The United Colors of ACAT

Throughout the year, the ACAT Community comes together for special activities that really form a vital component to the spirit of the school. Whether it be the Stracat, International Day, Spirit Days or Sport Day a striking feature of all of them is the festival of colors brightening the event. Whether defining a sports team or displaying national pride it is evident that though the colors are different, the school is united in these occasions. It is with this in mind that we have chosen as a theme the United Colors of ACAT.

Ms. Townsend

The colors of our school
Shine brightly through you-
Your activeness, awareness, and advice
Help us through each day
And never let us quit.
A woman,
A teacher,
A dean,
A Board member,
And a friend to us all,
Ms. Townsend, we dedicate this book to you.

ACADEMICS

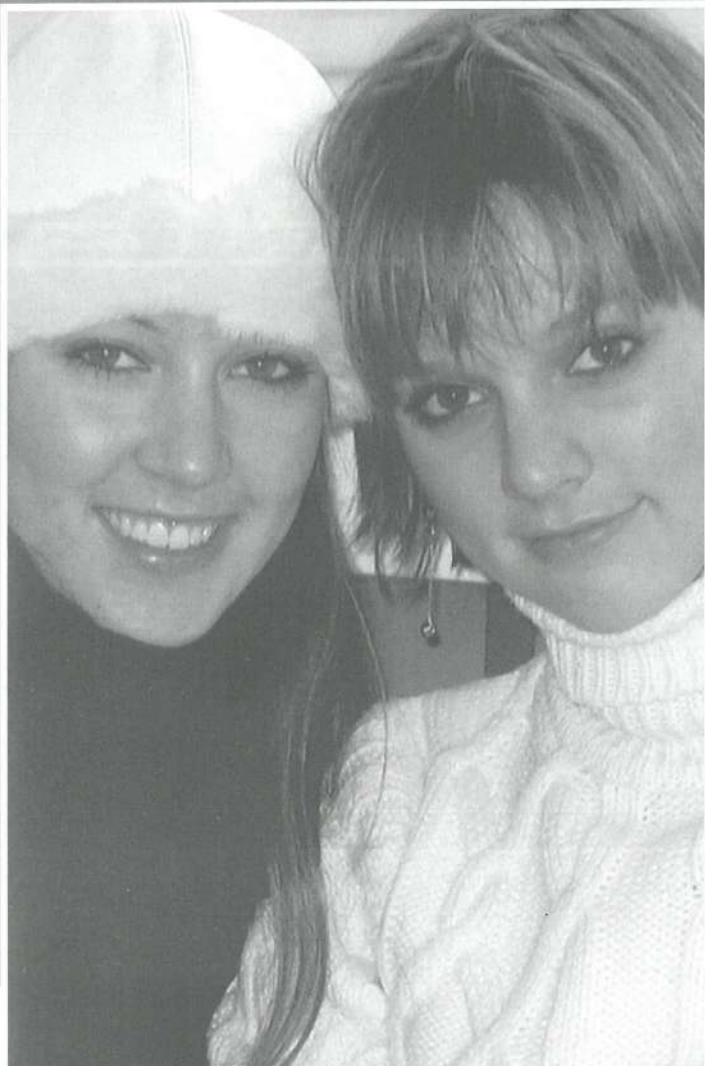

Bianca Bertolino

For Bianca every second of the day is a moment worth smiling for. With her dazzling smile she pours fun and kindness into the ACAT community. Even during the stressful season of the IB she was able to lift the spirits of her fellow classmates.

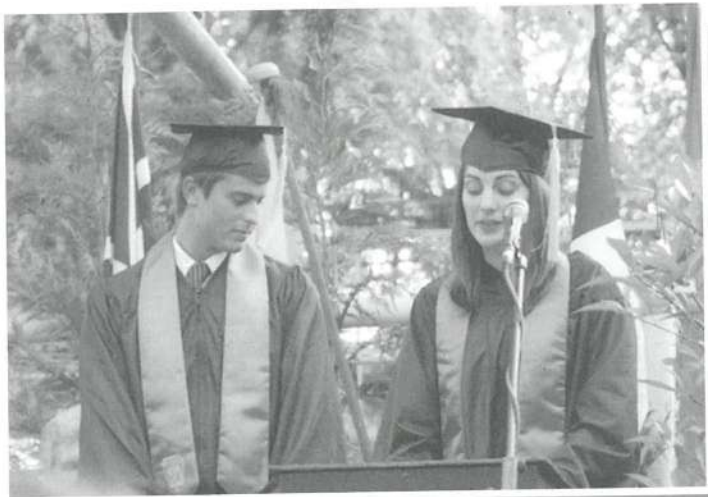

Larissa Blezger

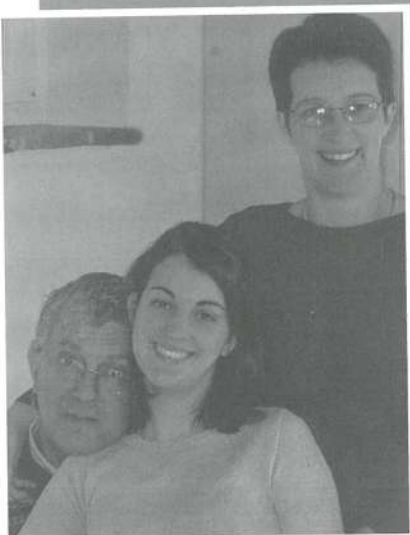

With the support of her family and friends, Larissa has spent eight memorable years at ACAT. The unforgettable trips to both St. Petersburg and Sevenoaks the good times and the bad times are all special to Larissa and will stay with her as she moves on.

With her linguistic talents she is off to London to study international business.

Michela Bolla

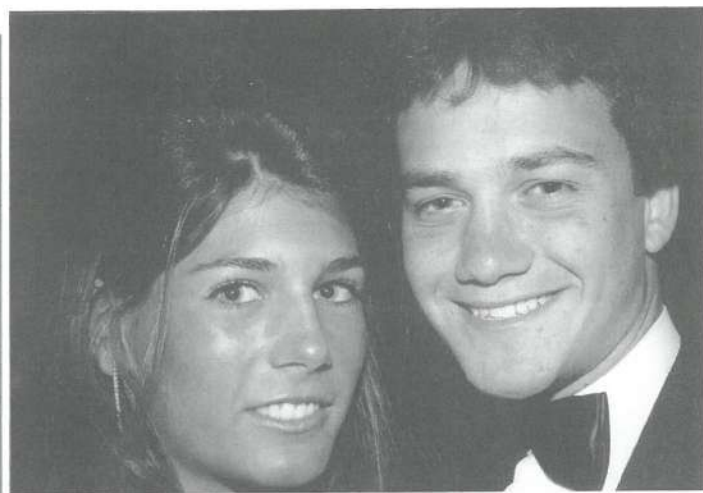

Not only has Michela won many academic awards in her four years at ACAT, she has also won the respect and friendship of her classmates and teachers. A diligent, principled and compassionate person, Michela is sure to do well where ever life may take her.

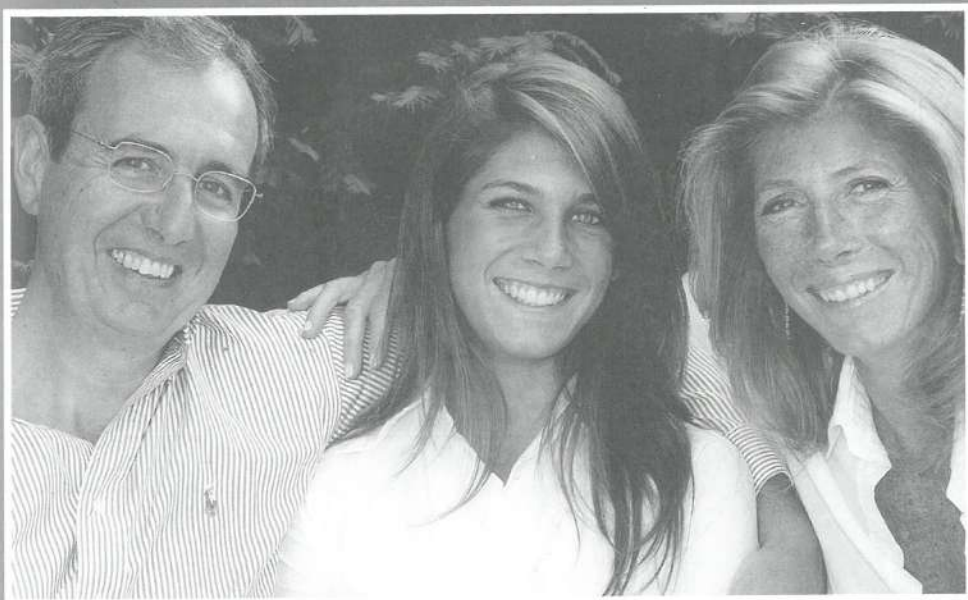

Carlotta Calcagni

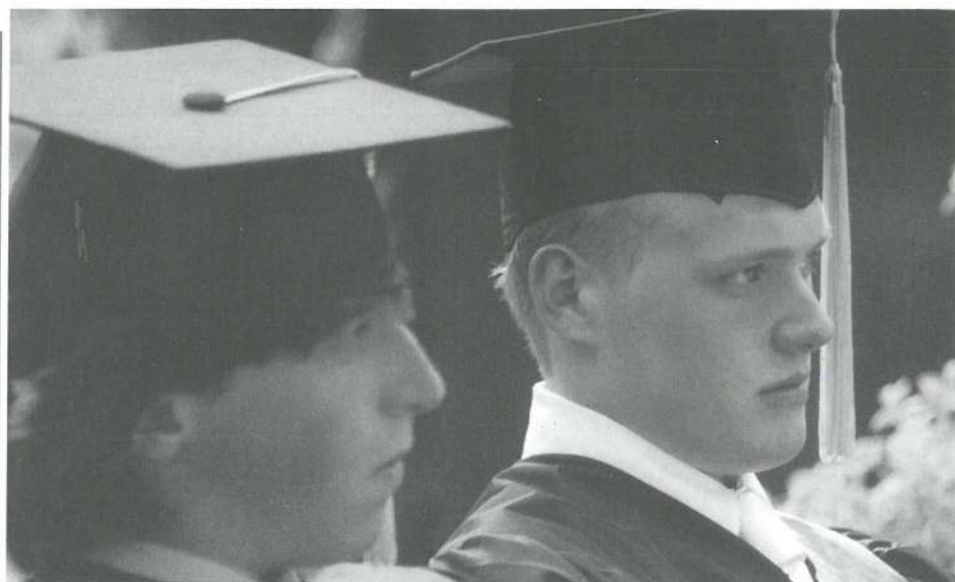

A reliable, light hearted and unique person, Carlotta is always there with advice and the latest gossip. Known to her close friends as Chanel, Carlotta is always fashionable. With future plans in law and social studies, she is leaving ACAT with memories of MUN, ESL and her surprise birthday party.

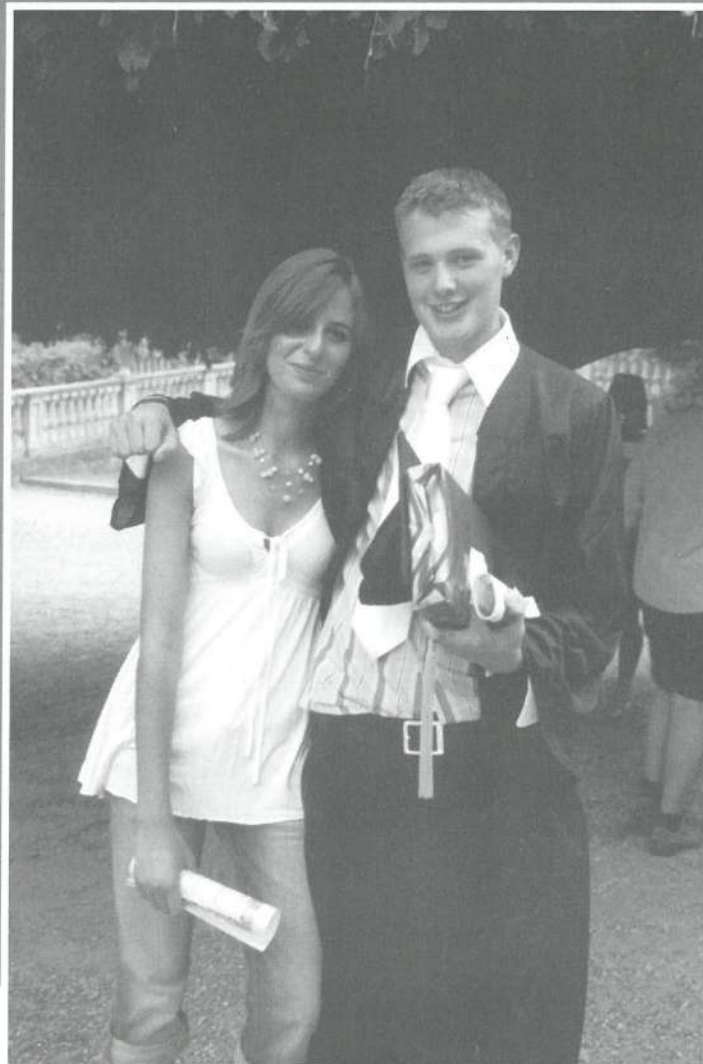

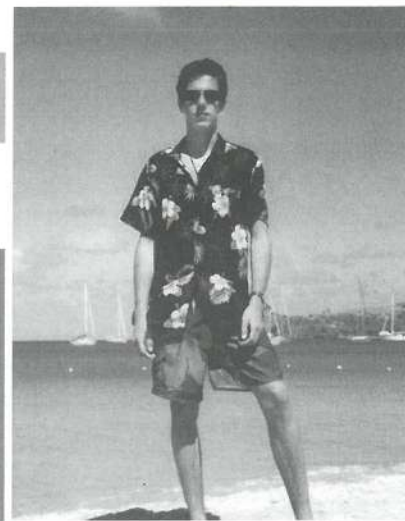

Alexander Cramb

Although he has been at ACAT for only two years, Alex has certainly left his mark at school. An effortlessly smart student, Alex is also known to be very funny and extremely entertaining. After graduating, he plans on furthering his studies in the UK where we can be sure he will bring his fun personality with him.

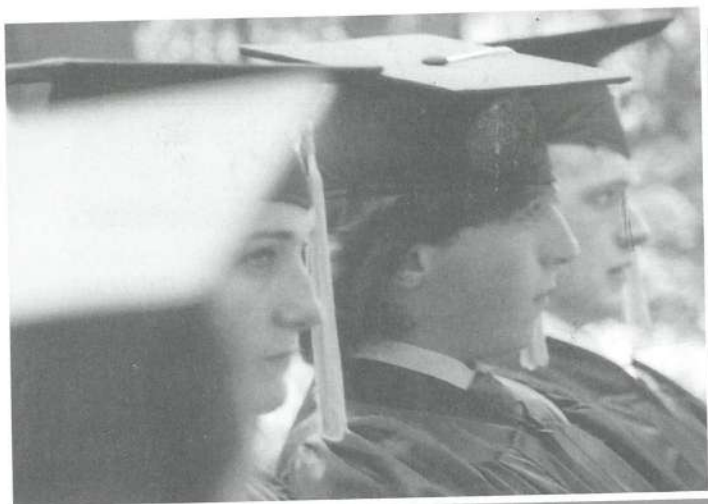

Gianluigi Donetto

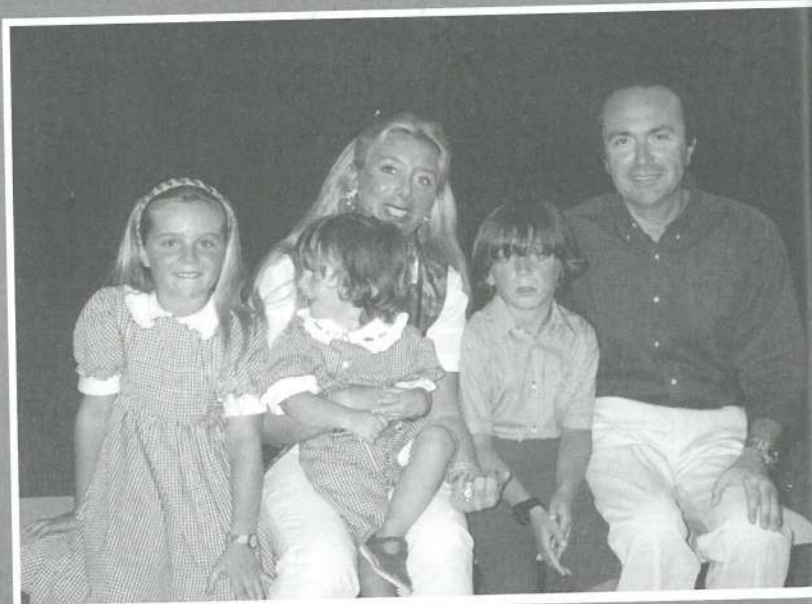

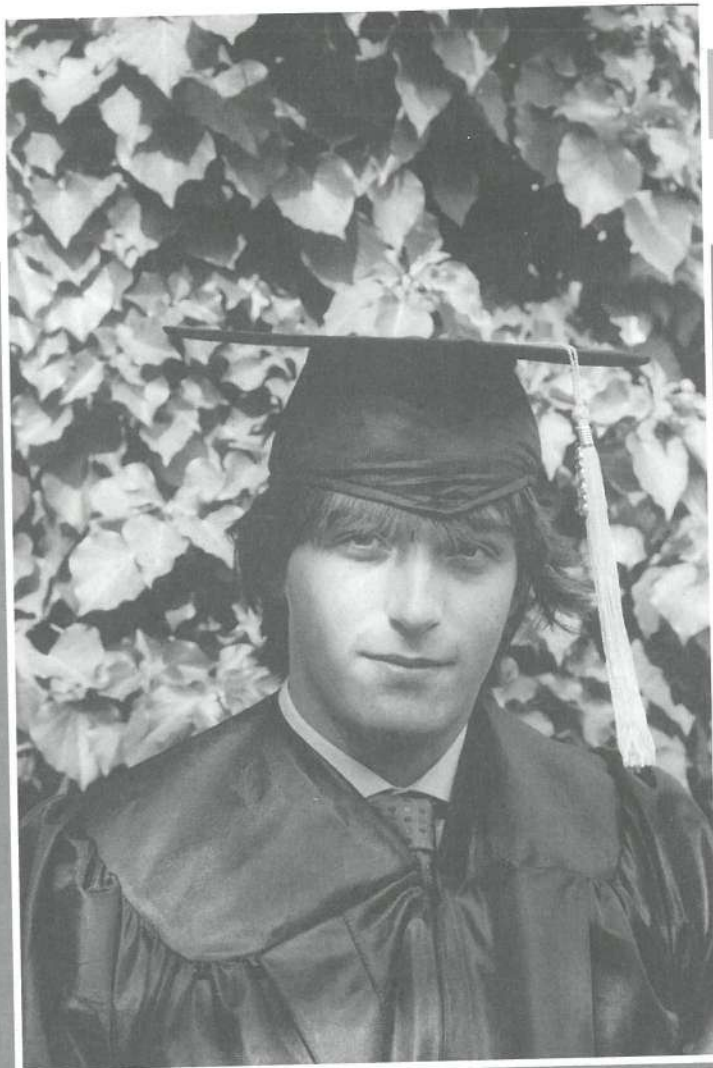

Always able to bring a smile to the twelfth graders, Gianluigi is friendly and somewhat unpredictable. Although a diligent student, he could often be seen having fun with his good friends. After ACAT, he intends to study law, but hopes to stay in touch with the many friends he has made here.

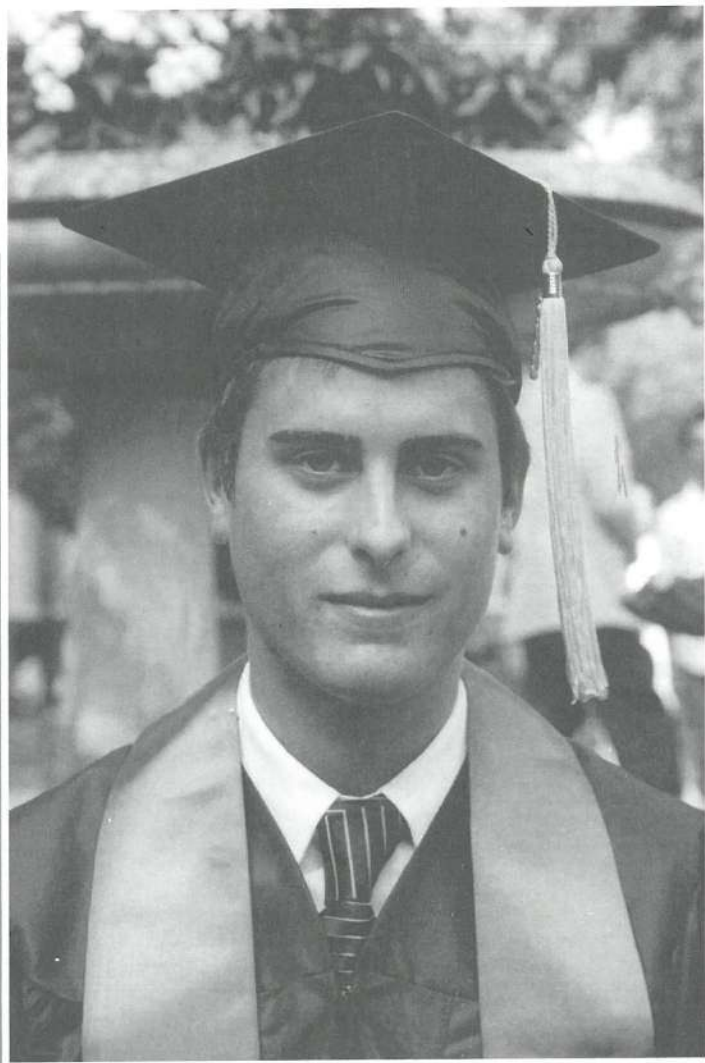

Edoardo Gilardino

Edoardo, one of the veterans of ACAT, between soccer and motocross kept his cool at all times. He was able to create good friendships always remaining himself.

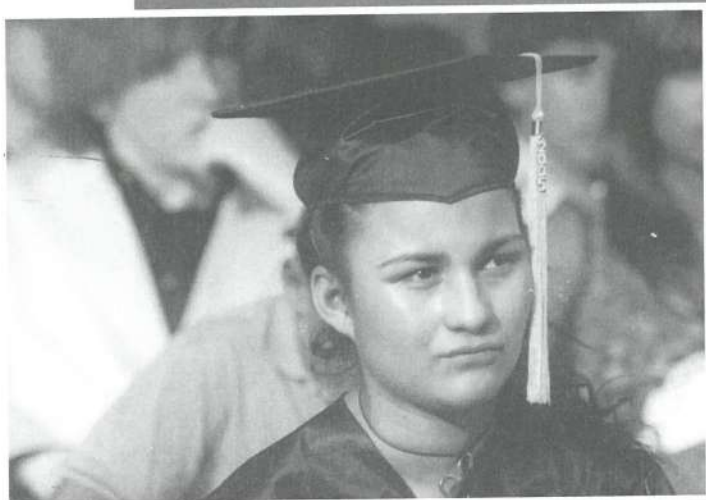

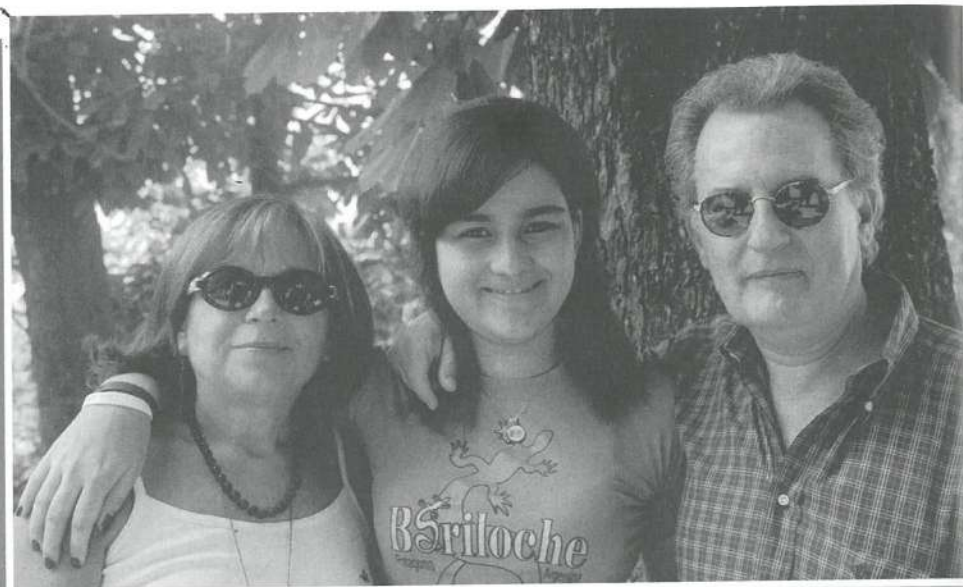

Luca Griotti

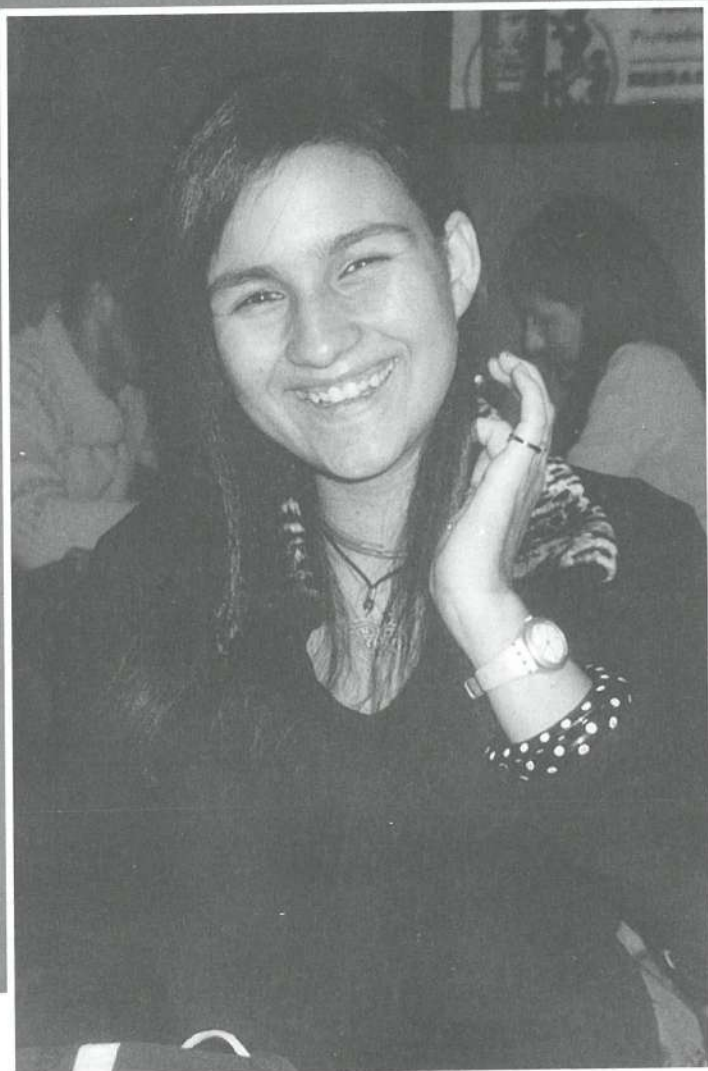

Luca will always be remembered at school as a smart, charismatic guy who enjoys cars, skiing and the many trips taken across the world during his nine years at ACAT. Although we all know he will work diligently at University, he hopes to fit in some car racing with his studying.

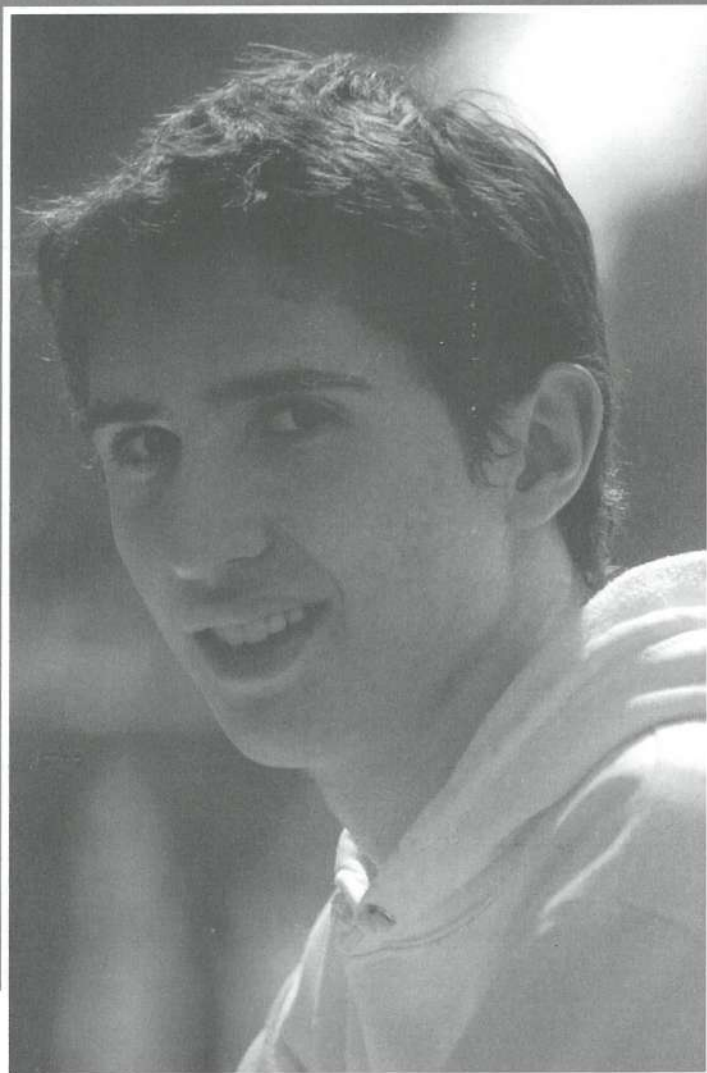

Eliana Horenstein

With dedication and cooperation, Eliana has worked her way through ACAT since sixth grade. Her classmates and the time they shared together will always be special to her. Although sometimes shy, Eliana expresses herself on the dance floor with her unique belly dancing skill, which she hopes to continue practicing. After she leaves ACAT, she wants to study communication.

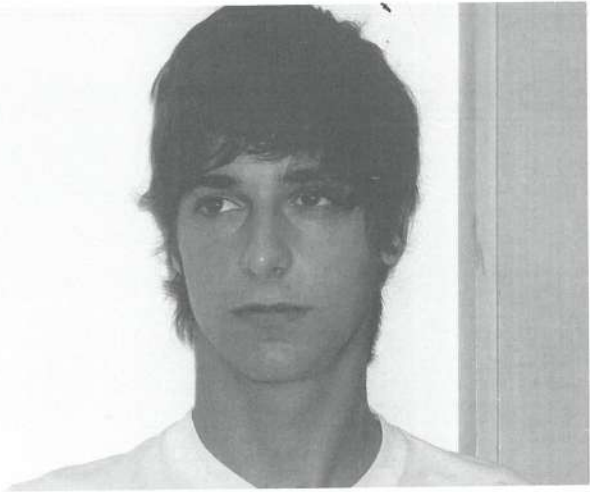

Sergio Mandrone

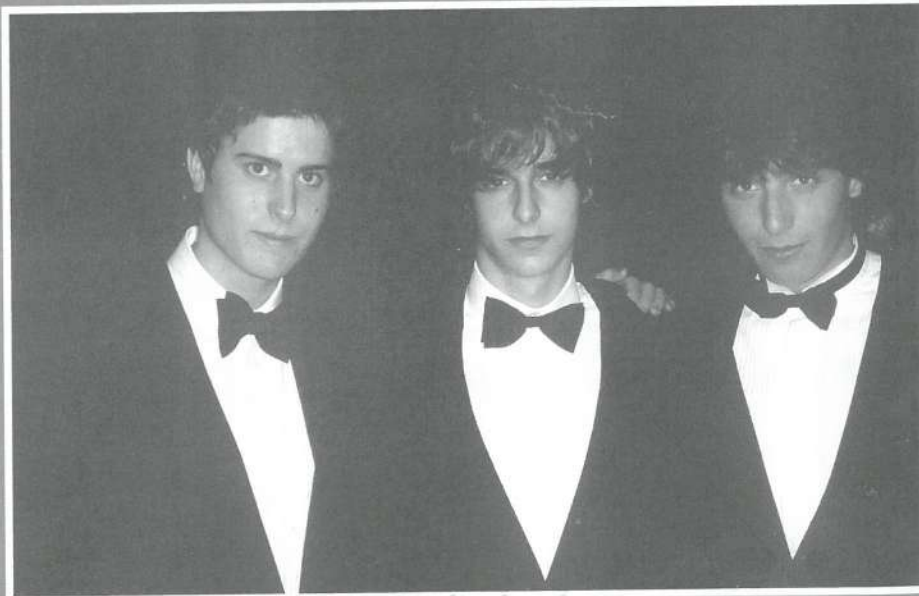

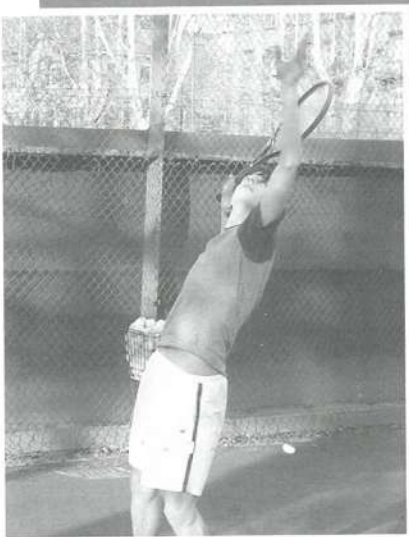

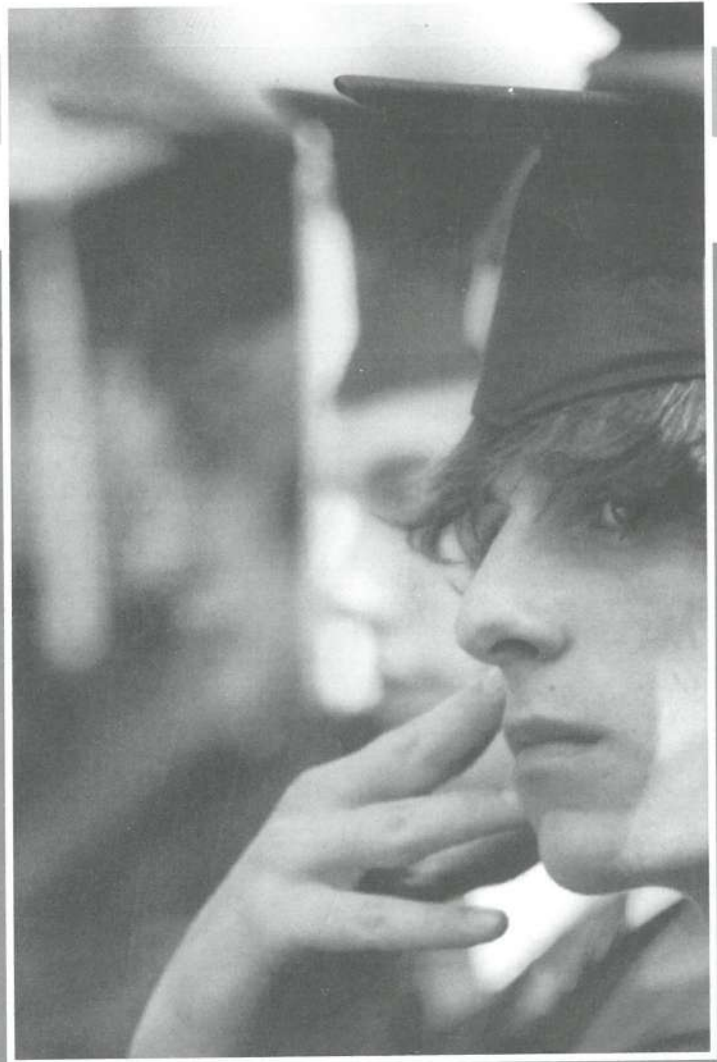

During his five years at ACAT, Sergio has learned that it is better to be a "big fish in a little pond". Always energetic and boisterous, he is an avid sports fan. When he's not on the slopes, he can be found cycling the hills of Pecetto. Memories of his friends and the trip to New York with Mr. Boyle will stay with him as he moves on to Canada to study engineering.

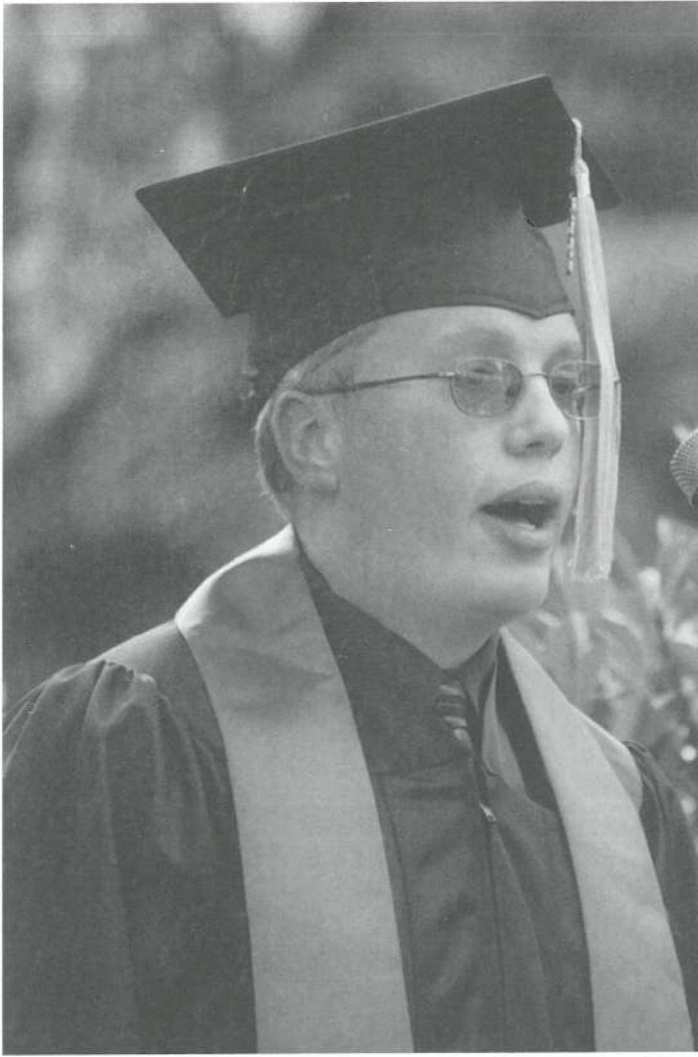

Edoardo Minoli

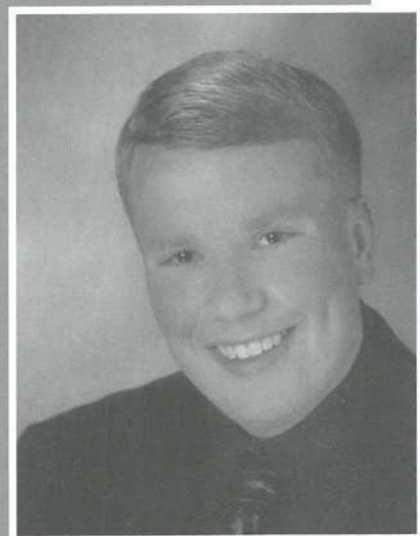

Optimistic and very energetic, Edoardo loves sports. Soccer, tennis, skiing and snowboarding, he does it all. His six years at ACAT are full of memorable experiences and great friends. He now plans to move on to the study of law.

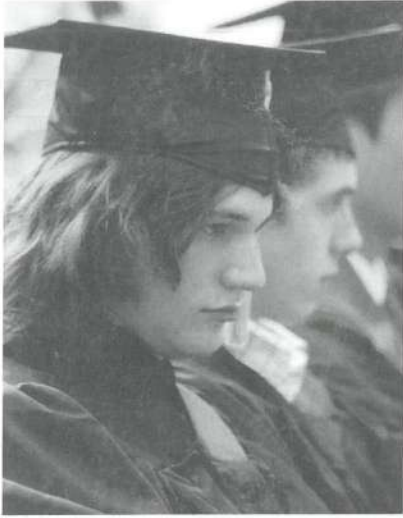

Alex Nutting

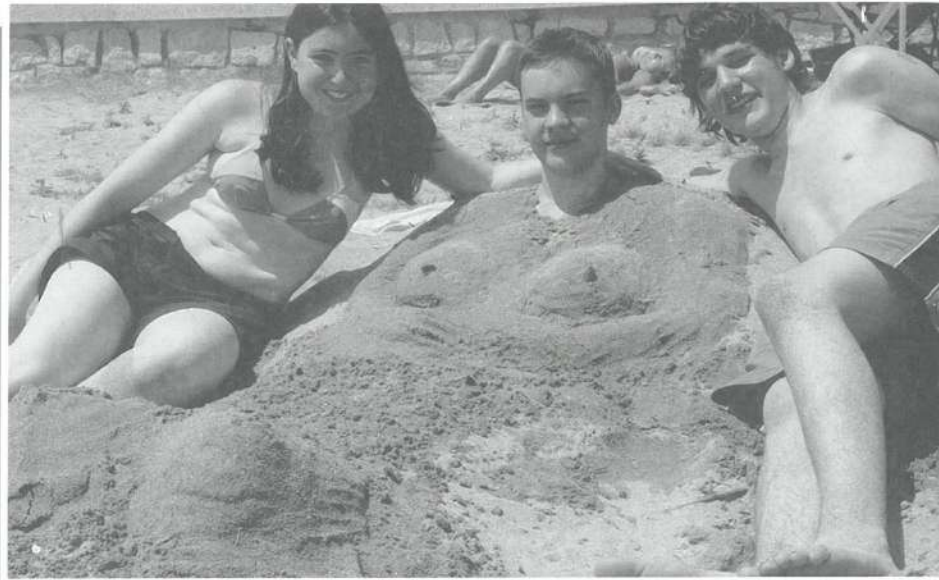

Alex is a mature, idealistic and determined individual. His hard work and responsible attitude have earned him the position of Student Council President. This sense of purpose will certainly help him achieve his goals as an officer in the U.S. Air Force.

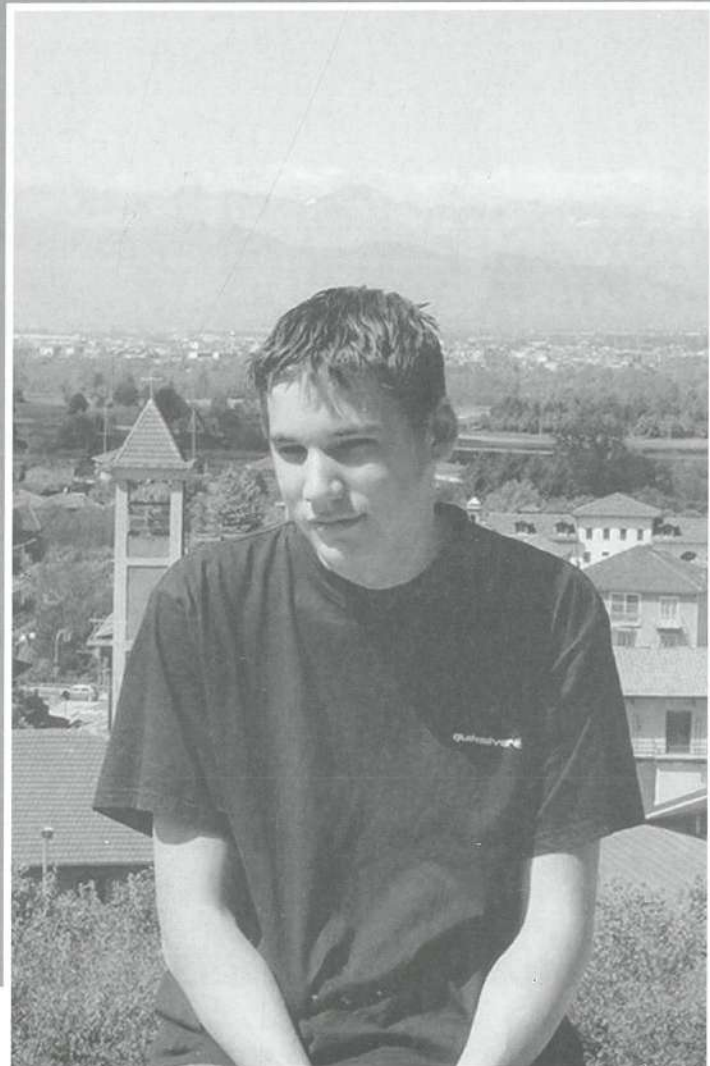

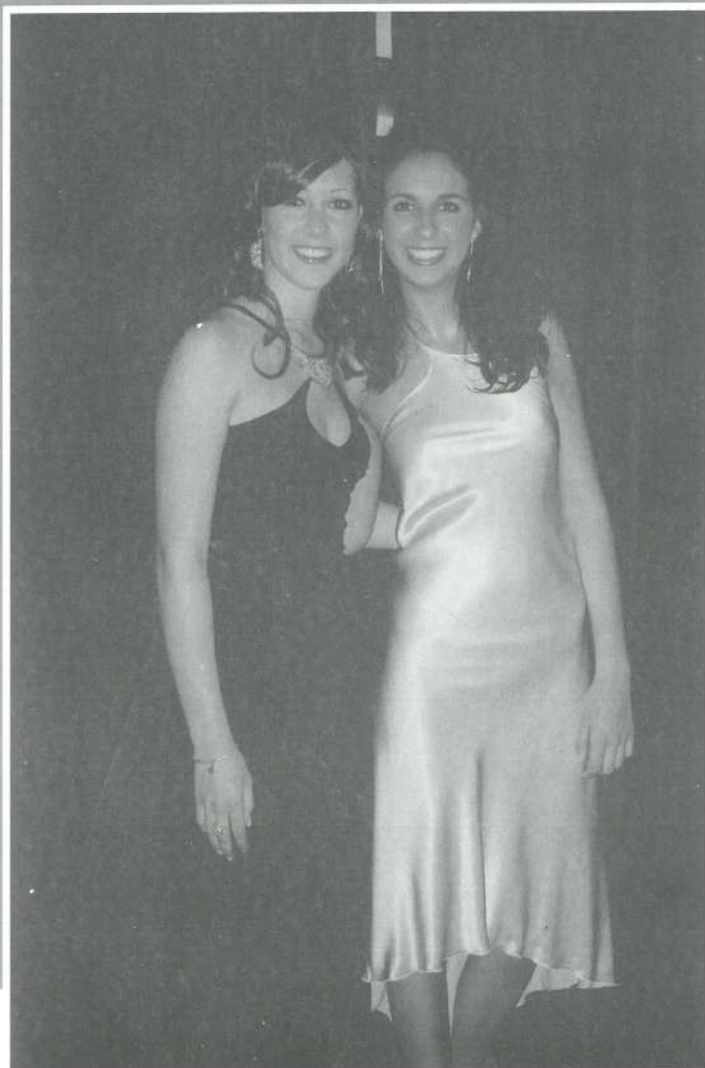

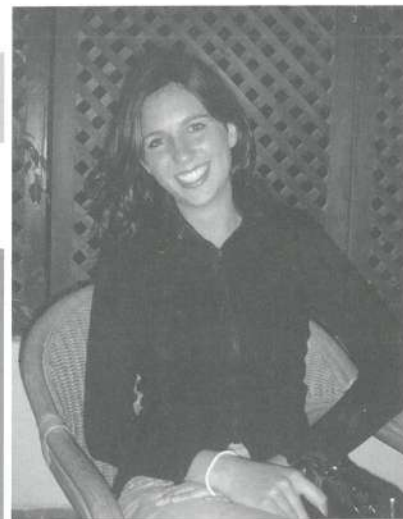

James Prankard

James is a fun and entertaining person to be around. He has proven himself at ACAT by showing his talents in acting, music and movie making. The strong relationships he has built while at ACAT will certainly follow him as he continues his studies after graduating.

Alessandra Scarampi

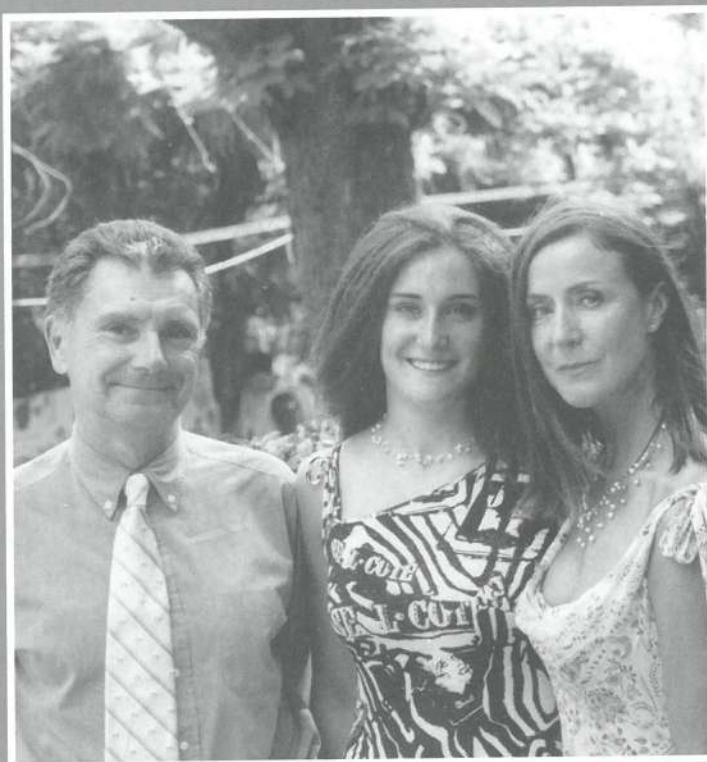

Alessandra is known as a calm, funny and reliable friend. Her years at ACAT have included many fun and crazy moments as well as the important lessons of community, leadership and internationalism. Ale's good nature will definitely help her with her study of psychology in England and in living life to the fullest.

Giulia Sericano

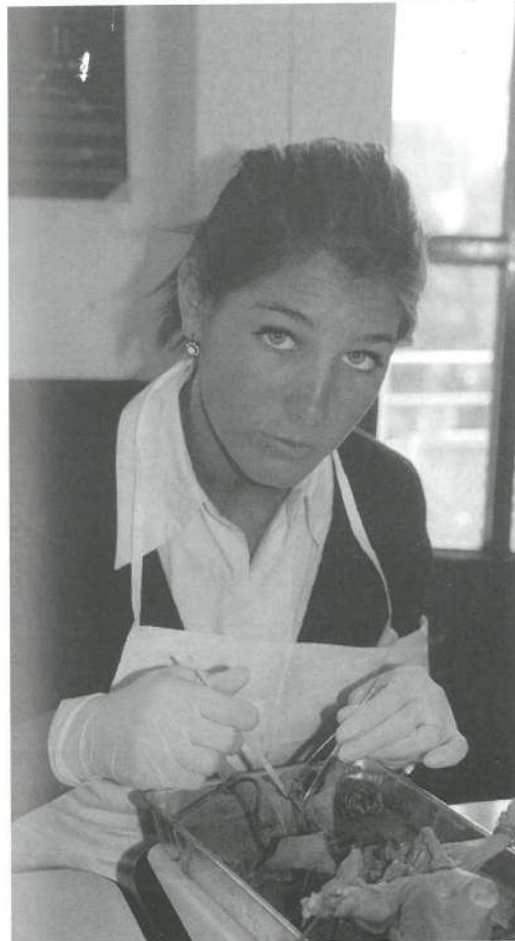

Wild spirited, Giulia loves surfing, snowboarding and motorcycles. She will always remember science classes, Latin in the early hours of the morning and her trip to MUN. With inspiration and the many lessons she has learned during her fifteen years at ACAT, she plans to study medicine after she graduates.

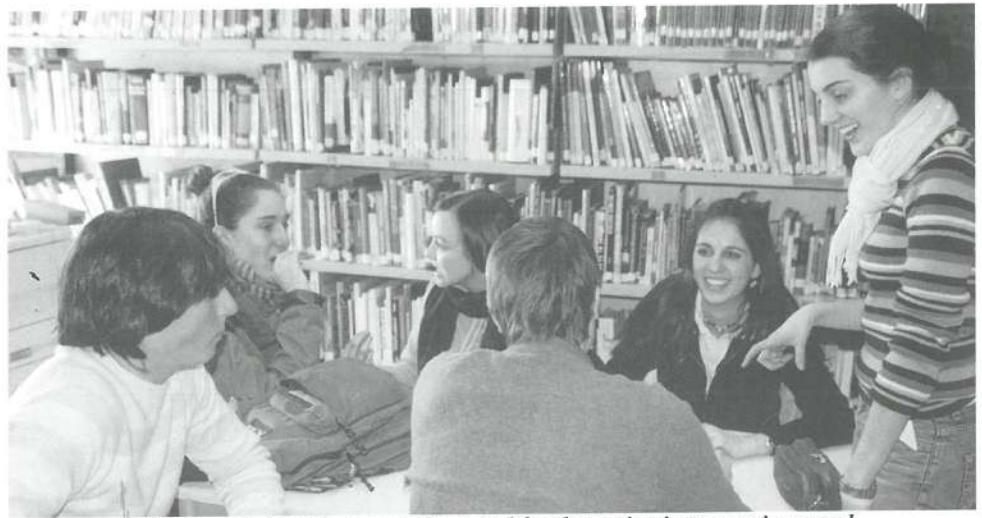

Senior Reflections

Pensive Larissa finalizes her extended essay.

One of the nicer aspects of studying biology is the free snacks.

A light-hearted exchange sets the mood for the seniors' more serious work.

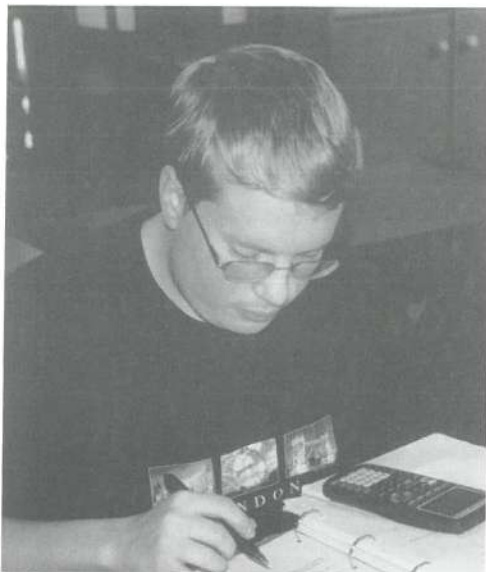

All-wrapped up and ready, diligent Giulia is a student for all seasons.

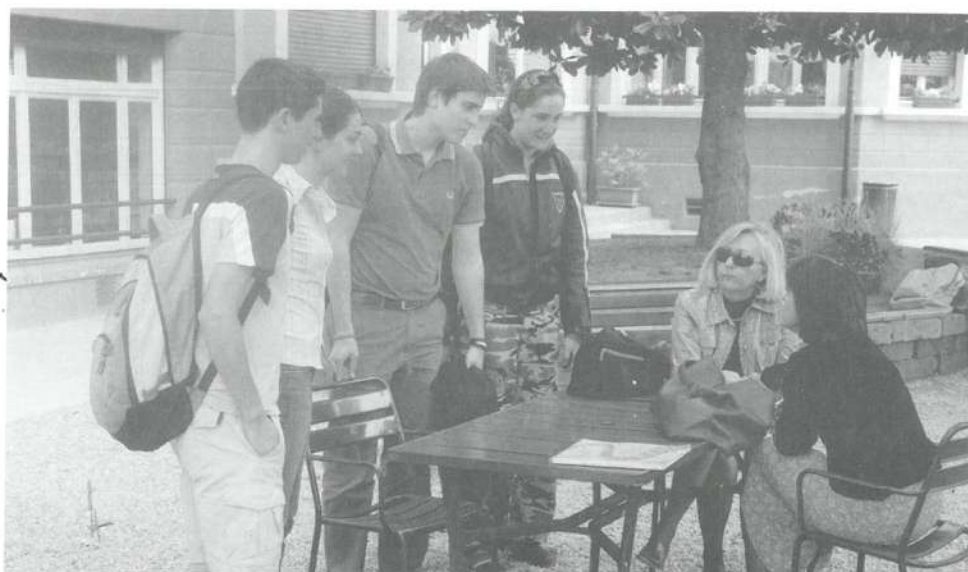

Two "Scarlett O'Hara"s line up for the literary heroine's award.

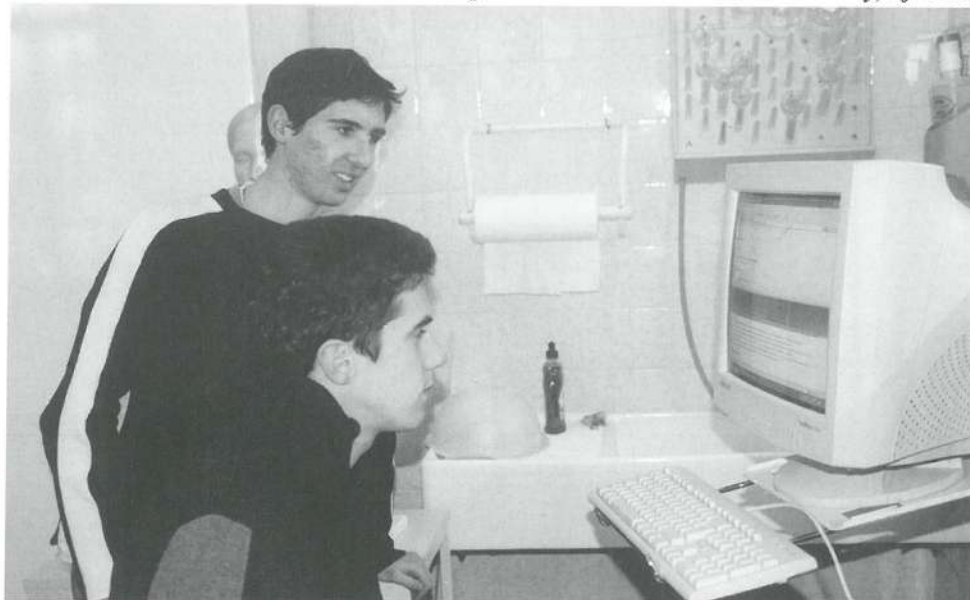

Instructor Mr. Abbott lays out a study plan for his Physics Club.

Alex concentrates on some serious calculating.

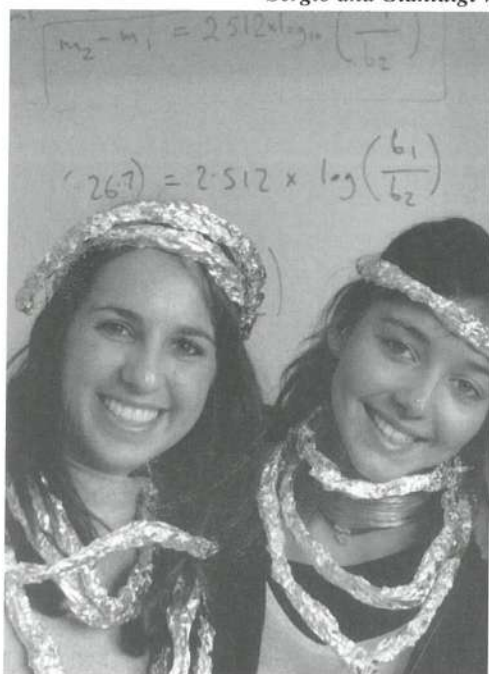

As I.B. exams become a reality, a friendly update with the Italian Department is reassuring.

Sergio and Gianluigi verify their project data.

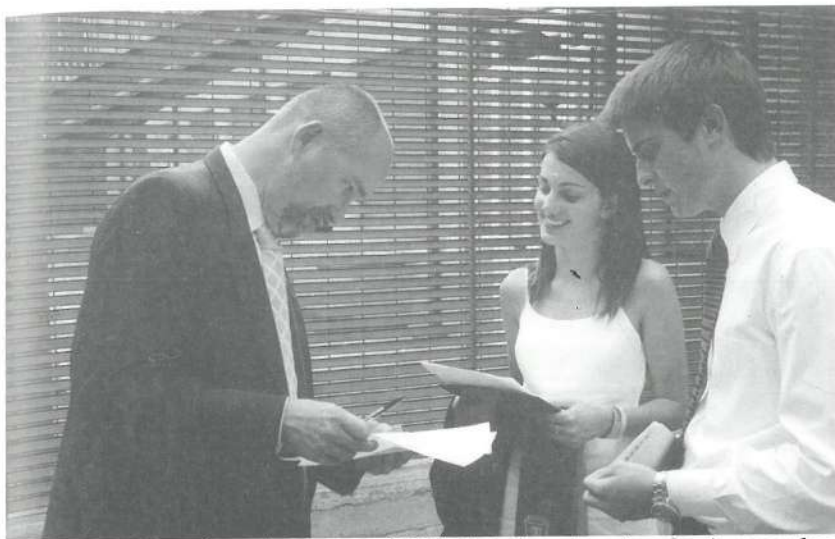

Creative James prepares a decoupage for his Art Portfolio.

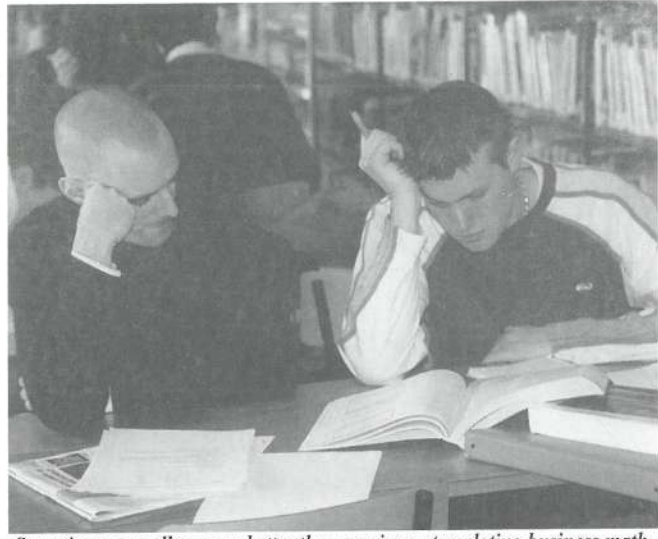

Some friendships last longer if they're wrapped in aluminium.

Heavy metal has nothing on the A.C.A.T. "tin-men".

Last minute instructions alert Luca and Michela to the order of graduation speeches.

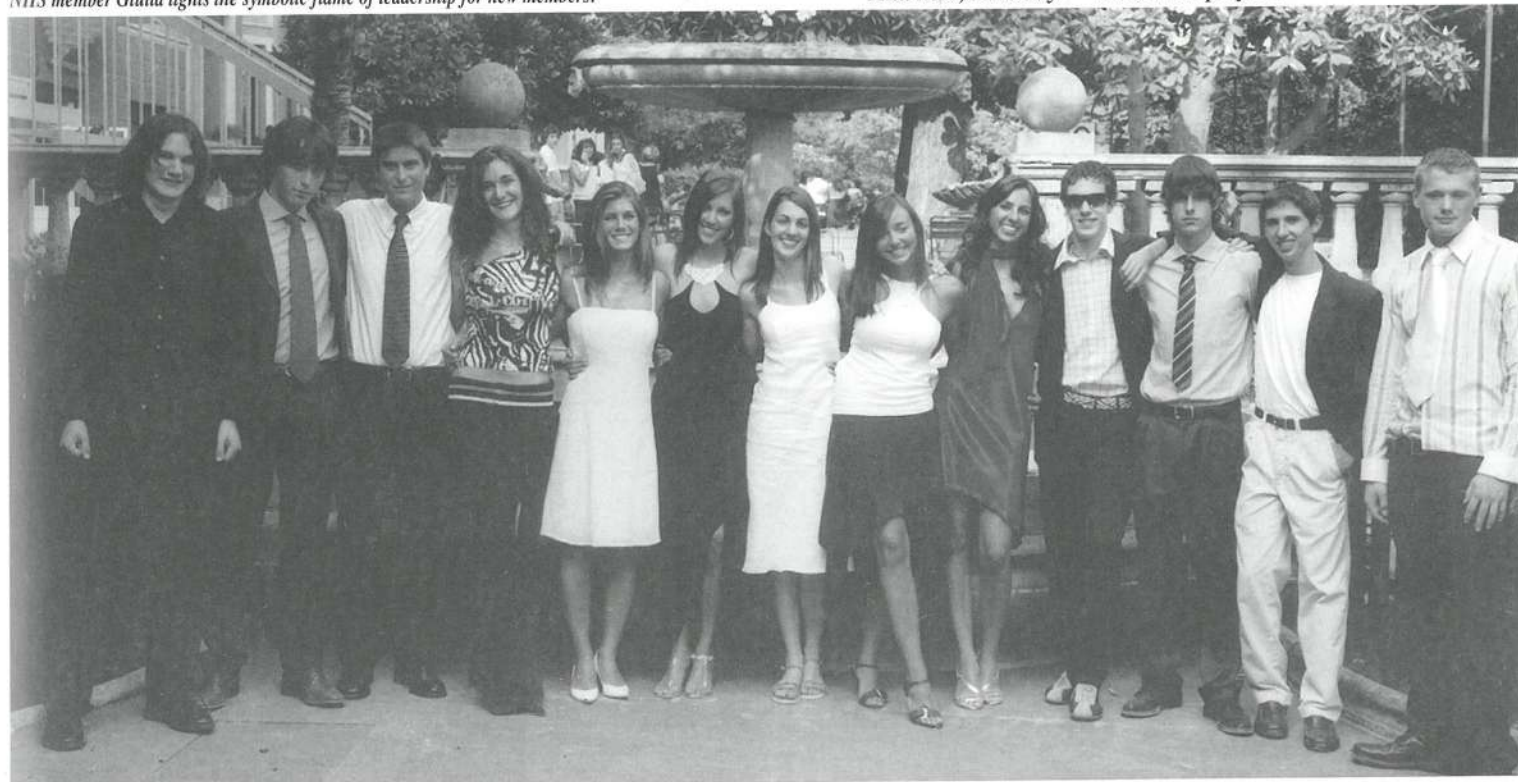

Sometimes, two elbows are better than one in contemplating business math.

NHS member Giulia lights the symbolic flame of leadership for new members.

And now, seriously – “vamos a la playa”.

Outreach — the Neighborly thing to do

A gray and bone-chilling Autumn day finds the 8th graders bringing the sunshine of their smiles to our elderly neighbors at Roddolo.

Under Gaia's nasty direction a hesitant player takes careful aim at a bewitched (but not bothered or bewildered) Will.

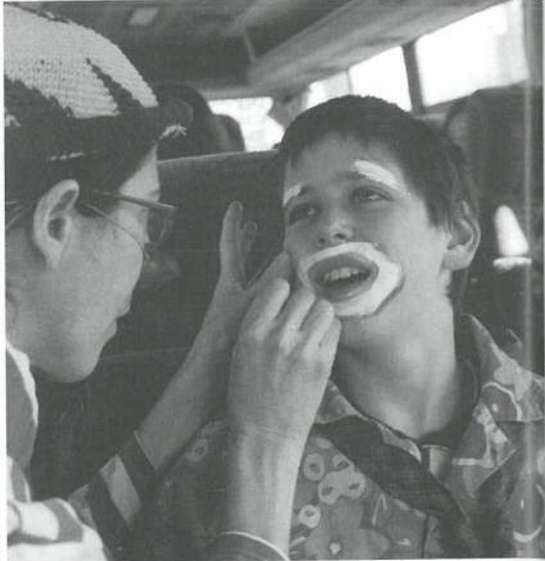

A medley of Christmas favorites warms up an appreciative audience.

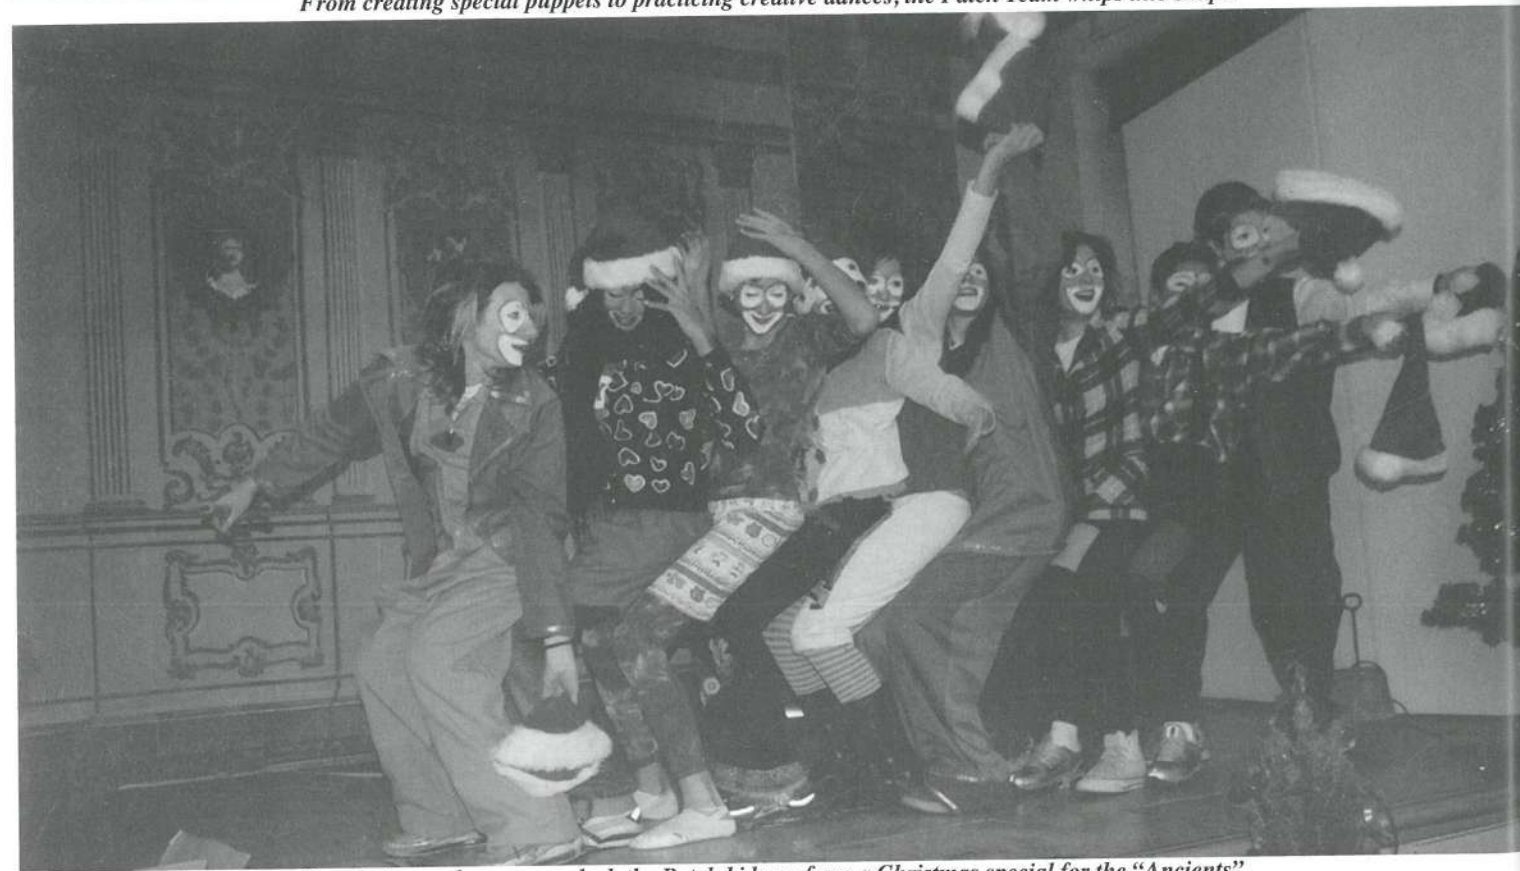

Christmas cheer comes easily when wrapped in a gentle hug.

Patch Adams – Red-nosed Ambassadors to the disadvantaged

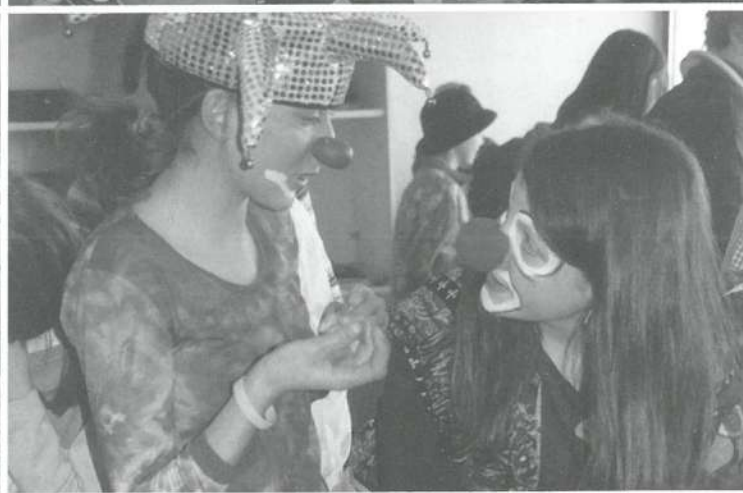

From creating special puppets to practicing creative dances, the Patch Team whips into shape.

Fun-loving and energy-packed, the Patch kids perform a Christmas special for the "Ancients".

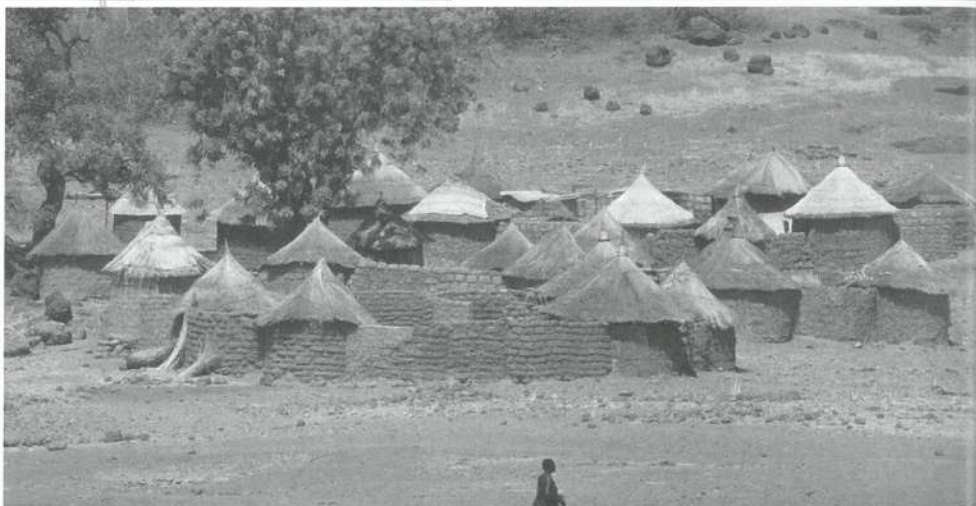

A warm reception greets the Patch kids at the Vivere institute.

The Arrobbio Rest Home, the Puzzle, and the Vivere institutes were some of the highlights of the "Patch-Tour" to bring humor to convalescents.

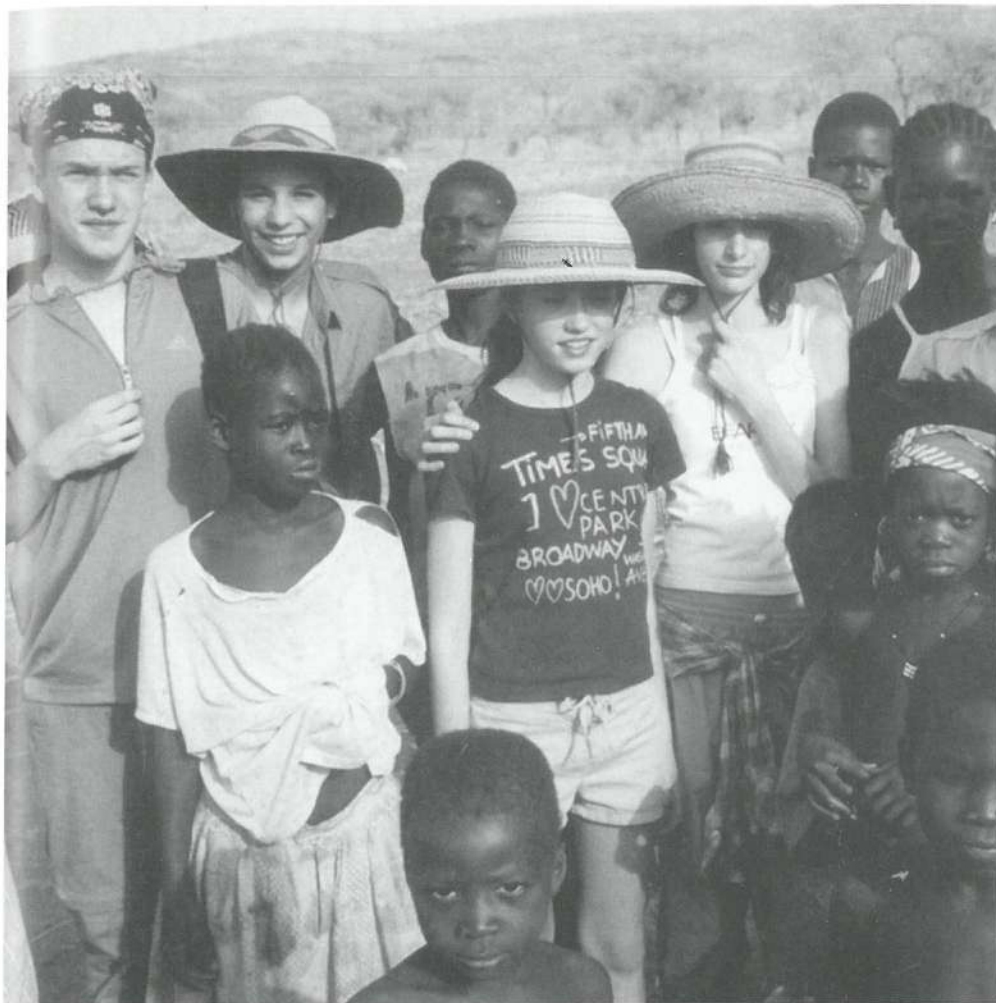

Burkina Faso Project: water to the thirsty with a little help from our friends

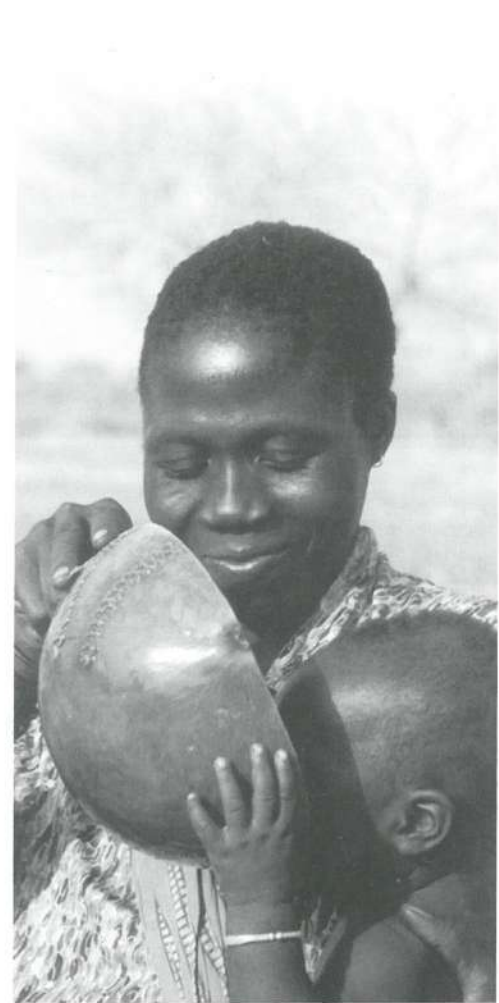

A special project to bring water to a remote section of Nanoro was completed at Easter with the spontaneous support of the PTA and many contributors of all ages. Thanks again, ACA.

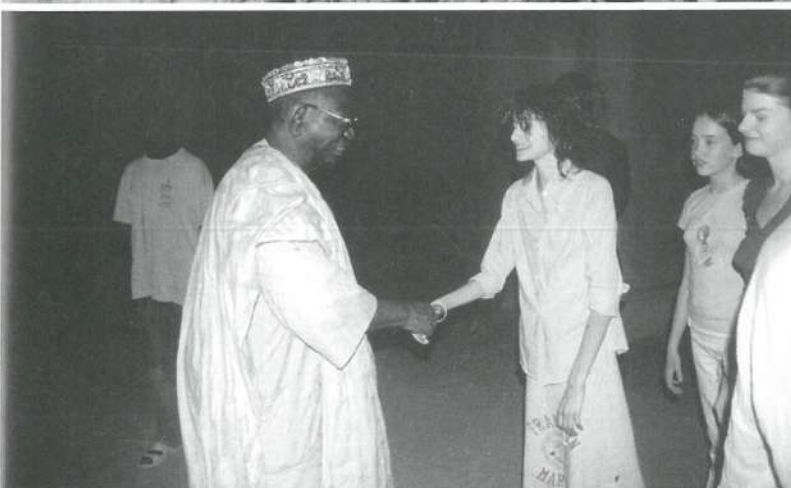

Greeted by an appreciative applause, the Acateers inaugurated the recently completed ACAT well during their Easter vacation visit.

Disconcerted by the gathering crowd, the Acateers broke the language barrier with shy smiles.

With fresh water 5 kilometers closer to home, a mother quenches her child's thirst more quickly.

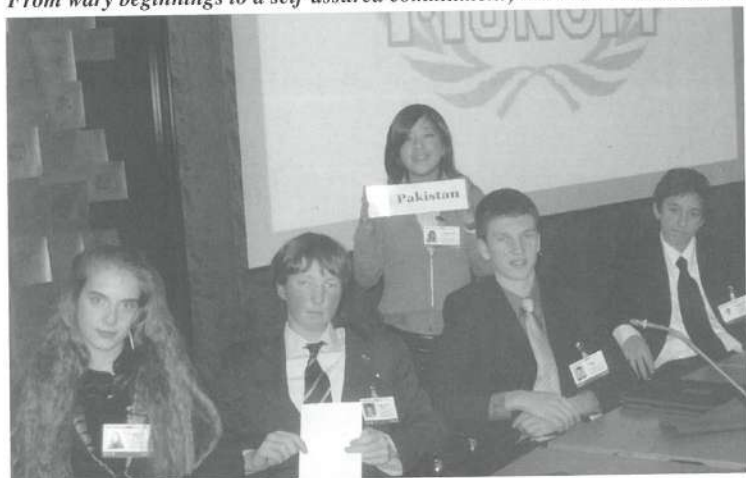

Visits to the desertified regions of Burkina, a heated soccer match, and a special reception by the village chief brought an emotion-filled week to a quick end.

M.U.N – A junior taste of the real world

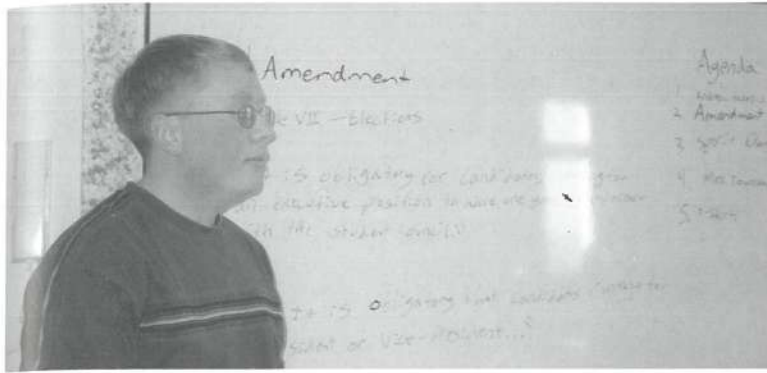

From wary beginnings to a self-assured commitment, Acateers entered into a unique and challenging exchange of proposals and opinions at this year's M.U.N.

The overall M.U.N. experience with social exchanges and cultural awareness enhanced our outlook on the world beyond ACAT.

The Student Council – the folks behind the spirit

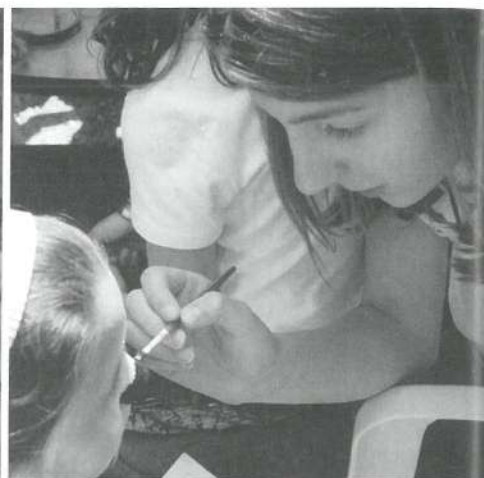

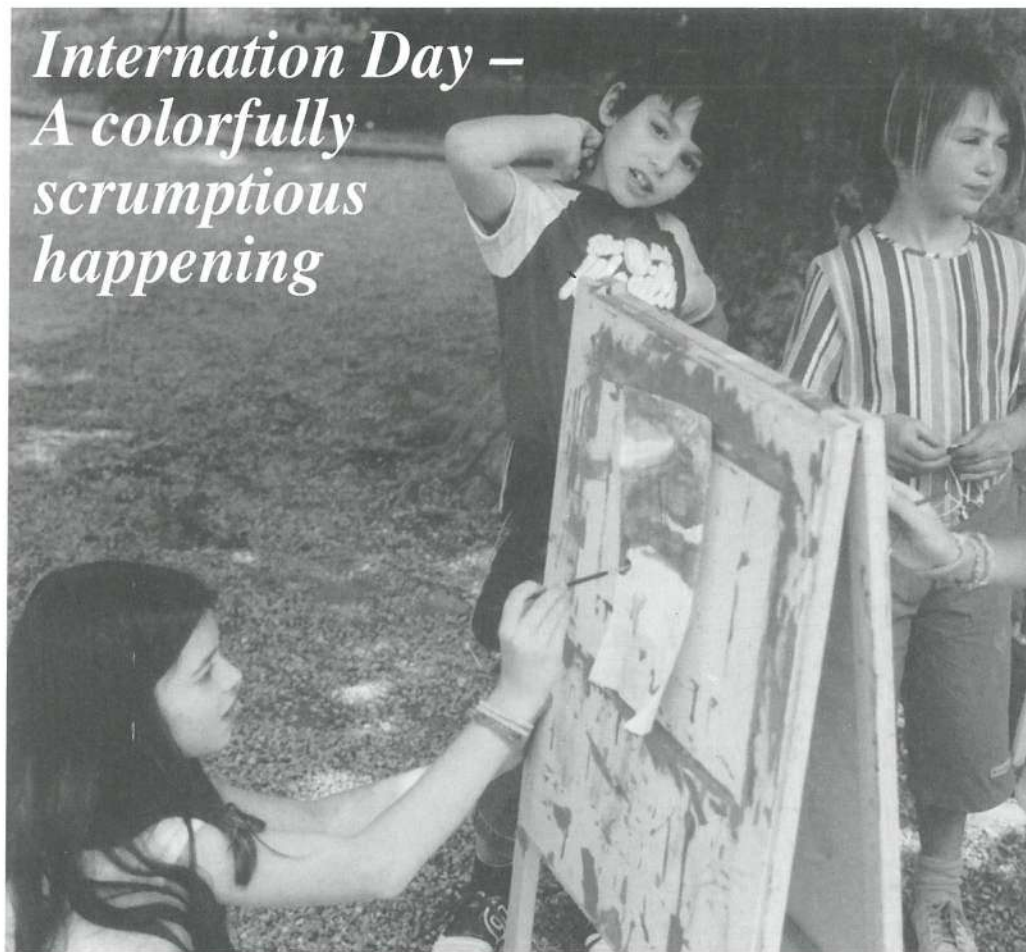

Well attended school dances and a thriving student store show that the Student Council is busier than ever.

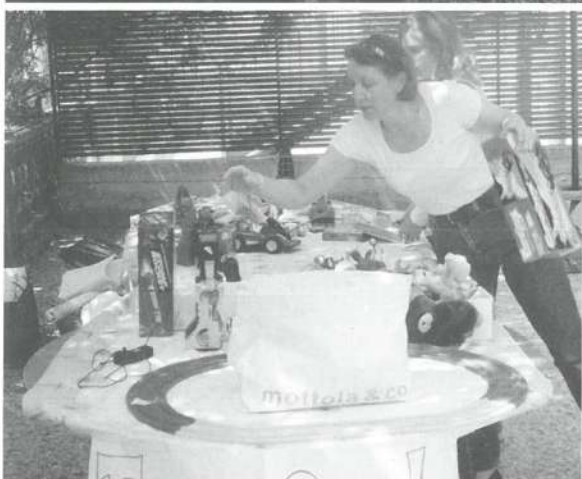

Loud colors shout louder on Spirit Days.

Internation Day – A colorfully scrumptious happening

For the little'uns, a challenging array of activities and games balanced the day's program.

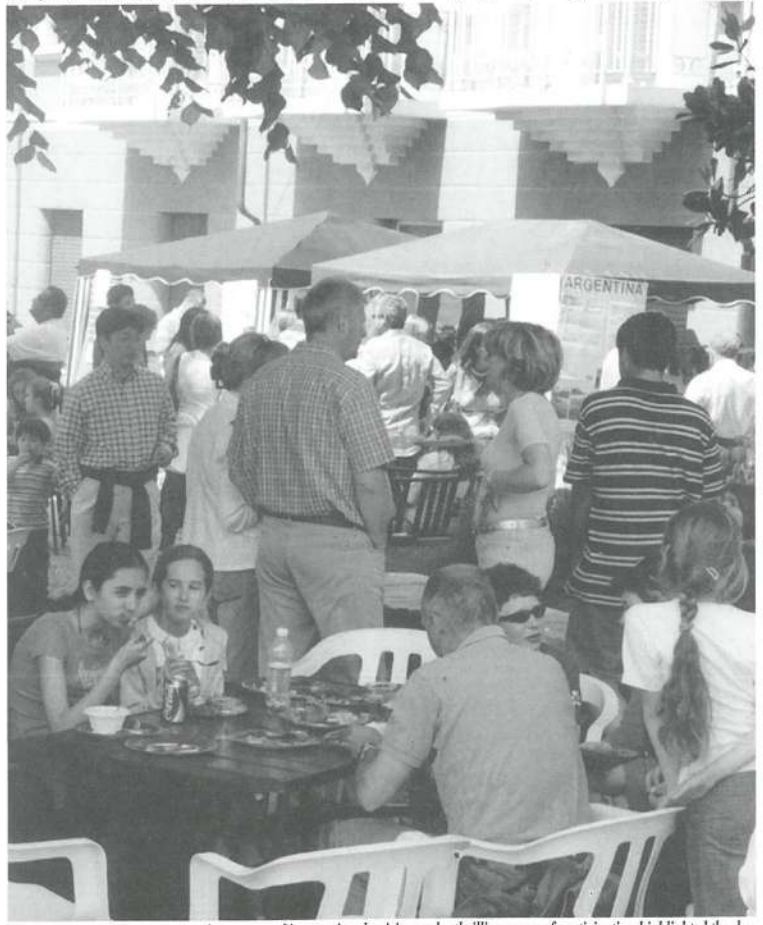

A meaningful sign of the community's internationalism extended beyond ACAT's walls to bring relief to the survivors of this year's devastating Tsunami in South-East Asia.

It took a mind-boggling effort of collaboration but it was worth it to enjoy another successful International Day.

In bright-colored native costumes, Miho from Japan, Samiksha from India and Tiffany from Myanmar grace the atmosphere of the day.

Pleasant conversation, a scrumptious menu of international cuisine and a thrilling sense of participation highlighted the day.

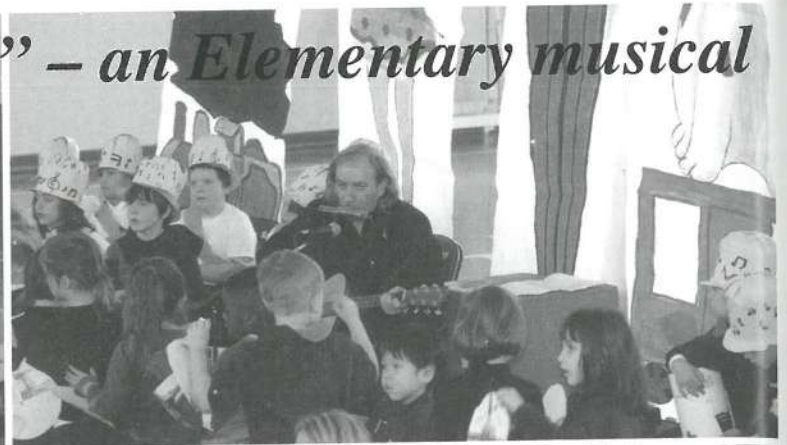

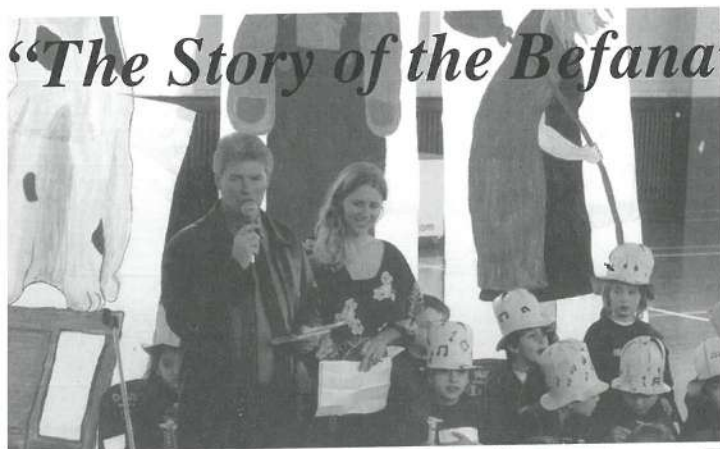

An able conductor, Mr. Firman brings out the best from both performers and audience.

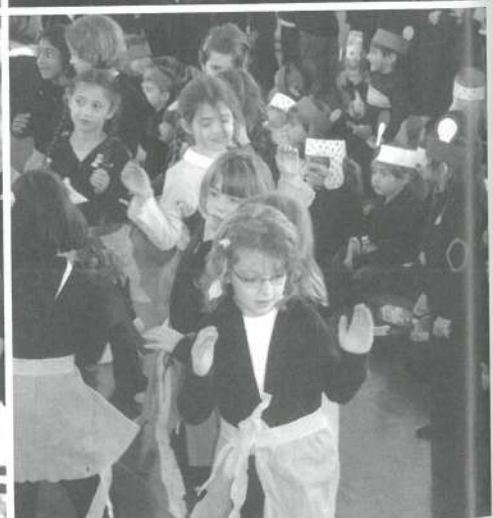

"Good witch" Fio prepares to educate a coven of half-witches in her magic spook house.

"The Story of the Befana" – an Elementary musical

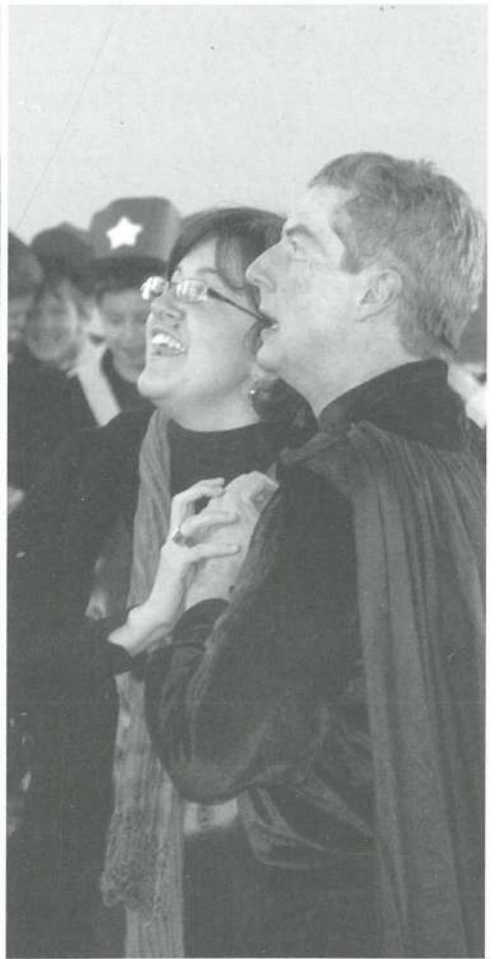

After an intensive workshop, the little'uns finally present their delightful version of "The Befana", with many thanks to Giacomo, the music man, who led them through their 8 weeks of preparation.

Home made instruments, singing toy soldiers, dancing teddy bears, and dolls that sing and sway, all come together for a stunning musical performance.

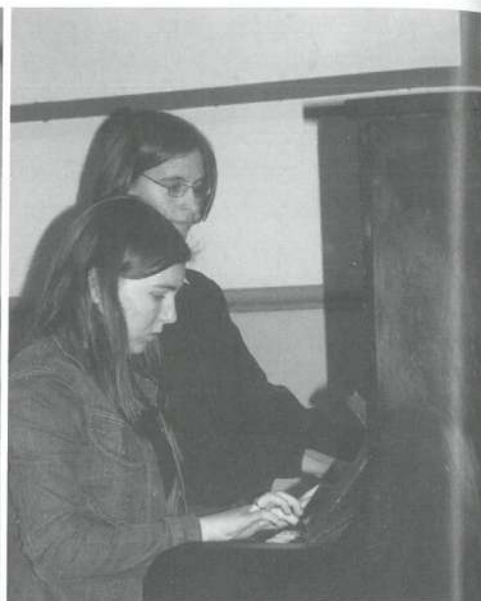

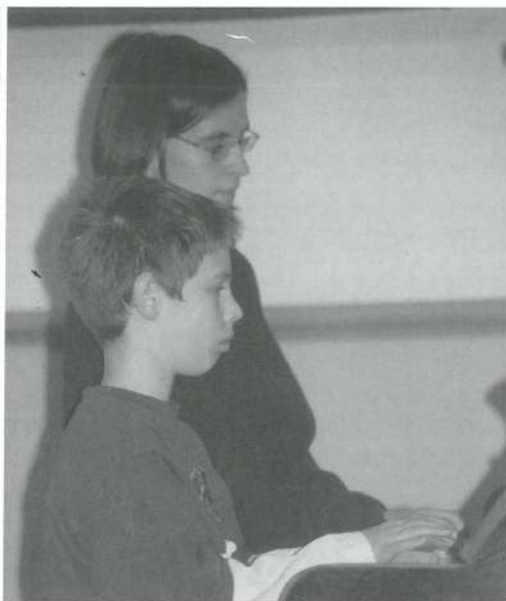

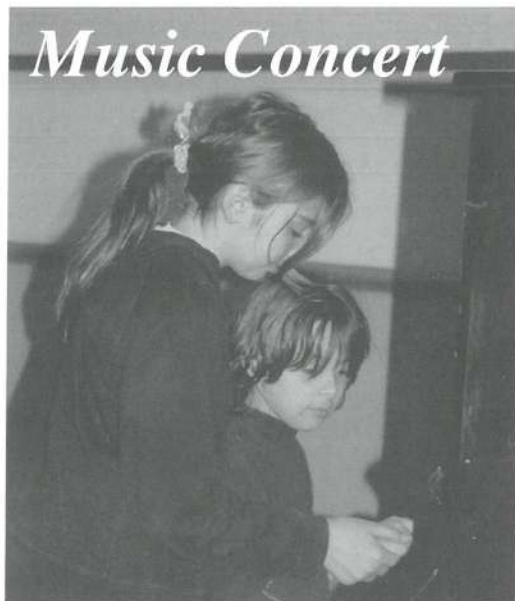

To the delight of the toy soldiers, the orchestra kept a steady beat on their homemade drums.

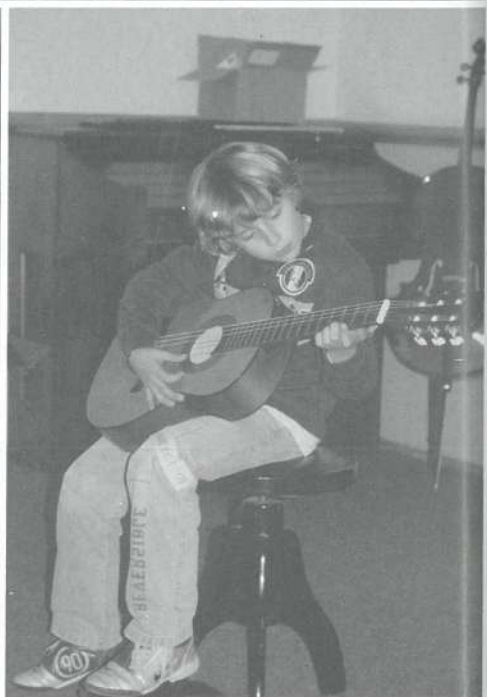

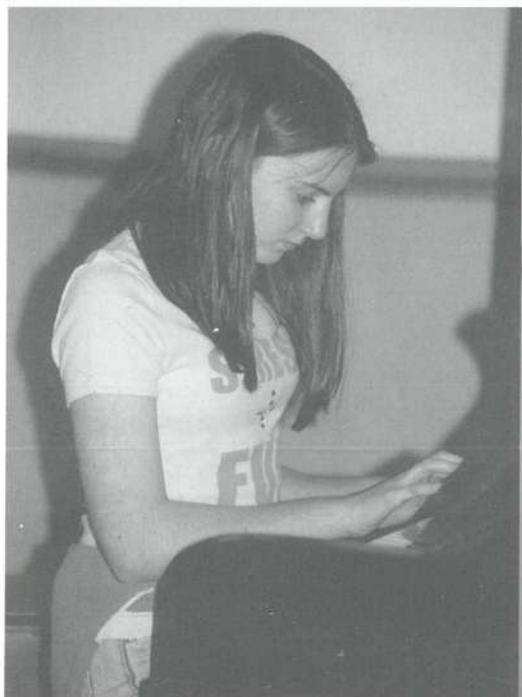

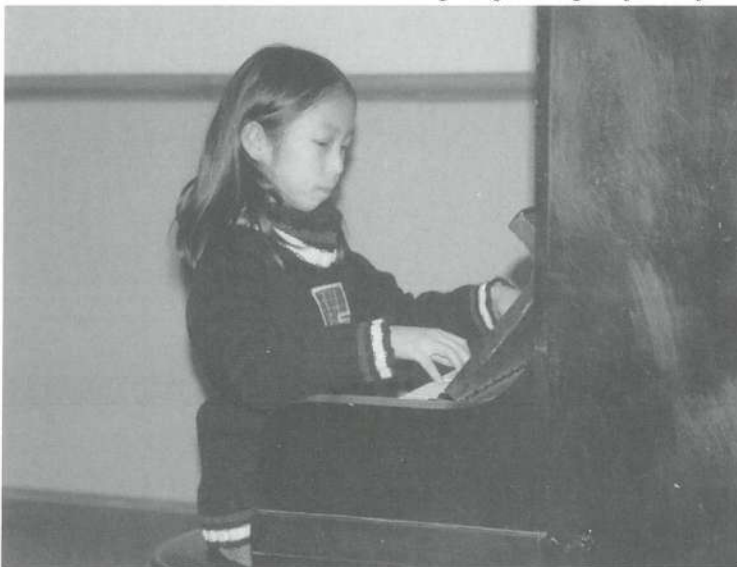

In top form for the event, everybody's favorite Befana (Jon Firman) brought the story to life.

Music Concert

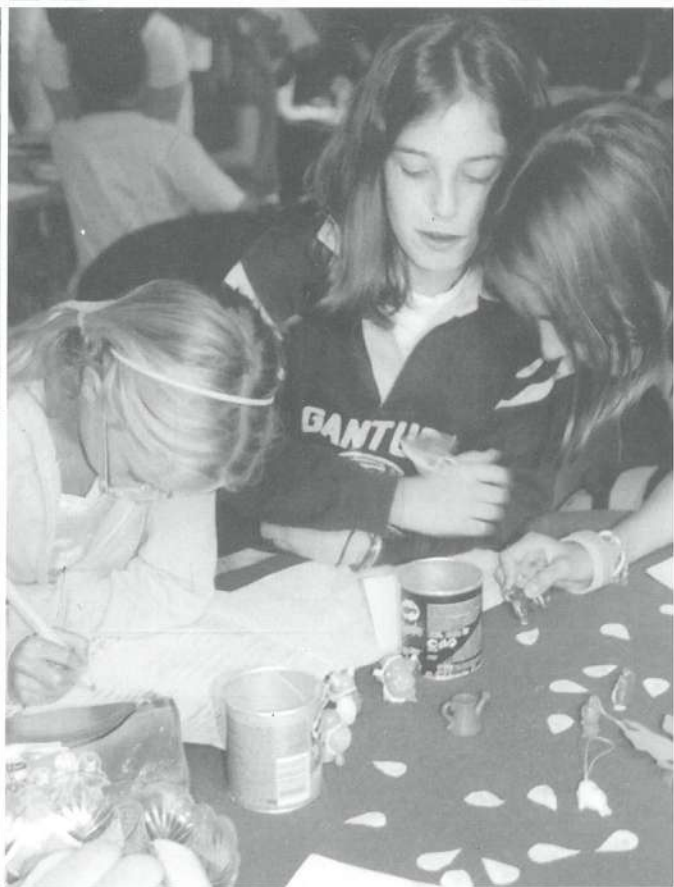

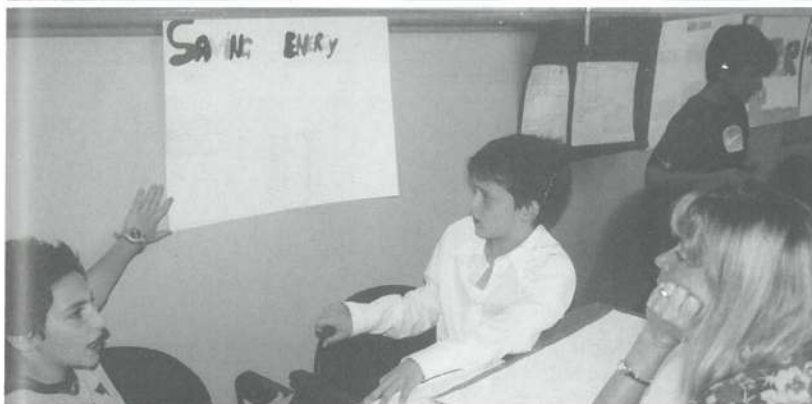

Talented protégés bring the fruits of labor to the spring concert at Roddolo theater.

What a thrilling event to hear so many talented musicians from our school!

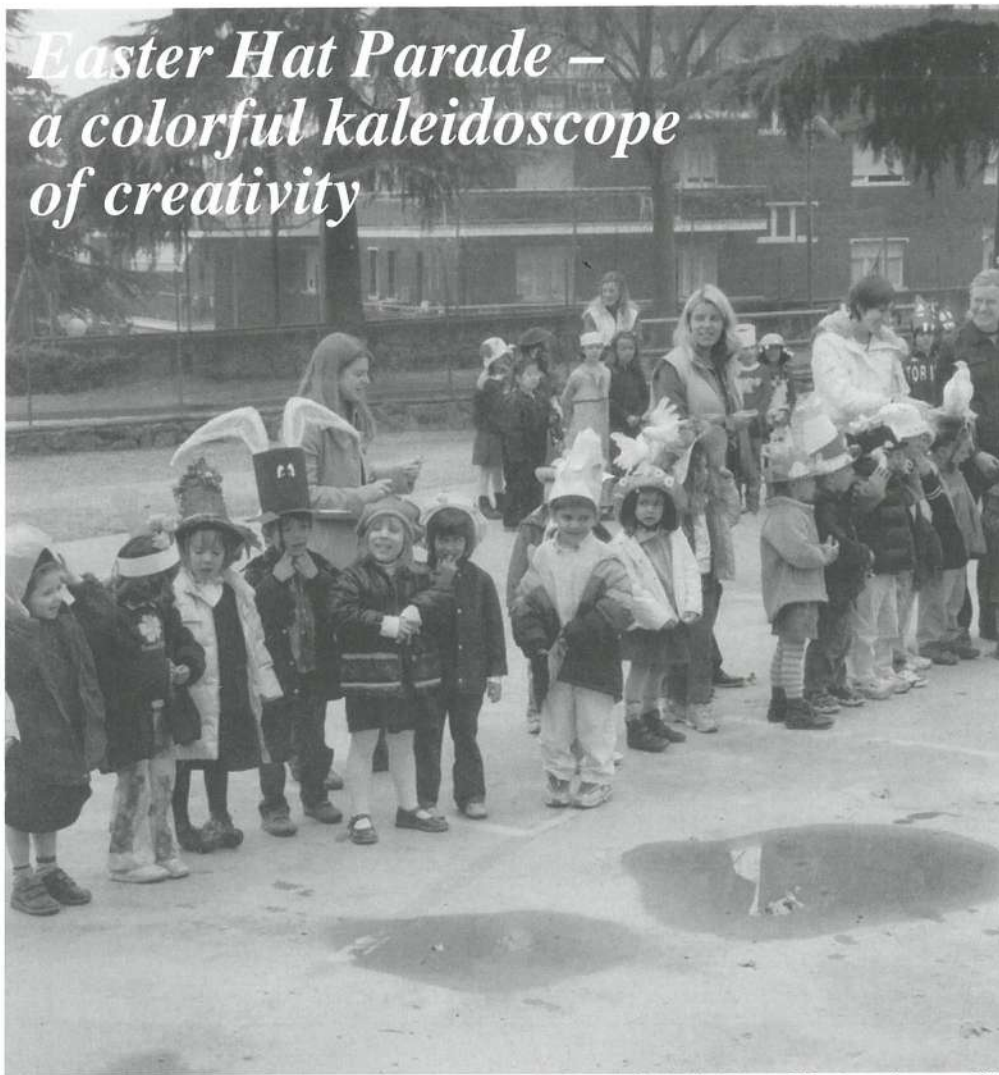

Fifth Grade Energy Exhibit a P.Y.P. special presentation

A natural venue – the Roddolo theatre became both show place and performing center for the Fifth Graders' presentation of their energy project.

Well-informed Fifth Graders became expert instructors on Energy.

Easter Hat Parade – a colorful kaleidoscope of creativity

A long-time tradition at ACAT, the Easter Hat Parade never fails to impress....

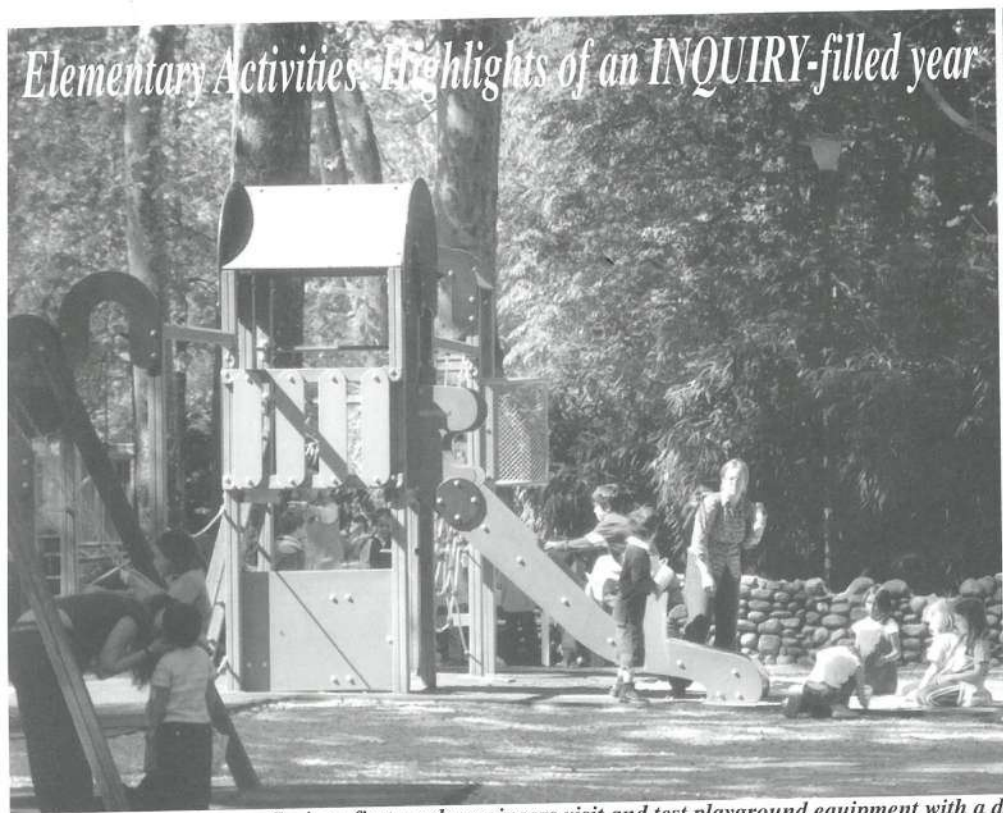

Hatters of all sizes proudly don their colorful creations.

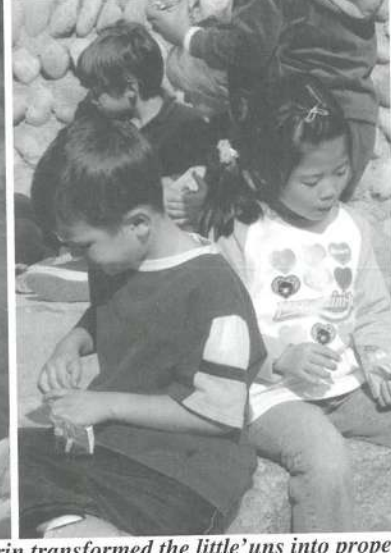

...while parents beam with delight at the delicate fruits of a long night's effort.

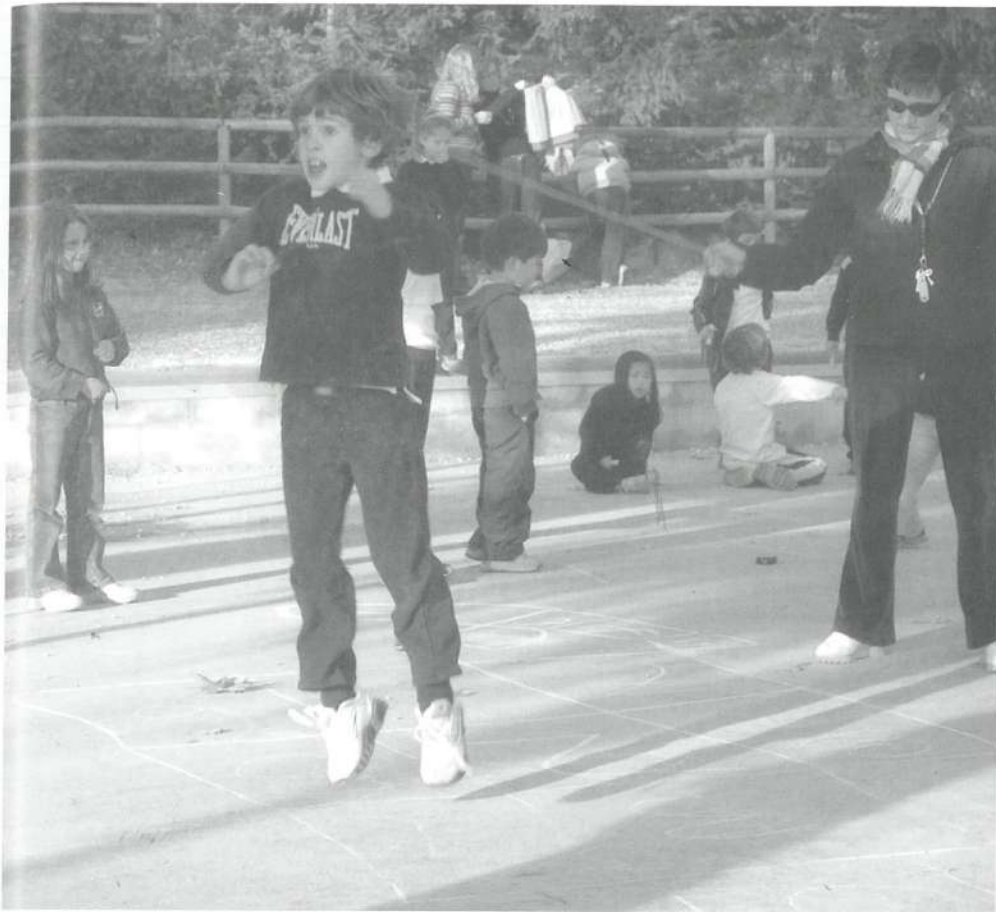

Elementary Activities: Highlights of an INQUIRY-filled year

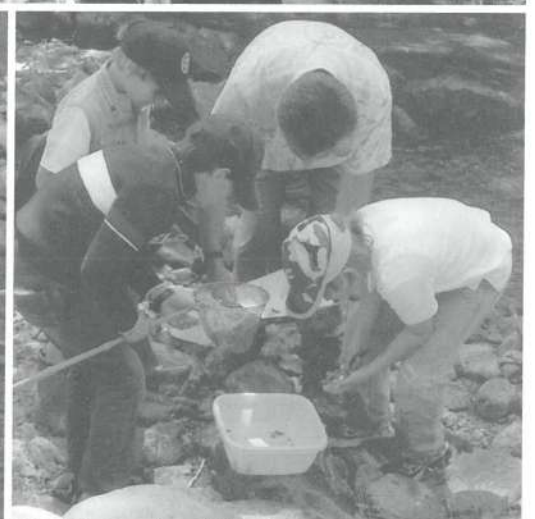

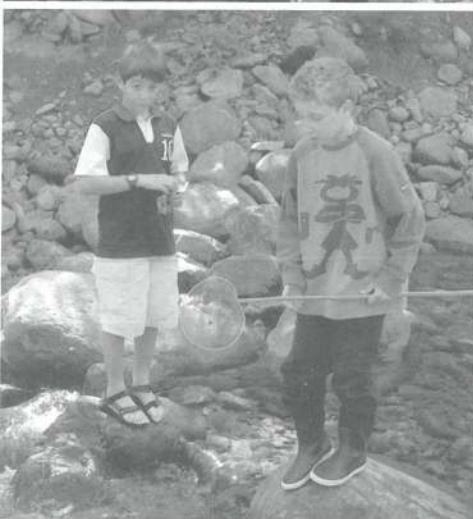

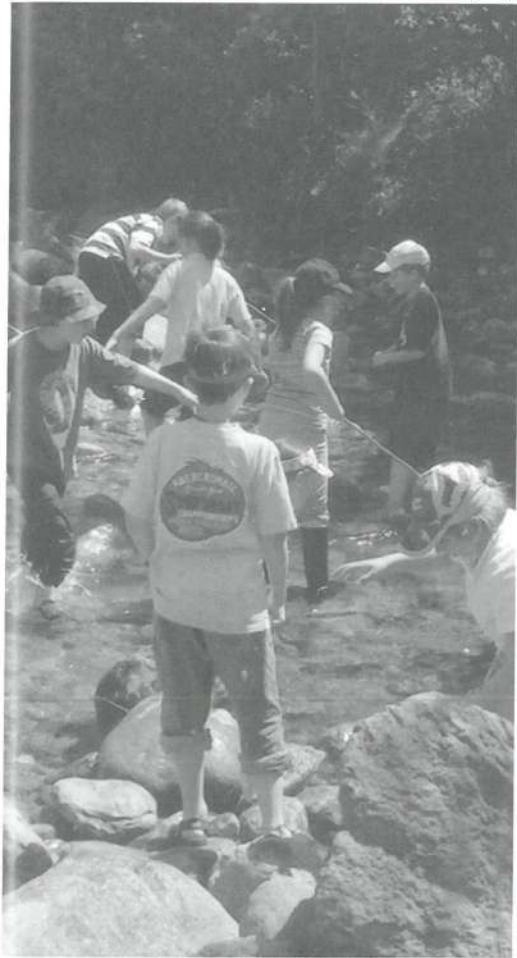

Serious first grade engineers visit and test playground equipment with a design of their own in view.

An in- depth and hands-on discovery of Borgo Medievale in Turin transformed the little'uns into proper lords and ladies of the castle.

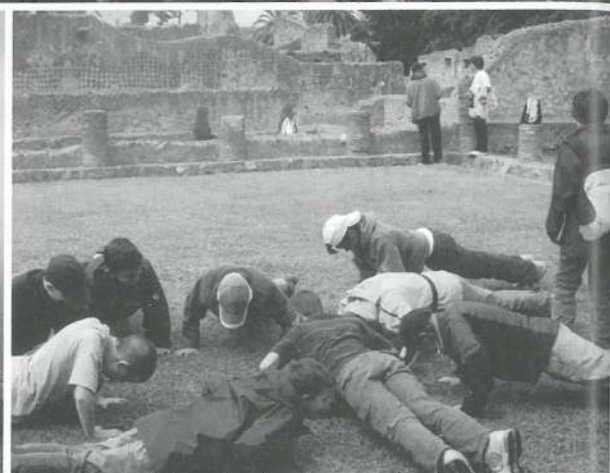

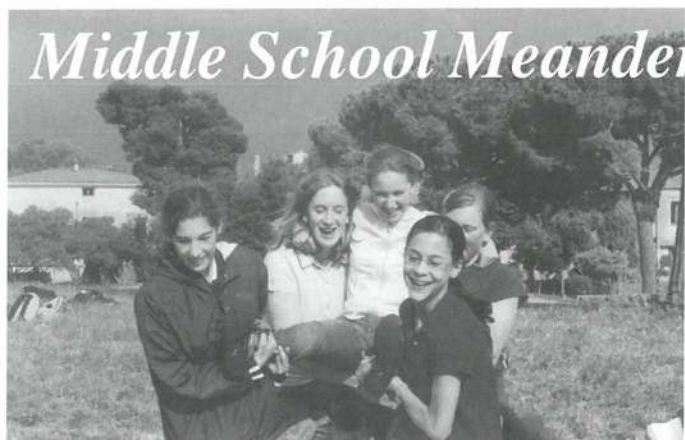

Tests of agility and dexterity help maintain sound minds in sound bodies.

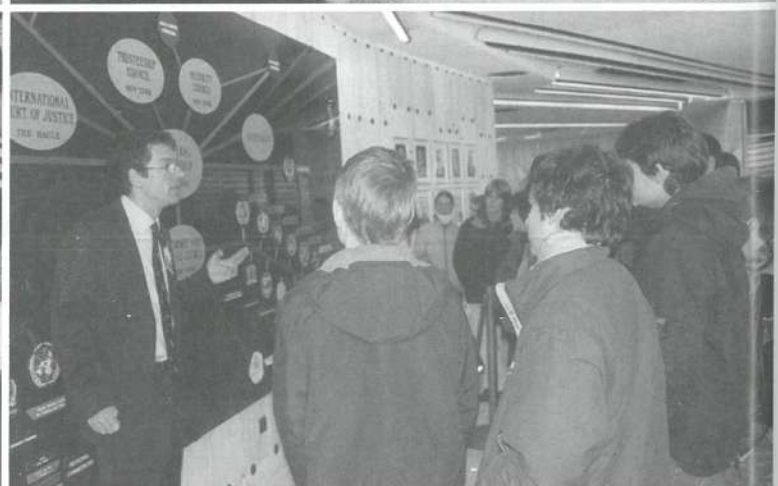

Our river ecology trip was a fun adventure in clambering over the rocks to test the frigid waters of the Po.

Middle School Meandering- Adventures into the past

Whether racing through the intriguing stones of Paestum or climbing the dizzying heights of Vesuvius, adventuresome sixth graders found a new insight into Magna Grecia.

From hunkering in the shadows of medieval Castles and basking in the light of the Renaissance in Florence the 7th graders meandered into modern times with a visit to UN Headquarters in Geneva.

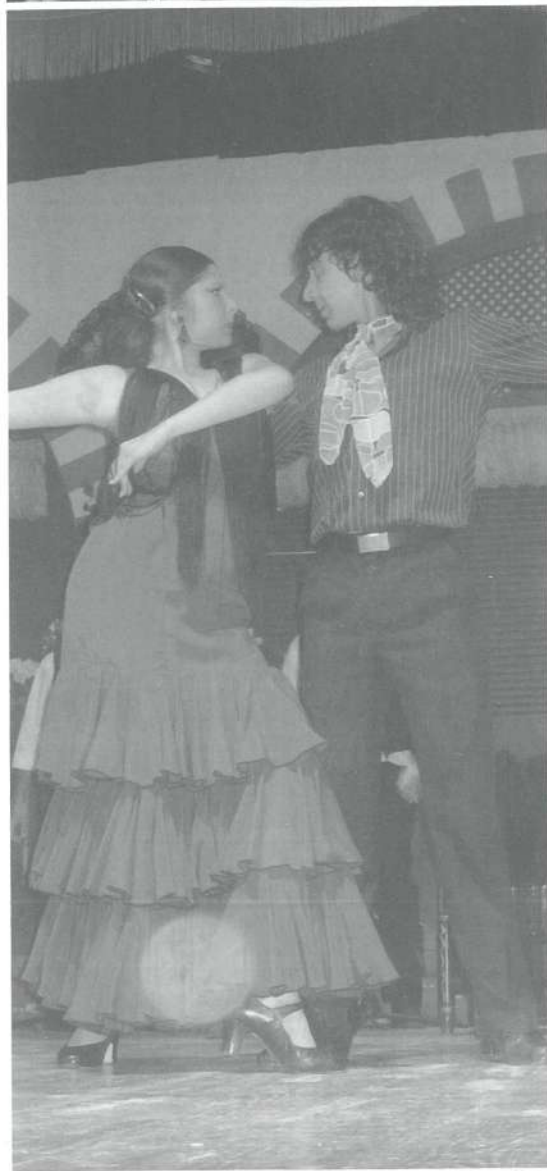

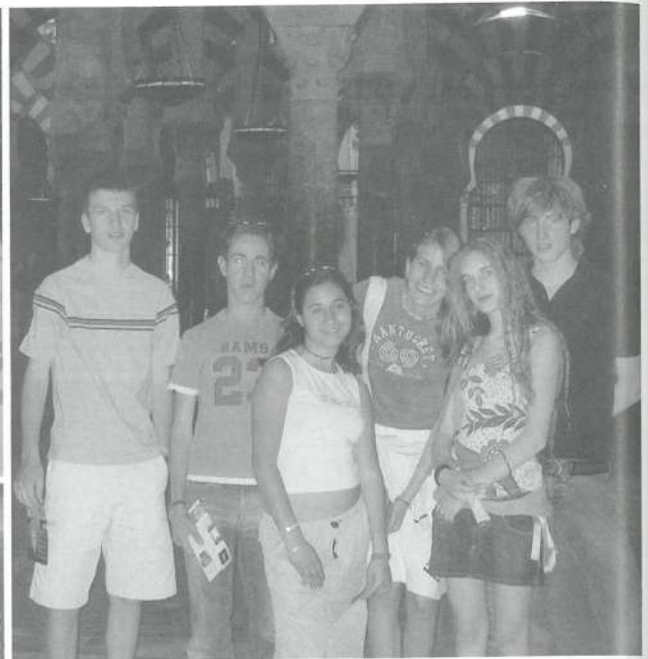

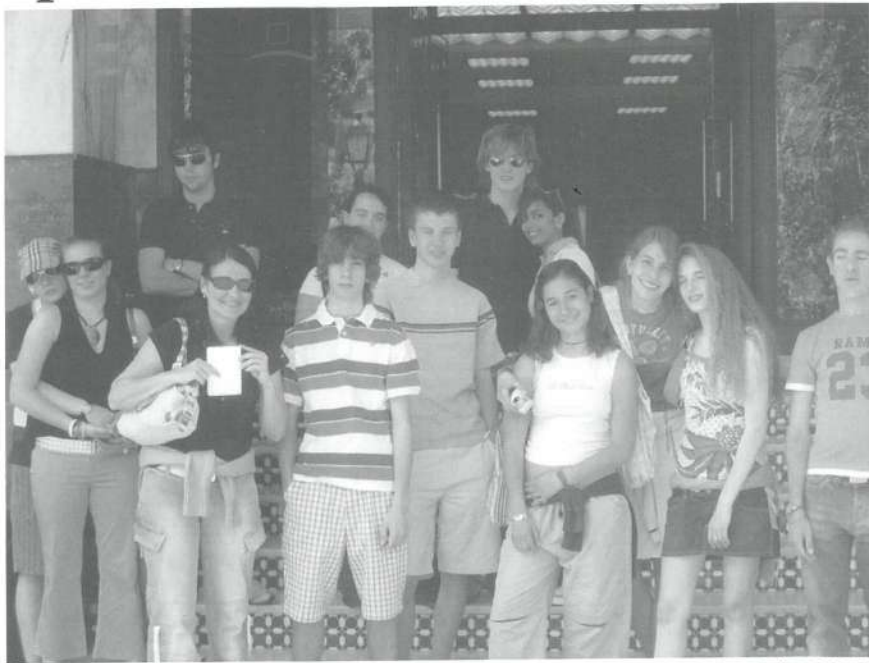

In search of Shakespeare, the 8th graders followed his footsteps through Stratford, explored Tudor Palaces in London and even dramatized a mini-version of Romeo and Juliet.

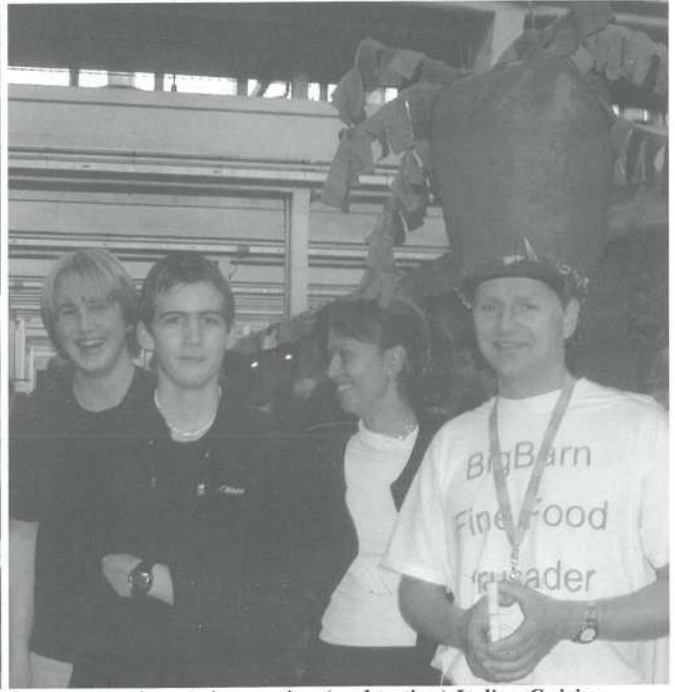

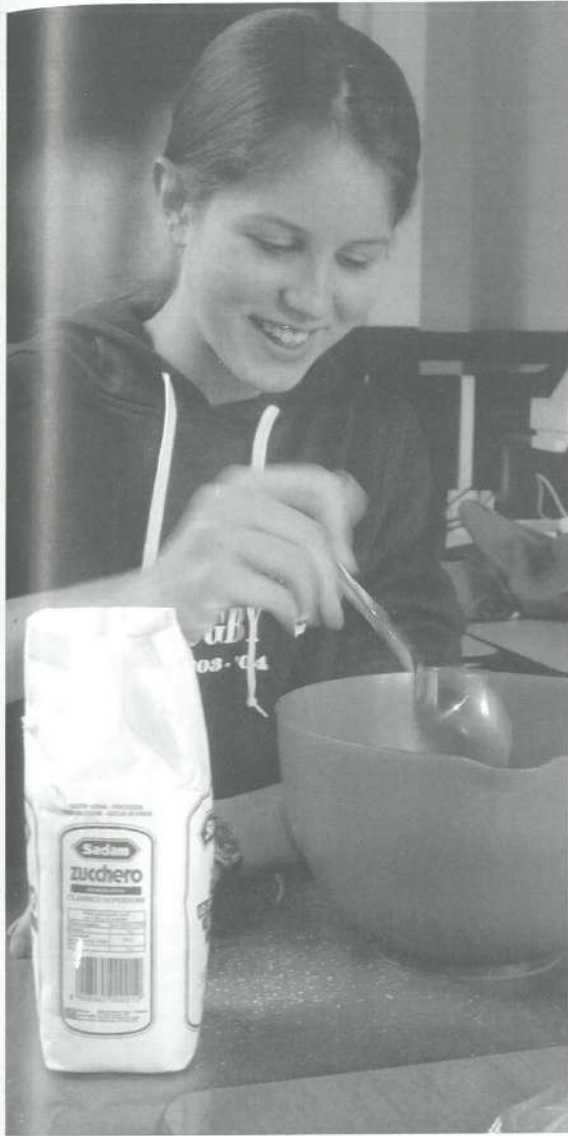

To define our school's internationalism, the 8th graders inquired into the plight of children in armed conflict with an enlightened interview at UN Headquarters in New York.

Spanish Students explore Andalusia

After the intriguing Al Hambre, the fiery flamenco, and the thrilling Corrida, "los amigos" retire to the peaceful playa of Torremolinos.

Italian Students discover the secrets (and goodness) of Slow Food

The IFL Students added an extra dimension to their studies (and waistlines) with tasty experiments in creating (and testing) Italian Cuisine.

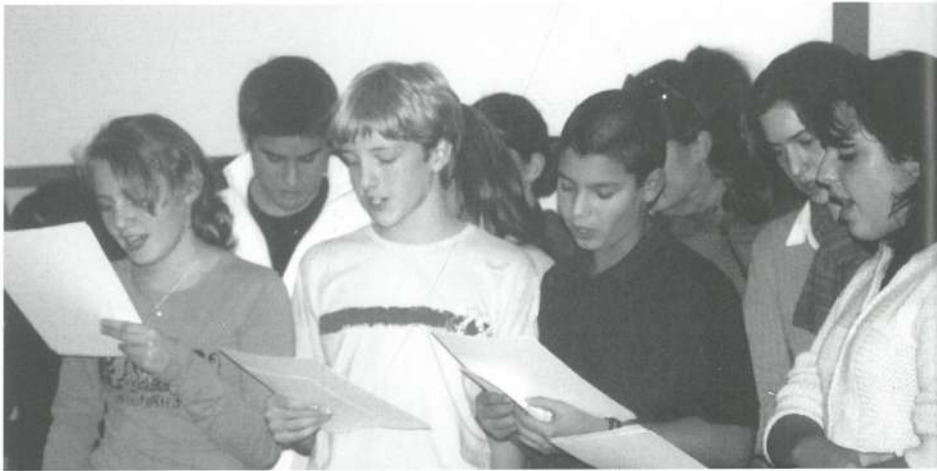

N.H.S. (National Honor Society) and Academic Awards Assembly

James Senior is welcomed to the NHS as a new member.

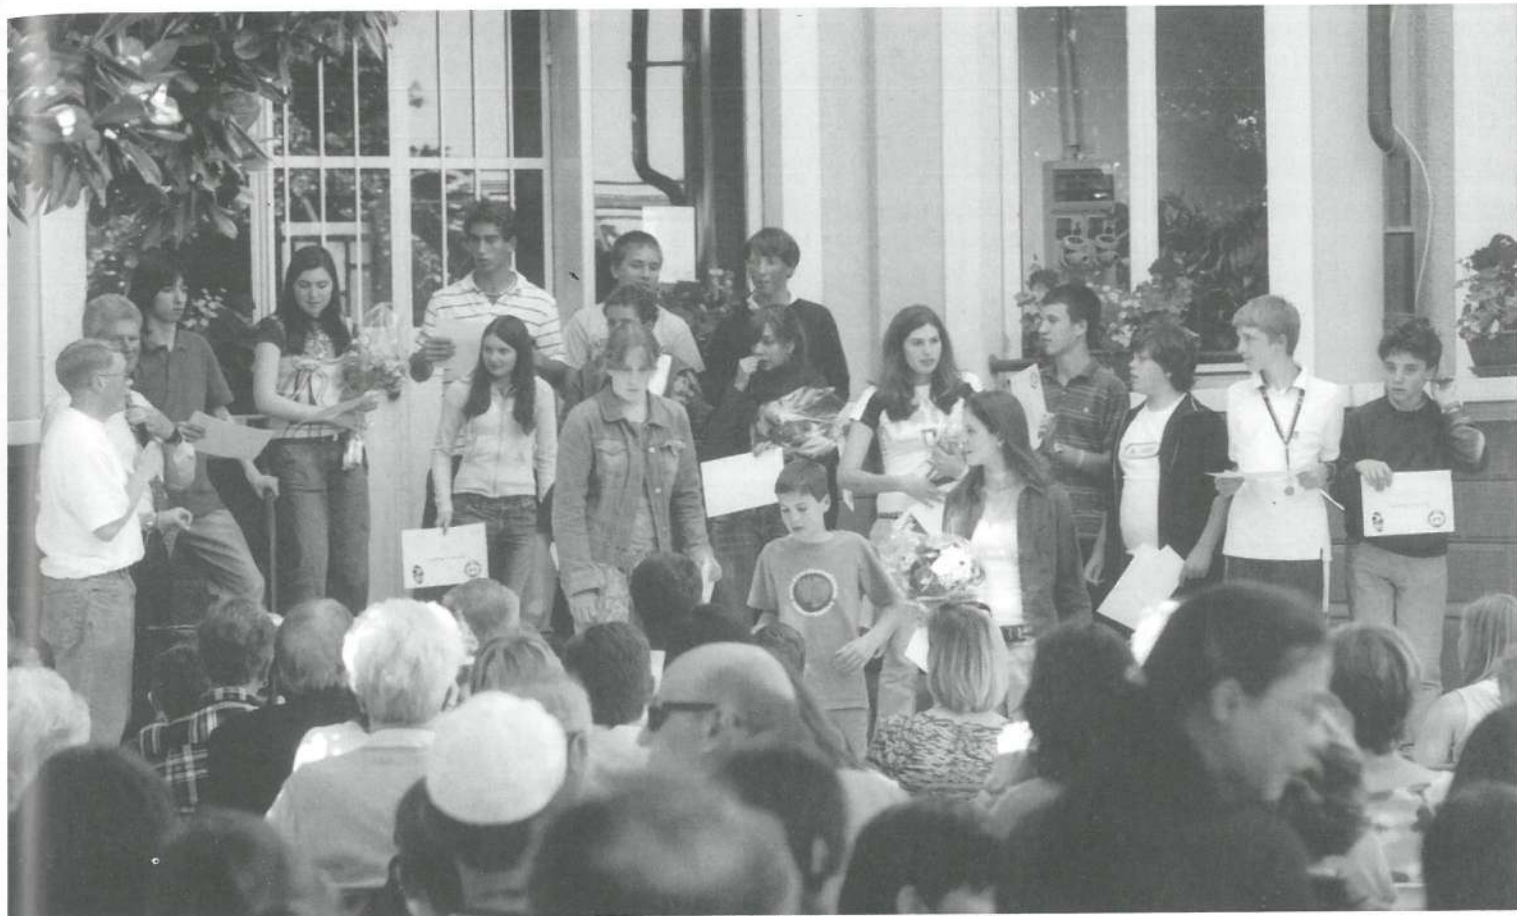

New and old members united.

Members of the NHS prepare to read the qualities needed to be part of the elite "membership".

Members pronounce the pledge which will affect their present and future lives.

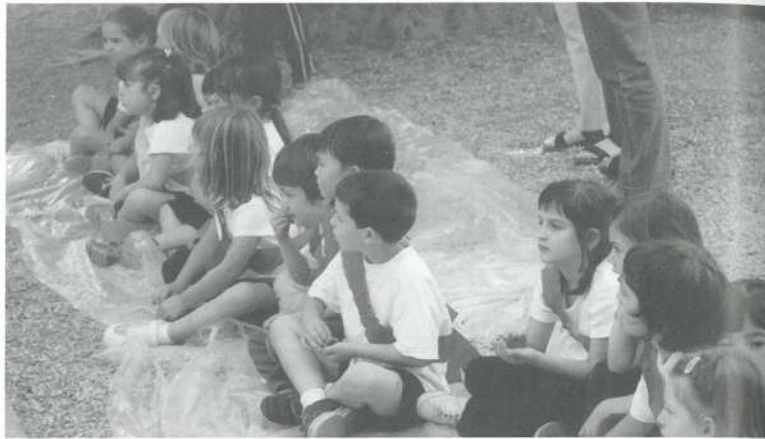

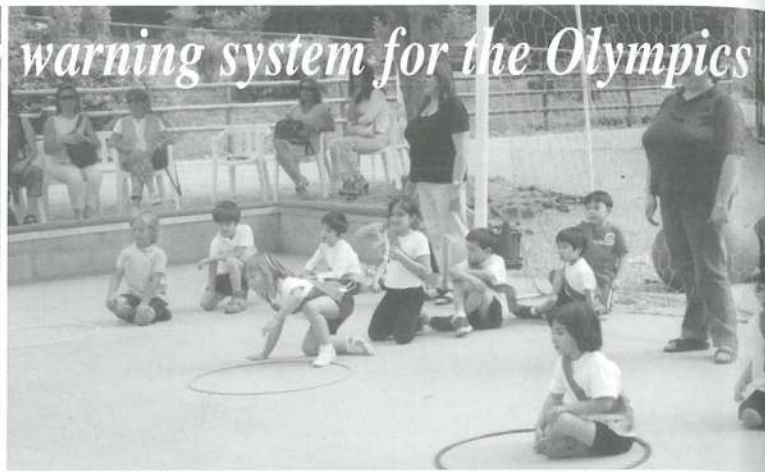

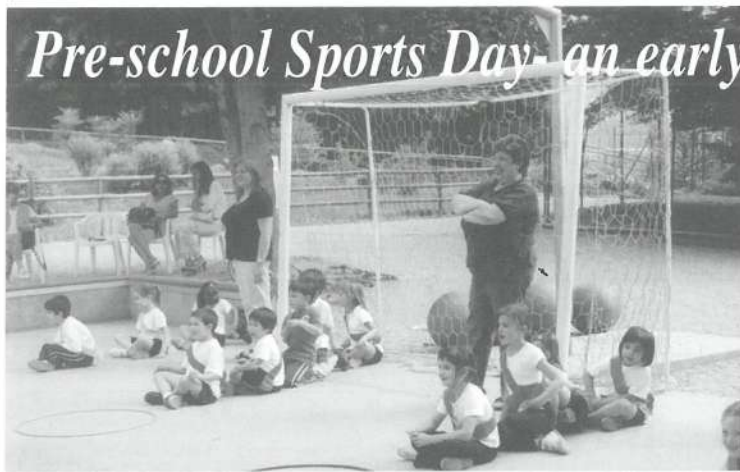

Congratulations to the 2005-06 student council!

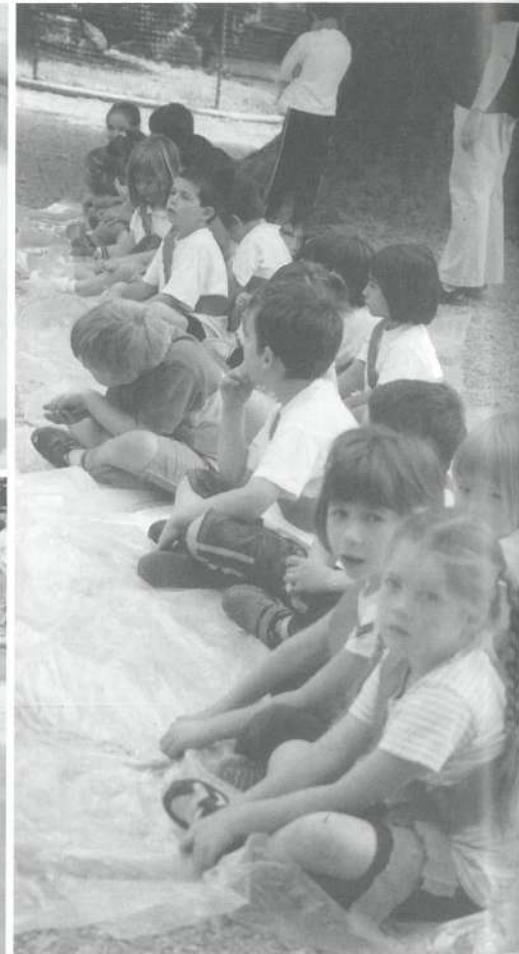

Under the supervision of Mr. Cramb, awards are given for academic excellence.

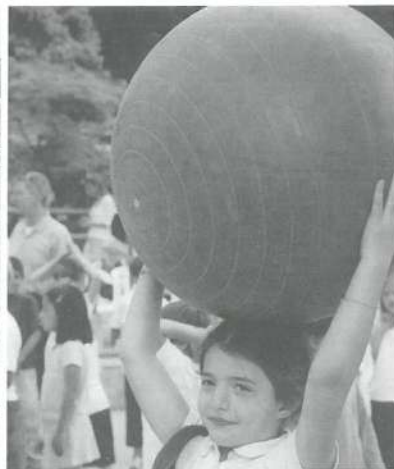

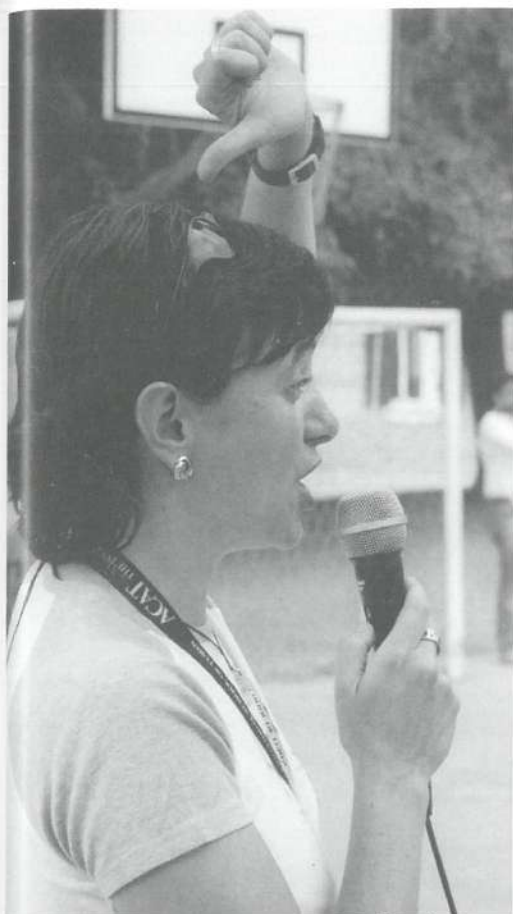

Pre-school Sports Day- an early warning system for the Olympics

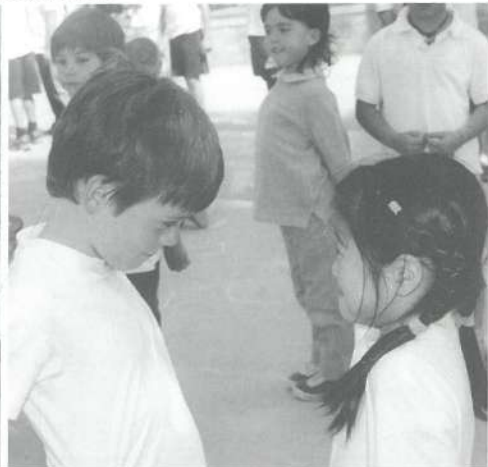

A quiet tension builds up among athletes and spectators.

With a burst of energy mini sprinters race through the slalom markers.

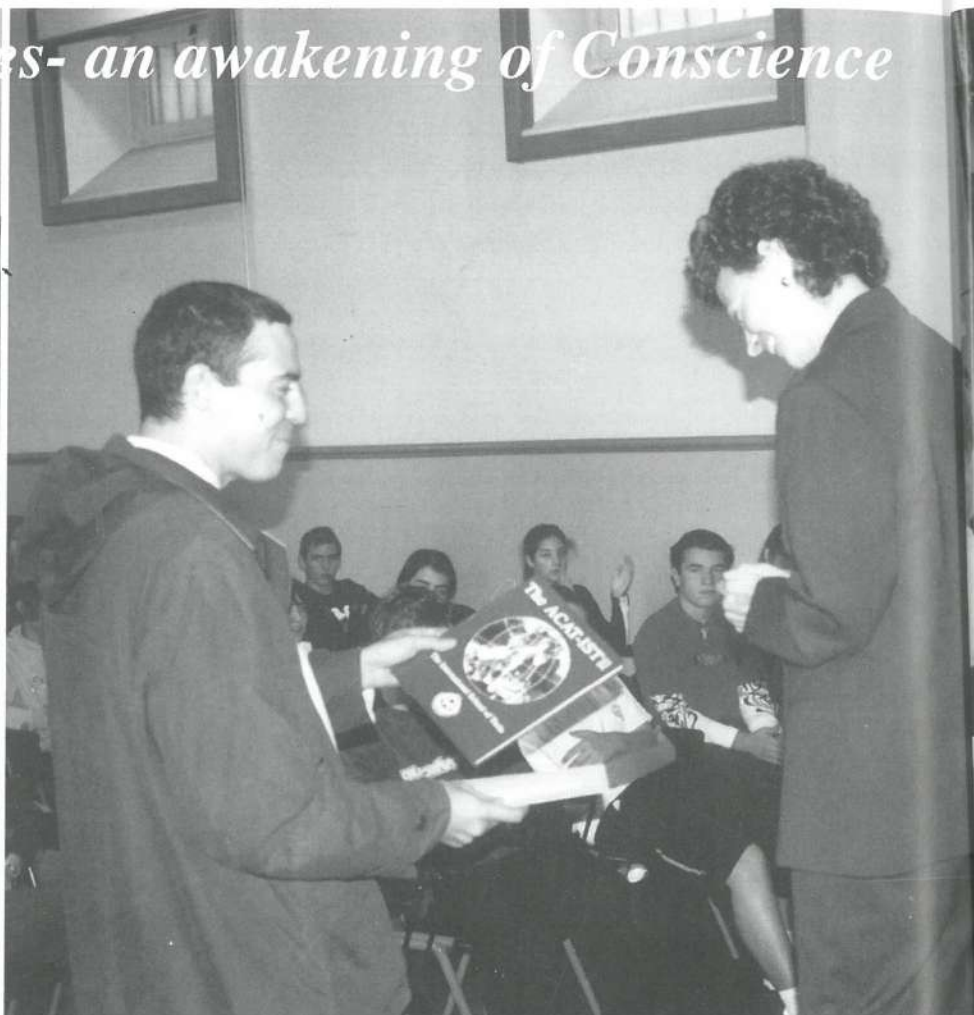

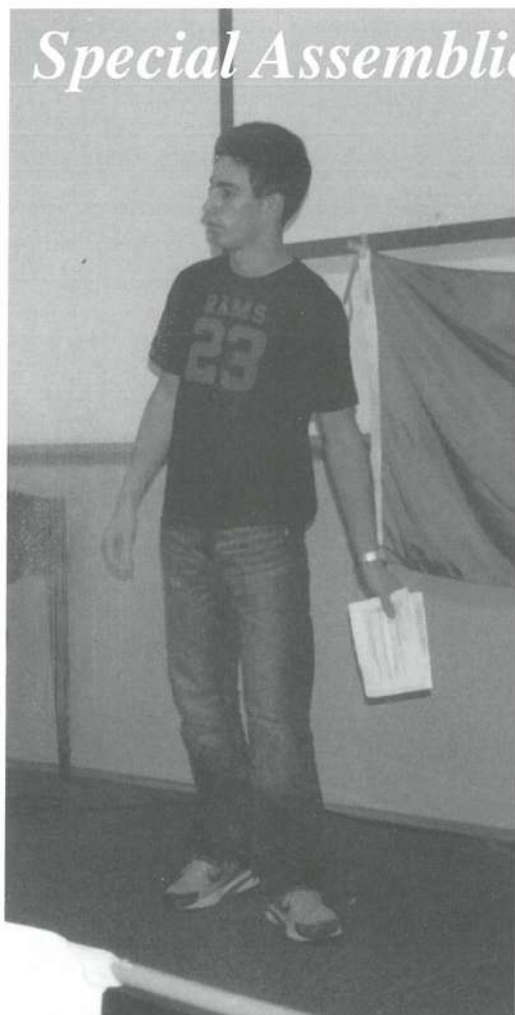

Despite some strays, the competition dribbled ahead with the giant ball event.

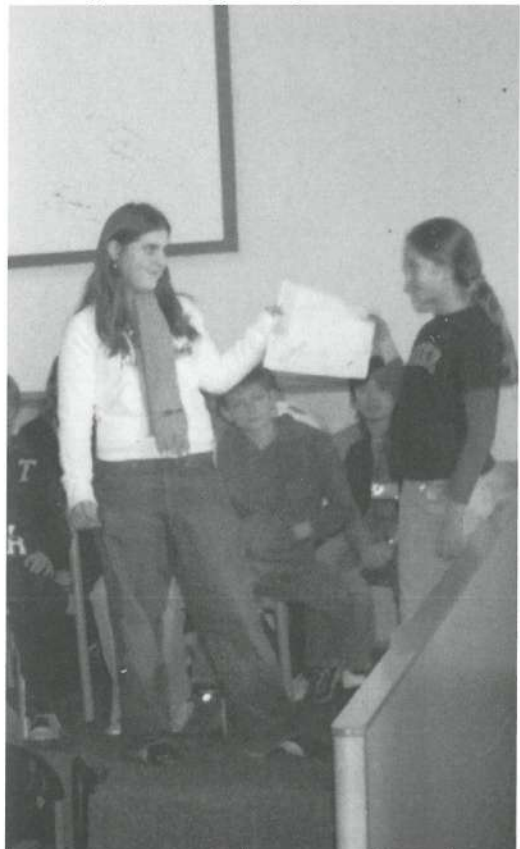

Spectators followed the excitement with enthusiasm.

Special Assemblies- an awakening of Conscience

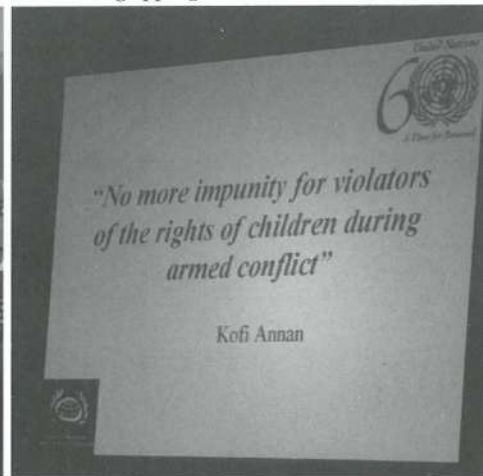

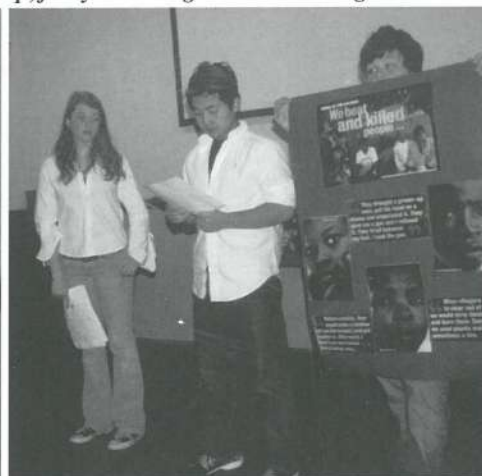

The 10th grade assembly "Free your mind" and the U.S. Consuls' special discourse on public service offered high schoolers an enlightened perspective of the world.

On tour in Italy, a group of Romanian students tasted ACAT hospitality in a warm "welcome assembly sponsored" by the sixth grade.

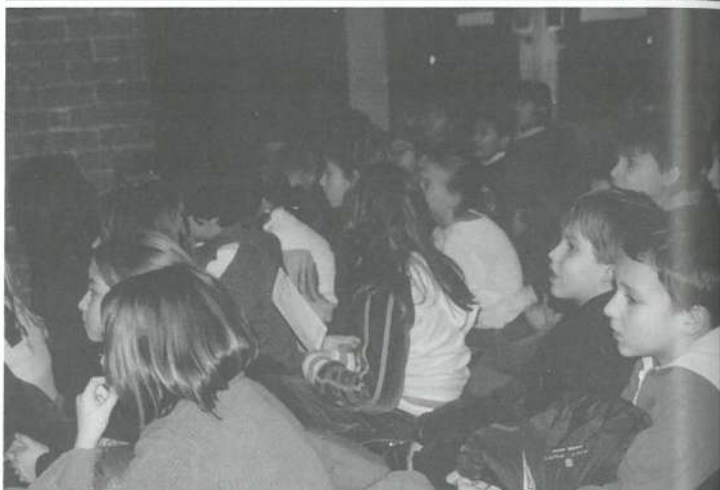

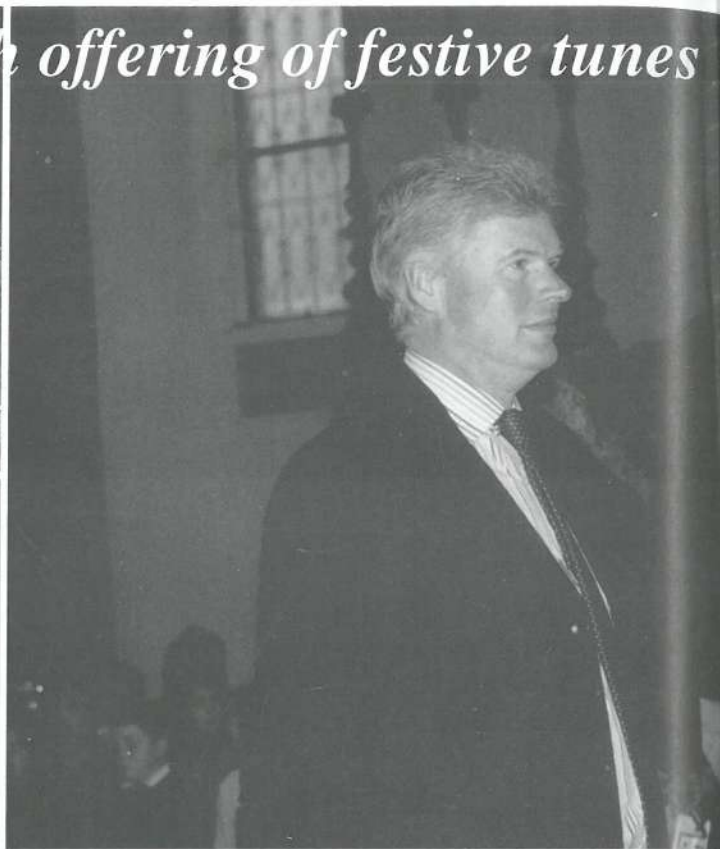

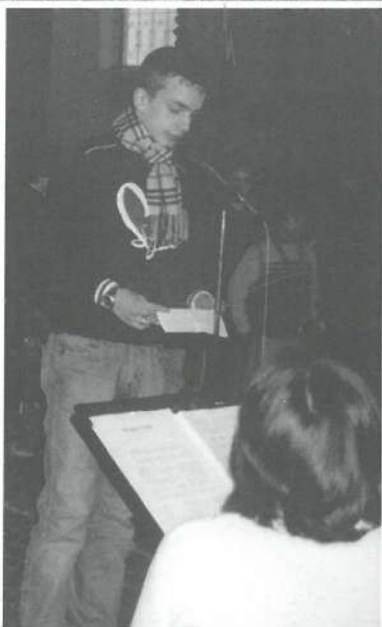

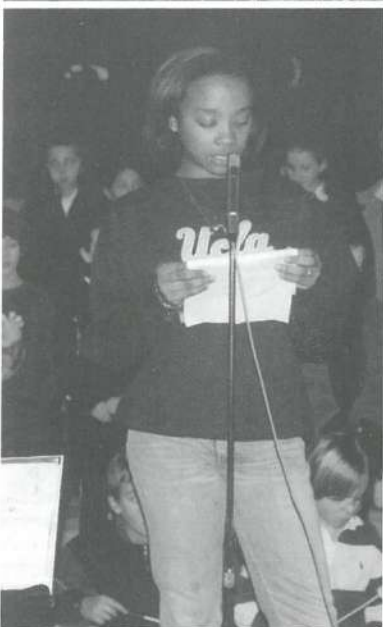

Survivor of the Nazi Concentration Camp, feisty Mr. Margolis stuns an 8th grade audience with his gripping recollections.

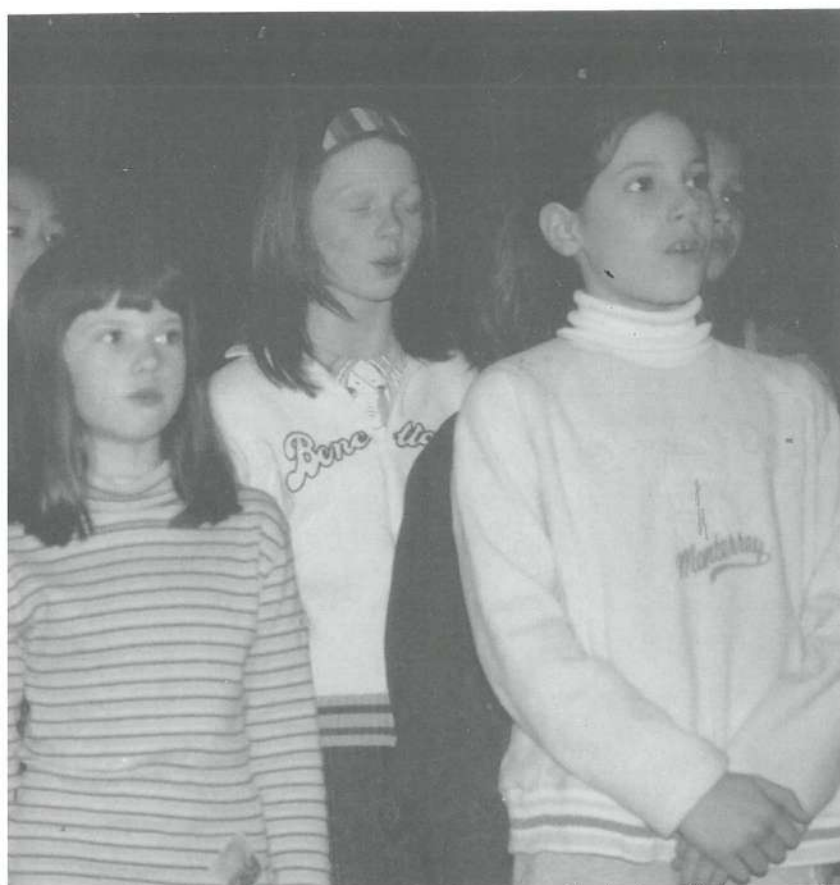

...class discussions on child soldiers, the 8th grade hosted ACAT's own UN representative, Mr. Thet, who enlightened us on the terrible destiny of children in armed conflict.

Christmas Concert – a rich offering of festive tunes

At the introduction of a high school student, each class stepped forward to present its piece. As Mr. Cramb opens the concert, he sets the tone for a truly meaningful listening experience

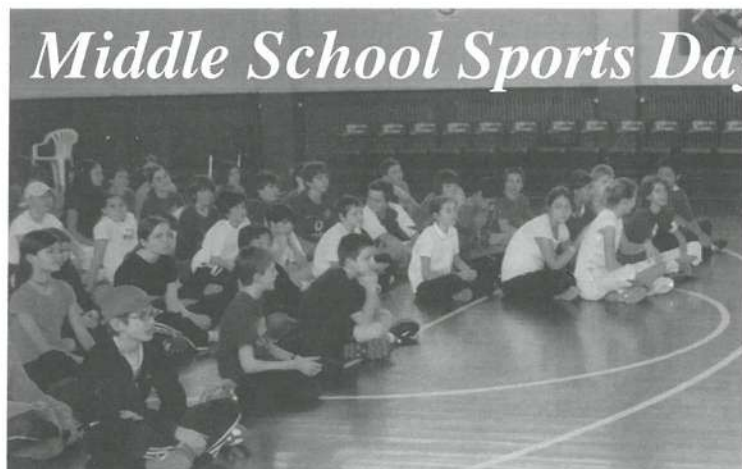

Additional Christmas favourites alternated with more secular festive offerings creating a truly enjoyable international event.

A bouquet of thanks wrapped in a warm applause was presented to our music mentors Ms. Gayzelin and Ms. Cena.

Middle School Sports Day

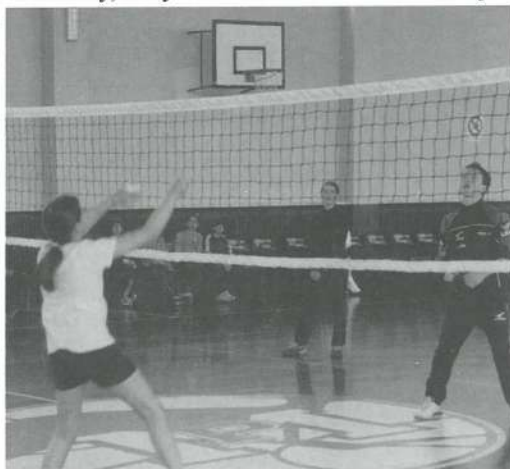

Paralympic tennis champion Kai evokes the spirit of determination and courage in young athletes.

Teacher coaches help reinforce the lessons of sportsmanship.

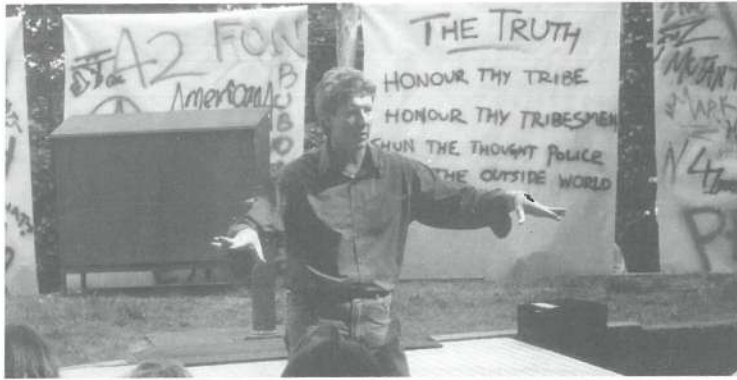

With great tenacity, everyone demonstrates the lessons of the morning.

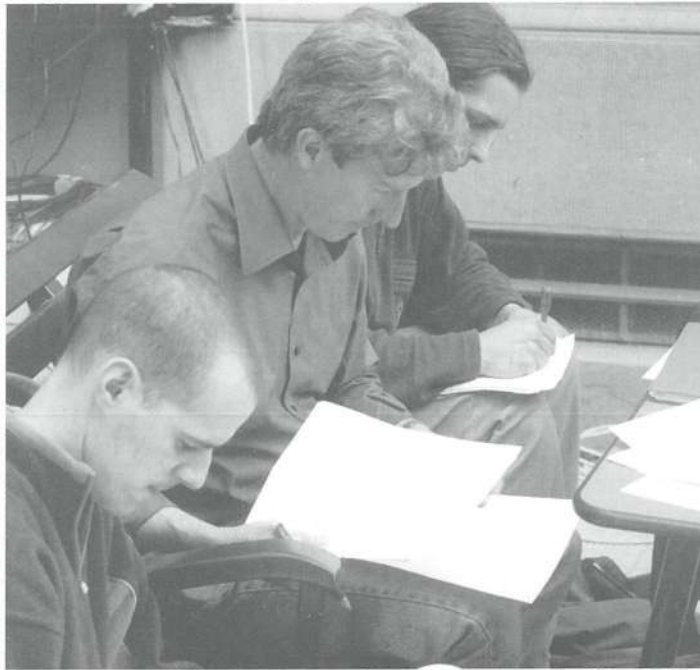

It takes a lot more to make a champion, however.

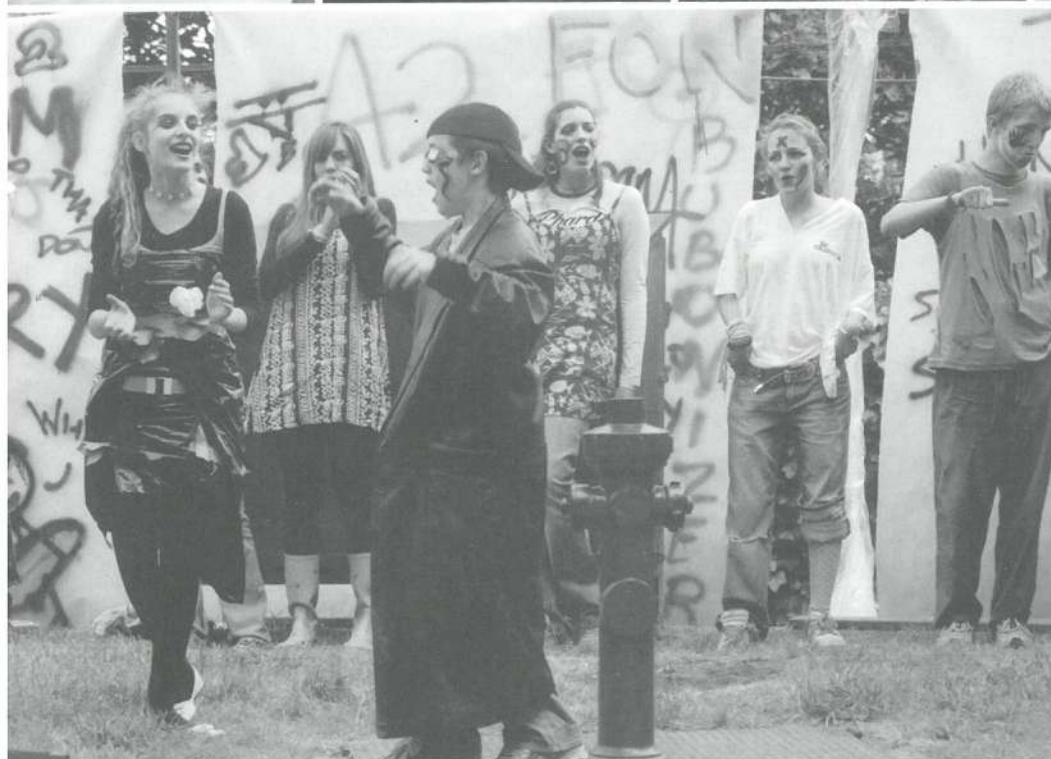

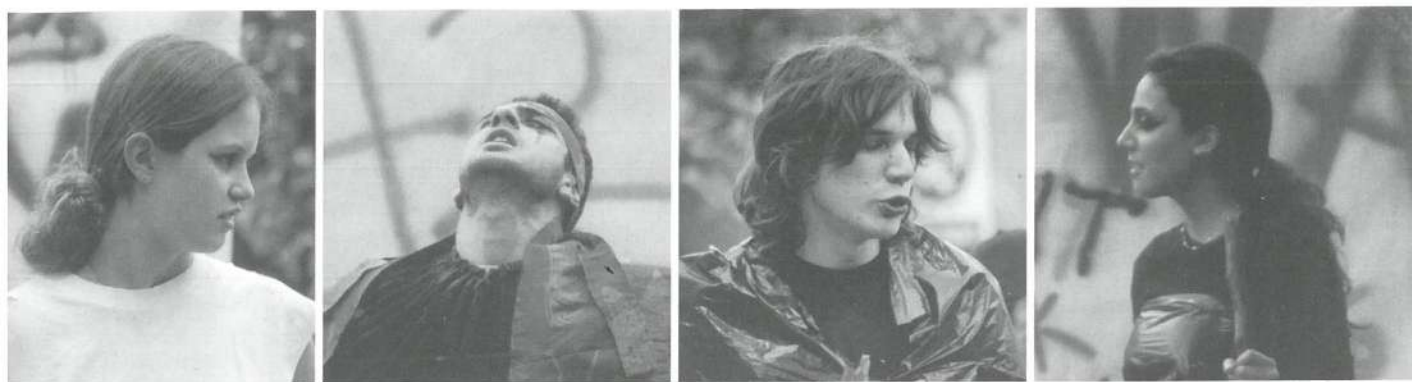

“Set in Stone” – An ACAT original

Drawing from a variety of literary sources, “Set in Stone” presented an original and thought-provoking reflection on modern times.

Serious and focused, the production crew assured quality control throughout the performance even under a torrential downpour on the first night's performance.

An emotion-filled piece, the play brought out the best in everyone.

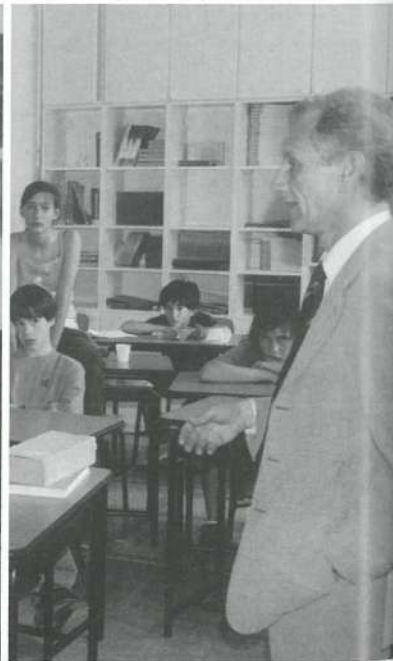

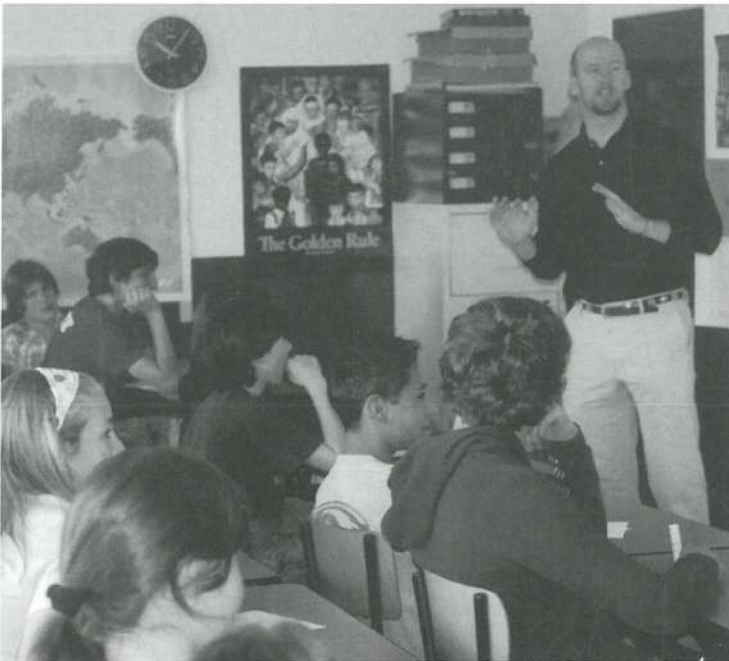

There were moments of tension and pauses for serious reflection for both players and audience alike.

Career Day – A thought-provoking change of pace

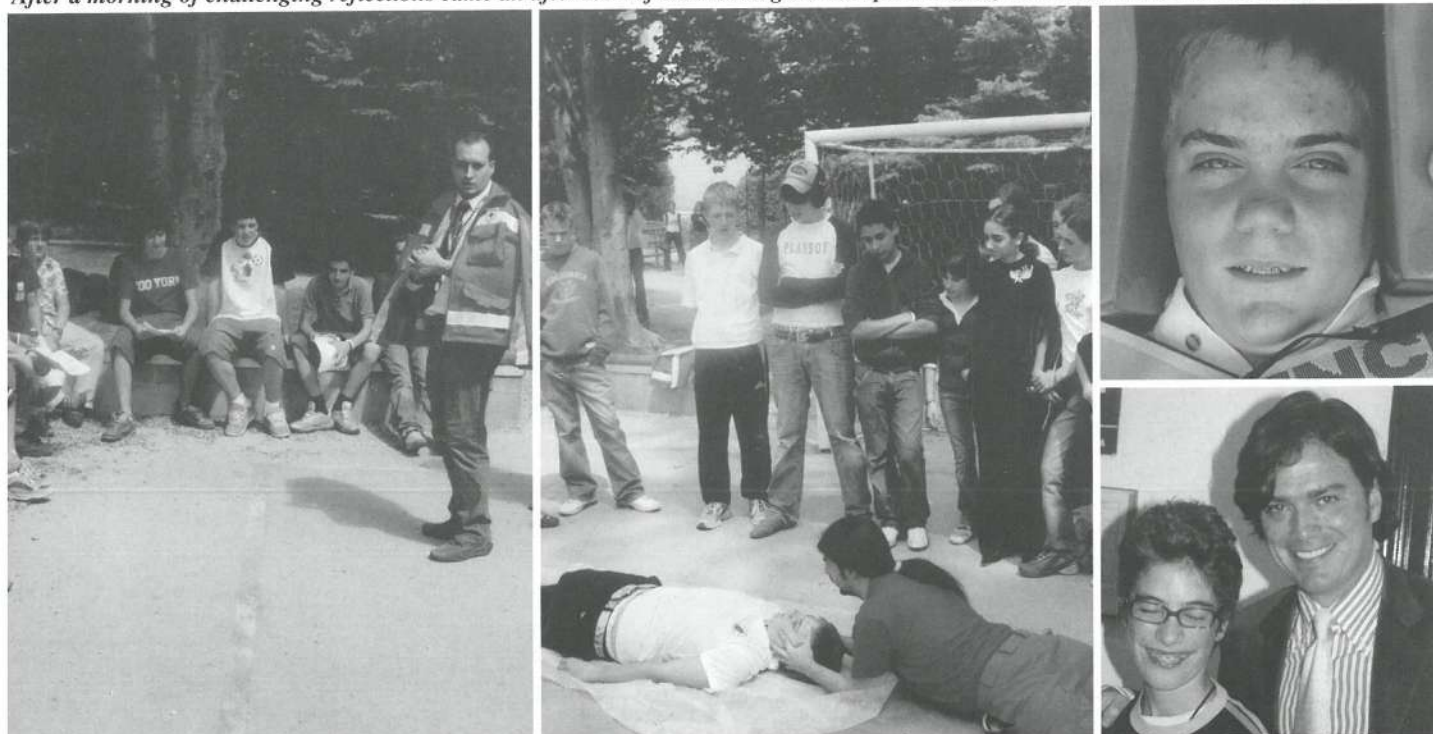

Not a free day, Career Day takes place during regular class hours but with an inviting if not challenging change of subject matter.

Some presenters back by popular demand and some new faces with refreshing outlooks on the work filled out the busy schedule.

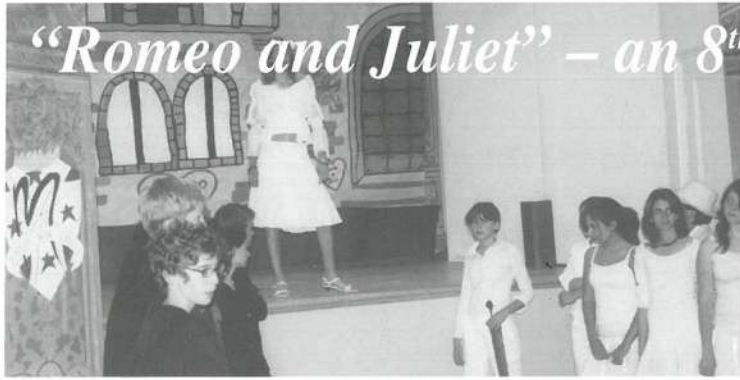

After a morning of challenging reflections came an afternoon of entertaining workshops in drama, martial arts and Red Cross first aid.

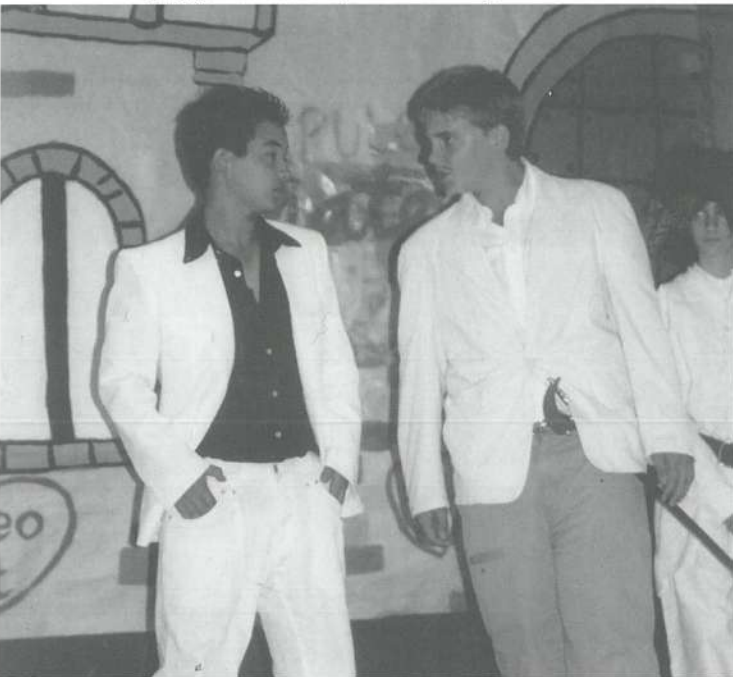

Fulvio Arato of Red Cross International and his able crew brought instant relief to one of our volunteers... (maybe).

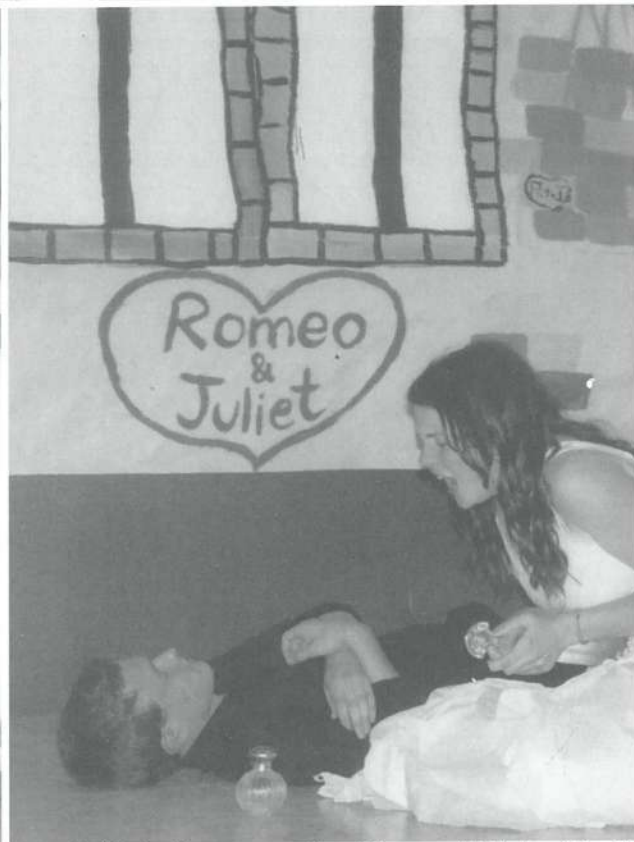

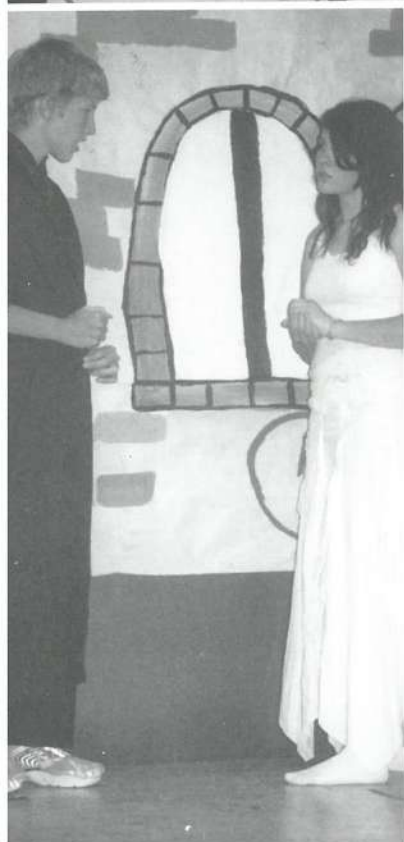

"Romeo and Juliet" – an 8th grade adventure in learning

A play for all seasons, "Romeo and Juliet" touches a wide range of emotions and offers a keen insight into the nature of man.

The 8th grade players rise to the occasion, presenting a poignant performance of one of the world's most famous love stories.

"Never was a tale filled with more woe than this one of Juliet and her Romeo".

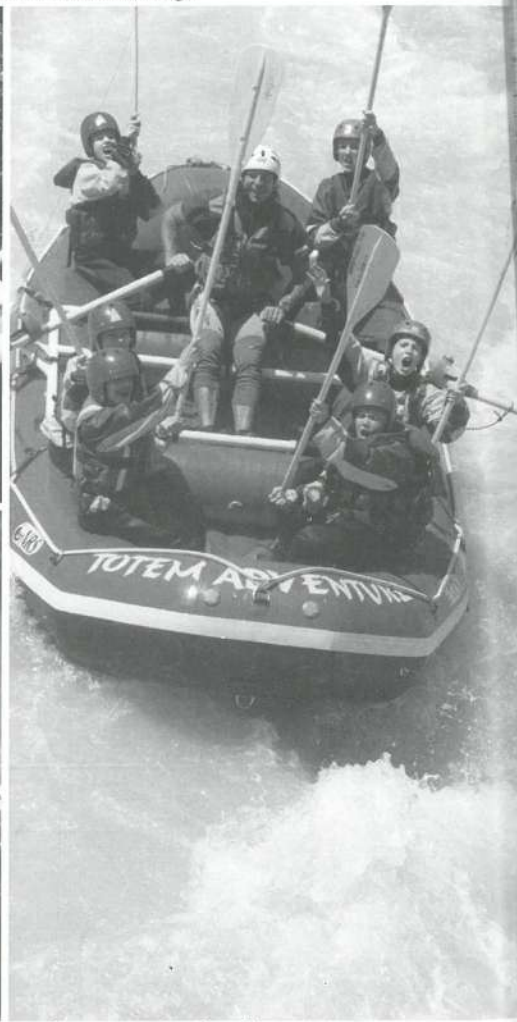

A symbolic bouquet, a warm applause and heartfelt thanks to Kate Steel for her insistence (and patience) in bringing out the best in us.

Rafting – A refreshing run on the river

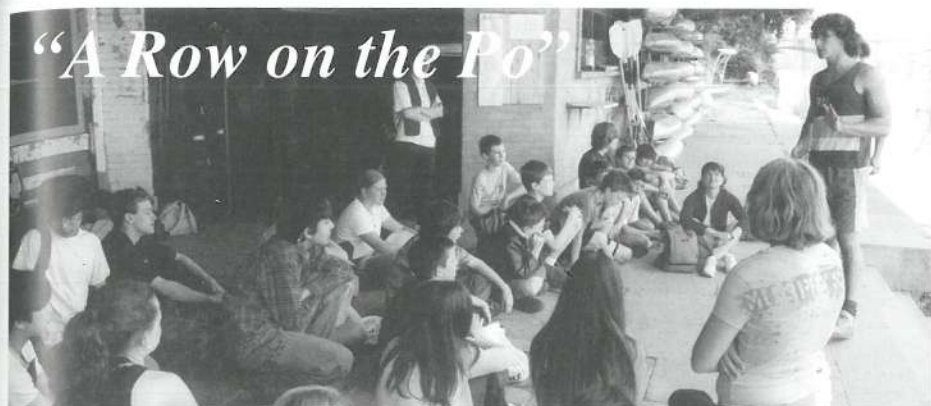

Safety instructions and dry land practice are essential preludes to river running.

A wonderful white water wet wash followed by a rapid rescue concludes our rafting excursion for this year.

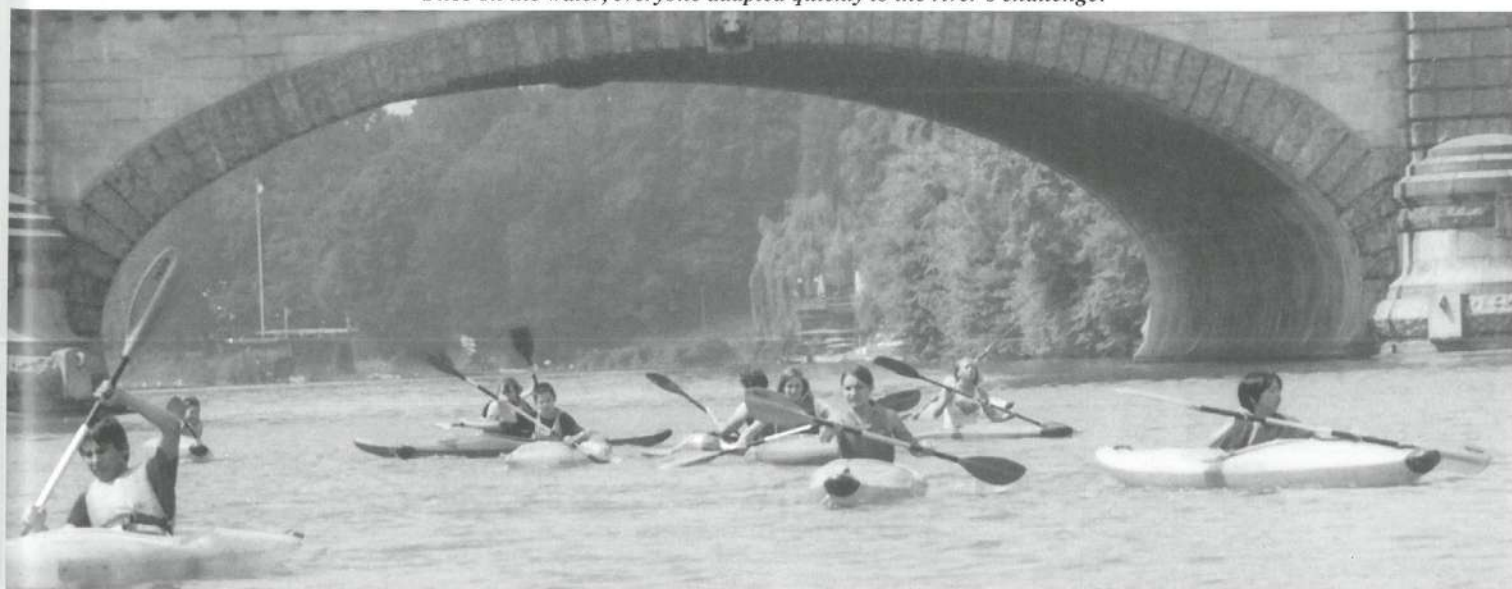

"A Row on the Po"

An introductory briefing helps set safety guidelines for handling a kayak on the river.

Once on the water, everyone adapted quickly to the river's challenge.

Despite a mild traffic jam, all boats (and kayakers) returned safely to the dock.

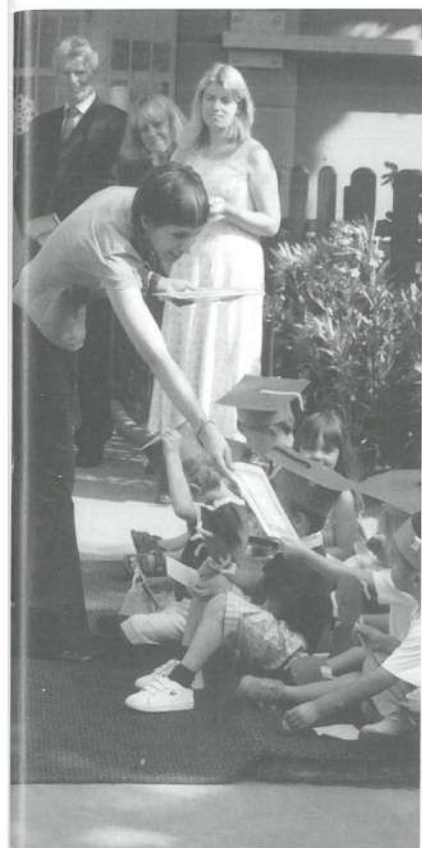

Preschool Graduation: Just a colorful insight to what lies ahead

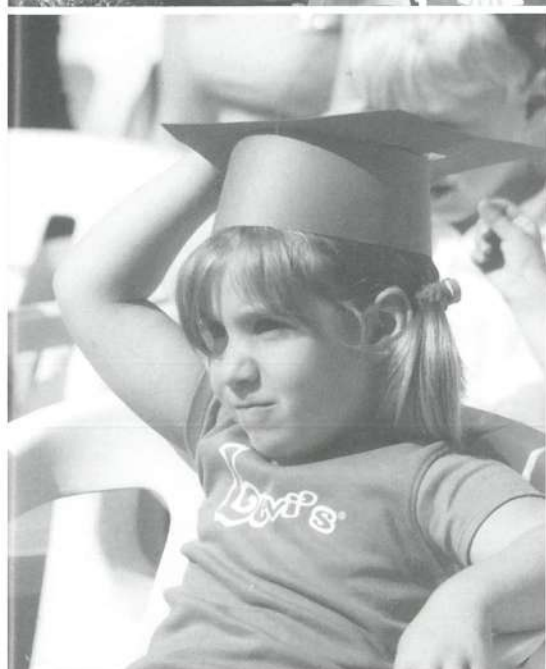

Attentive preschool students listen to Mr. Cramb's and Mrs. Cumiskey's guiding words for the future and success in the great A.C.A.T. community.

The enthusiastic children show-off their multicolored graduating caps.

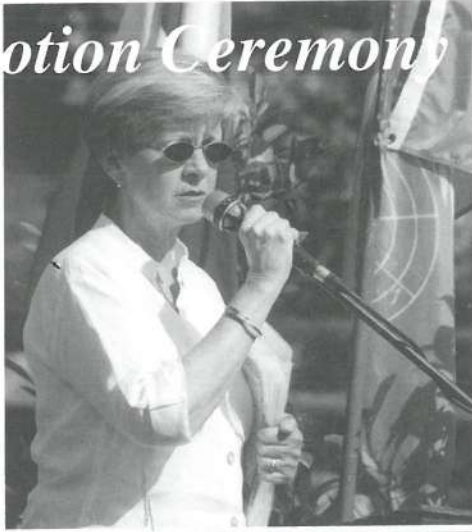

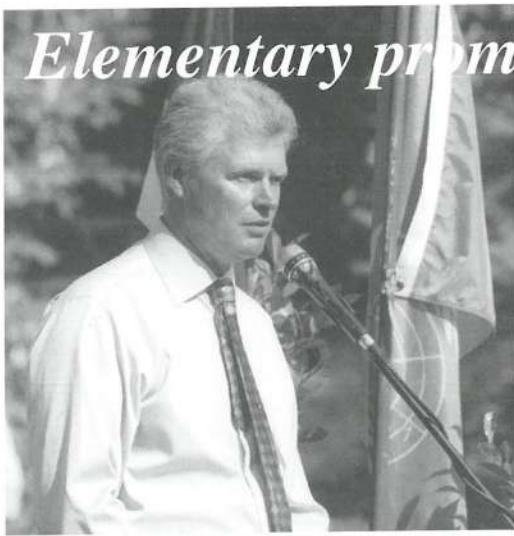

The diligent preschoolers receive their well-deserved promotion certificates.

After the ceremony and the distribution of flowers to the helpful members of the PTA, everyone enjoys refreshments on the very warm day.

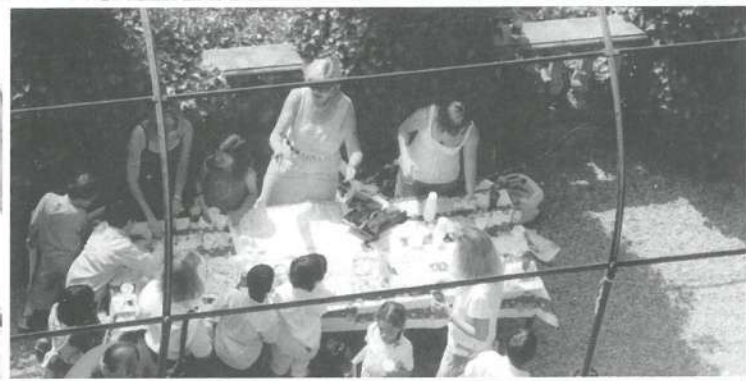

Elementary promotion Ceremony

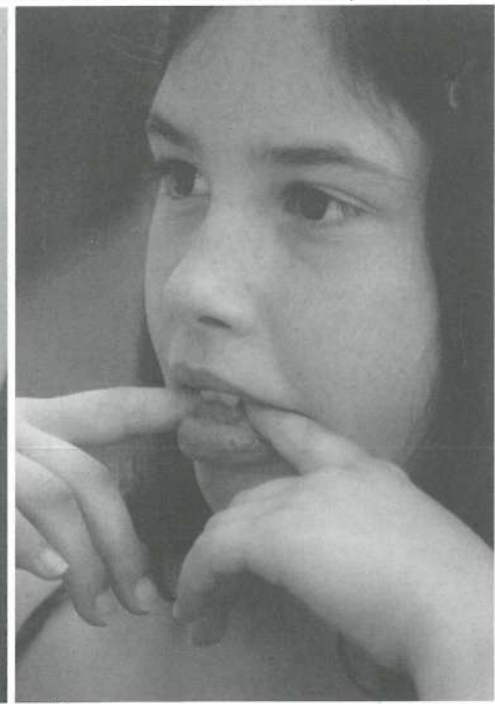

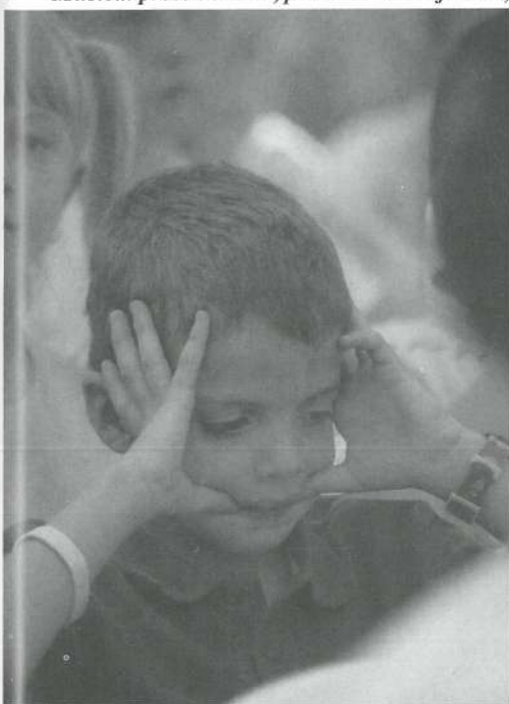

The formal opening and colorful setting of the closing ceremony emphasizes that this is only the end of the beginning.

Promoted to 6th grade, the 5th graders seem quite ready to start another phase of their education.

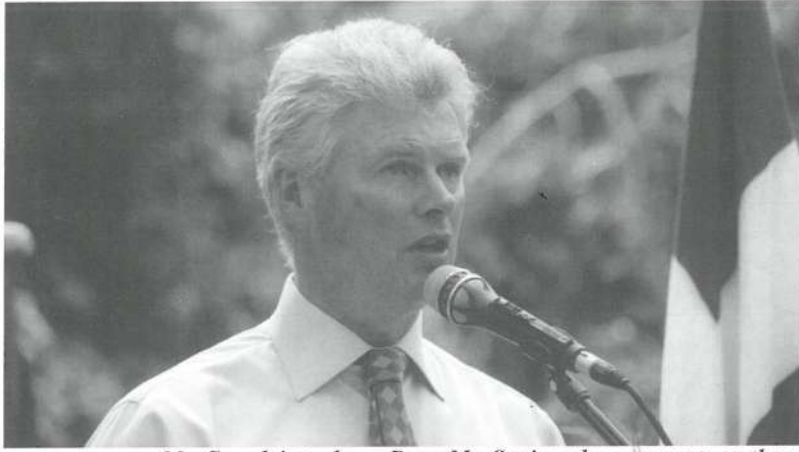

Musical presentations, promotion certificates, congratulatory speeches, new friendships remembered all contribute to the emotions of the day.

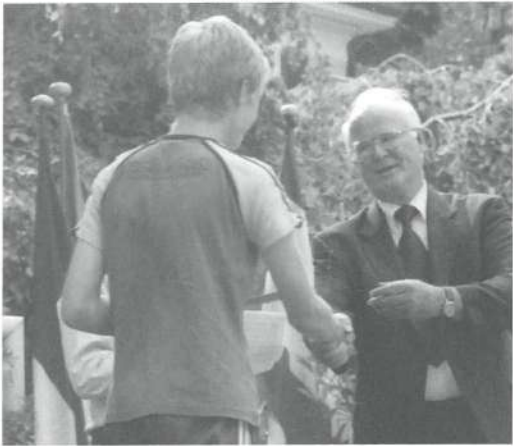

Sometimes it's even a bit overwhelming... but always thought-provoking.

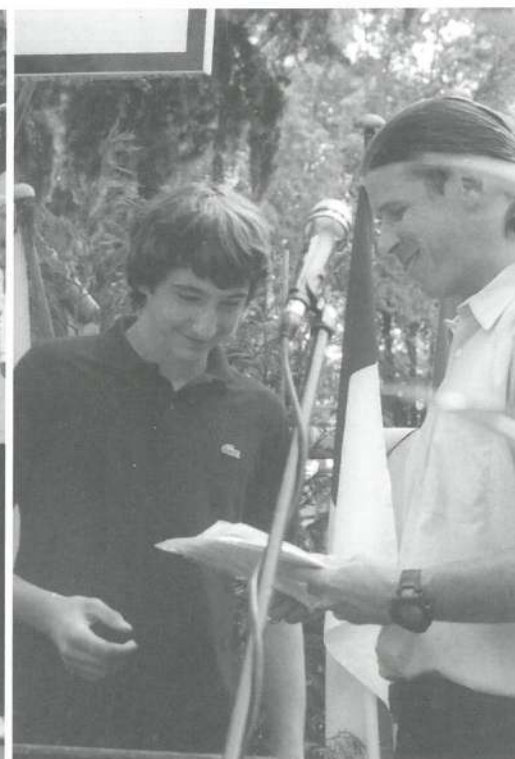

Middle School Graduation – Another milestone reached

Mr. Cramb introduces Dean Ms. Senior who comments on the praiseworthy achievements of Middle Schoolers this year.

With Mr. Webber presiding, the seventh grade followed attentively as sixth grade moves up to take their place.

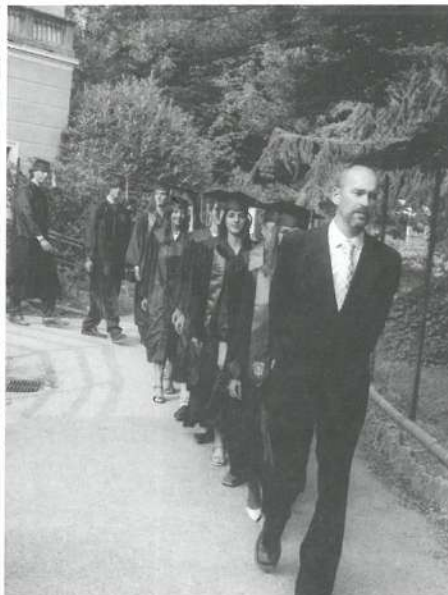

After a brief musical interlude, the seventh graders received their certificates from Mr. Currence qualifying them to go forth and multiply on higher ground.

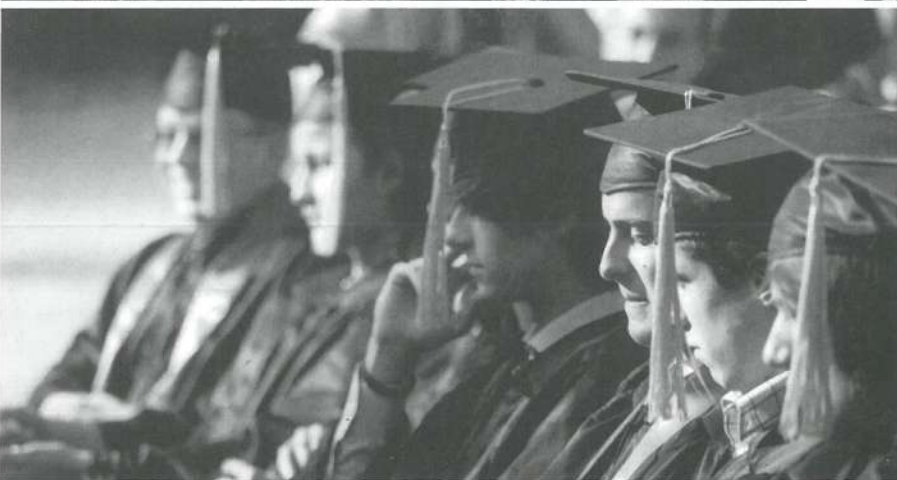

With an eventful year behind them, the eighth graders have proudly concluded their middle school years at ACAT.

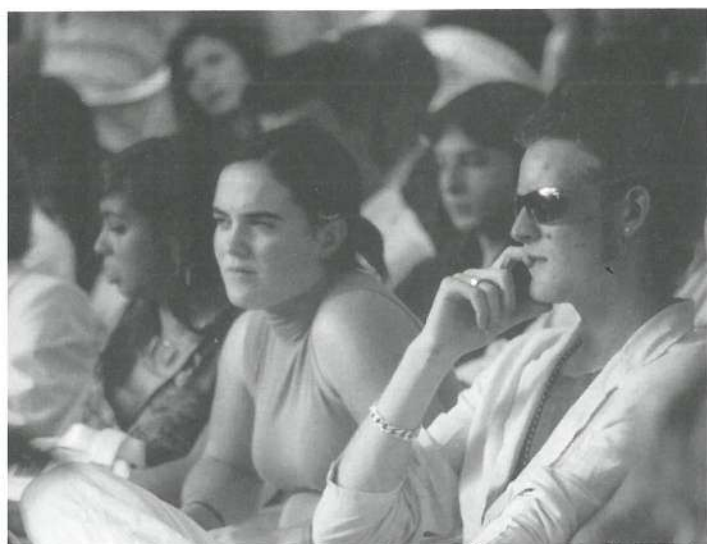

High-school Graduation

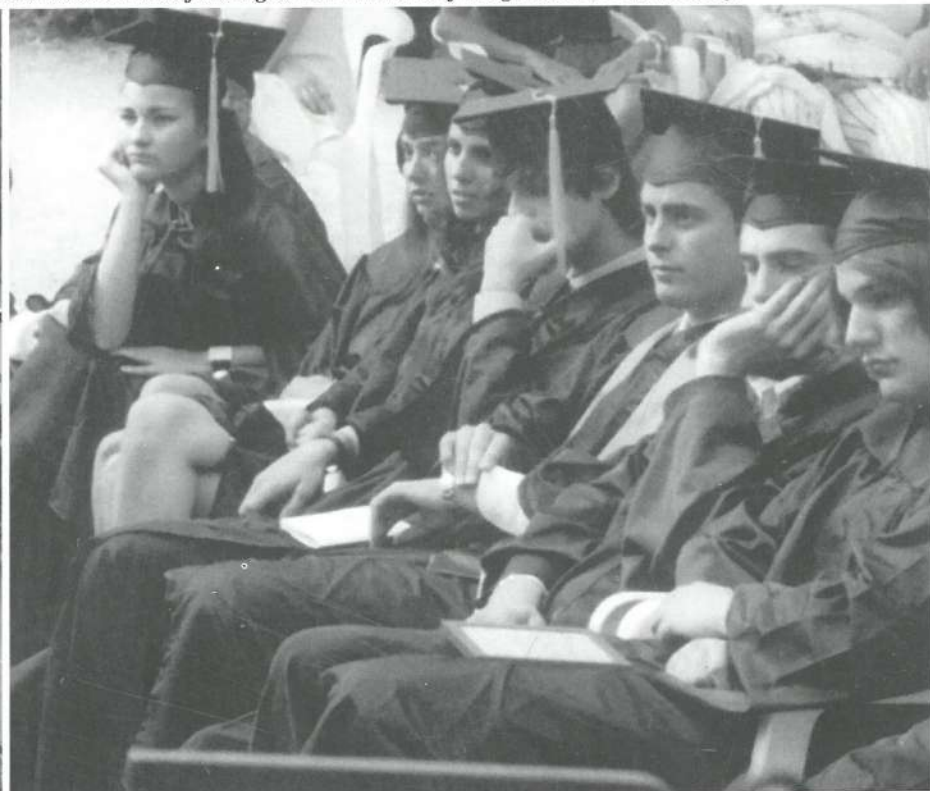

An unforgettable afternoon was distinguished by charismatic speeches, class performances and the arrival of the graduating class of 2005.

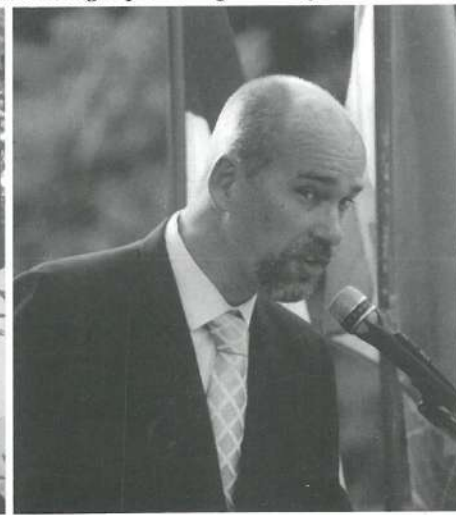

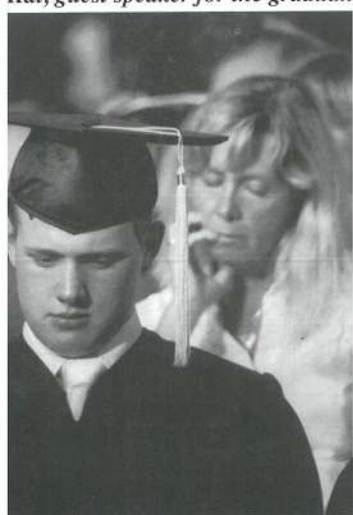

All eyes are on the classes receiving their promotion certificates.

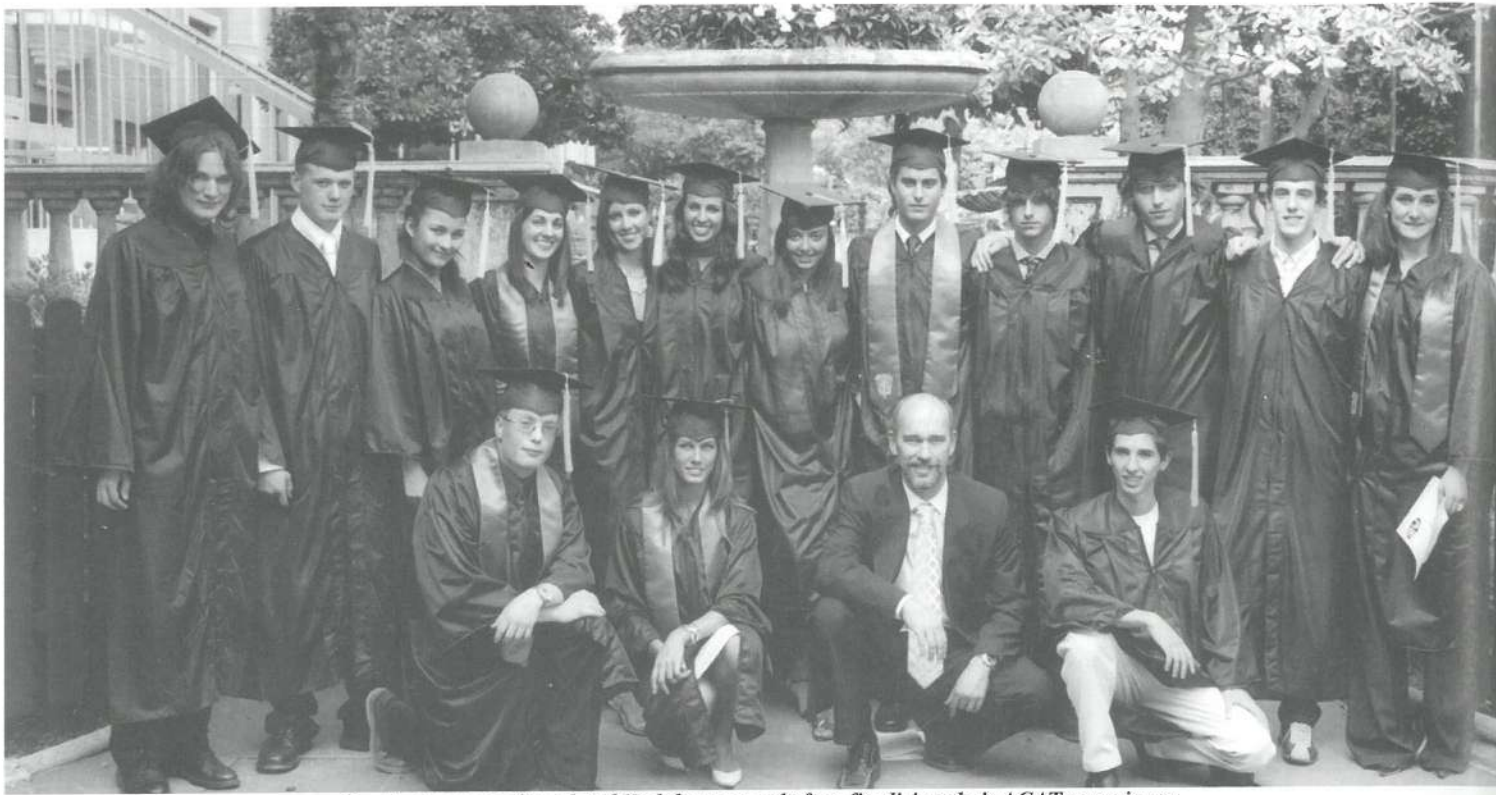

Future IB students and honourable guests dwell on their future goals as members of the great ACAT community.

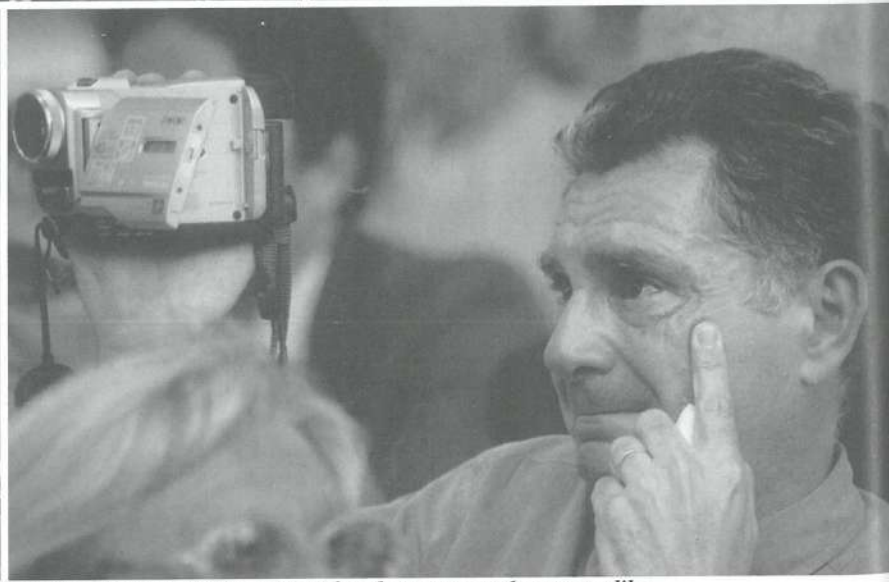

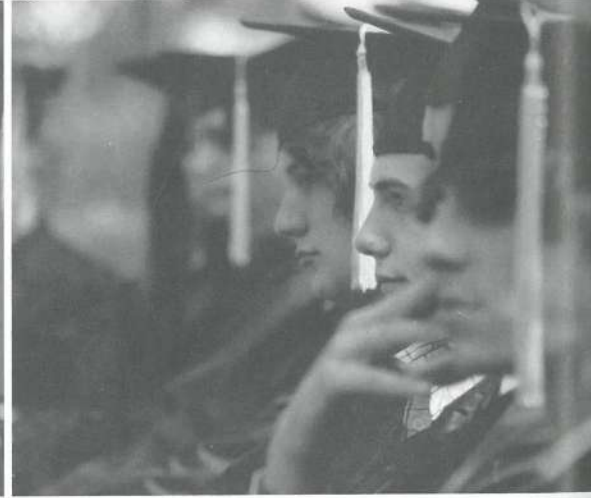

Kai, guest speaker for the graduation class of 2005, inspires the 12th grade with some encouraging and thought-provoking words of advice.

Graduates pause for a brief Kodak moment before finalizing their ACAT experience.

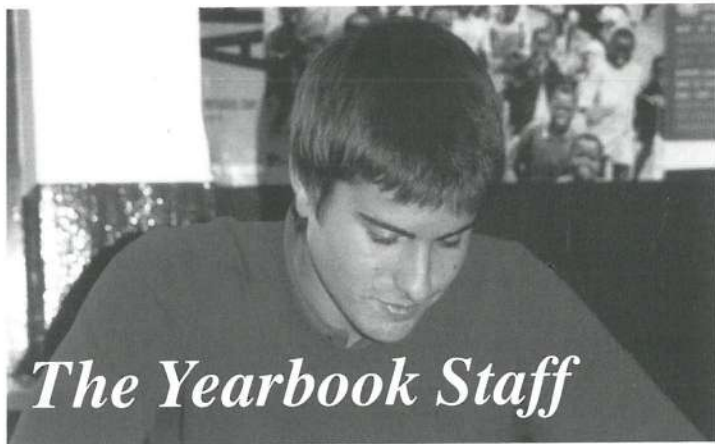

Warm recollections catch the poignant significance of this moment for classmates and parents alike.

Poised and thoughtful Michela and Luca highlight the formative steps on their journey to become more complete persons.

Individual diplomas from their IB co-ordinator, Mr. Abbott, was an event superceded only by the last group gestures of frizbeeing their caps and hugging their neighbours.

Dear PTA, Thank you for being here. Love, A.C.A.T.

At a casual meeting in the upper garden, members of the PTA discuss the upcoming program for the year.

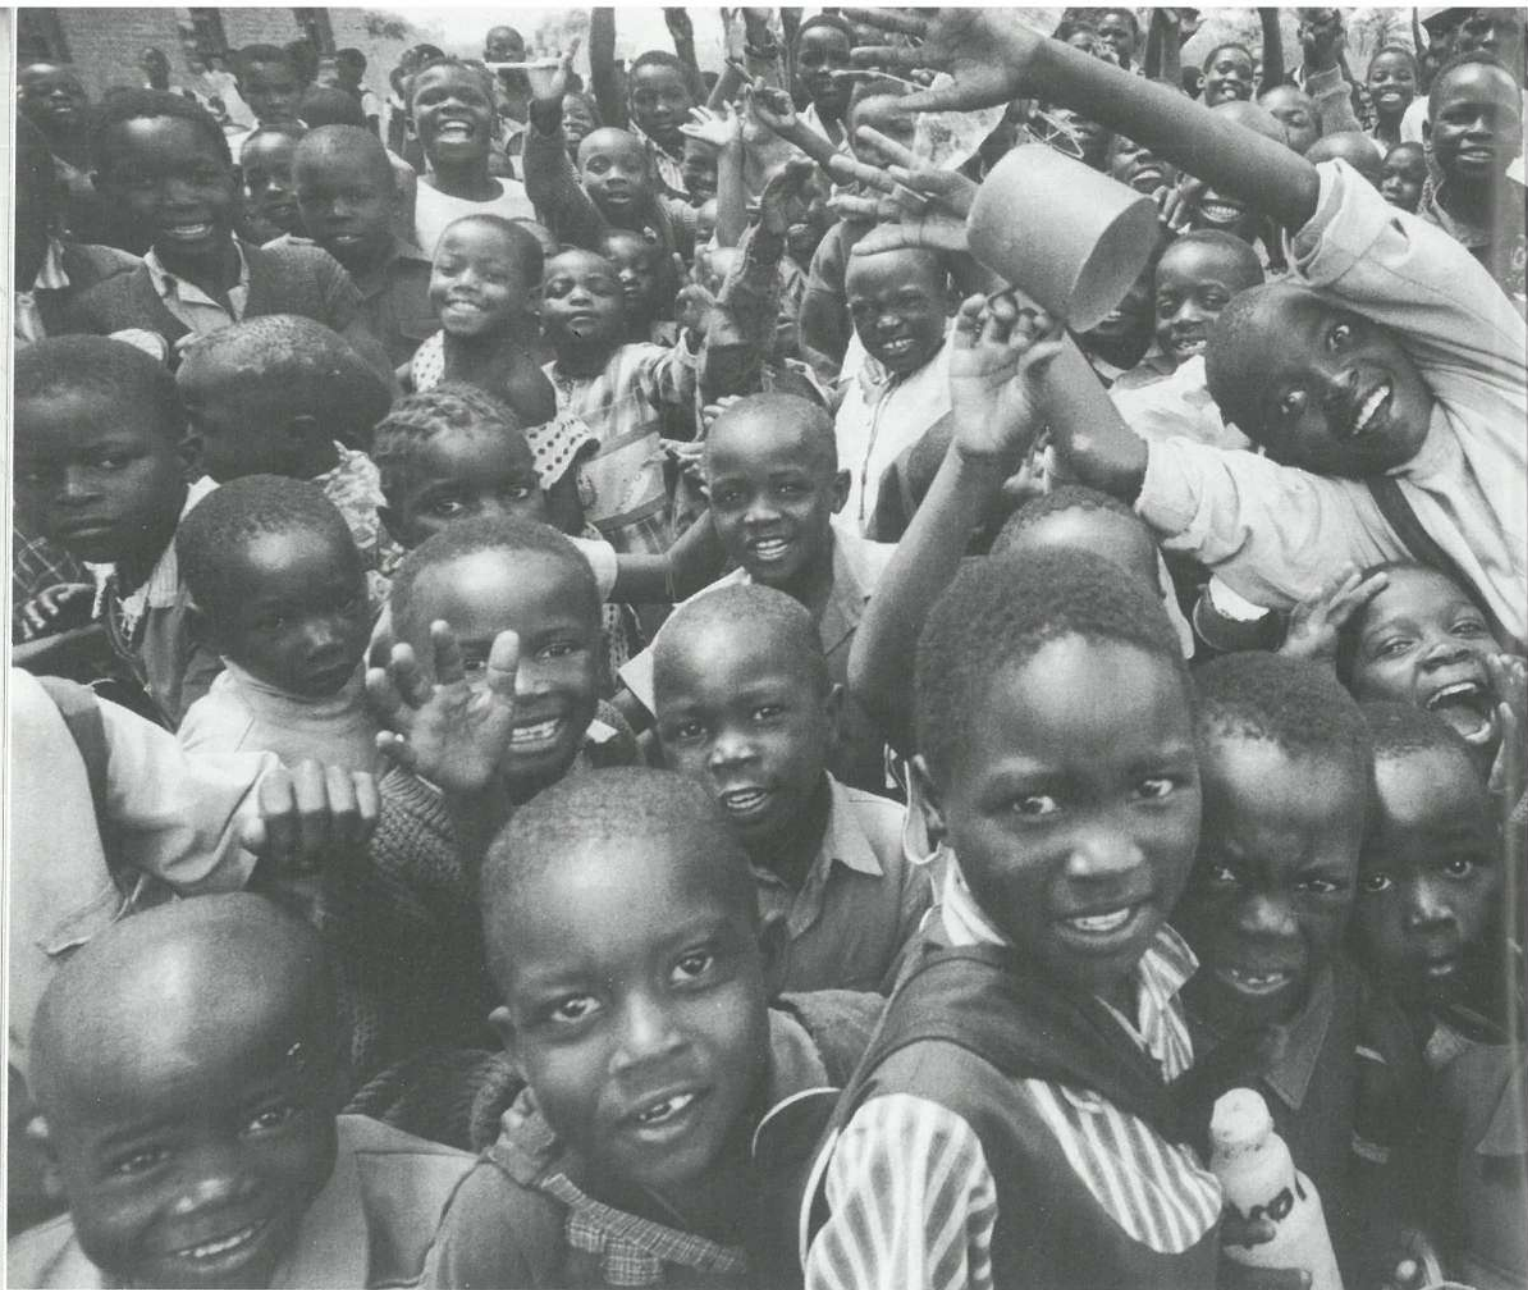

Every detail of special projects like support for the A.C.A.T. well in Burkina Faso and International Day receives the PTA's tender, loving care.

A monthly morale booster for the whole school is the ever-popular bake sale.

As new members join the PTA, new initiatives join the list for next year.
