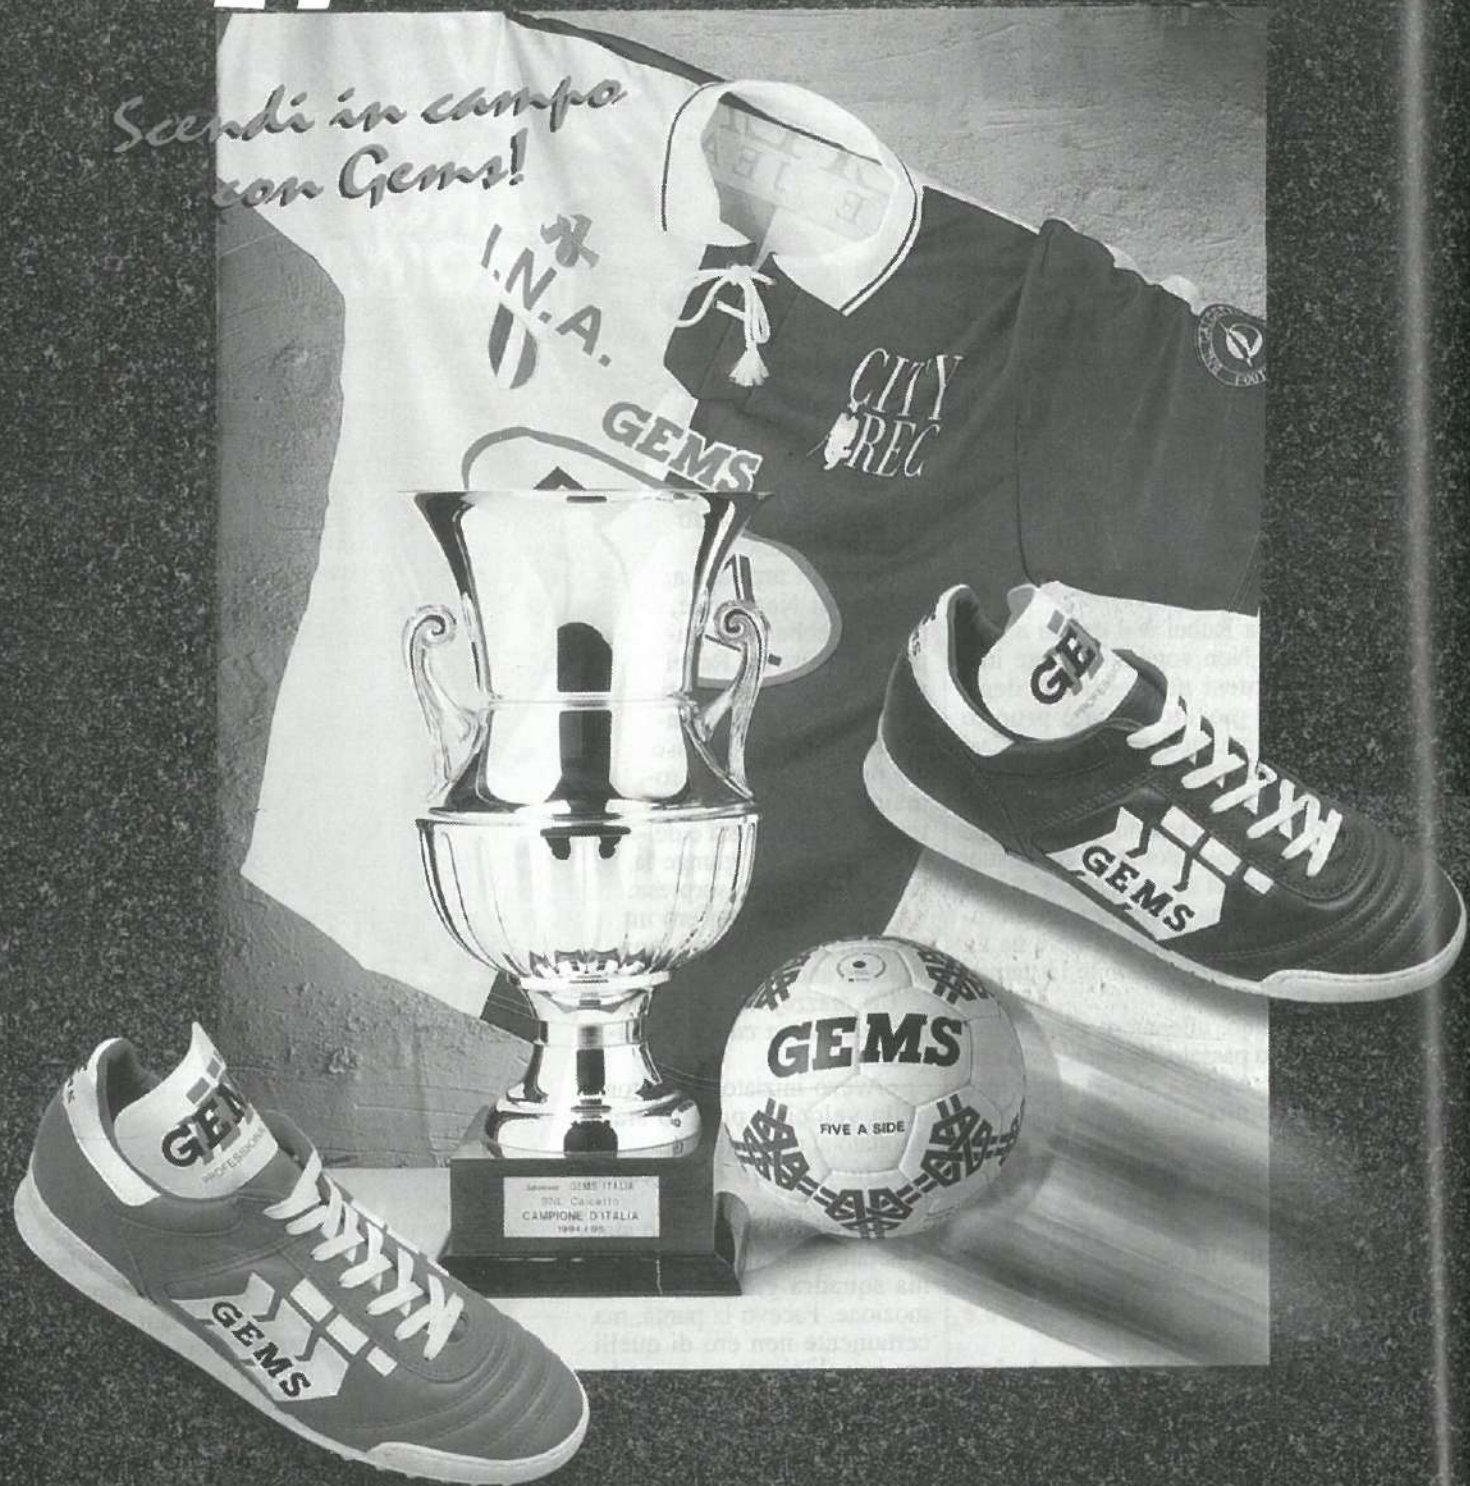

Monoservizio Bibo SpA, established in 1928, is one of the world pioneers in disposable tableware and food service packaging, and has thus acquired important know-how and in-depth culture within these markets. The company, with 1996 sales amounting to more than 100 billion Lire, employs 250 persons and is the leading firm in Italy on both the Consumer and Catering markets. Over 95% of the items listed in its catalogues are manufactured in-house. Monoservizio Bibo's head office and factory are located in Settimo Torinese (Turin). The total area is 55.000 sqm, approximately half of which is covered. Monoservizio Bibo possesses another recently built production unit, MB Sud. This highly automated and efficient plant is located in Buccino (Salerno). Monoservizio Bibo is a joint-stock company with a share capital increased to 15 billion Lire early 1997 (=almost US$ 10 million).

Yearbook Fundraising Dinner

Mere words are inadequate to express our sincere appreciation for Mr. and Mrs. Vacca's ongoing support of the Yearbook, but we hope that these photos speak for themselves as at least partial testimony to the special effort the Vacca's put forth on behalf of the yearbook.

Our gracious hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Vacca pose with their daughter Elisabetta.

Mindful of last year's successful dinner, Yearbook Editor Aileen presents Mrs. Vacca with a token of gratitude.

Ever-supportive PTA members avoid "talking shop" over an appetizer.

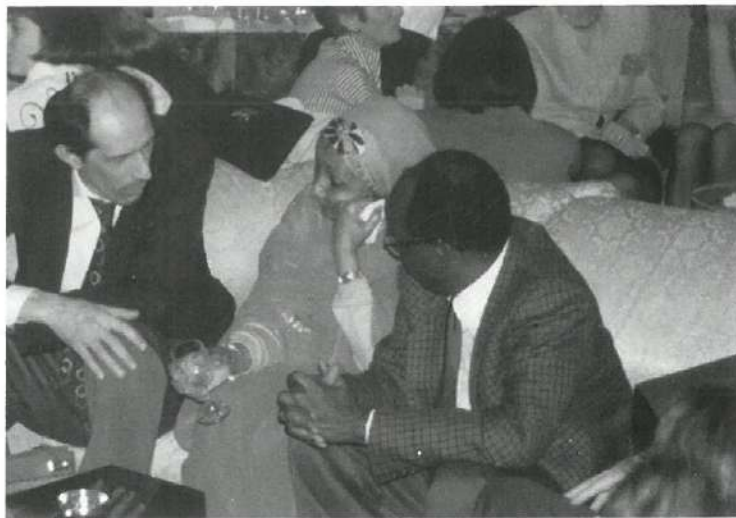

Buba and Paola join in the spirit of the evening.

At a quieter corner, elegant friends gathered to exchange pleasantries.

Sparkling personalities and easy conversations made the champagne even more effervescent.

One observer commented on how easily the ACAT community mingled in the warm atmosphere of the Vacca's home.

An artistic display of food graced the table briefly until hungry guests arrived on the scene.

Princess for a night, Elisabetta enjoys her evening with the grown-ups.

As part of their training, yearbook staffers must coordinate their eating styles.

Exercising public relations, business editor, Carola makes the rounds of the guests.

suoi studenti un'ampia scelta di specializzazioni internazionali, anche negli USA dove spese e tasse di iscrizione sono di norma difficilmente sostenibili. Per quanto concerne l'ammissione ai Corsi, il numero dei partecipanti è programmato e l'accesso, quindi, è subordinato al superamento di una prova di idoneità. Per gli allievi SAA sono disponibili prestiti sull'onore e borse di studio erogate da aziende, istituzioni e dalla Scuola stessa. Strategica, infine, è l'attività dell'Ufficio Job Placement che, sviluppando i contatti con le imprese interessate ad assumere, contribuisce a rendere elevata la percentuale dei diplomati SAA rapidamente assorbiti dal mondo del lavoro. A Torino e nelle quattro sedi decentrate la Scuola di Amministrazione Aziendale forma ogni anno circa mille allievi.
