THE ACAT - IST '98-'99

*This Yearbook was prepared by the upper school students of the
ACAT International School of Turin
Vicolo Tiziano, 10 - 10024 Moncalieri (TO) Italy*

A.C.A.T.: Beneath the Surface

Take a glance at A.C.A.T.-I.S.T. What do you see? A kaleidoscope of colors and languages, of faces in the crowd sharing the adventure of learning. Now take a better look. What do you perceive lying beyond the face of A.C.A.T.? In thinking for a theme for this 1998-1999 yearbook we chose to look beyond the face of A.C.A.T. to discover the spirit beneath. As you now flip through the pages of this book of memories we invite you to reflect on the essence beyond the surface, on the many, changing, facets of A.C.A.T.

Dedication

Dear Mr. Moore,
you have always encouraged us to do our best by giving us a second chance, by always emphasizing the positive side of every situation, and by stimulating our self-esteem. Your never-ending patience and your occasional metamorphosis into a sports commentator have helped to ease our struggle to understand the enigmatic nature of mathematics. The graduating students would especially like to thank you for efficiently answering all those last minute questions; for applying successful exam strategies, and for scrupulously helping us review and amend our TOK essays and personal statements. We will never forget you and we wish you all the best for the future.

Academics

Umberto Alessandria

While calculating the Student Council treasury, organizing SERPENT recycling boxes, getting appendicitis and being voted the friendliest high school male, Umbi has also coped with being the "man of the class". Friends seek comfort in his sensitive-but-funny personality, and his down-to-earth character. There is always space in his life for different kinds of people.

Irene Biglino

Irene is known amongst students and staff for her warm and friendly disposition. Academically, she is always busy; working as President of Student Council, being ambassador at MUN, and being an overall outstanding achiever in her classes. In addition to the studious image she gives, Ire has a mystical charm that invites people to get to know her. She will remember the good times in Turin, whether philosophizing under the stars, going out to pubs & restaurants, or dancing at Dr. Sax's.

Anne Couëlle

Characterized by her honesty, Anne says whatever is on her mind. She relieves people from the hum drum crush of everyday life, and stands up for what she believes in. No one can help but admire her free-spirited will; she is not intimidated by anyone, whether they be friend, foe, or headmaster. She can bring excitement to a volleyball match as well as a debate, and can surprise friends with her spontaneous generosity.

Laura De Caro

"Little Gustav" is remembered for her 60's style, her love of Bailey's, her De Caurian math formula, and her kindness and sensitivity. She can make people feel welcome with the flash of a smile, and she doesn't let the little things go unnoticed. Although she is serious some of the time, she knows how to have fun and will never give up the opportunity to show her seductive dance moves, as she did memorably at the Twist Contest.

Valentina Goncalves

Vale G. is realistic, outgoing, and candid; she is anything but a wallflower. A future psychologist, she pinpoints the problem and eliminates it. In school she is known for her work with yearbook and Cancer research; out of school she is known for her desire to have fun and be free. Her years at ACAT recall memories of all the girl trips, the wild parties, and the crazy spirit days. But before she goes, we'd like to ask... where are our cancer T-shirts? (ha-ha!)

Yvonne Higgott

Yvonne is known to many for her newsletter deliveries on early Friday mornings and for her helpful and gentle nature. Although she's the youngest of the senior class, Yvonne's die hard determination to do what she wants sparkles in a crowd. ACAT has given her an open outlook on life and has characterized her fun-loving self, whether it means having snowball fights in the cold or dancing around street lamps at night.

Mari Kitawaki

If you're having a gloomy day, Mari will be ready with a bright smile. She cares about things that other people don't have the time to care about, whether that means forming friendships with the Ancients, exchanging cultures with the people of Burkina Faso, encouraging ACAT to care for the environment, or cleaning up after every one else has gone home. After 12 years at ACAT, "Mishpat's" smiles and laughter have been imprinted in the school, and the spirit she brought when dressing up as a panda, candle, or as Ms. Wilkinson will be remembered by all.

Valentina Malcotti

Vale M has always been known for her faithful humor in times of need; any situation can be made interesting or laughable if she is there. In addition to her humorous side, she is quite caring and respectful towards all her friends. Crazy and free, she will remember MUN, trips to America with Mr. Boyle, class trips, and parties, and she herself will be remembered for her funny stories, characters, and jokes.

Stefania Stroppiana

Quiet, subtle, Stefania can make a point without saying a single word. She likes to be social, which can be outlined by her position as social coordinator of the Student Council and illustrated by her nominations as "best dressed" and "Ms. ACAT". Stefy is a dreamer - not lost or confused - but full of peacefulness with her head in the clouds.

Senior Candids

The Senior "office" gears up to full action.

The twelfth grade executives set the style for the rest of the school.

Tweedle-dee and Tweedle-dum ponder about their day.

Mr. Abbott's notoriously verbose discussions manage to keep Vale interested.

Whether for teachers or students, teaching is part of every-day life.

Inspired discussions on polygenes help Yvonne understand her origins.

Kindred spirits are common spirits at ACAT.

Down to earth chats and snacks help high schoolers unwind.

A step-top gathering of seniors offers Mr. Mores a chance to speak up.

Annie's personal delivery service guarantees fresh eggs. (Sometimes scrambled).

There are those moments when you get all dressed up and have no place to go.

I.B. thrills are not to be confused with I.B. chills.

The 1999 graduation class.

Eleventh Grade

Thanks to the student council's spook house, Marco finally has the opportunity to wear his new suit.

Activities

Rafting: a river running start of the year

The River Dora-Baltea runs high and cold in early September and offers a refreshing adrenaline-charged challenge to Acateers about to plunge into new academic waters. This is an ACAT extra - not for the faint-hearted - but an exciting way to inaugurate the spirit of teamwork.

Fearless rafters look ahead to a fearsome challenge.

A brief safety check reassures anxious river rogues.

Attentive rafters receive dry-land instructions on controlling the boat.

Ready for the ultimate adventure, Anna and Lucia prepare to board their raft.

Suited, helmeted, and instructed, ACATEERS wait for the signal to depart.

"Puliamo il Mondo" Making the world a better place

Half past eight - Sunday morning. It was foggy and cold outside the pound, and completely still. Only the occasional barking of a dog ruffled the blanket of tranquillity. At ten 'till nine, students began trickling in, one by one, to the meeting point outside the hidden grey building labelled "ENPA". Nine 'o clock. On the other side of town, the Valentino park was still peacefully asleep, apart from a morning jogger and an old man sitting on a bench. Ten past nine. Another group of students gathered on the outskirts of the park. Both groups simultaneously and ecstatically prepared themselves with trash bags, gloves, sticks, and cardboard containers to face what they knew would be no ordinary Sunday. "Dai, puliamo il mondo!"

Determined "Bobby" takes Fil for an orientation walk.

Communication is the secret between Vale M. and "Blacky".

The Italians give us "fruitful beginnings".

International Day: a Step to Cultural Awareness

At ACAT, the face of internationalism shines brightly all year round, but at this year's International Day it took on a special meaning. With its characteristic spirit in promoting school activities the PTA organised a sumptuous international buffet, ranging from Italian "bruschette" to Japanese "sushi". In a buoyant atmosphere of creative booths displaying ethnic pride, visitors marvelled at the variety of nationalities at ACAT. Yet another feature of this annual occasion seemed to concentrate on the idea of international awareness. The Cancer Research booth manned by the blue-ribboned girls was just one example of the need to give to others. In another area, the International Red Cross and the UNICEF booths showed the problem of child labor, while the Burkina Faso booth displayed ACAT's various projects in Africa, adding to this extension of internationalism. As the day saw all the booth pack up and the band go home, there was a general feeling that the idea was here to stay.

Amidst the trees and tables, pleasant conversations filled the air while delicious entrees filled our stomachs.

Mrs. Passagio admires the Swedish table.

International Day is the non-competitive way to share ethnic pride.

A full stomach leads to full dreams.

Sometimes a team effort is necessary to eat all that food.

It was great to eat meat to the beat of the Piggy Jug Band.

A poignant middle school pantomime dramatises the tragedy of child labor.

The UN flag forms a fitting symbol for the day.

Teachers discover African bargains.

The sumptuous buffet and the middle school pantomime on child labor both gave food for thought.

Halloween: "a Heady Affair"

Student Council members put their heads together for another spook-house adventure.

Whether it be for social exchange or individual creativity, Halloween is just a good excuse to dress weirdly.

Versatile Paola has a devil of a time to adjust a torn costume.

Off-duty ghouls relax with a pleasant stroll in the lower garden.

Faithful third grade gremlins follow their Egyptian priestess anywhere.

A pride of A.C.A.T. cats marks their territory.

At the end of a busy day, even ghosts, spirits and gremlins have to rest.

Down-deep, we're all a little weird.

*Thanksgiving Day:
PTA moments to remember*

A heartfelt thanks to the PTA both for the Thanksgiving dinner and for all their contributions to A.C.A.T.

Mindful of many PTA activities, the forever helpful Korzonek family takes a last pose before setting off to England.

The magic of the PTA is their variety of ways to contribute to the ACAT community.

"The Pearl": a "two thumbs" up performance by the 7th Grade.

Before going on stage, the nervous 7th graders finalise their preparations.

The fast-paced action evokes a humorous response.

The climatic robbery scene captivates the young audience.

Adjusting his belly, John, is ready to perform.

Moral support comes spontaneously from the backstage crew.

Outreach: The seasonal way to understand

Seasonal exchanges with Ville Roddalo residents help set good neighbour relations and build a greater awareness of and respect for the elderly.

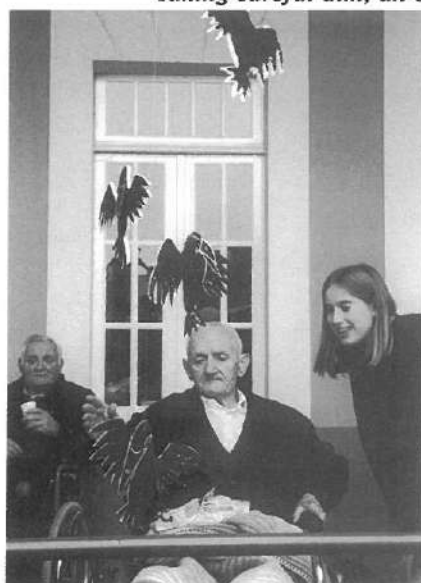

As the fall fest gets under way, Keiji steadies the pinyata target.

With a direct hit, a determined player sets the pace for Carlos' face.

Taking careful aim, an elderly pitcher scores again.

Encouraging advice from Kris helps an uncertain hand chase the crows away.

Ayako tallies up the score for a potential winner of the fall games.

Amidst the noise and confusion of the fall fest, Laura enjoys a quiet chat.

An animated third grade chorus opened our Christmas visit.

With a brilliant tap dance routine, Roxanne and Rachel enliven the crowd.

Roddolo poetess evokes the spirit of Christmas past.

If you can dream of a white Christmas, why not share it with a black Santa?

A simple gift + a warm smile = Christmas.

Blind folded but patiently guided an elderly player strikes home.

Marta's charm brings luck to an elderly dice thrower.

Christmas at ACAT: A joyous sound and sight

At Santa Maria Consolata, student chorales welcomed Christmas with a medley of carols.

The faculty chorus also joined in with their versions of Christmas music.

Anxious fans wait their turn to speak to Santa.

Face to face with the man himself is a bit overwhelming for anyone.

A group hug shows that Santa's popularity is still in tact after all these years.

Awareness - the process

With our growing sense of Internationalism instinctively comes a companion desire to reach out and share our riches with the disadvantaged. Beginning with this year's International Day, a flurry of initiatives continued throughout the year. This not only developed a greater awareness of our identity as an international school and of the opportunity it gives us to know more about the troubled areas of the world but also helped us to take positive action to make a difference.

For an upcoming "awareness" assembly on human rights, Ayako lays out a poster panel.

To raise money for UNICEF, Marie supervises her second hand sale.

High schoolers organise a benefit sale to raise funds for cancer research.

The UN flag presides over International Day activities.

A UNICEF booth highlights the problems of child labor.

At a mission in Burkina Faso, Marie attracts a bevy of young friends.

ACATEERS in Africa visit a local elementary school.

Joseph is one of the children we'd like to help in Nanoro.

From publicity to final program, career day was a success.

Between sessions, Ale converses with Mrs. Sclaverano, a helicopter pilot.

Changing pace, the eighth graders boys get dressed up for the occasion.

Mrs. Sclaverano indicates the direction to young pilots.

Artist Ugo Nespolo discusses creativity.

"Mr. I.M. Mask" disusses his personality development.

Dr. Mela enlightens the kids on plastic surgery.

Mrs. Gay discusses reading trends.

Mrs. Farnetti leads an animated discussion on family problems.

Mr. Radice introduces the wonderful world of theatre.

Cardiologist, Dr. Bobbio eagerly responds to curious demands.

Middle School ACATEERS on the Road to Discovery

Despite a bus breakdown, we managed to keep our appointment for a guided interview at the UN complex in Geneva.

At Salgari Campus, 6th grade studies on primitive lifestyles were put to the test.

To identify and recall Greek amphora, you can sit in contemplation of them... feverishly reproduce them... or simply photograph them.

For the history seven students, medieval and renaissance concepts come alive at the Abbey of Vezzolano and Florence.

Whether hiking to the crater of Mt. Vesuvius or getting a close-up of a bar in Herculaneum, sixth graders absorbed their trip to Magna Grecia.

The Pietro Micca museum in Torino held its own fascination for eighth graders, studying 18th century fortifications.

The Hague International Model United Nations

Lobbying nightmares, note passing, the gay rights speech, breakfast at the Duinrell, voting for resolutions, sleeping in the General Assembly, and not seeing daylight for a week; these were the images of THIMUN 1999. Through the good and not-so-good times, the theme will be remembered for a long time: Injustice anywhere is a threat to peace everywhere.

At the M.U.N. fundraising dinner, a busy staff served the delicious dinner.

Honor Roll For those who reach higher

Mr. Mores proudly announces awards to the high school students.

Mr. Moore praises the M.U.N. group.

The Middle School students patiently take their seats for the ceremony to begin.

Before the assembly, parents exchange pleasantries.

Eleventh

Activities: Fun changes of pace

A fun hands on project finds the first grade brick layers at work on a mini colosseum.

With an appetizing snack, the 3rd graders conclude their creative project on the Greeks.

Ligurian coast-line: the ultimate escape

THE GENOVA AQUARIUM

We saw an octopus that was small and purple. Afterwards we saw many jellyfish of all different sizes. Then we saw sharks and tuna fish. We really liked watching the otters who swam very fast and looked like they were having fun. Further along we saw some penguins. But our most exciting part was when we were able to pet the rays. They were so soft and friendly!

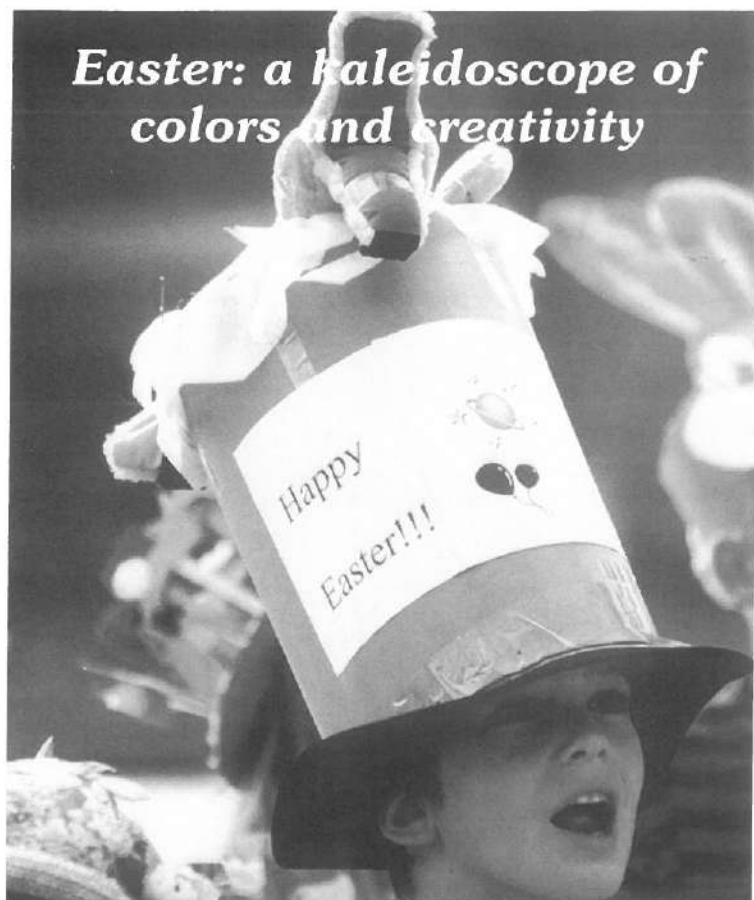

By: Umberto Gagliardi, Giulia V. Palermo, Nicolò Mussetto, Miriam Sottile.

The fascinating Ligurian coast evoked creative responses from the elementary explorers.

A wrap up session concludes their interesting discovery trip.

Easter: a kaleidoscope of colors and creativity

A hatted messenger delivers a special Easter greeting.

Edoardo, holding on to his fireman hat, admires the Easter ceremony.

Mrs. Cumisky has the whole world (hat) in her hands.

Proud and eager to show-off their creations, the Kindergardeners are ready to join the parade.

In a bouncy interpretation of the Easter bunny song, Mr. Mikolay leads the audience in a happy sing-along.

Eggday: Exploring our ingenuity

Mr. Moore tests the air before the launch.

The Egg master, Mr. Abbott checks out the creative entries.

Mari takes flight with her hard egg version.

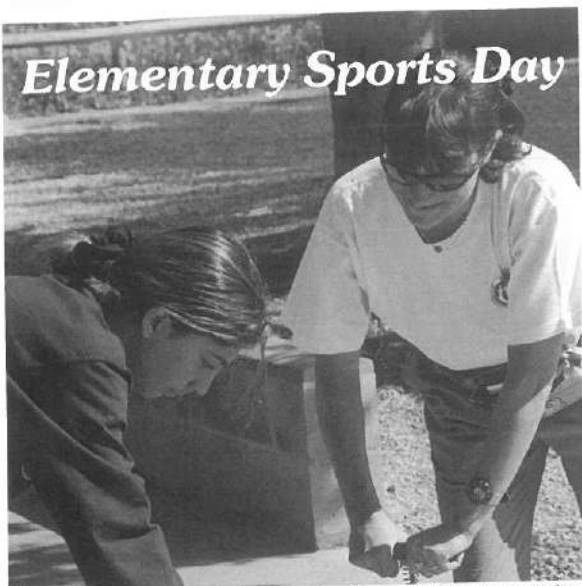

Nathan holds his prize-winning entry above the bustling crowd.

An appreciative audience applauds A.C.A.T. artisans.

Elementary Sports Day

Elena and Mrs. Ronzan finish preparations for the "little'uns" sports day.

The older "little'uns" also get a chance to play.

Elena and Rika line up their team.

Sports Days are great occasions to enter new social circles.

A lone hatter strides across the finish line of the hat relay.

Balls bouncing in all directions make for a joyous sound.

The crowd hushed as competitors lined up for their Olympic boot throw.

With a forceful leap Enrico takes a momentary lead in the broad jump.

Sideline coaches discuss procedure.

The low hurdles...

...seem to get higher...

...as you proceed.

At last minute Mrs. Anderson organises the events.

For Giulia, the shot putt just took off.

Sports Day: going beyond the trophy

For all those students who had been confining their energy inside them during school since December, Sports Day was a massive release! Going to a nearby school turned out to be the best for most students because it reminded us all what it was like to be out of school. The famed ACAT Spirit was everywhere: on the banners, on the locker room wall, in the cheers coming from the stands, and in the energy radiating from the volleyball and soccer matches.

Silhouetted volleyballers warm up for an adventure in sportsmanship.

Ms. Ronzan finalizes the score sheets.

From serious pre-game discussions to basic primal dances the spirit of the day was set.

Spirited volleys brought out the best in each player.

Scorekeeper (Anne) points out the difference.

Fernanda brakes for bruises.

Network fans get a close-up view.

Pride, teamwork and determination all come to the surface in the heat of action.

Still friends, despite the net, Bass faces Carlos.

Ms. Ronzan finalizes the winner list.

The day was as much fun for the spectators as for the players.

For the African Team it was the spirit that counted.

Mr. Abbott's bag is packed and he's ready to go.

Stracat

Entrance

STRACAT:
The PTA way to wake up an appetite

The STRACAT-PTA organization and experience launch another successful venture.

With an easy stride, Fede holds his own.

Whether active jogger, social exchanger, or simply romantic ambler every Stracateer participates at his own pace.

STRACAT from the same folks who worked up our appetites at the STRACAT

An incredible undertaking requires an incredible team effort - like the PTA's.

Hungry participants and satisfied winners savored their rewards in the waning hours of the day.

The Saucy Scarecrow

An original fairy tale

The Saucy Scarecrow

In with the new and out with the old was the theme of this year's school play. With two or three of the original main characters still in place, the Saucy Scarecrow took off with a whole new set of characters, and a whole new script. The days leading up to the play were spent practising in the gym out of the rain, acting under the warm sun, memorising lines, trying on different costumes, and, when queue's were missed, facing the wrath of Mrs. Mazzuchin! The outcome, despite the constant reminders of fate & time working against director Philip Radice and Assistant director Loretta Mazzuchin, was to have a successful play brought to life by the ever-abundant energy of the cast.

In a dress rehearsal for the Roddolo residents, directors Philip and Mrs. Mazzuchin fine tune the play.

To enter into the scene, Federico and Laura follow the masters' dramatic suggestions.

Wendy (Oakley) and the sand witch (David) follow the "Saucy Scarecrow" from the backstage.

An imaginary flight over the rooftops convinces Fed of love-struck Laura's intentions.

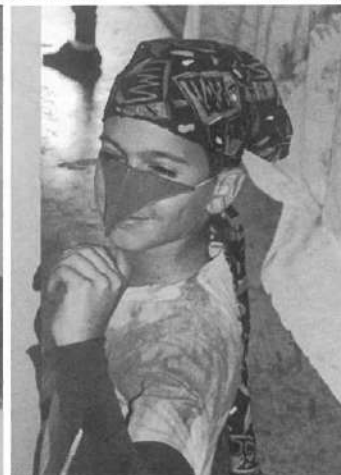

Amidst all the dramatic turmoil, "be-witched" Rachel reflects on quieter times.

Fede Struggles to remain on the stage, while the bad witch tries to bring him down.

The hay monster waits its turn to come alive.

While the play goes on, the actors watch from the backstage.

Critical Joanna puts Federico in line with a sharp comment.

They biked out.

They biked in.

They slogged away.

Mud-speckled but undaunted, the ACAT cyclists showed their true grit and grime.

Saturated but satisfied, Elliott sashes away from his slippery cycle.

Dampened high-schoolers are nostalgic for drier days at La Mandria.

Perhaps it's better to leave memories there.

Still smiling, Ms. Lenzi splashes to the finish.

Variety became the spice of the student council dances throughout the year.

The annual election of officers presented a challenge to hopeful candidates.

Student Council: A Year to Remember

This year's Student Council will long be remembered; for its consistent efforts to keep up the spirit of ACAT. The teacher impersonations, the teachers impersonating characters, the rainy beach day, and the ever-popular color day were some of ACAT's memorable spirit days. There was also the traditional spook house, with its collapsing tunnel and pasty mix of colored paper and pasta on the floor that was put together by reps and executives alike. The revival of the airbands at the dances was also an innovative part of the year; the Michael Jackson, Green Day, and Hole dances especially! There was also the twist contest at the 60's dance and the limbo contest at the tropical dance that cannot be forgotten!

An endless variety of activities appealed to all students and teachers alike.

ACAT would like to thank the parent volunteers.

The Pre-K enjoy singing with their creative hats.

A very proud Greta receives her diploma.

In an unusual display, the first graders show their maturity.

The elegant "little'uns" add a musical tone to the graduation.

Despite her short time at ACAT, Chiara is rightfully proud of her kids' performance.

Also the 2nd graders added their musical contribution to the graduation.

Very saddened and nostalgic Mrs. Anderson bids farewell to ACAT.

Corralled 5th graders eagerly await their chance to move on.

A mixed chorus concluded the ceremony.

With her triangle, Mrs. Mazzucchin plays a delightful musical composition.

Mr. Swidersky hands out the diplomas to his proud kids.

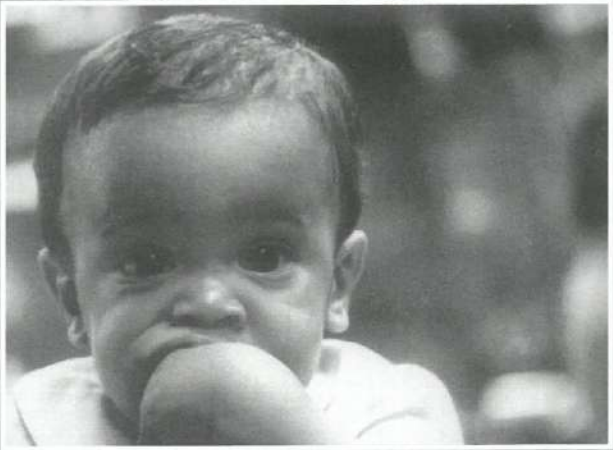

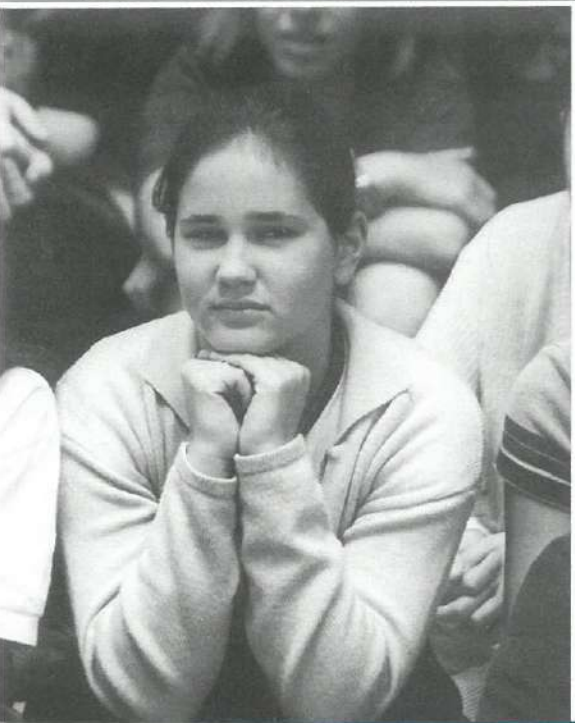

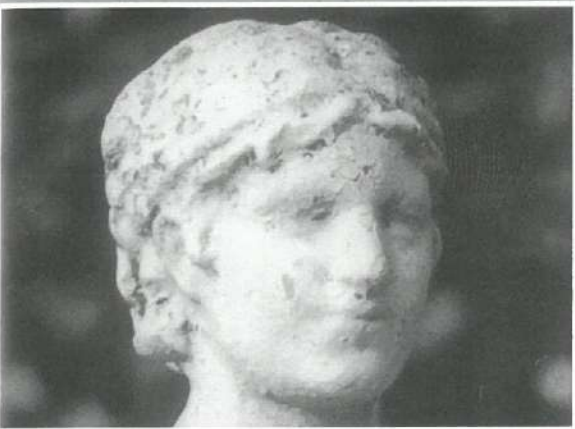

An attentive crowd excitedly followed the ceremony.

...and that was just the beginning.

Yearbook Fundraising Dinner

Once again the Vacca charm presided over what has become the social event of the year - the annual yearbook dinner. A sumptuous repast, and animated conversation in a warmly welcoming venue were surpassed only by the gracious hospitality of Mr. And Mrs. Vacca who outdid themselves on behalf of this yearbook. We are deeply moved by this display of ACAT spirit and sincerely appreciative of their efforts. Thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Vacca.

Amidst the bubbling champagne and sparkling conversation, Mr. Suiderski and Mr. Mores are at ease.

What better way is there to catch up on conversation and friendships, than to attend the yearbook dinner.

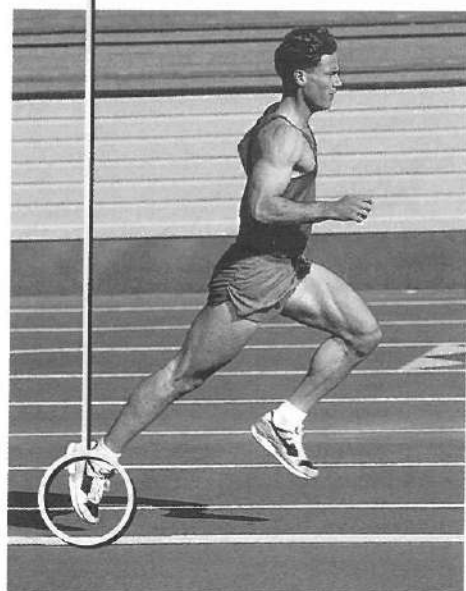

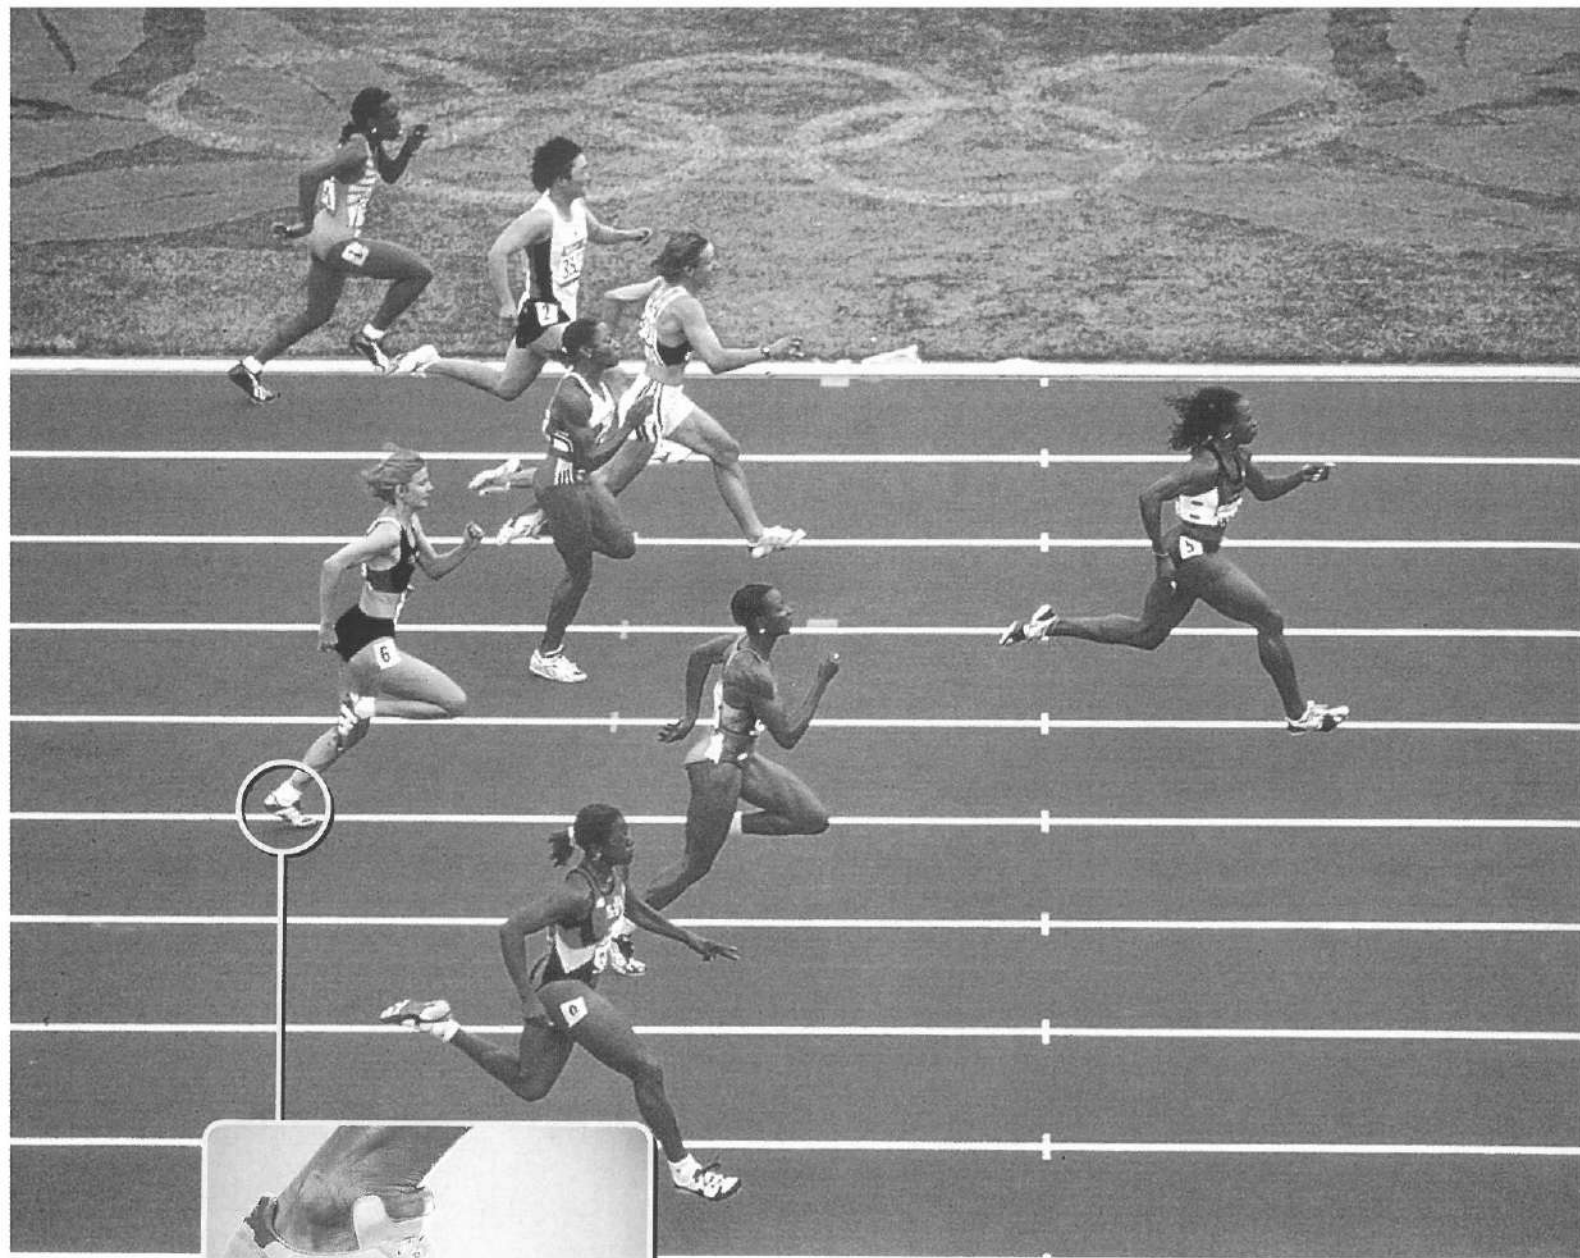

The extended yearbook family.

On the steps with Elisabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Vacca take a momentary breather from their busy hosting.

A generous contribution to the yearbook was the fortuitous outcome of the evening.
