The ACAT-IST 2002

This yearbook was prepared by the upper school students of the A.C.A.T.IST School

A.C.A.T. International School of Turin
Vicolo Tiziano, 10 - 10024 Moncalieri (TO) Italy

What will tomorrow bring?

Aristophanes once satirized his friend Socrates in a play called "The Clouds". His intent was to show that Socrates always had his head in the clouds and never came down to earth- good, old, practical earth. What really happened to Socrates everyone knows- he was arrested, brought to trial and executed for daring to think- to let his thoughts reach up for higher ground. As we make our own progress in life, we might have the appearance of having our heads in the clouds but it is at ACAT that we also have the opportunity to reach for higher grounds and also bring our thoughts to a practical solution. As you flip through the pages of this book of memories, remember those moments when your own dreams were in their cloud phase but are now on their way to becoming reality. So keep on dreaming and never underestimate the wonderful things you are capable of.

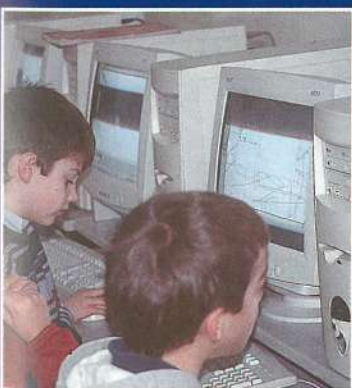

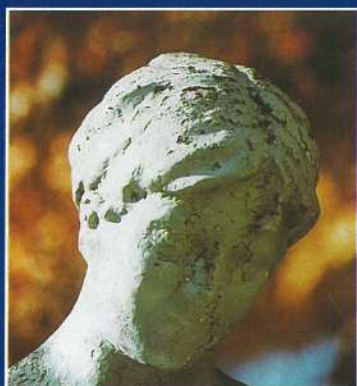

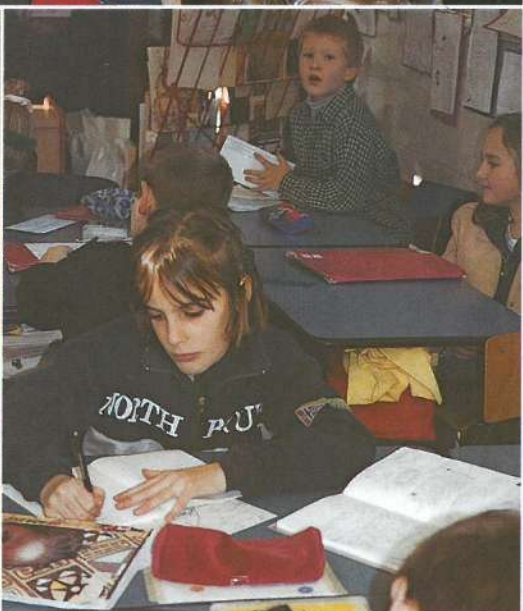

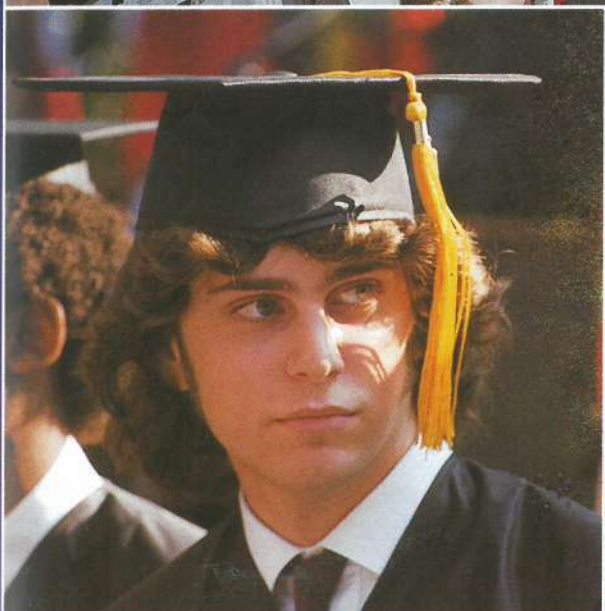

Dear Mrs. Sigliano,

One of our first memories of you is that of your homeroom classes in seventh grade, where you shared with us many precious tips on life. Moreover, your determined but kindly nature, your inspired initiative in organizing the successful Japanese week, along with your attention to detail in the NHS and the award ceremony have continuously motivated us to reach for higher ground in our personal goals. Most of all, though, we would like to thank you for the motherly concern you have demonstrated towards all of us students. It is people like you that help maintain Acat's uniqueness, and for this reason, it is our pleasure to dedicate this edition of the yearbook to you.

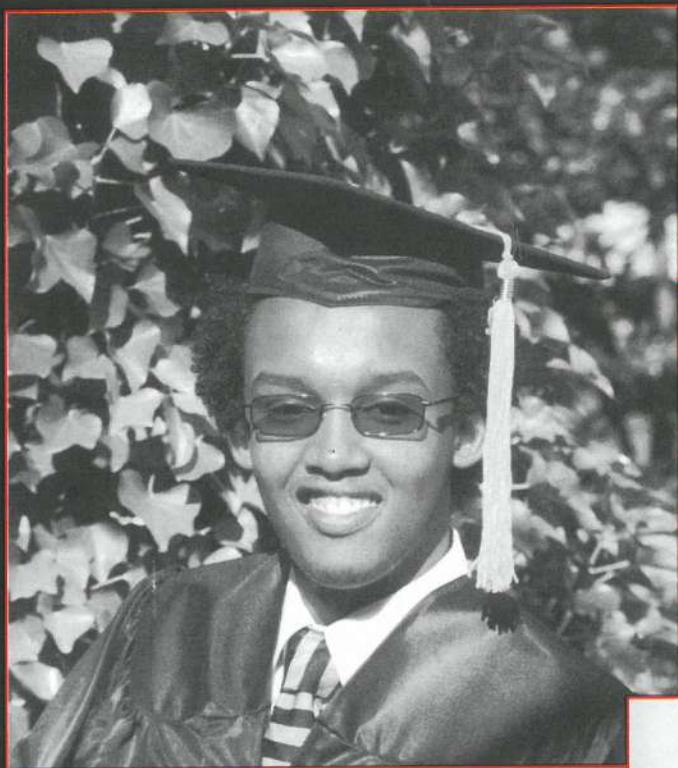

Dedication

Academics

Bassam Abdel-Rahman

Without doubt, the terms "outgoing" and "energetic" best describe Ziffa, the eternal child, who, with his departure from the school brings to a conclusion the long line of Abdel-Rahmans at ACAT.

With his funky hair and jovial grin, he takes what life gives with a smile. An essential part of the "ACAT Mafia", Bassam's reckless but responsible nature brought color and life to his 12th Grade senior class. Amongst Ziffa's accomplishments were the founding of an ACAT soccer team and the "improvement" of the student council.

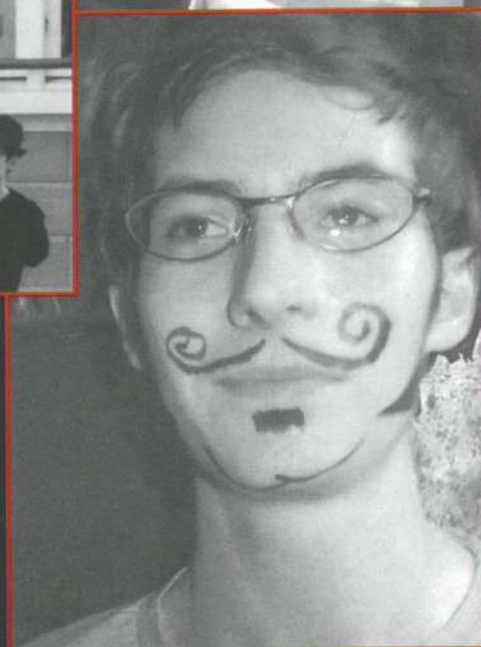

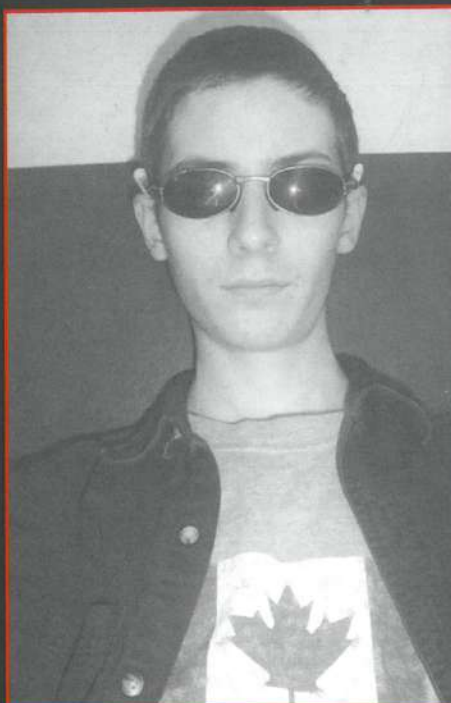

Justine Alloin

Justine arrived at ACAT from France two years ago after catching the travel bug during a one year exchange to Australia, where she also caught an antipodean accent that never lost a grip on her English pronunciation. Academically, she takes part in the difficult higher level math course, displaying her skill in the subject. Also an avid sports and trekking fan, she can often be found hiking the high trails.

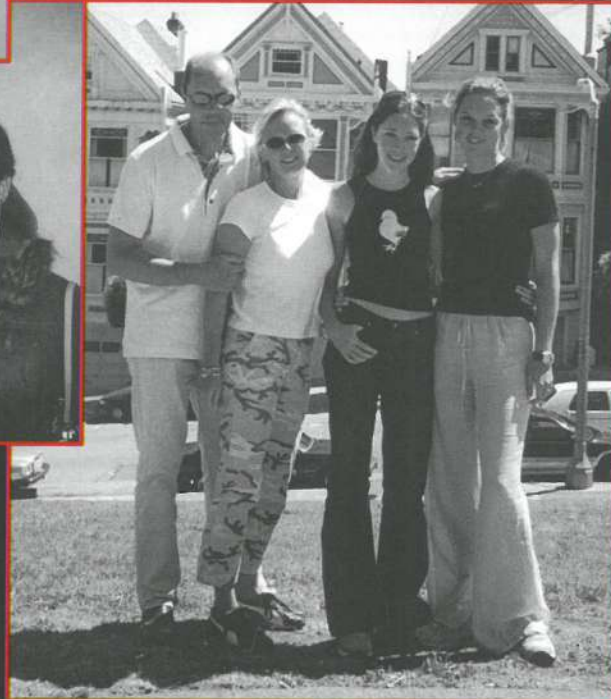

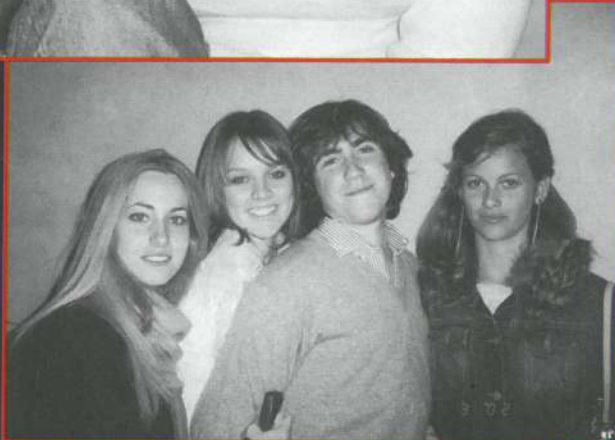

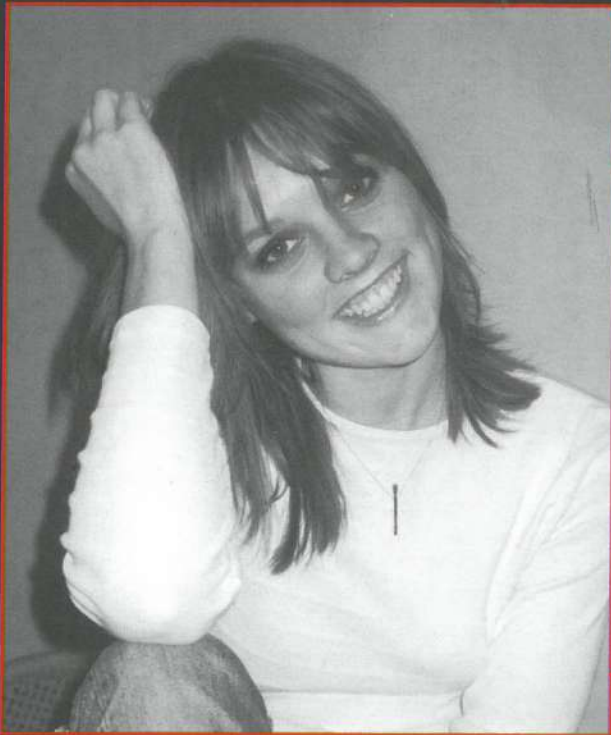

She wishes to pursue a career in journalism as she is eager to keep traveling and learning about other cultures.

Simon Belanger

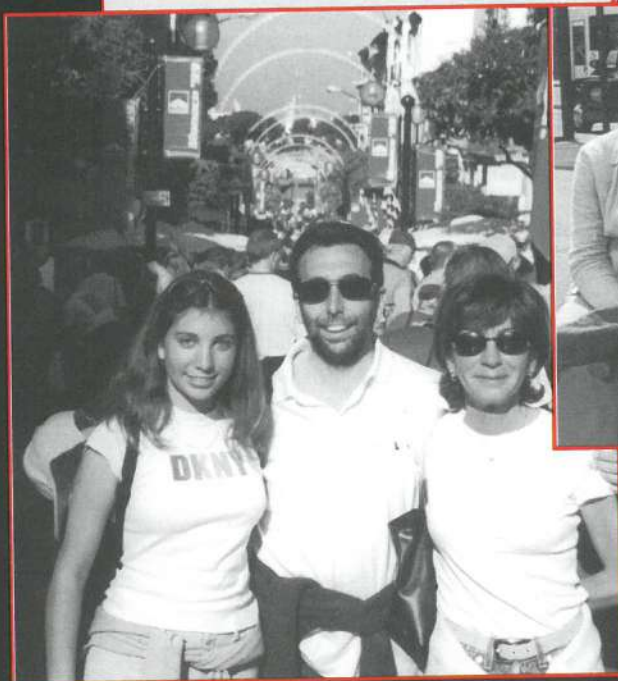

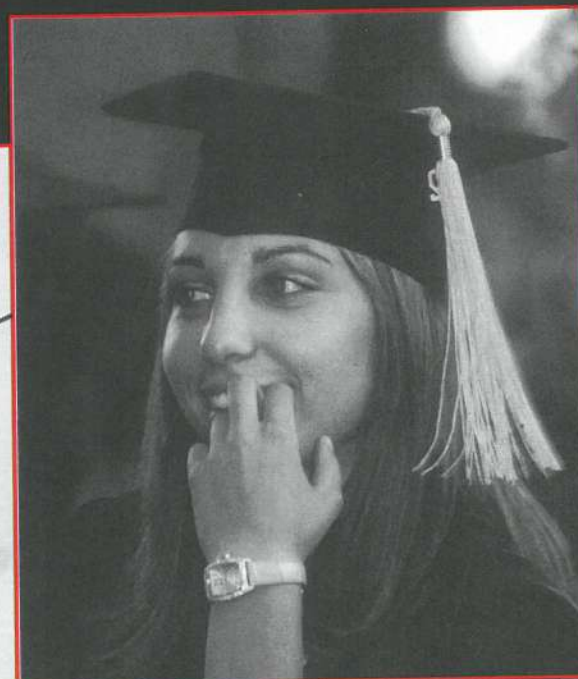

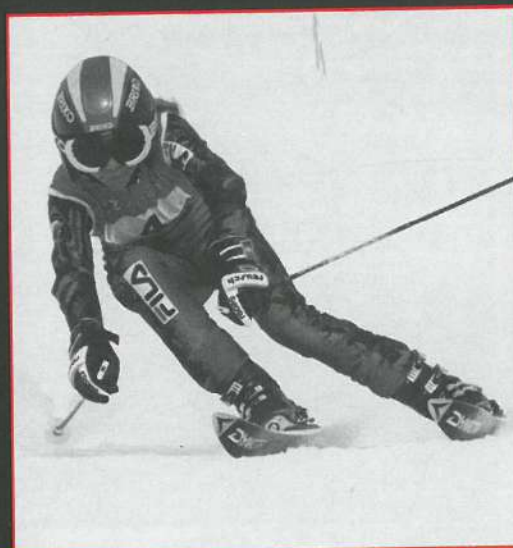

Simon's few years at ACAT displayed several aspects of his unique personality. He is known to most as a funny and easy-going kid who likes to play pranks and enjoy life. But his quieter, more reserved side, which most people associate with his computer expertise, is just as known, and he can often be seen helping people in the library, counseling them with his extensive knowledge. Simon will never forget his trip to Deiva with Mr. Kneeshaw or his entire experience as an acateer.

Jasmine Blezger

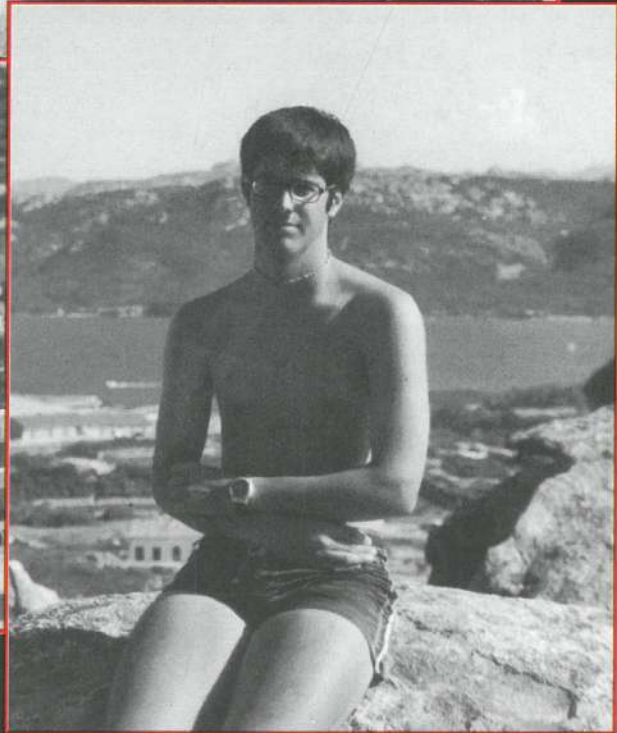

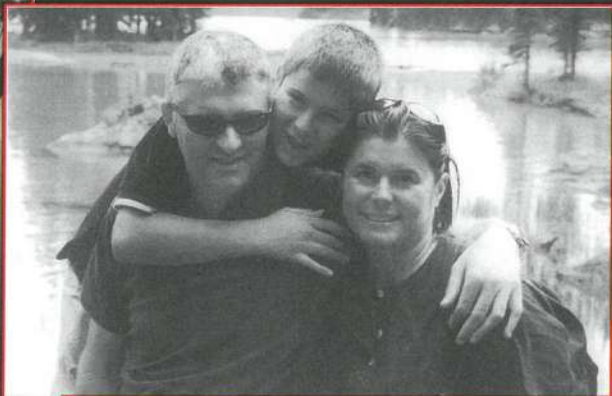

Jasmine, kind and quiet, sees the school as “a place where you can meet people of different cultures”. It was with this spirit that she met Marco, the “albese” of her life. Like many in her class, Jasmine plans to study International Business in London. With her tranquillity, she helped alleviate IB stress for all her classmates. She would like to thank Giulia, Costanza and Francesco, her all time friends.

Elena Chiapusso

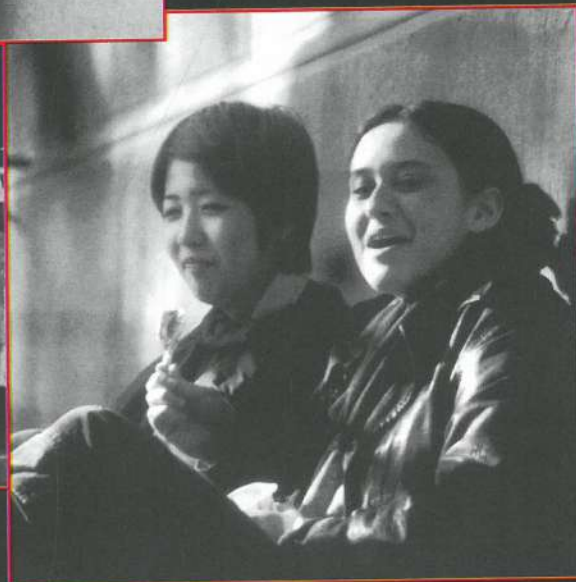

Elena's cheerful nature contributed to her image of an easy-going individual reflected throughout her four years at ACAT. She describes herself as a sweet "daydreamer", but there is much more to her than that. Whether in the mountains practicing her ski techniques or in the library chatting with her all-time friends Roberto, Simon and Jasmin, Elena certainly is a sunny element in our school. A parting advice for future students "Dont wait for the wind to blow your sail, blow in it yourself!".

Umberto Griotti

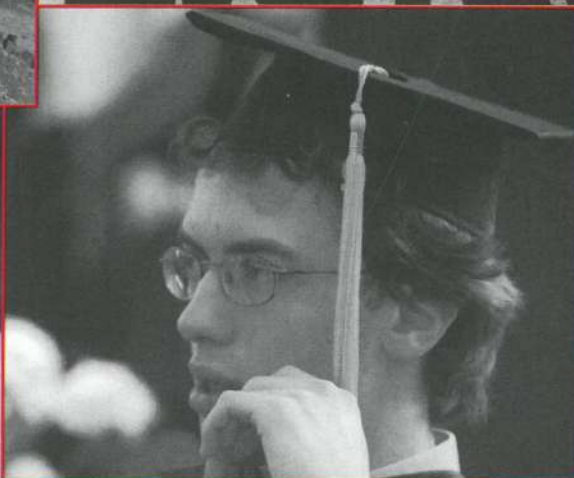

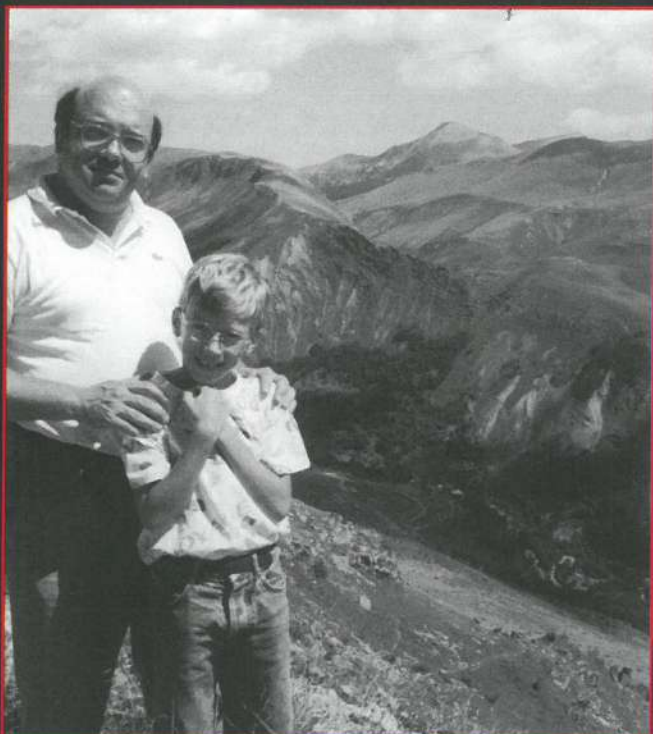

Of the many faces of Umberto's personality, the one most students identify with is Umbi, the brilliant student, talented and intelligent. Umberto, though, hides a very friendly and kind personality. His love for animals, especially horses, and his ability in skiing and in driving go-karts reflect his active life style and broad-based interests. Among Umberto's most treasured memories of these six years at ACAT is the recent "physics" trip with Mr. Kneeshaw to Deiva and the last days spent in school. Since he is dedicated to success and self-fulfillment, we are sure he will obtain the best in the future.

Ayaka Oba

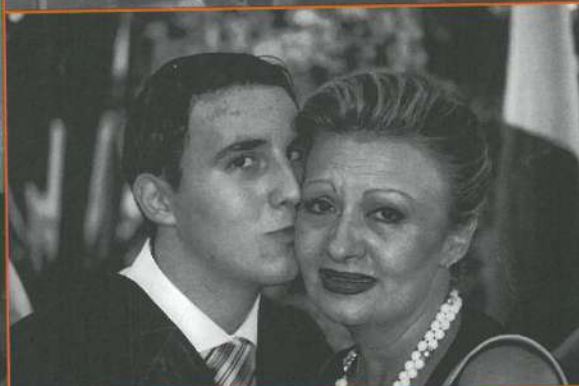

One must delve into Ayaka's personality to truly appreciate her character. Amongst her hidden talents are a harmonious voice, which she displayed at the Christmas concert and the Bussy Malone theatrical production. She also was the first to take Japanese as part of the IB diploma. Apparently quiet and soft-spoken, Ayaka hides a crazy facet, which she expresses only with her closest friends: Justine and Selina. Ayaka loves Italian culture, cuisine and climate.

Carlo Palisca

Thoughtful and soft-spoken, Carlo is one of the unsung heroes, helping keep the spirit of ACAT alive. For years he has been working behind the scenes, as stage technician, Yearbook coordinator, and Student Council president. Carlo has a profound interest in computer technology, a field he intends to pursue in college. He will be remembered as the omni-present Acateer, ready to help and bring any project to a successful conclusion.

Roberto Rauti

Roberto has really flourished in the environment of the International School of Turin. His volunteer work with the Protezione Civile has been a shining example for all students taking part in CAS activities. A skilled cameraman – Roberto has already gained much experience in working for local television. Always dependable, conscientious and courteous – Roberto is a true gentleman. We wish him all the best in his future studies in business administration.

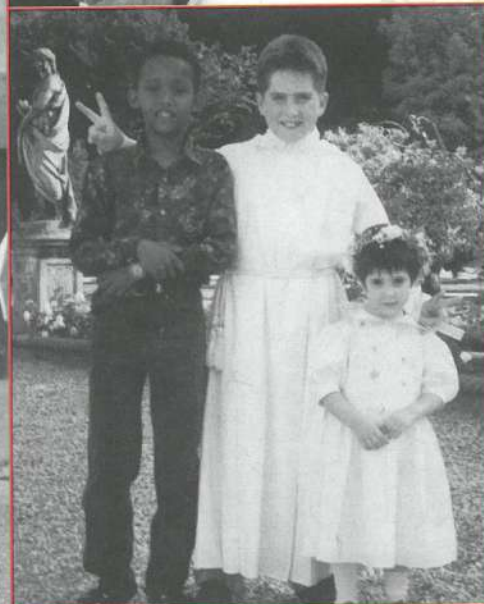

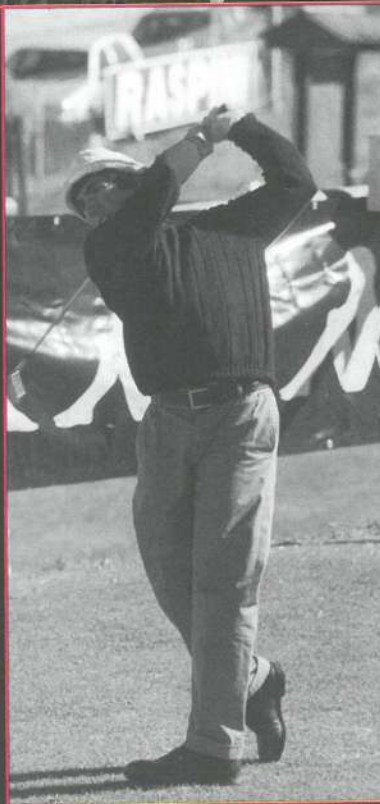

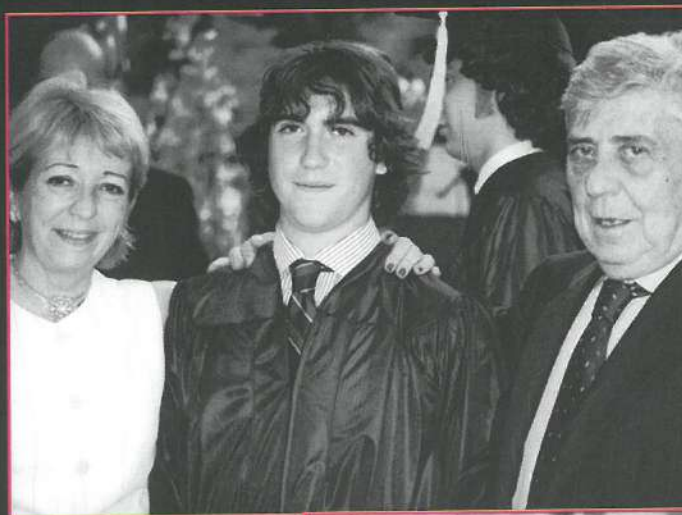

Andrea Riccardi

Andrea tells us he “considers ACAT one of his grandmother’s endless telenovelas where actors come and play their part, but will one day have to leave the stage”.

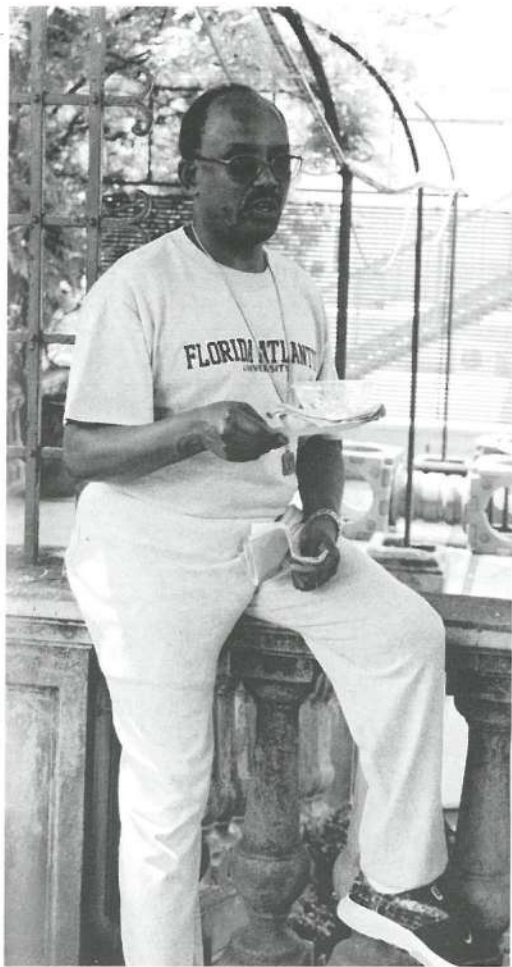

We can definitely say his own show came out well. Andrea’s passion for music, and his skill with the guitar have been well-known throughout his upper school years, and we shall remember his performances at the various dances and graduations. Andrea also is a dedicated student, a dreamer, but focused on his goals. He plans to study business and management in London with his life-long friends, the “three horsemen”: Frink, Carlo and Umberto.

Francesco Vacca

It has been a long stay for Frink, these 14 years at ACAT. Yet, he regrets it not a bit. With his time divided between study and hanging around with his classmates, Francesco enjoys life to its fullest extent.

With his organizing skills, which proved vital in the coordination of senior parties and proms, and his generally pleasant nature, Francesco will certainly go far in his business career, which he is planning to pursue in Britain.

Everyone has a different way of having fun.

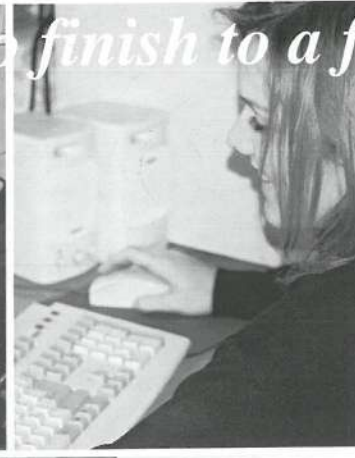

Watching the match unfold, three players get ready to give their part for the team.

To each his/her own support.

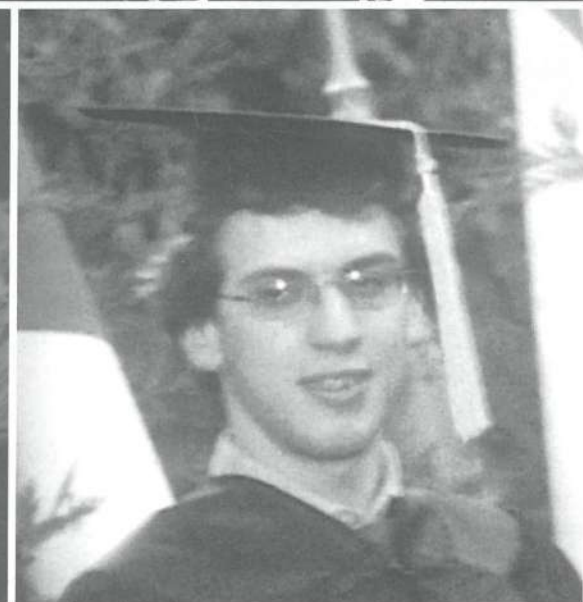

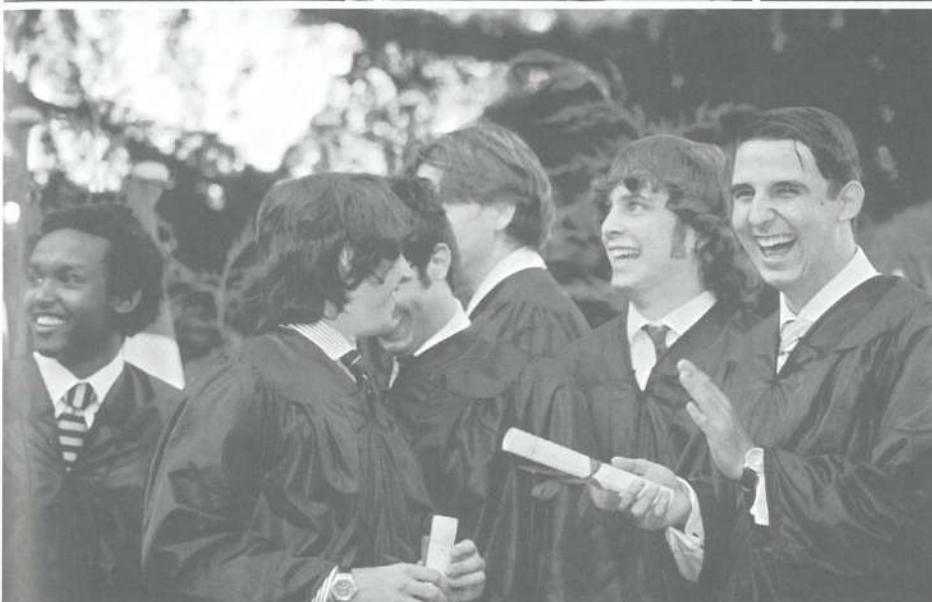

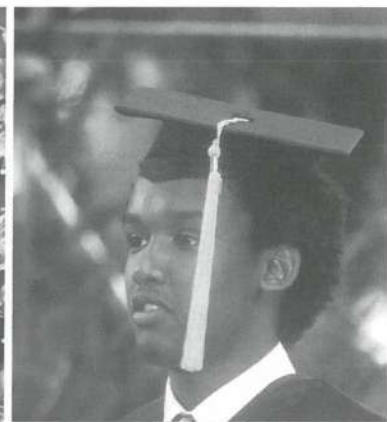

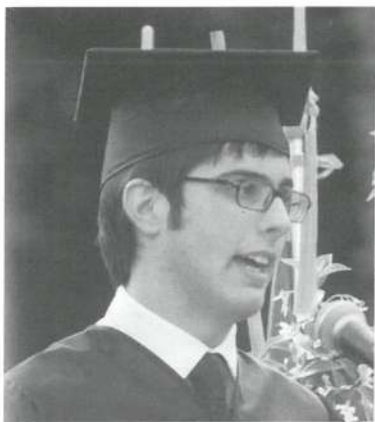

The Seniors: A photo finish to a fast-paced year

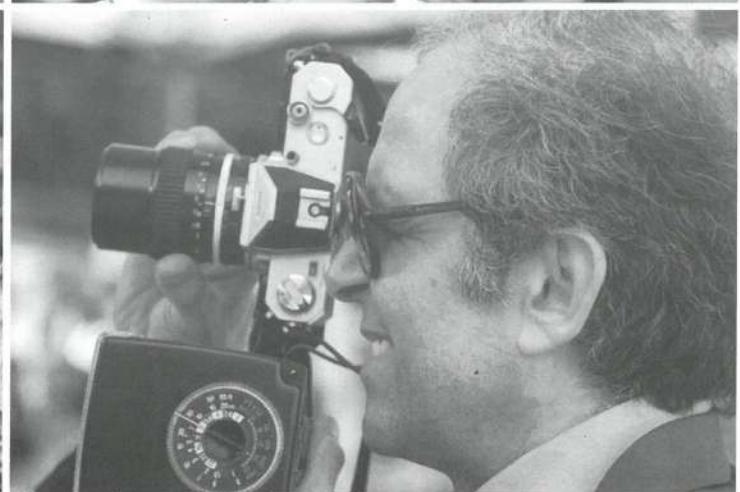

Suadently, the reality of international assessment projects and frenetic reviews accelerated the Seniors' year.

June 14th arrived without much warning and a year of Stress had raced to a close.

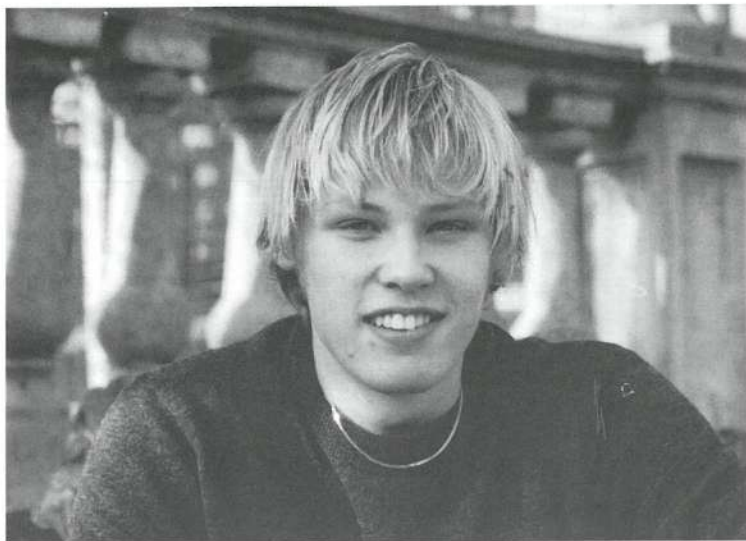

As class speakers implied in their parting words, a joyous moment of truth had arrived.

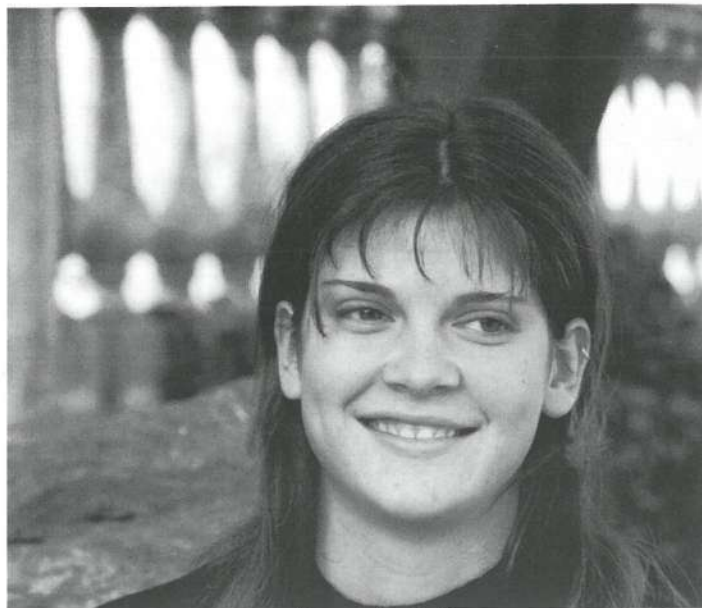

Proud parents and admiring friends could only reflect on the years that led to this moment.

Activities

Rafting: The white-water way to start the year

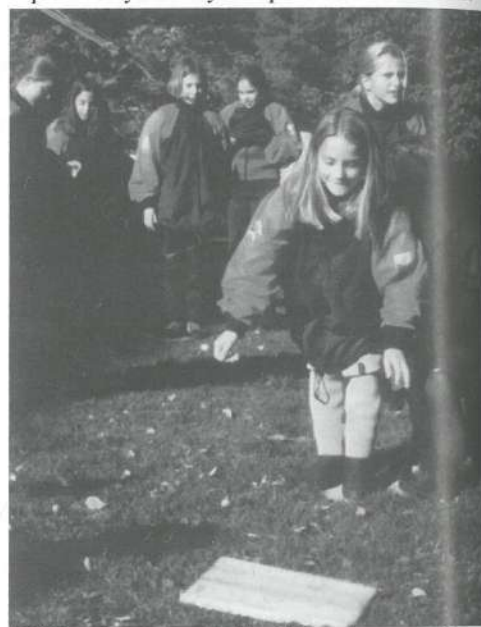

The annual river-rafting excursion to Val D'Aosta introduces a hearty group of Acateers to the thrilling discovery of how team work helps to meet a challenge.

White water ahead keeps a wary crew alert.

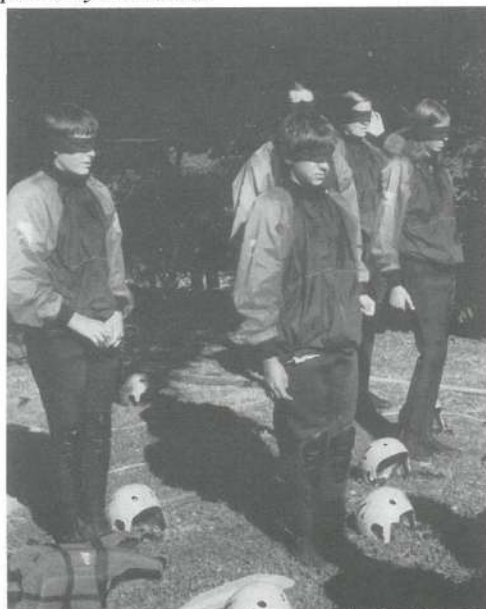

Captains Mary and Rosy call up the best in their teams.

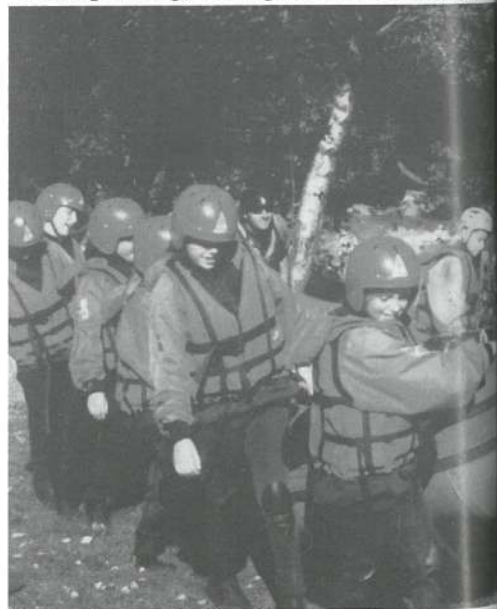

With a giant step, Rosita plots a river crossing.

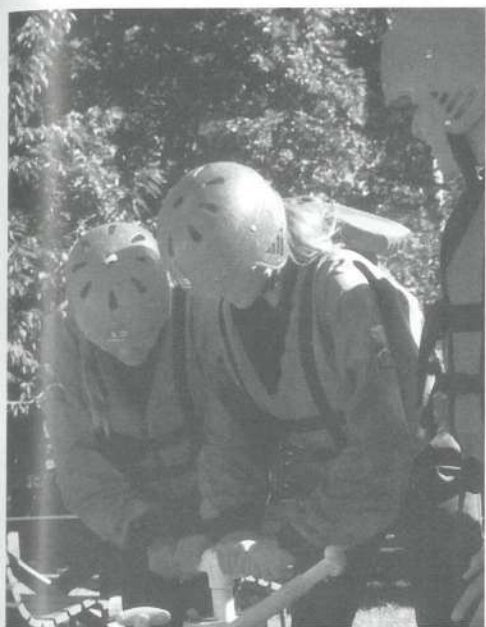

Taking a deep breath, Julia buckles up for safety.

Teamwork is vital if half the team is blindfolded.

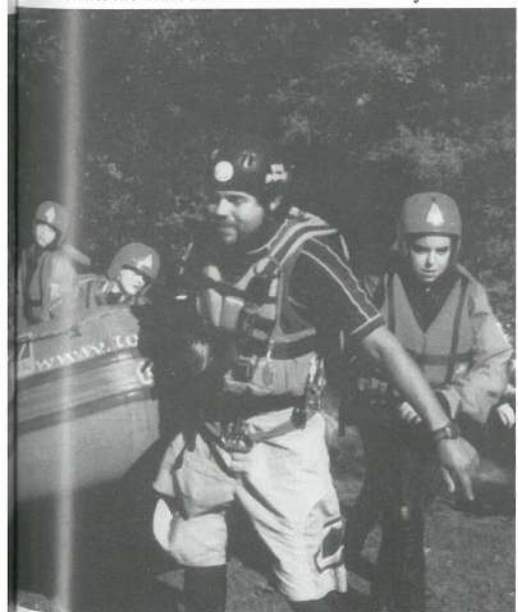

Playtime is over as the 6th graders prepare to run the river.

Sometimes two heads and two hands work better to inflate the boat.

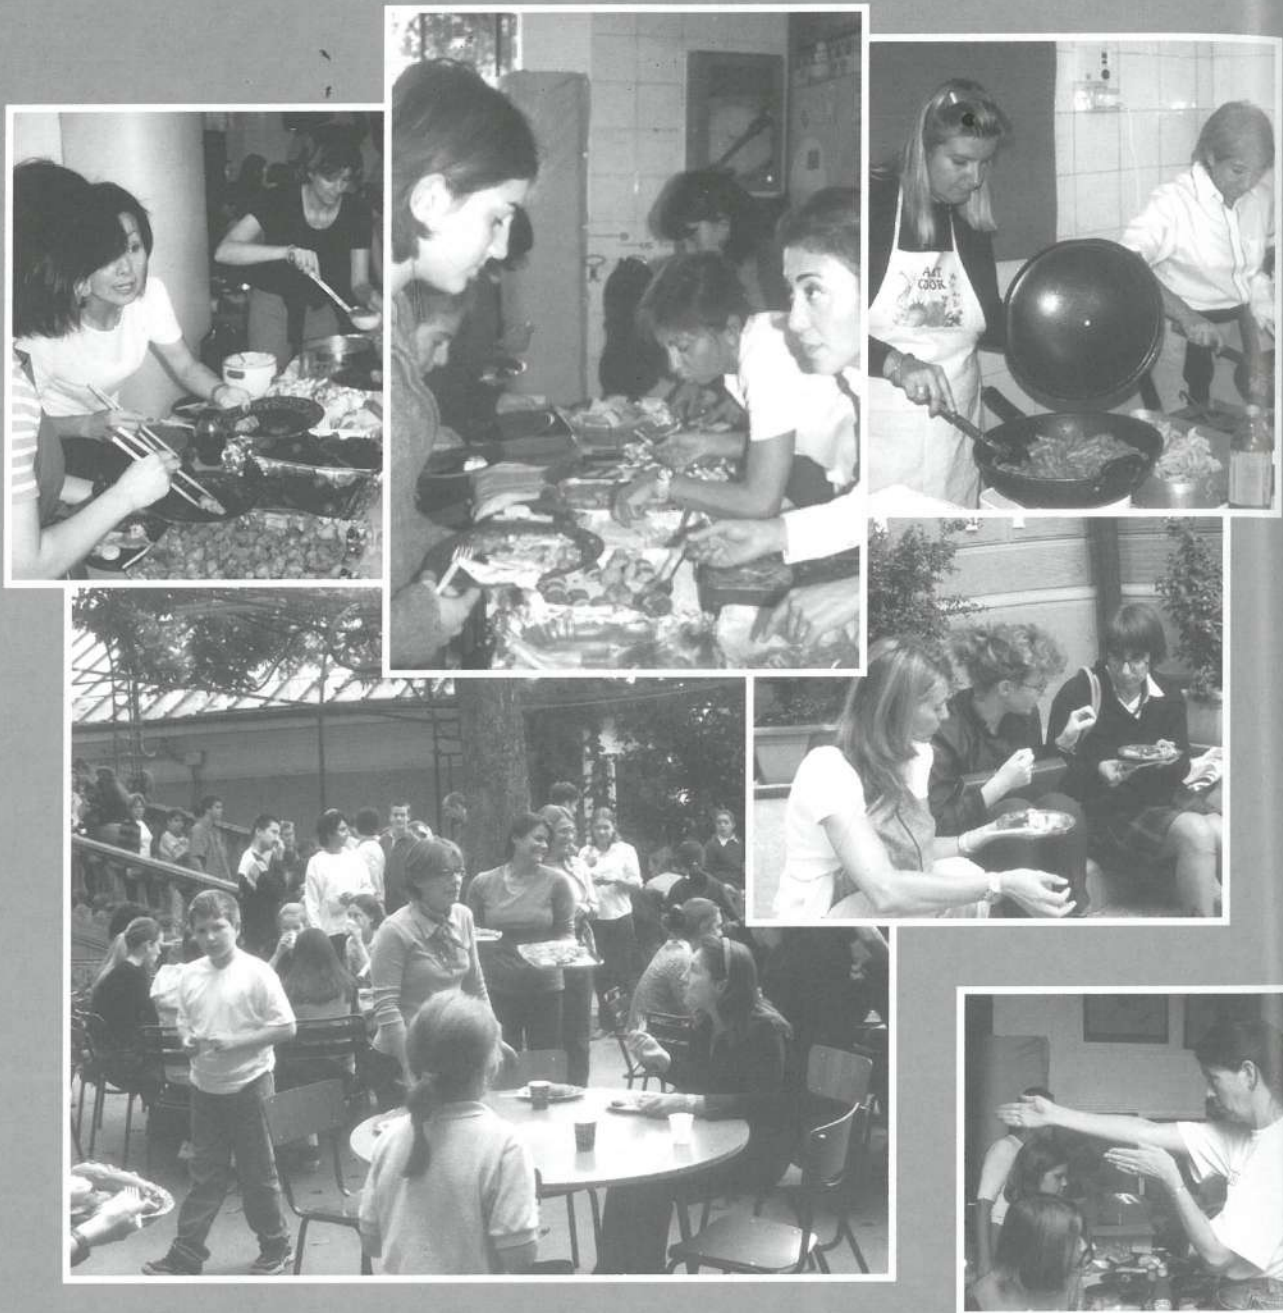

From team games to teamwork, the crew stands ready to face the river.

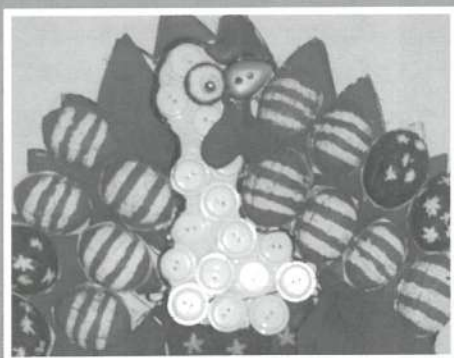

And so, paddles in hand, the intrepid river rogues haul their craft towards another adventure.

International Lunch and Thanksgiving Dinner

Of the many events planned by the PTA, the International Lunch and the Thanksgiving Dinner are delicious examples of the consistent dedication of the ACAT parents to keeping our tummies full. From their creative decorations to their smiling faces, the parents are always ready to satisfy the students of ACAT.

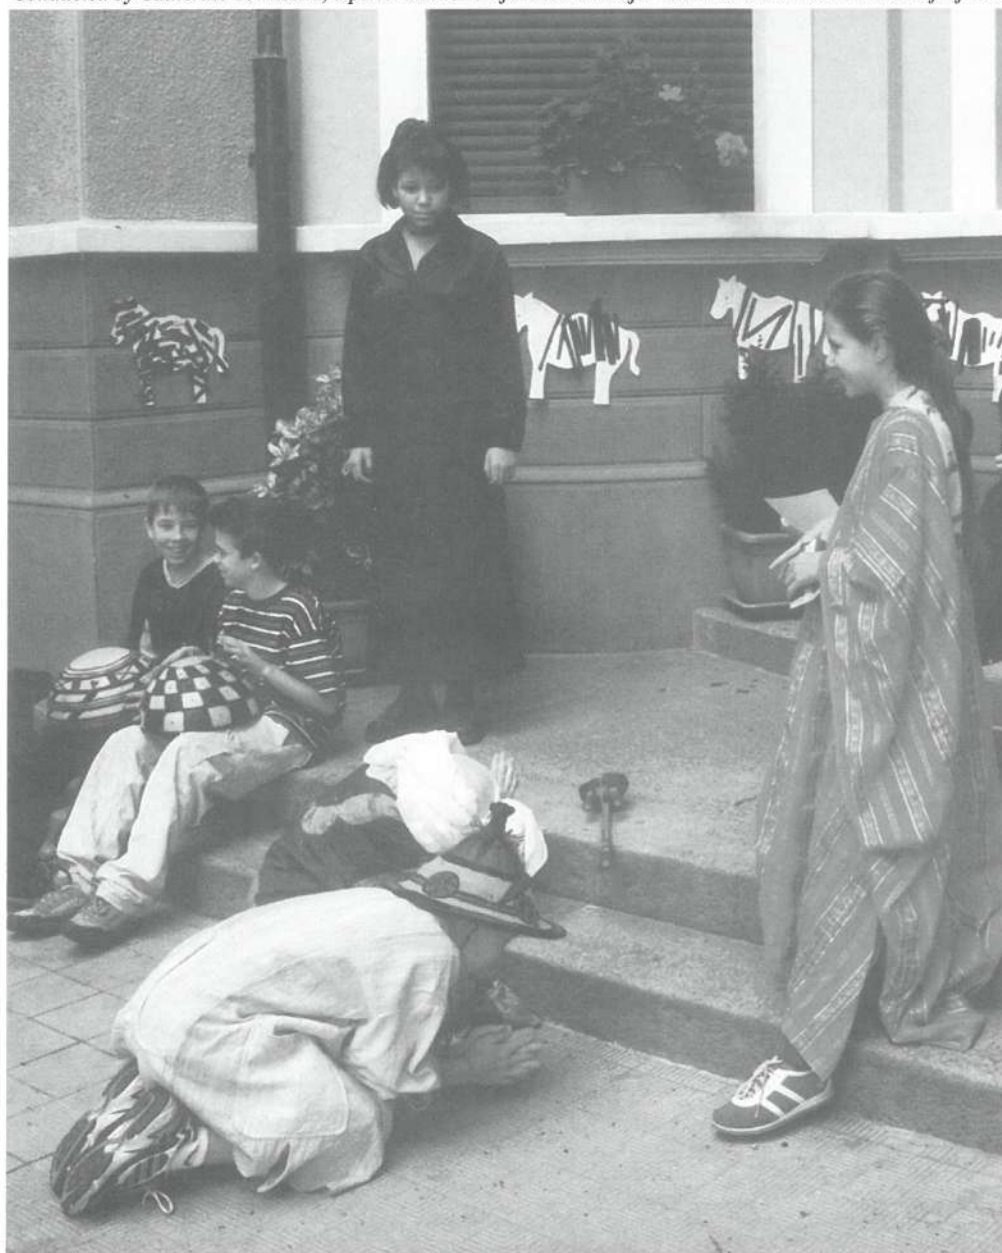

Inside Africa: A journey into the heart of the matter

The Inside Africa project developed as a response to the grim atmosphere that followed the September 11th tragedy. The intention was to mitigate the mood of anger, grief, and confusion by concentrating on the conditions, need, and culture of African countries. The result of a series of panel discussions and creative expressions on these issues led not only to a more sensitive awareness of the Dark Continent, but also to a missionary visit by a trio of Acateers who ventured to Burkina Faso during the February vacation.

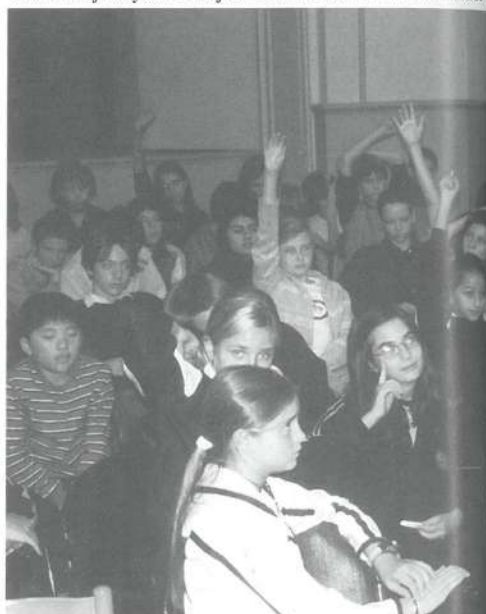

Conducted by Catherine Townsend, a panel discussion focused on major issues and cultural identities of Africa.

Seventh grade players interpret an African folktale.

Marianne of Kenya and Pa of Gambia talk about their homelands.

In a lively discussion with middle schoolers, Mr. Dia of Energetic Ms. Penso sets up a display of African artifacts.

Burkina Faso: A Discovery Trip

Mr. Kheir from Sudan responds to student questions about the UN in Africa.

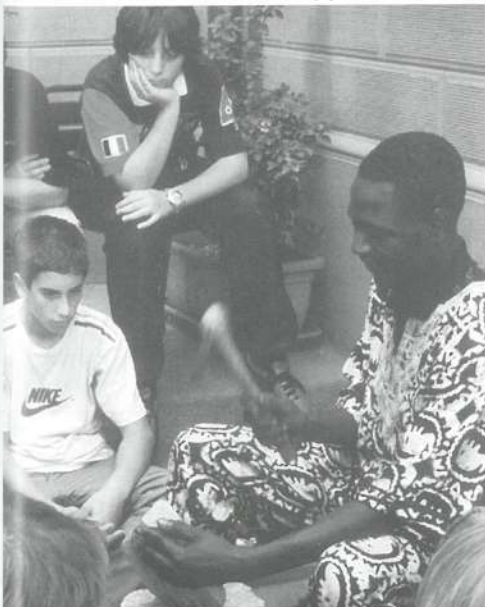

At recess time, elementary students from the St. Anne school in Nanoro rally around the Acat-sponsored well.

the ILO describes his documentary film on Senegal.

Ahhh! There's nothing so refreshing as the cool, clear water from the Acat faucet.

Gambian sculptor, Pa, entertains with chips and chat.

Surrounded by children from a local family, Guia, Francesca and Giulia get a full immersion in African family life.

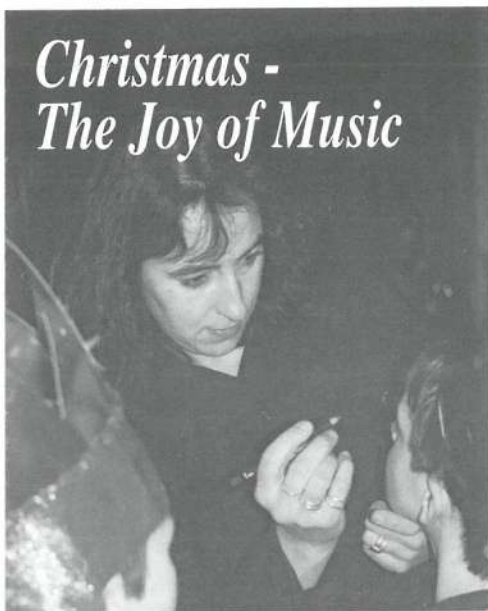

Halloween- Keeping up with old spirits

There is something strangely enticing in the late autumn air that invites young and old alike to don the weirdest and blackest disguises in an activity once intended to drive away evil spirits. Well, not too many evil spirits stay around Acat at Halloween but there are certainly lots of spirited folks that help make this annual event a traditional favorite.

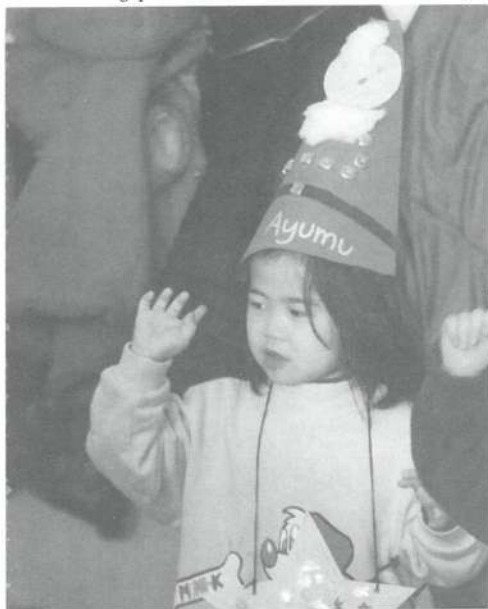

Christmas - The Joy of Music

With her "magi pencil" Ms. Stoddart creates another magi.

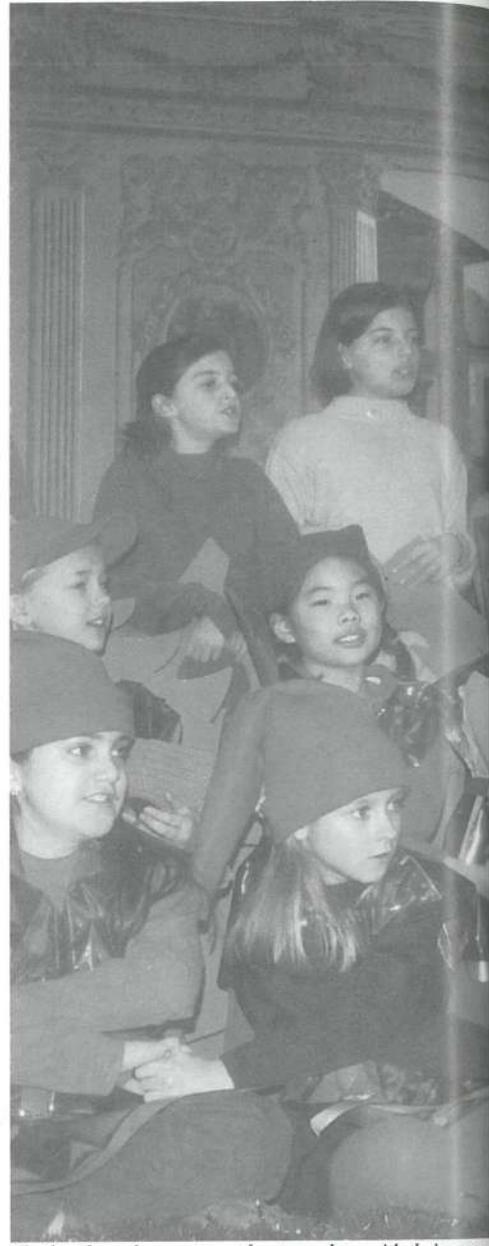

Inspired Daichi shares his melodious voice with the Christmas audience.

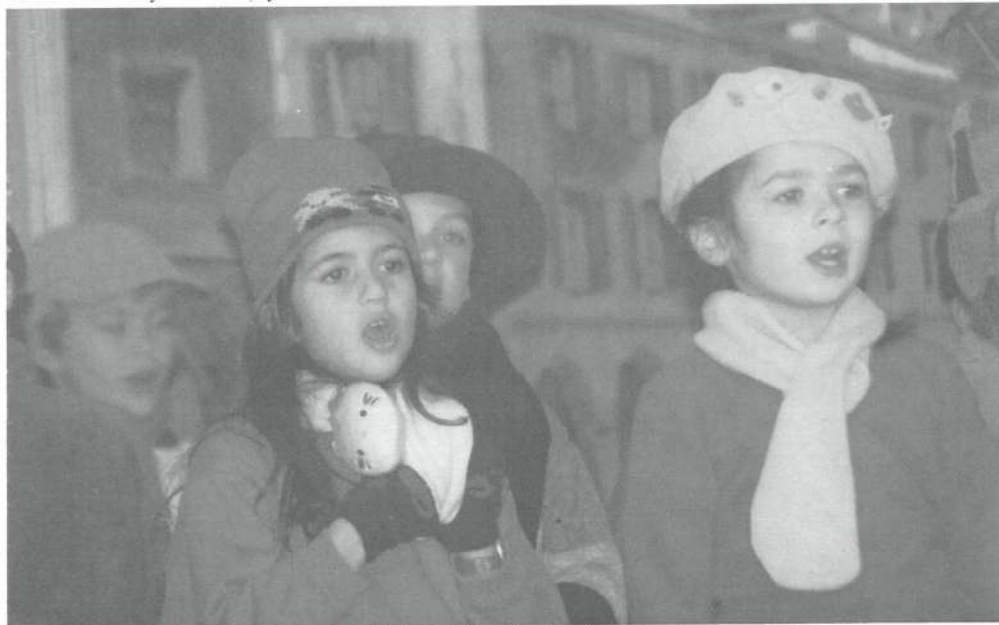

With her Christmacy hat and star, Ayumu stands out in the crowd.

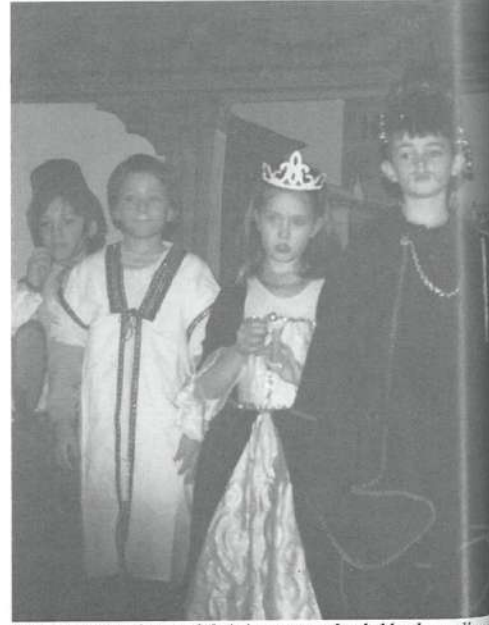

Nursery rhythm takes over.

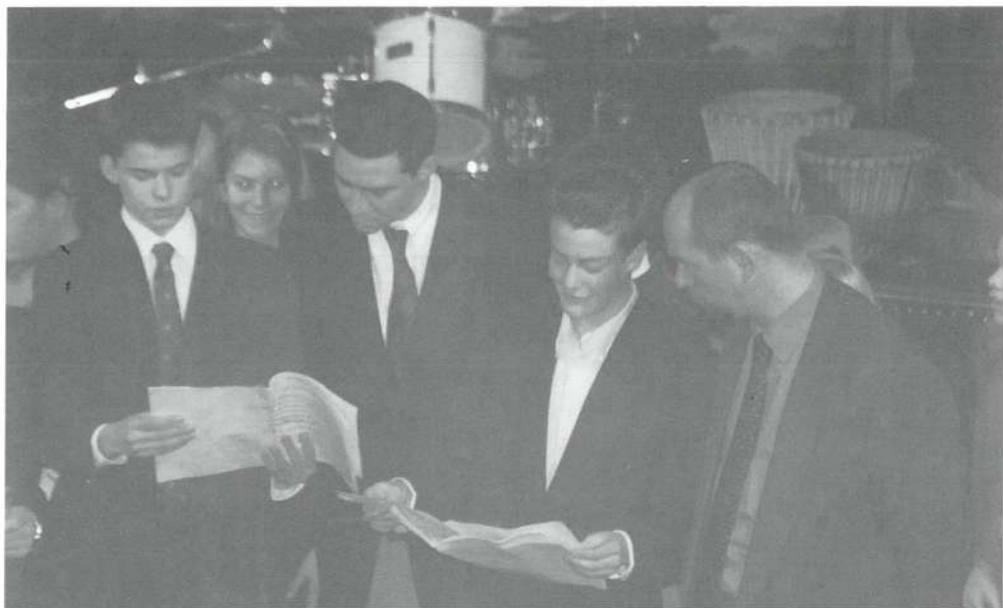

The fourth graders warm up the atmosphere with their songs.

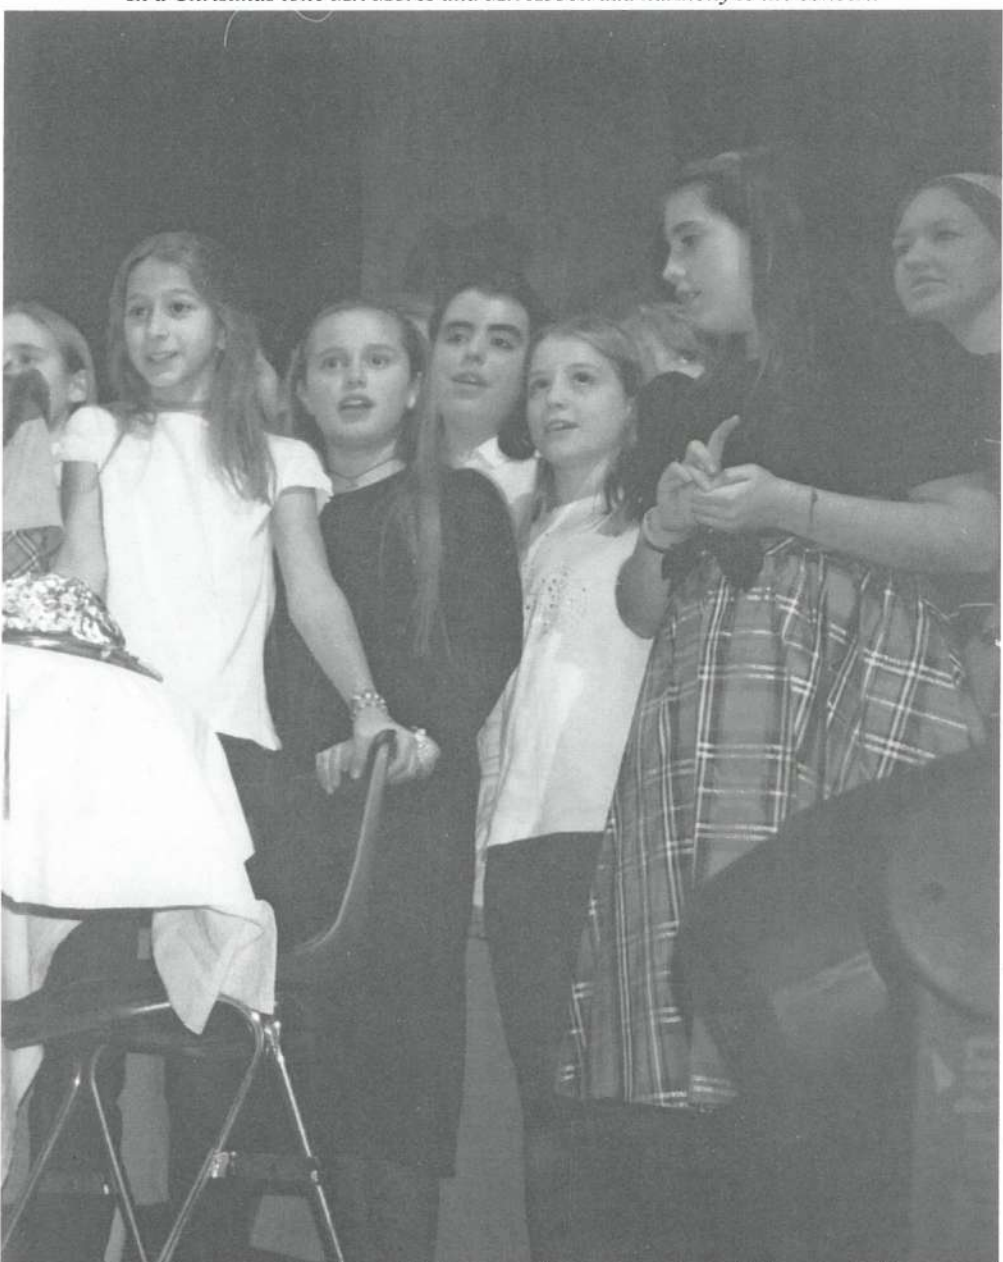

An elf shot adds color to the concert.

Serious magi and co. end their journey applauded by the audience.

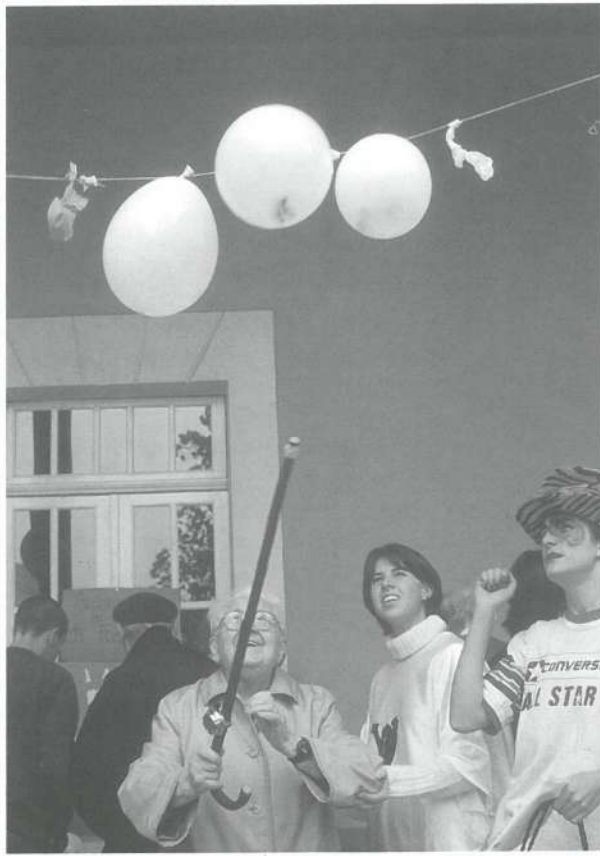

In a Christmas tone Mr. Mores and Mr. Abbott add harmony to the concert.

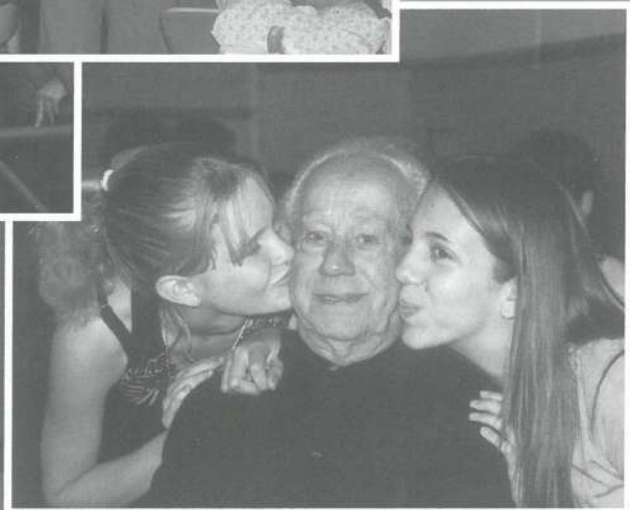

What better incentive than a Christmas pudding can motivate children to sing?

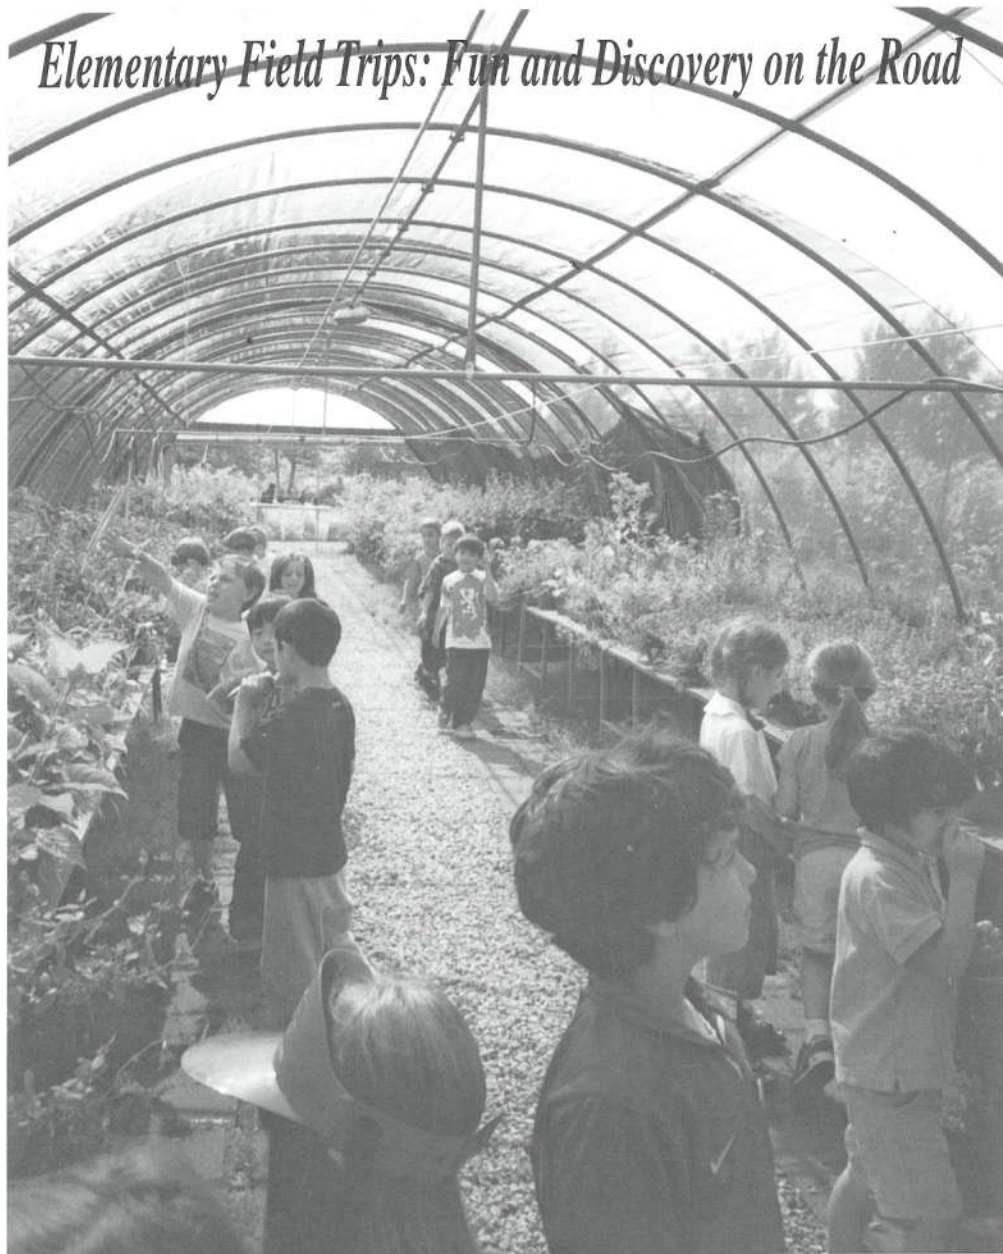

Outreach: An exercise in giving and receiving

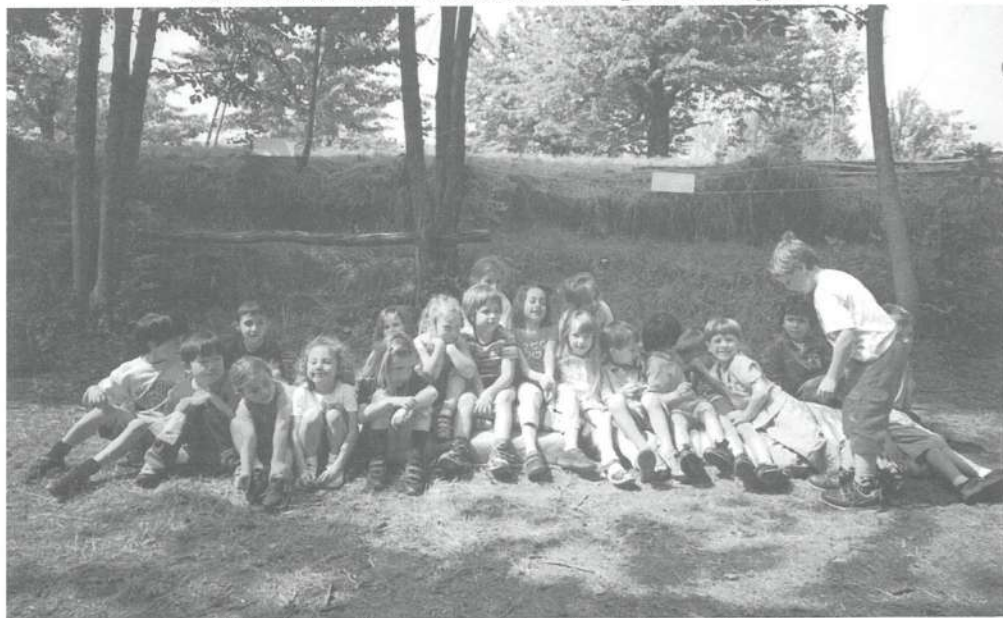

Reaching out to others speaks for itself as an activity. Those who do it know they gain much more than they give. Such is the case with our regular exchanges with the beloved "ancients" of Ville Roddolo. This year's outreach activities went beyond the traditional games of the fall fest and the gifts at Christmas, to a monthly birthday celebration that allowed more Acateers to give... and receive.

Elementary Field Trips: Fun and Discovery on the Road

Future Gardeners take a close look at the "green house effect".

The photosynthesis process is best learned by experience.

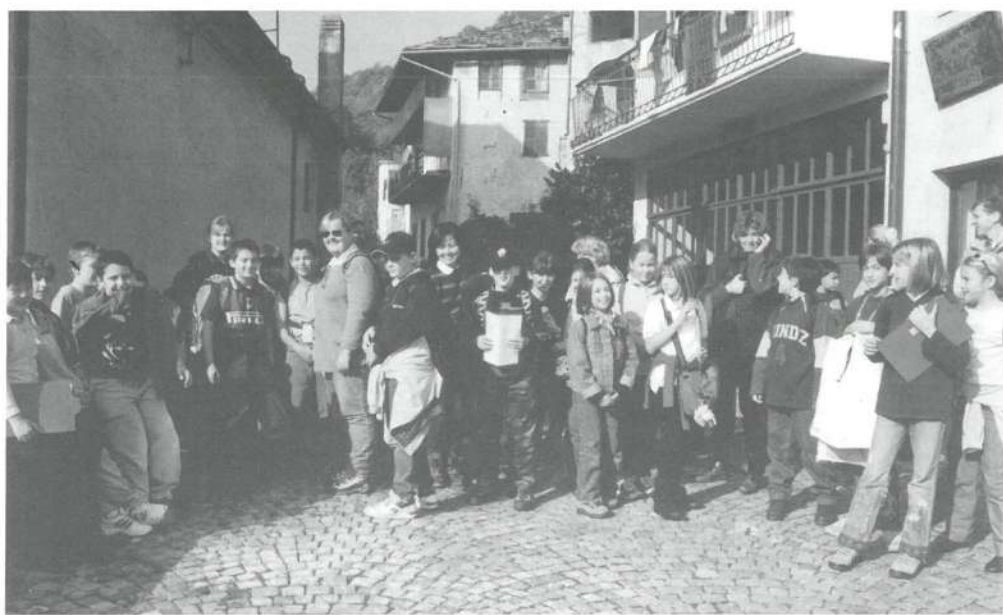

Curious third graders pose amidst the ferns at the Genova aquarium.

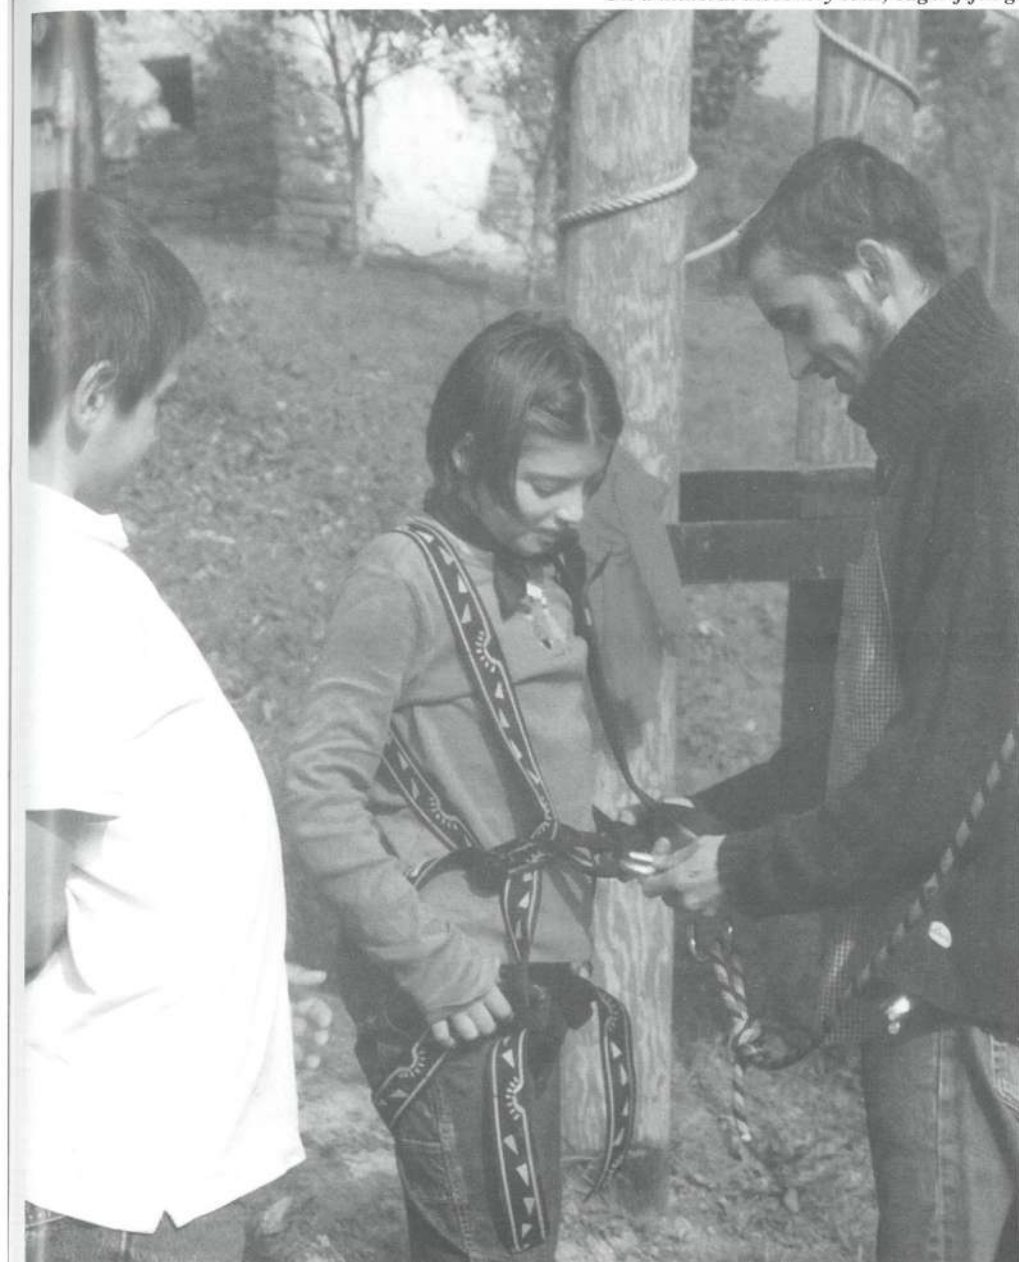

3-D glasses really are the next best thing to live-action sharks.

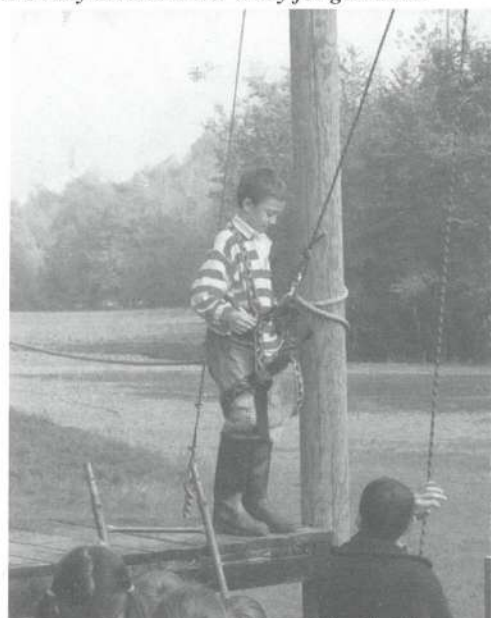

One's first shaky steps on the high wire calls for a helping hand from Mrs. Gelsomini.

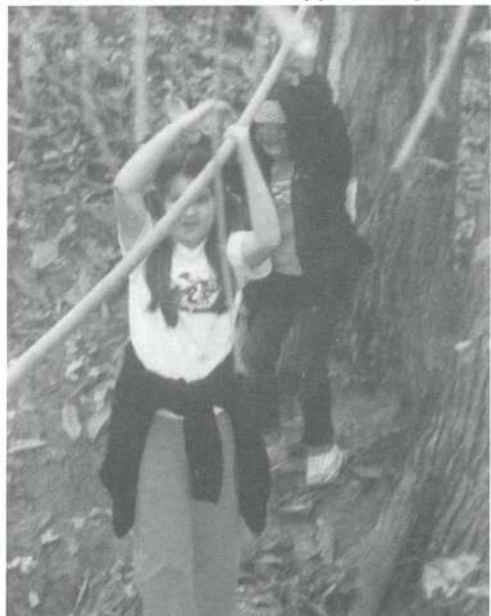

On a mineral discovery tour, eager fifth graders rally around Miss. Whay for guidance.

At Ludocascina fearless fourth graders harness up for high adventure.

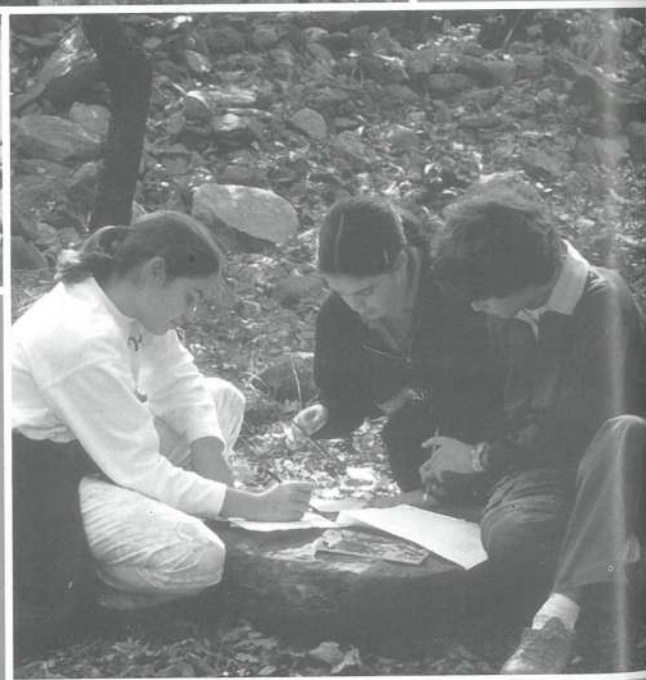

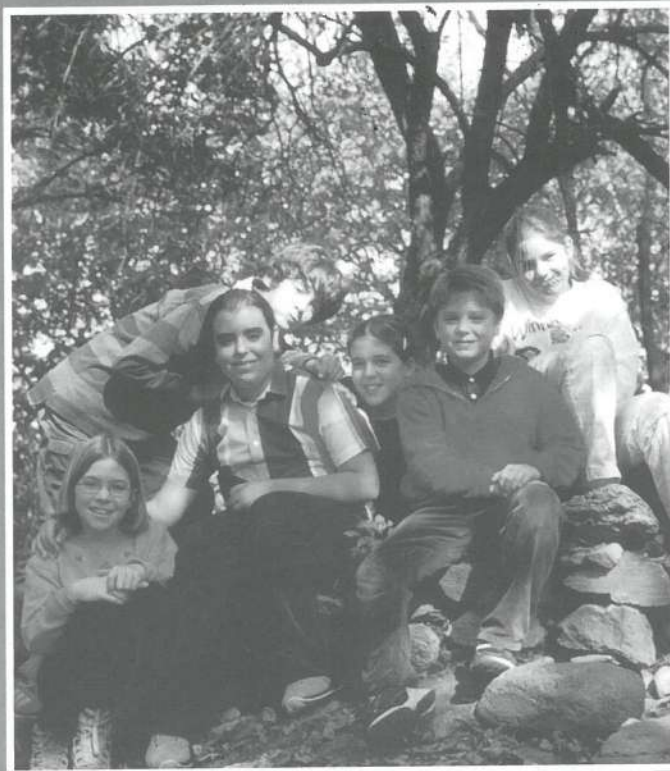

Brave Banner braces himself for the big one.

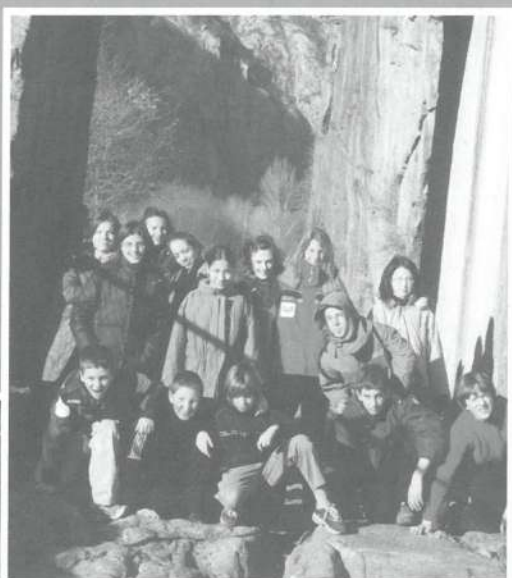

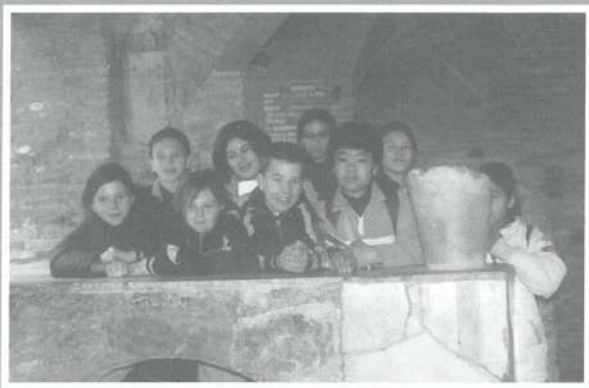

Balance and agility keep the fourth graders secure.

Middle School Field Trips: The Art of Discovery

Middle schoolers took to the road again this year on a variety of discovery trips that led them to a hands-on understanding of human achievement. From surveying archeological sites in Torino, Rome, and Naples, to exploring the Renaissance in London and Florence, they discovered a wide spectrum of evidence.

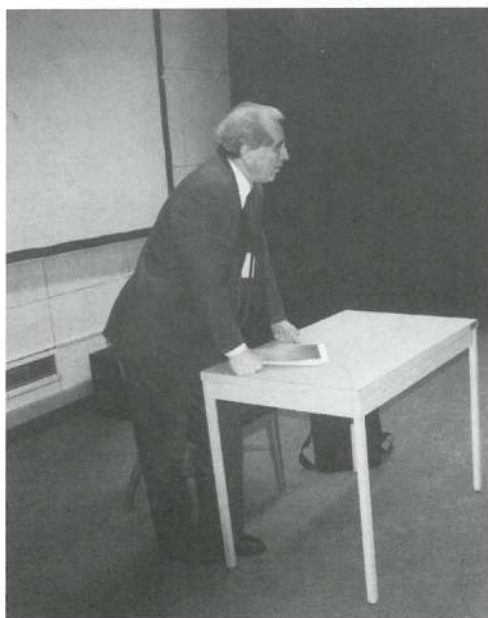

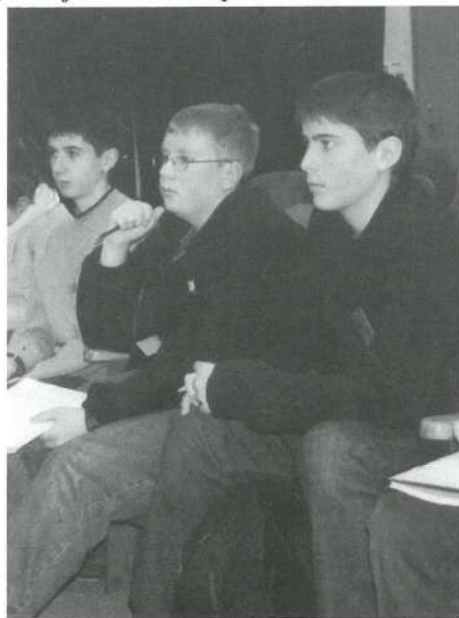

High School Adventures - reaching beyond the borders

An international kodak moment in front of the U.N. headquarters.

A UN officer shares background information on the international organization with the kids...

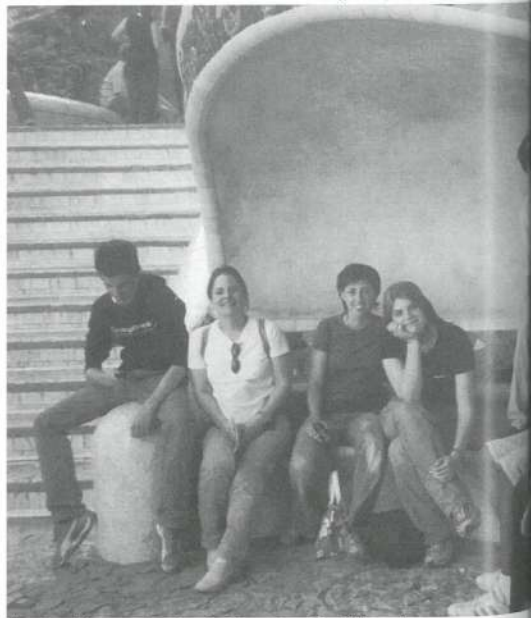

...who attentively follow the presentation.

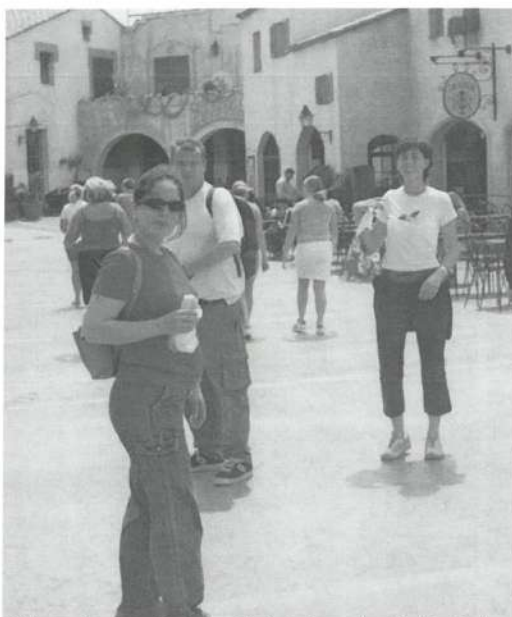

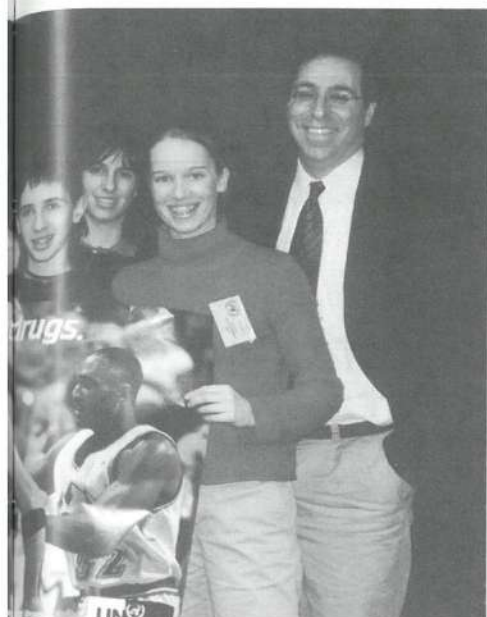

In UN spirit, the Acateers sponsor a slogan.

Siesta! What better than an ice-cream can cool the effects of a hot Spanish sun?

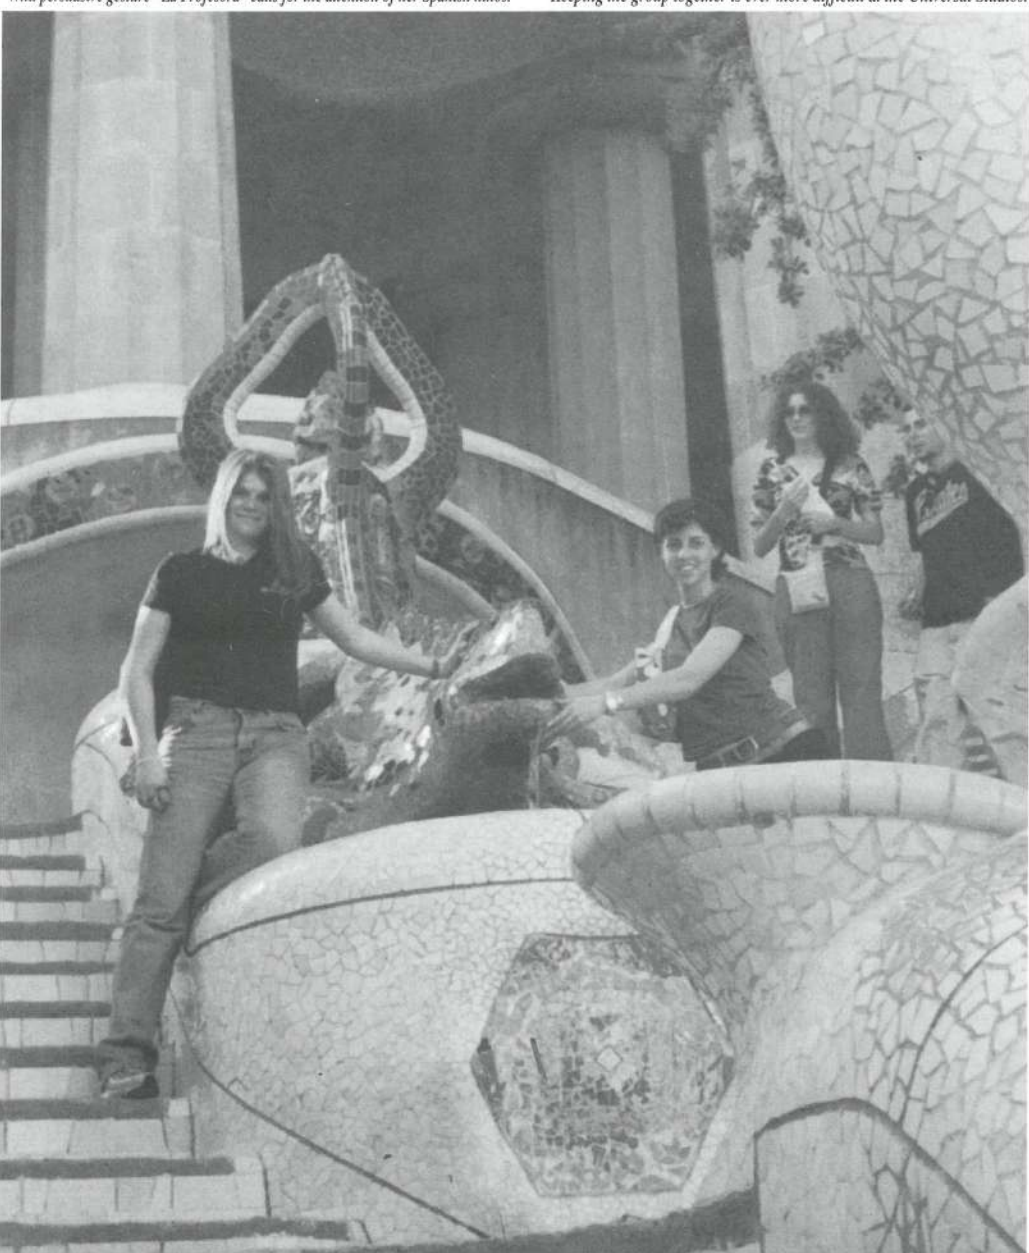

A refreshing stop in the shadow gives the 10th grade new energy.

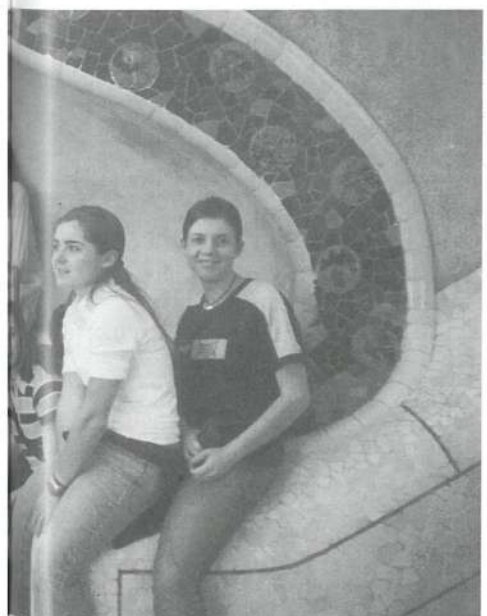

Whit persuasive gesture "La Profesora" calls for the attention of her Spanish ninos.

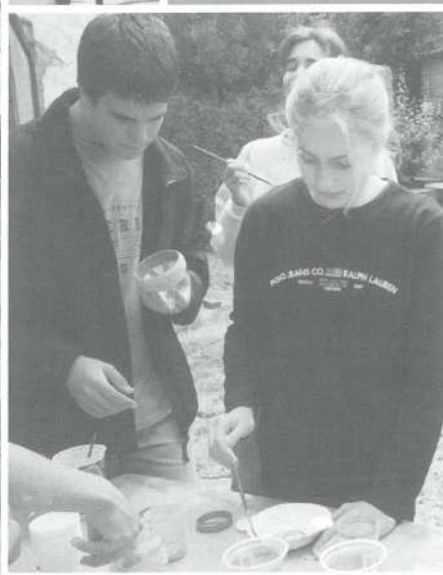

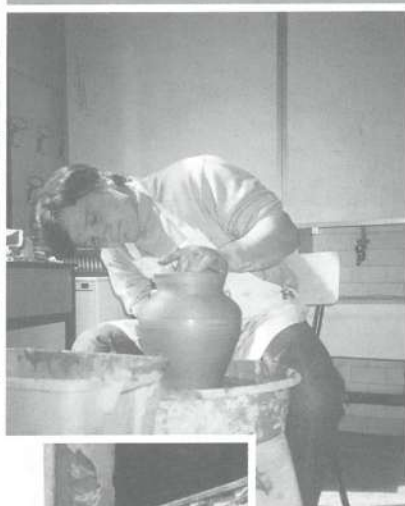

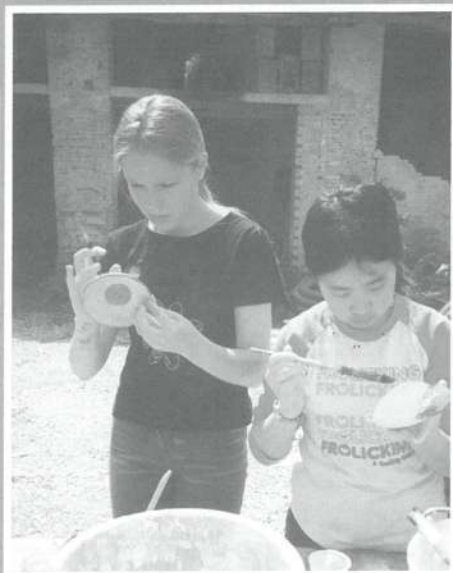

Keeping the group together is ever more difficult at the Universal Studios.

Confident in the magical powers of the statue, Lucia and Anna wish themselves luck for their return home.

Raku- a learning experience

This year, three classes had the chance to travel to a picturesque vineyard in Castiglione Tinella, where they learned how to decorate pottery by using the ancient techniques of Raku. The results were gratifying and the field trip proved to be worthwhile.

ACAT vs. French School: An international soccer exchange

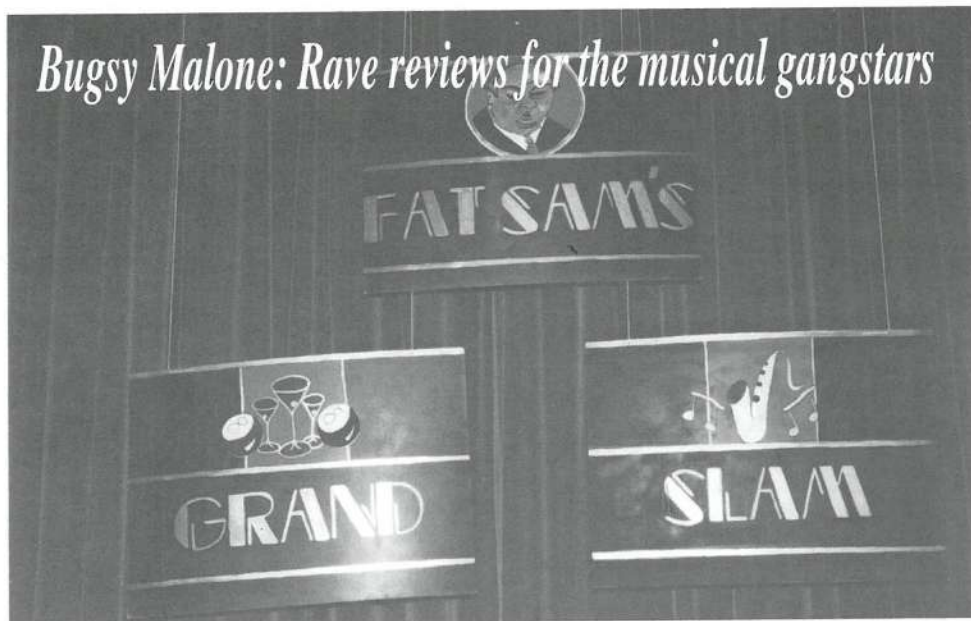

With great dedication Paola organised a soccer match between the ACAT soccer team and the French school's soccer team.

The match proved to be a congenial intercultural exchange among the students.

Although ACAT won, long-lasting friendships were formed.

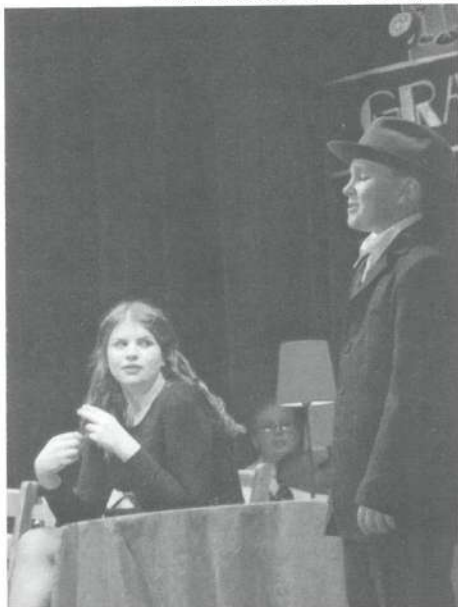

Bugsy Malone: Rave reviews for the musical gangstars

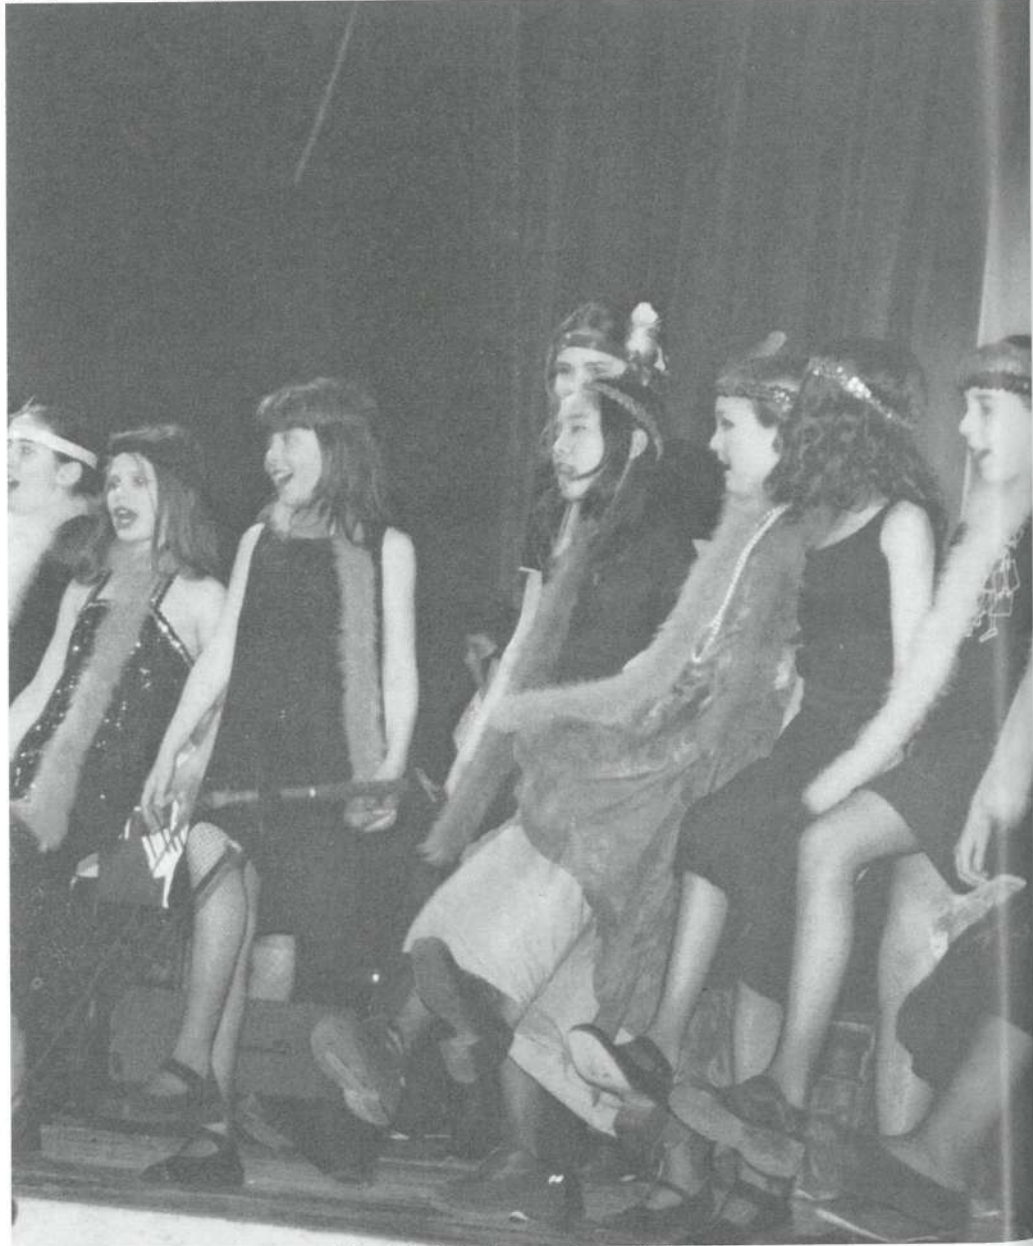

The dedicated hard work of the helping mothers pays off in the end.

Behind the curtains, the backstage crew coaches Amira on her cues.

Bugsy and Tallula get caught up in the magic of the moment.

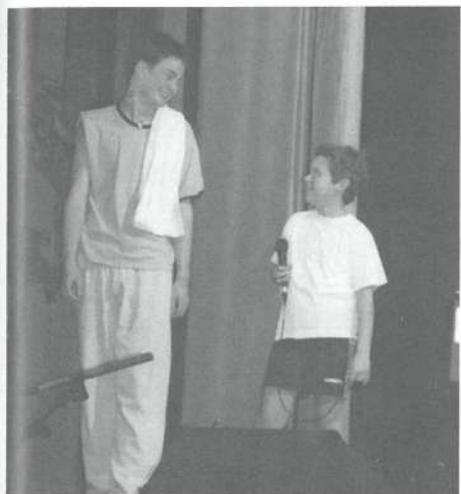

Colorful night club dancers show off their moves.

"Fat Sam" rises to the occasion.

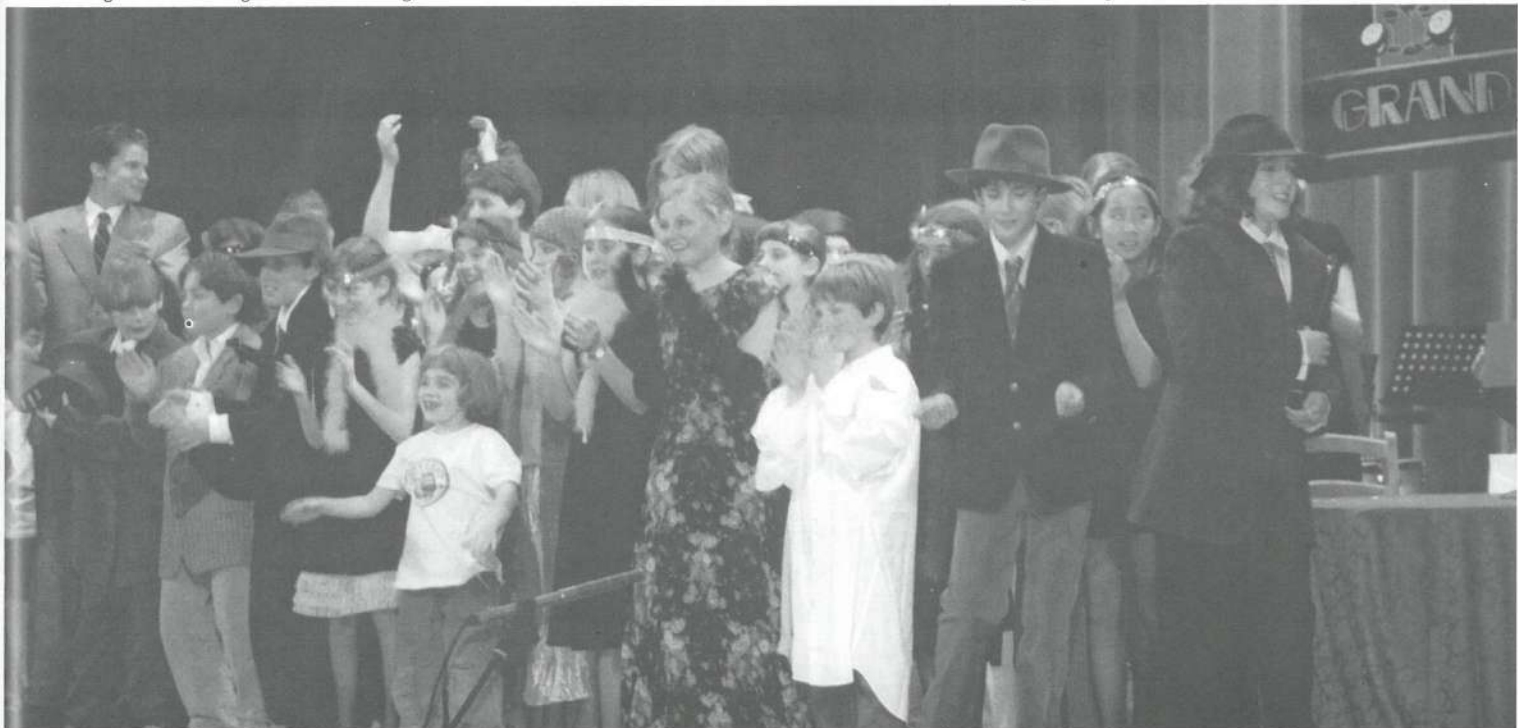

Prizefighter Alberto makes a deal with "Bugsy".

Nick and Miguel tackle the high and Low notes together.

A mobster likes to say it with flowers.

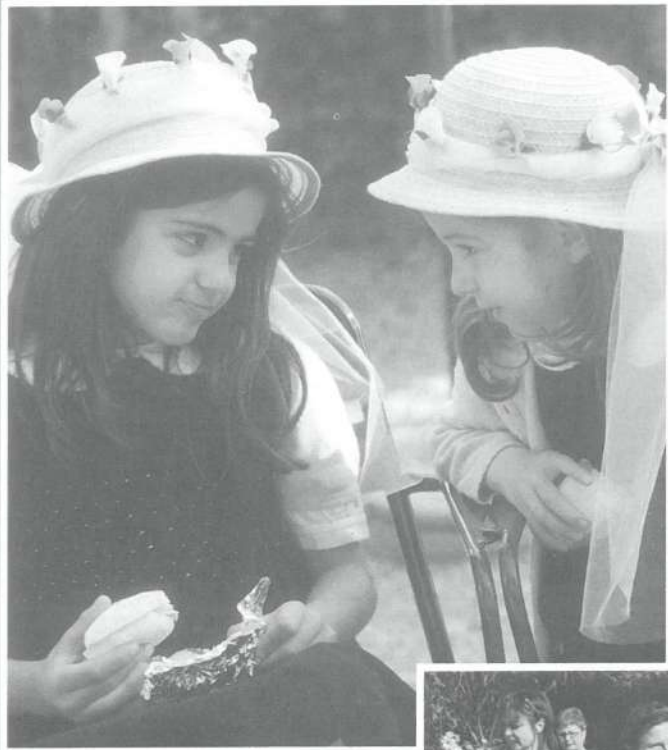

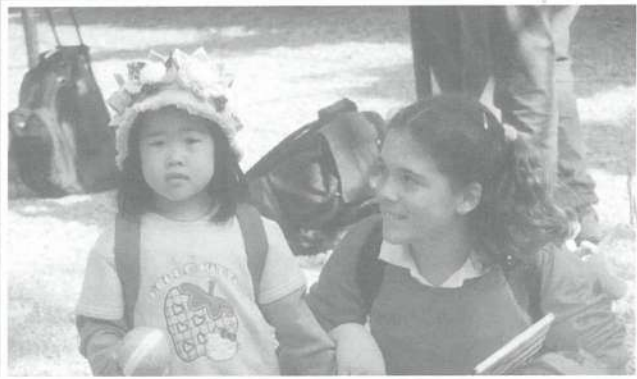

With a grand finale an exuberant cast ends the saga of "Bugsy Malone".

An eggstraordinary drop!

Egg day is an opportunity for the future engineers of Acat to exhibit their talent. This fun event, organized every year by Mr. Abbott, is open to all upper school who look forward to demonstrating their creative egg-containers.

A hatful of memories to keep our dreamworld going

A long-lasting tradition in elementary school, the hat parade has always been an enjoyable activity for everyone. This experience allows the children to express their creativity in transforming simple materials into colorful Easter hats. Cheered on by their parents, proud hatters parade around the lower garden.

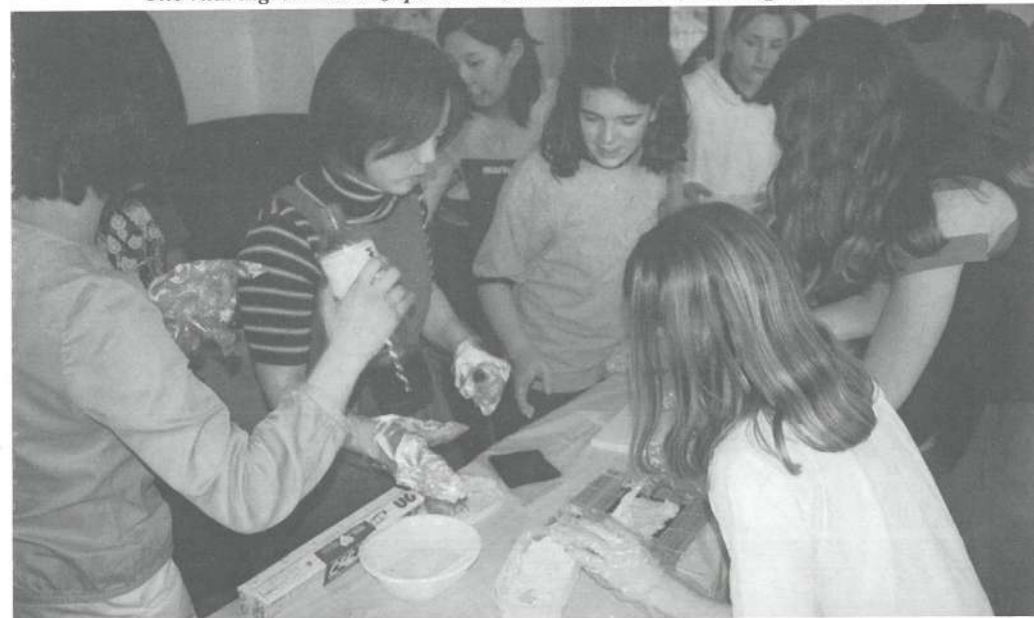

A final touch is what is needed to complete the drawing.

Ugo Nespolo shares his Japanese adventures with the kids.

The vital ingredients to Japanese week are the clever and energetic mothers.

The delicious ingredients of sushi, attracted many participants in the sushi workshop.

Japanese week- an Acat perspective on Japan

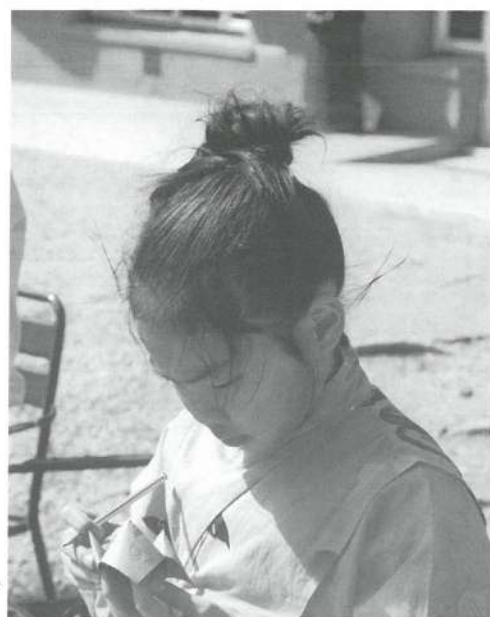

The secret of every kimono is the bun.

Trying-out her hard-practiced "Japanese", Ms.

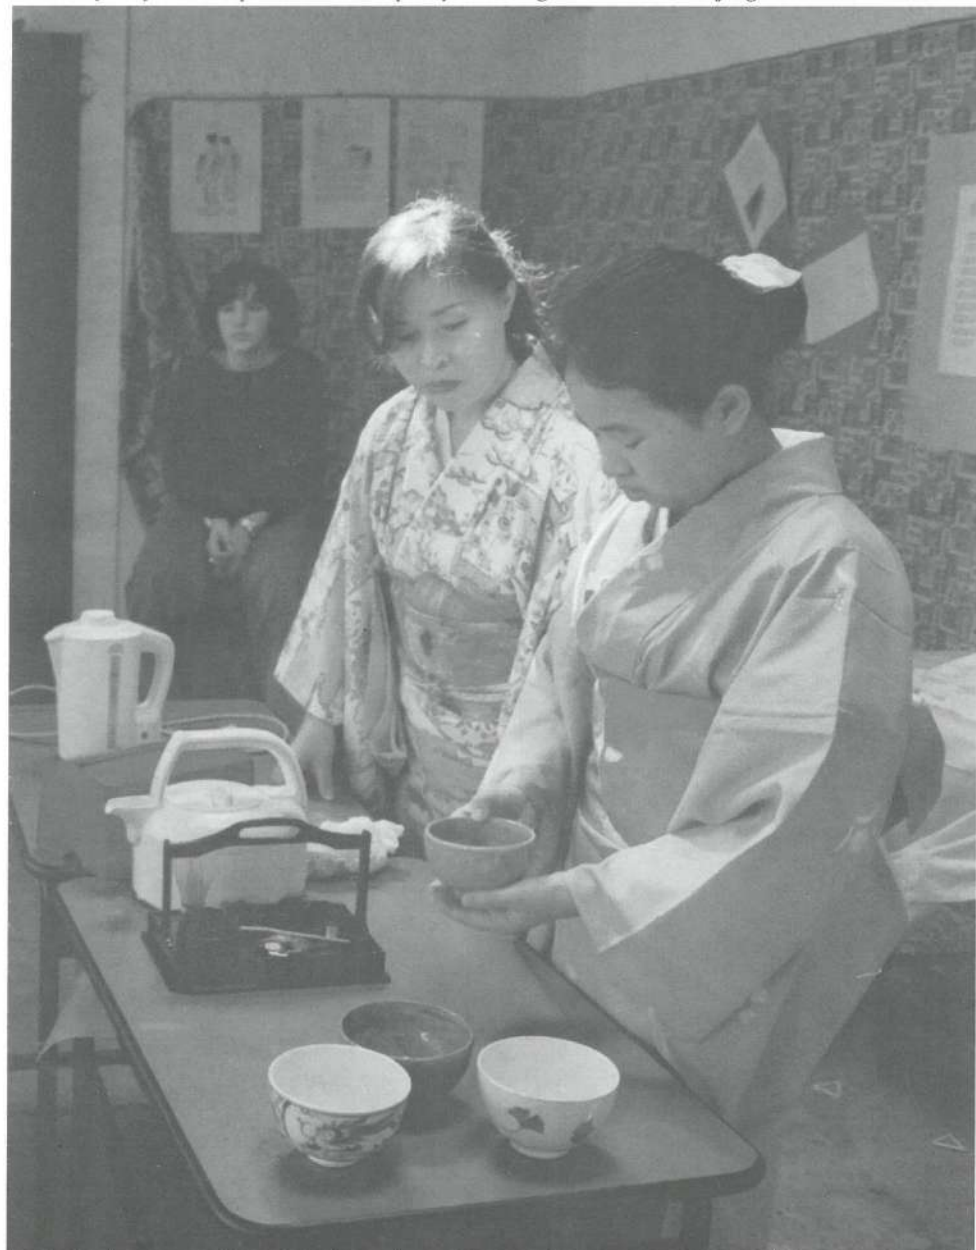

Garbed in festive jackets the Japanese students stand proudly.

Origami takes nimblefingers and coordination.

Sigliano opens Japan Week with a kimono ceremony.

Full of concentration, Juri shares the ancient art of the tea ceremony with her classmates.

Student Council: a shared experience of learning

This year the Student Council was somewhat laid back but productive.

They were succesful in organising fun dances and an exciting end of the year barbecue.

The members were often seen before and after various activities, helping out.

The Student Council experience is a fun one and was greatly enjoyed this year.

Readathon- the saving of the animals

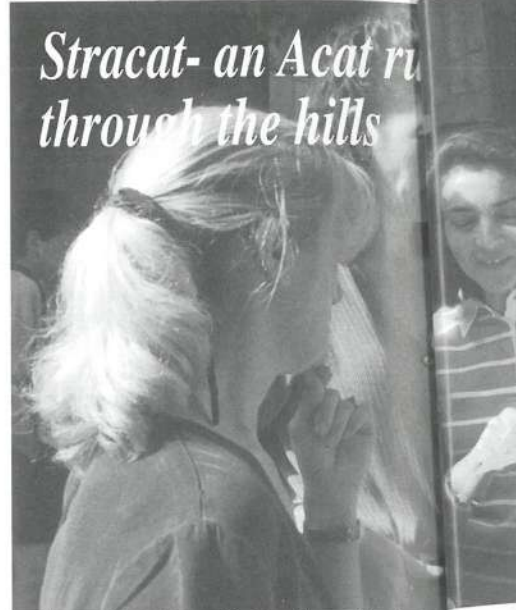

The Readathon is an annual event that encourages young readers to expand their reading interests. Elementary participants seek out sponsors to pay them according to the number of books they read. Thanks to the high school organizers Ayako and Amira, the funds raised helped to rescue a Siberian tiger.

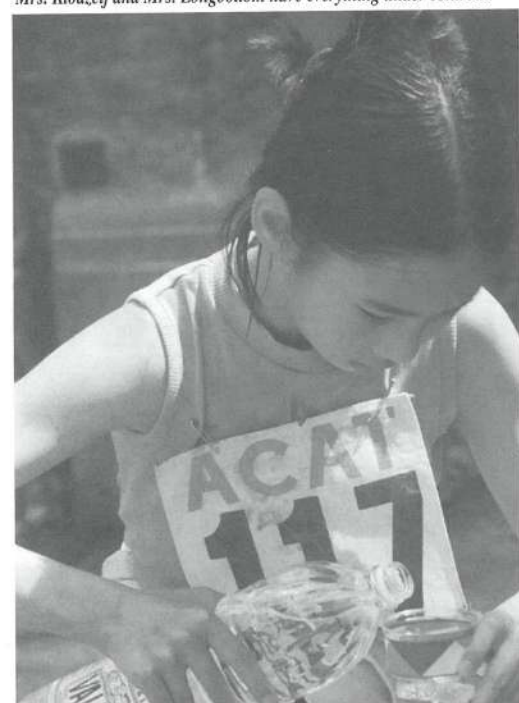

Mrs. Klodziej and Mrs. Longbottom have everything under control...

The Perosino boys are on the run.

Hungary Acateers made short work of a sumptuous barbecue.

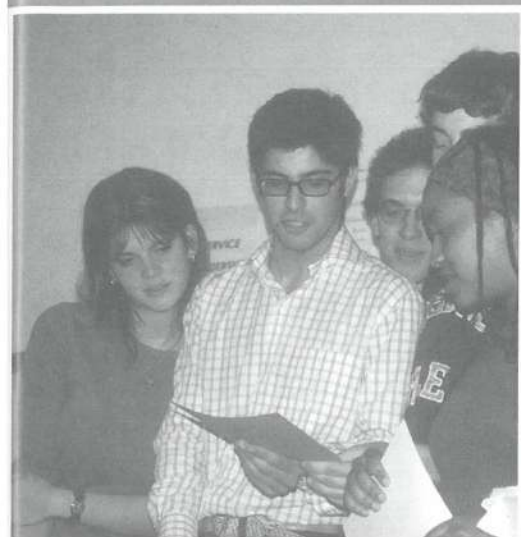

Upper School Awards Ceremony

The

The awards ceremony for the upper school is a motivational and exciting event which recognizes hard-working students with special certificates. Honor roll, high honor roll, achievement and improvement awards are given out. This special ceremony is held annually at the end of the third trimester.

The National Honor Society Ceremony... a step forward in achievement

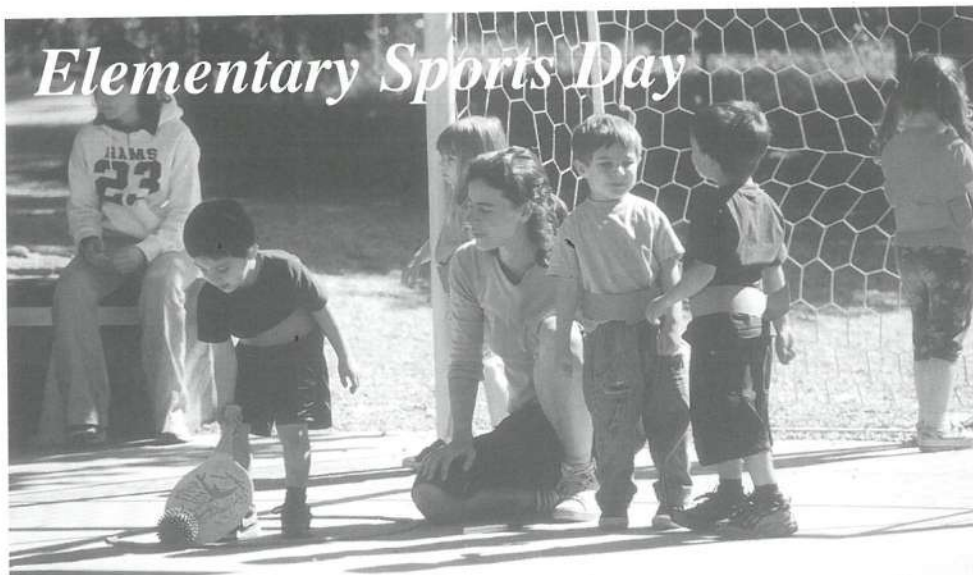

The hard work of the high school students in diverse areas is recognised in the annual National Honor Society ceremony organized by Mrs. Sigliano. To receive this special award, a student must display character, leadership, service and scholarship.

This year amongst all the candidates, four stood out the most: Ayako Iba, Amira Kheir, Nick Fischer-White and Sarah Dale.

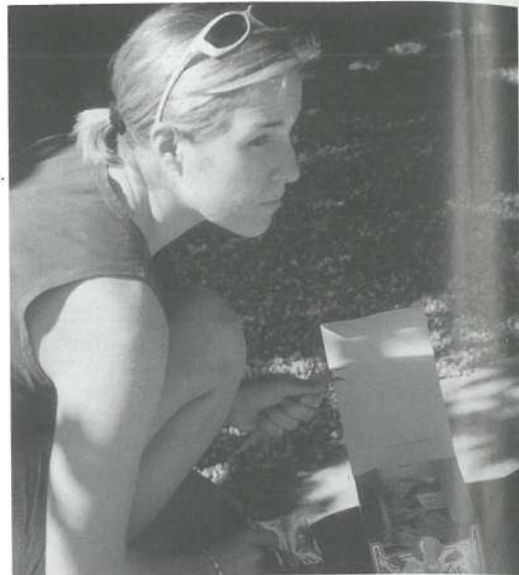

Elementary Sports Day

Along with their older team mate, Elena, the nursery kids get psyched for the competition.

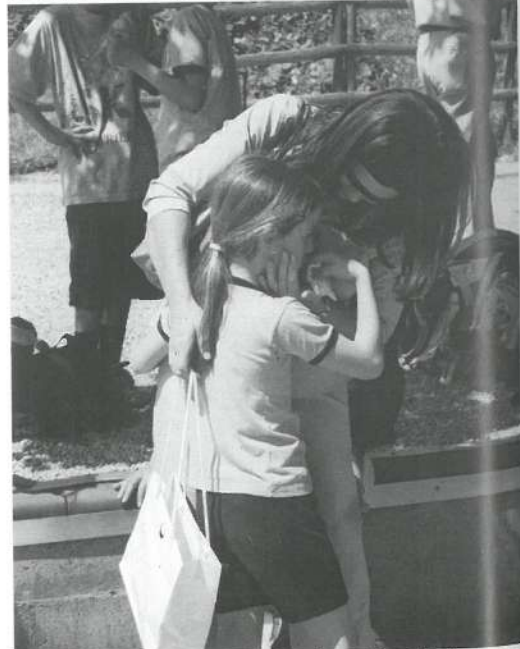

The future athletes of ACAT look excited while concentrating on how they will win their race.

With a thoughtful glance towards her kids, Rosie prepares the prize candies.

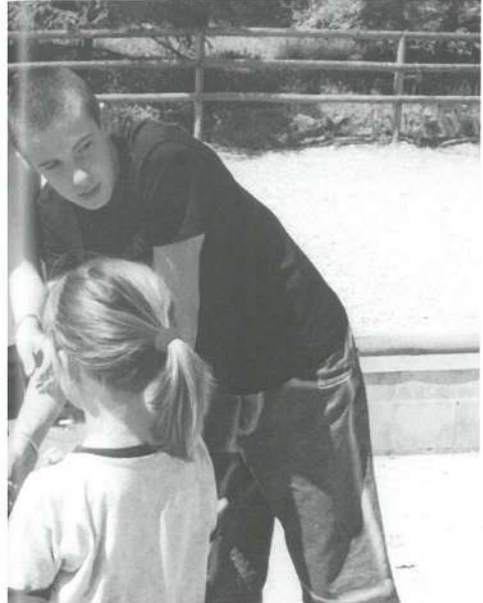

Paola and the 9th Graders congratulate the winners with a lollipop and a pat on the back.

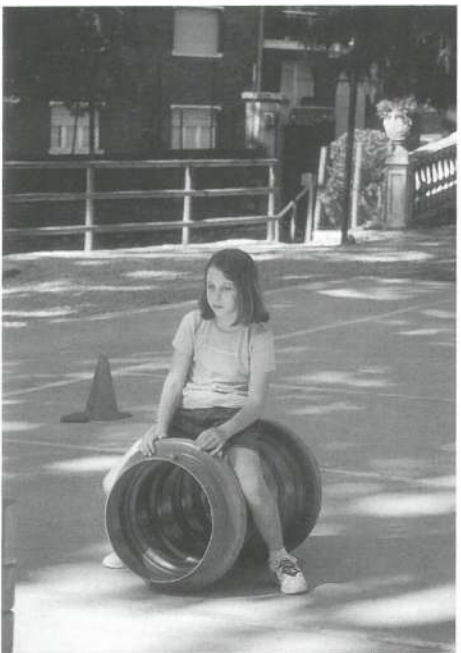

Sad about being defeated, Carolina, is comforted by her mom.

Supported by her mom, Franziska, is now ready to win the race.

Mr. Mores proudly recognizes ACAT's junior star athletes.

Joanna relaxes after running a long and hard race.

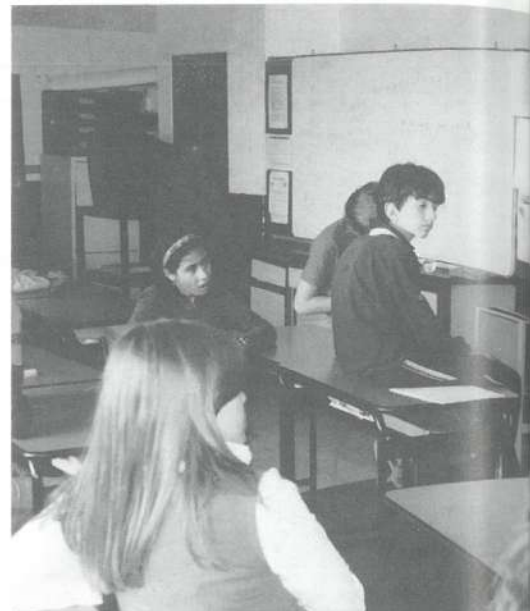

The winners of the race display their well-deserved medals.

Career Day: a creative step in realizing our dream

Pininfarina project designer Carsten, holds the audience with his pictures.

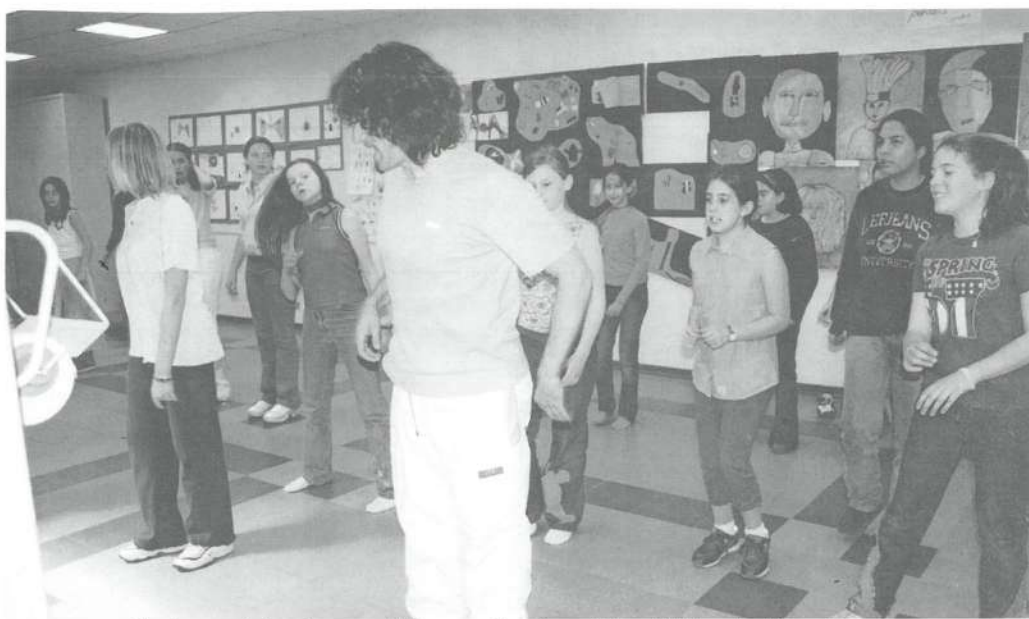

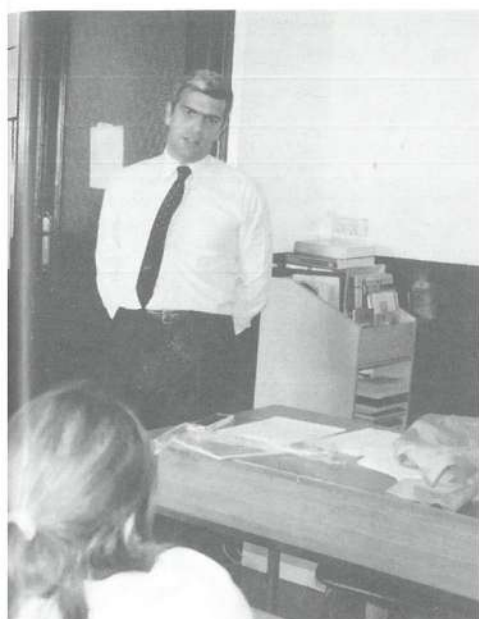

Mr. Corsini's brilliant speech on newspapers encourages future journalists to start their career.

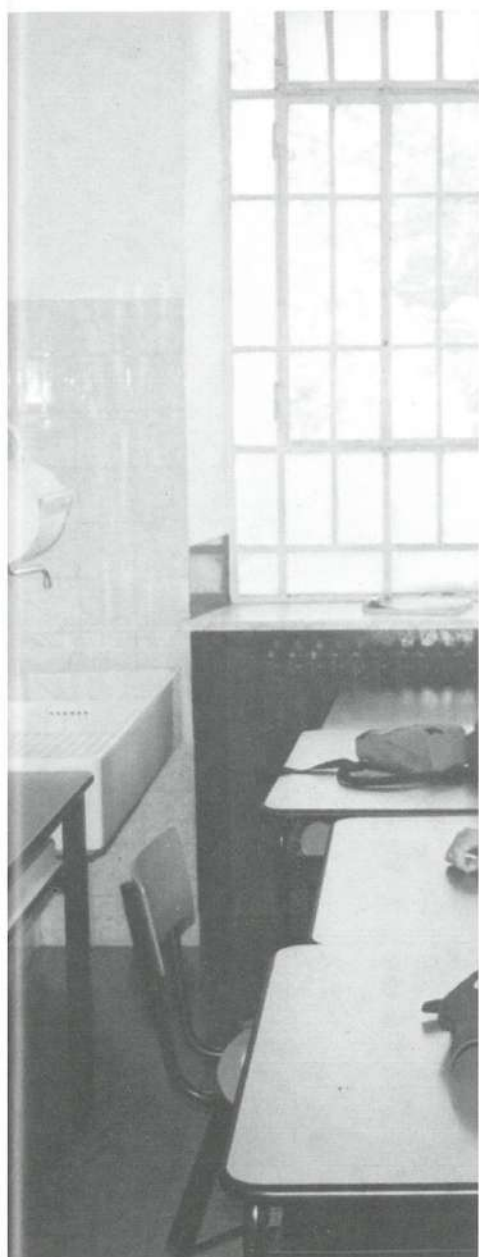

Former Acat student Carlo Re explains the difficulties in being an International Lawyer.

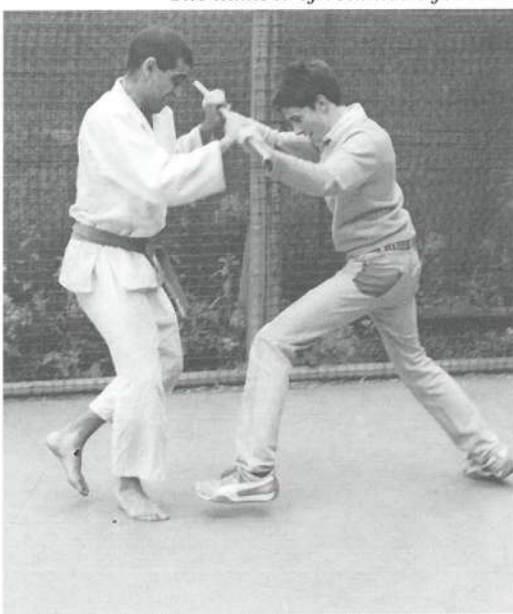

Prepared speakers enlighten their young audience with their presentations.

Funky workshop improved the coordination of the middle school pop dancers.

The number of volunteers for the Red Cross demonstration was great.

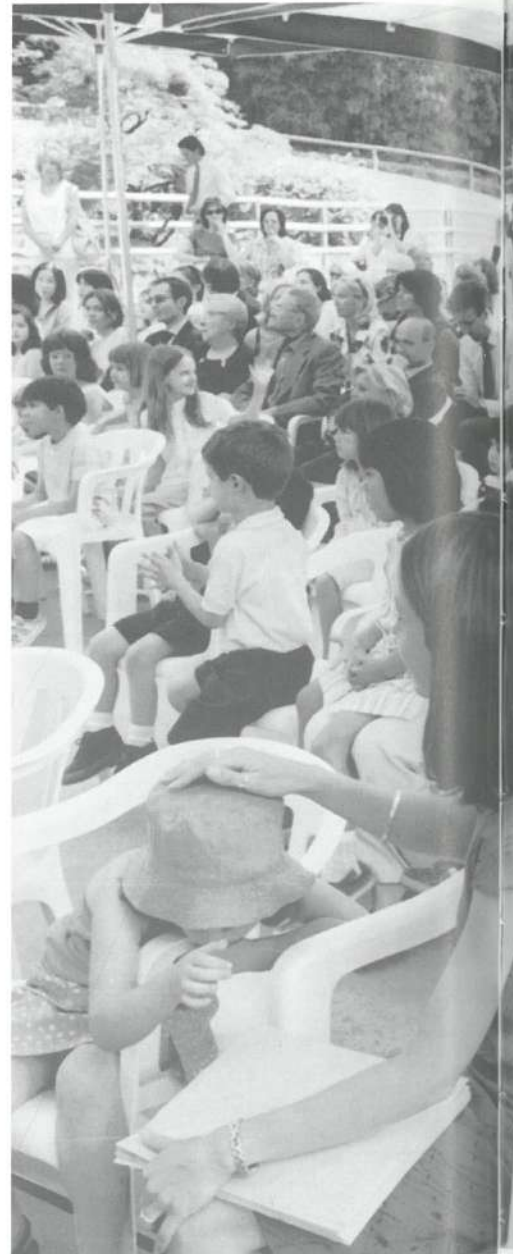

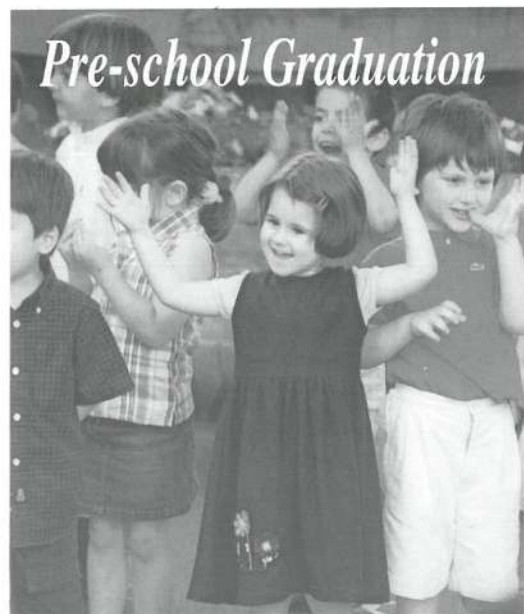

Energetic Filippo tests his martial arts skills.

And that's only the beginning!

Pre-school Graduation

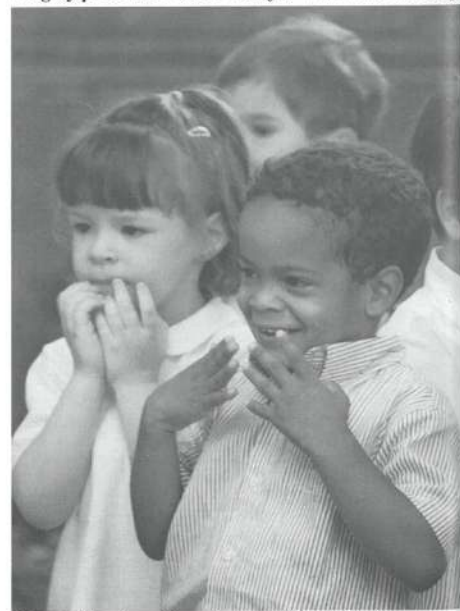

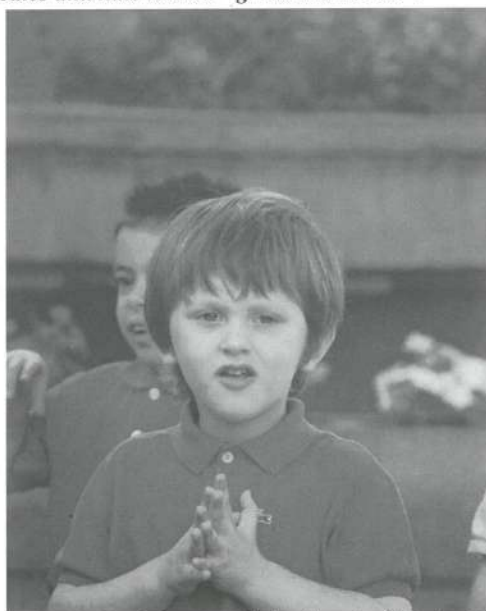

One's first graduation is a moment of great exuberance and celebration.

Ilaria successfully manages to animate the song with great enthusiasm.

Proudly, the nursery teachers deliver the certificates and hats to their "graduation class".

Fidgety pre-k kids can't wait for their turn on stage.

Finished singing, Lorenzo decides to share one picture with his mom.

Dedicated and involved, an acateer looks at his teachers for inspiration.

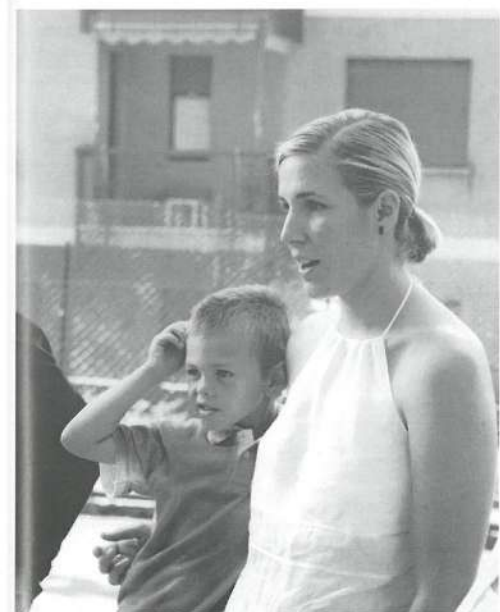

Nursery kids enliven their performance with typical Italian gestures.

Looking crisp and smart, the pre-k kids are ready to sing their hearts out.

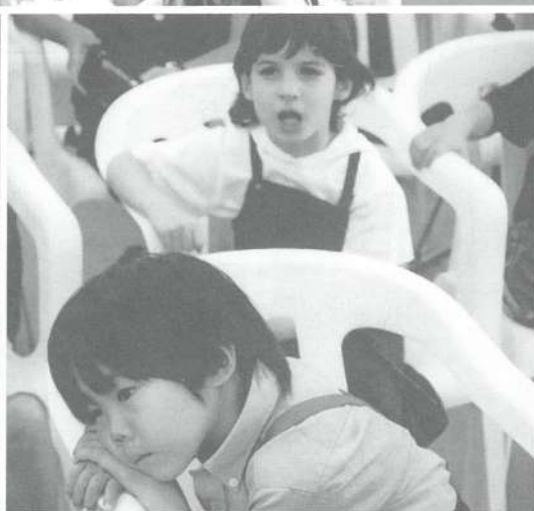

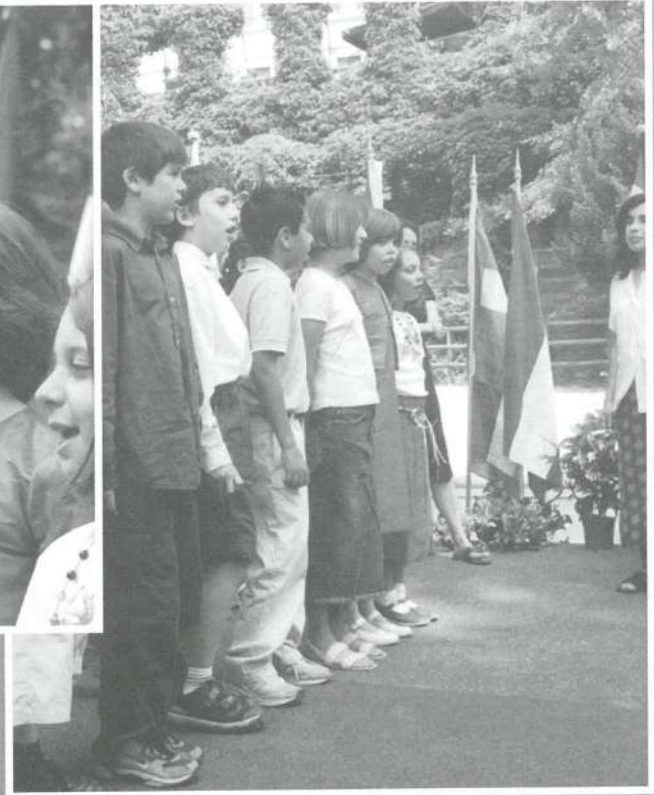

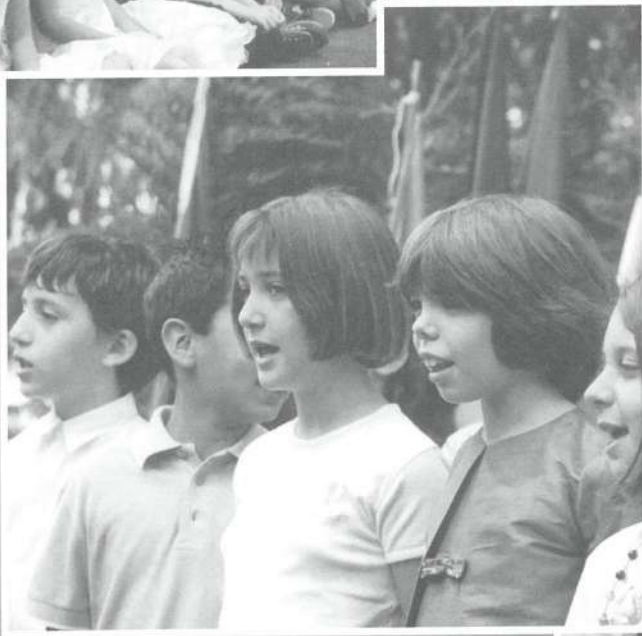

With a little help from his mom, Lorenzo learns the most effective way to take pictures.

Graduation brings out the best of all of us.

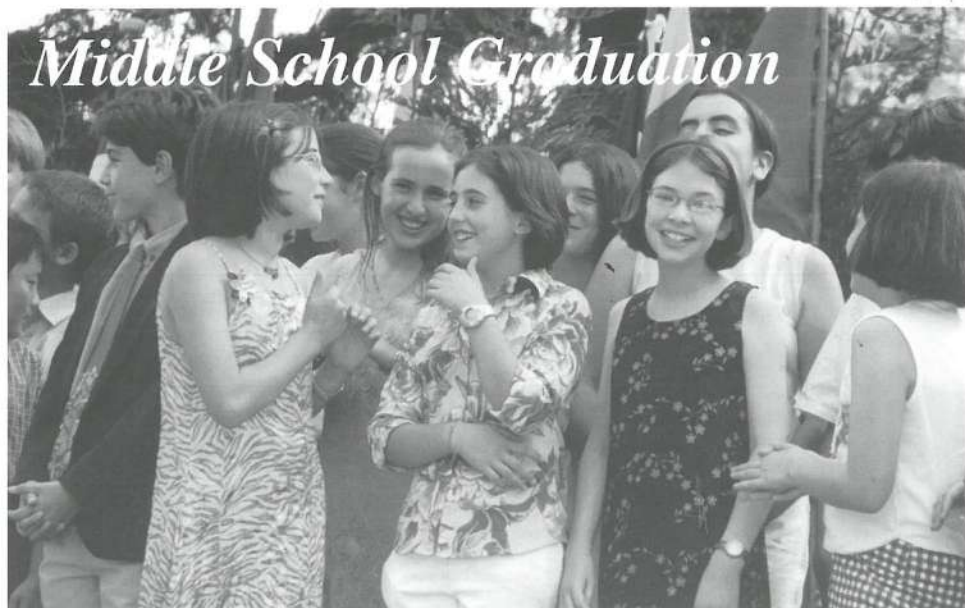

Elementary Closing Exercises

Graduation is a symbolic step forward for each student in the elementary school. Looked on by parents, teachers and friends, each class proudly sings an uplifting song and receives a certificate recognizing their hard work throughout the year.

Middle School Graduation

Relaxed and happy 6th graders discuss their successful performance as middle schoolers.

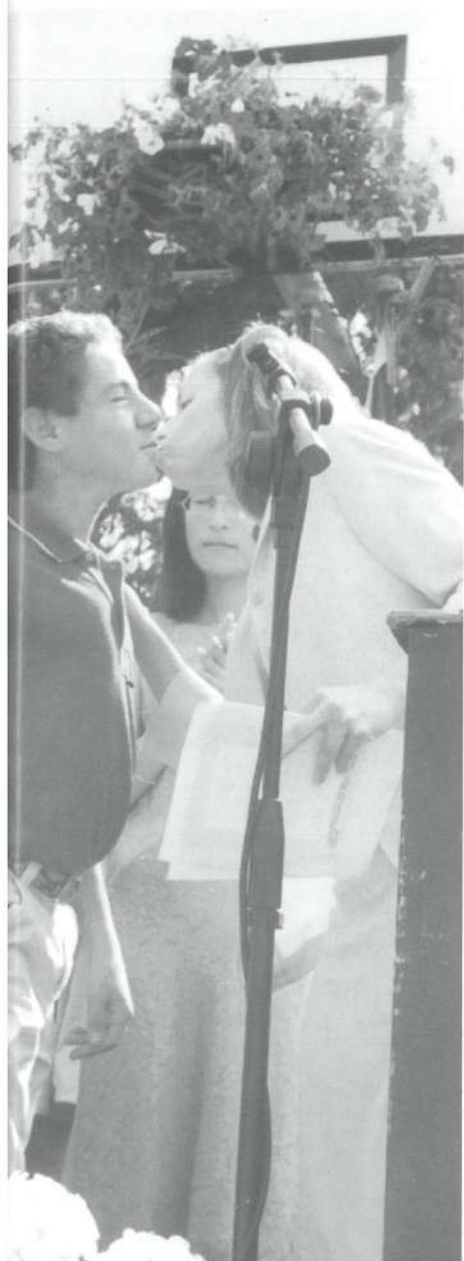

Propping up Adam morally and physically, Mrs. Sigliano sends him on to 7th grade.

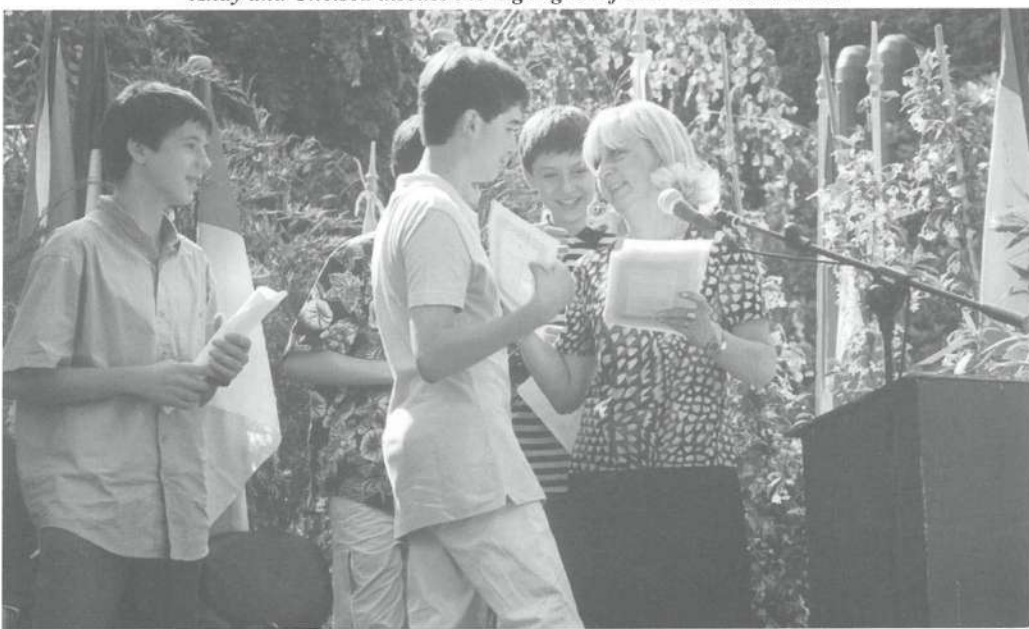

Pumped up for the occasion Miki receives a congratulatory kiss from Ms. Hahn.

Smiling 7th grade wait to share their graduation song.

Andy and Chelsea discuss the highlights of their Acat discoveries.

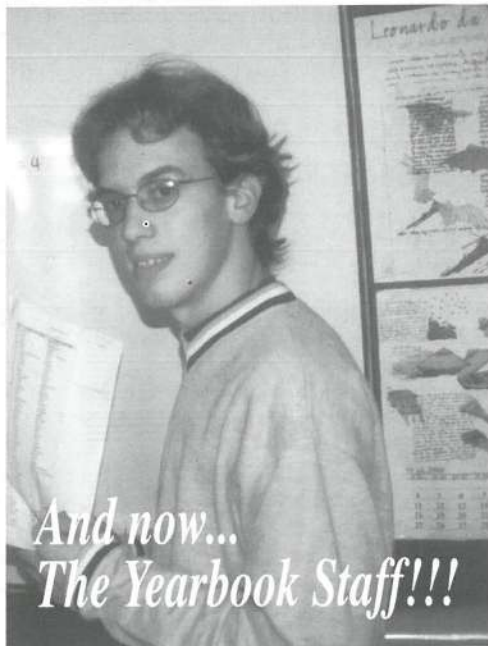

With a comforting pat on the shoulder, Mrs. Boffa congratulates Giulio.

Inspired and eager, Nosomi describes her first experience at Acat.

Juri displays her hidden talent with the piano.

Piccoli Grandi Amori.

(donne sfrontate per uomini duri)

Amori innocenti, amori vicini, amori lontani, "che va tutto bene"
e amori che ti fanno arrabbiare.
Teneri, folli, sempre passionali.
Piccole e grandi vicissitudini della vita da percorrere mano nella mano.

Un amore che si regala con il cuore, racchiuso in un dono fatto di oro
o di gemme che trovi di sicuro da FM.

Un regalo che resta nel tempo, il filo conduttore di una storia che vale.
Così come vale, per FM, l'amore per il proprio lavoro e per i propri clienti.

The Parent Teachers Association...

The PTA would like to thank all the members of the A.C.A.T. community who helped in the organization and realisation of the many successful events of the past year.

Warm memories and fond farewells conclude an A.C.A.T. Era

Dear Ms. Gelsomini and Ms. Zabaldano,
After a long and brilliant career of inspiring young ACATeers to shine, you have reached a golden milestone on your journey toward becoming more complete persons. In your decision to enter early retirement, you have realized that it is time to step aside and take account of how far you've come and where you still have to go to reach your lifetime goals.

Prompted by the warmest of memories in our moments shared with you both until now, we can only say thank you for having been with us, congratulations for all that you have achieved, and sincere best wishes for continued success and everything that life can hold to bring you happiness.

Sincerely,
A Grateful ACAT Community

Japanese School- a school within a school

In order to provide an environment in which a large group of Japanese students can continue to learn and improve their language, Acat agreed to host a weekly Japanese school on Saturdays. Students of all ages come to school early, long after Acat closes its doors for the weekend. Specially trained Japanese teachers assist their students in keeping up their skills.

W270 EVOLUTION

Il nuovo W270 Evolution è il risultato dell'evoluzione dei caricatori gommati Fiat-Hitachi.

Lo caratterizzano:

- comfort e sicurezza grazie alla cabina "New Style" particolarmente curata ed insonorizzata
- produttività e consumo ridotto dovuti all'aumentata capacità di spinta e scavo, alla stabilità statica e dinamica in qualsiasi applicazione operativa e ad un potente motore gestito elettronicamente
- accessibilità e servizio migliorati con innovativi accorgimenti tecnici, sotto una cofanatura di nuovo design e funzionalità
- allestimenti e versatilità grazie alla maggiore disponibilità delle attrezzature più appropriate per qualsiasi applicazione

W270 Evolution è prodotto nello stabilimento Fiat-Hitachi di Lecce con qualità certificata secondo le più avanzate norme ISO 9001: 2000 e nel massimo rispetto dell'ambiente (ISO 14001).
